Washington, July 14, 11:23 a. m.—The city of Santiago is reeking with the dread "Yellow Jack." This fact has been known to General Shafter for some time and has been communicated to the War Department.

General Shafter has announced that as soon as the city falls he will surround it with troops, but will send in a sufficient number to preserve order. This arrangement will be kept up until fall when the fever disappears.

No Cubans will be allowed to enter the city after the Americans capture it lest the looting that took place at El Caney should be repeated.

DENIES PEACE DEMAND.

Spain's Foreign Minister Says Powers are Not Taking Action Against Them.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 14—Senor Puigcerver, Minister of Finance, denied yesterday the truth of the rumor that Spain had suspended payment of her obligations. Spain, he declared, would continue to pay her obligations as long as he was Minister of Finance.

Duke Almodovar del Rio, Foreign Minister, denied that foreign diplomacy was taking action to the end of securing peace.

Senor Aunon, Minister of Marine, aunounced that the Spanish forces at Santiago were still resisting the Americans, but that it was impossible to send them any assistance.

SPANISH ADVICES.

Americans Reported Unable to Take Manila for Fear of the Rebels.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 14, 2:45 p. m.—An official despatch from Manila, dated July 9th, says the garrison of that place and the Spanish outposts have conflicts daily with the insurgents, who are receiving numerous reinforcements. The despatch adds:

"We have inflicted great losses upon them. The Americans dare not attack Manila, fearing to find themselves confronted by the rebels, and unable to withstand them.

"They also fear that if Aguinaldo's forces attack the town the population will join them."

CUBAN CITY BURNED.

Spanish Despatch Says Pinar del Rio Was Destroyed by Americans.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 14, 11 a. m—An official despatch from Havany says that the steamer San Domingo has arrived at Bara Punta from Mexico laden with provisions.

It brings word that Pinar del Rio has been bombarded and set fire by the American warships, some days ago.

The San Domingo is supposed to be the vessel reported wrecked by the American officer at Key West yesterday.

MADRID SAYS FIGHT.

Cables Blanco to Instruct Toral to Fight to the Last.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 14, 1:54 p. m.—The Spanish government has issued a statement that it has cabled Governor-General Blanco at Havana to instruct Gen. Toral at Santiago to resist to the death and to make no surrender.

Will Make Fine Streets.

The macadamizing on Madison avenue between Ninth street and Stelle avenue is about completed, and when the two blocks between Fifth and Seventh streets are done there will be a fine road from Front street south to Stelle avenue. Work on Stelle avenue also is being pushed to completion. Tuesday the roller was put to work upon the street, to roll down the crushed stone.

SHIPS AWAIT SIGNAL.

SAMPSON IS NOW READY TO FIRE ON CITY.

The American Batteries are in Position and Trained on the Spanish Trenches—Everything Ready—Wreckers at Work.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

At the front with the American army at Santiago, July 13, via Playa del Este, July 14, 1:13 p. m—The armistice continues until Thursday at noon when the surrender of the city by the Spaniards or a general assault of the city is expected.

General Miles has been in conference with General Shafter most of the day. The American land batteries are now in position and the guns are trained upon the Spanish trenches.

The fleet is prepared to assist in the bombardment of the city. The ships are lying off Aguadores awaiting the signal to begin firing. The burning of the houses in the village of Siboney still continues.

The troops that arrived on the Yale have not yet been landed. The wreckers are hard at work on the Cristobol Colon and declare that she will be able to go to the United States under her own head of steam.

GERMANY EXPLAINS.

Repudiates the Action of the Commander of the Irene at Subig Bay.

Berlin, Germany, July 14, 1:40 p. m—It is officially stated that nothing is known by the Government of the Irene's interference in the Phillippines and the action of her commander was entirely unauthorized.

Cervera Bound for Annapolis.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 14, 12:50 p. m.—The auxiliary cruiser sailed this morning for Annapolis having aboard Admiral Cervera and the other Spanish officers captured at Santiago.

$5,000 FIRE ON A FARM.

FLAMES WORK RUIN ON MILLER STOCK FARM NEAR WESTFIELD.

Five Buildings Were Destroyed—Live Stock Was Saved—Westfield Fire Department Called, But Too Late.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 14—At 2 o'clock this morning, fire broke out in one of the straw stacks on the large stock farm of W. Miller, between Westfield and Sprinfield, and before it could be controlled had spread to five barns and outbuildings and destroyed them all, entailing a loss of over $5,000.

One hundred tons of hay, twenty-five tons of straw and all the farming implements in the buildings were totally destroyed. Twenty-five head of valuable horses and five cows were saved. The Westfield Fire Department was called, but the flames had secured too much headway by the time the firemen arrived.

By hard work, however, the firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the carriage house and residence across the street. Among the livestock saved was the well-known stallion, "Washington Chime," and the trotter "Mongford."

The fire was discovered just before 2 o'clock by one of the employees of the farm who was sleeping in one of the barns. The smell of smoke attracted his attention and he discovered the straw stack ablaze.

The loss is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The mid week services will be continued, and while the pastor is away Rev. W. C. Nelson, 74 Duer street, North Plainfield, will respond to calls for service at funerals, weddings, or in the visitation of the sick.

THE NEW HOSEHOUSE.

Councilmanic Committee Consider the New Plans.

The Councilmanic fire and building committee met last evening and examined the new plans for the hosehouse to be erected in the West End. The committee seemed to be very well satisfied with the plans and feel assured that according to the changes made there will be a material decrease in the cost of construction. The bids for construction will now be advertised for and by the August meeting of the Council it is hoped that the contract will be given out and the work of construction be started.

Boss Plumber Sued for Wages.

The case of Edward J. McCann against Daniel J. Galbraith was tried in Justice Mosher's court this morning. McCann, who is a plumber, sued Galbraith for about $7 wages which he claimed due him on two jobs. The defendant filed a set-off alleging incompetence in doing the work, and the taking of various tools and other articles from the shop, which were not paid for. The plaintiff was represented by J. P. D. Kirch and the defendant by I. L. Brady.

Macadamizing Woodland Avenue.

Woodland avenue is being treated to a coat of macadam this summer. The property owners along the avenue clubbed together and decided to have the street macadamized if they had to pay for it themselves. Smalley Brothers are doing the work, and will have to put on a coating of stone at least six inches in depth before the fine stone can be spread on.

New Switch a Duplicate of Old One.

The switch that has been placed in the battery room at fire headquarters is identical with the one that was burned out a short time ago. Both switches were made by Herbert Chamberlain, of the local telephone company and seem to be the best that can be found. The new switch is now installed and working all right.

MR. AND MRS. LA CASSE IN THE CITY AGAIN.

ARE BRIGHT AND CHIPPER.

THEY WILL RESUME THEIR EDUCATIONAL WORK HERE.

While Staying in New York Since the Wreck They Have Been the Center of Attraction for Those Who Lost Relatives on the La Bourgogne—Their Financial Loss Was $800.

Bright and chipper, showing little in their mood and manner that they have been through a hair breadth escape from death—a thrilling happening that for the moment made them the popular heroes of the day—Mr. and Mrs. Adrain C. La Casse, of La Bourgogne fame, arrived in town last night to resume their residence here.

The experience of Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse, the latter the only woman to be saved from the passengers in the ill-fated steamer that carried almost 600 souls to watery graves in mid-ocean, is an oft-repeated tale—too fresh in the memory of Press readers to need repetition here.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse were seen by a reporter of The Press, and stated that the report that they had determined to leave Plainfield, was an error. In the event of their trip across the Atlantic having been taken without incident, they fully intended to return to this city in the latter end of the summer and again engage in their work of instructors—Mr. La Casse to continue his association with Miss Hellwig in the school of languages and Mrs. LaCasse as private tutor of French to a number of children of wealthy Plainfielders.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse are stopping at Mrs. Harned's boarding-house at 19 Craig place, but later on will again establish themselves in a house.

During their stay in New York, since they returned with the other survivors of La Bourgogne from Halifax, they have been visited by scores of persons who had relatives on the steamer and were lost at sea. They were surfeited with innumerable enquiries from the despairing ones, seeking even the slightest bit of information of the last moments of the dear ones whose lives were cut short in that dense fog off Sable Island. They said that the grief of many of the bereaved ones was simply unconsolable. When they were called on in New York the visitors regarded them with a feeling akin to deep love because they afforded the only link between the fate of the dead and the living.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse were going to Paris to visit the former's parents, whom he had not seen in several years. But they have had enough of sea voyages and will never attempt the trip again. They lost about $800 in money and baggage.

As yet Mr. LaCasse said he had not engaged a lawyer to represent their claims for damages from the French line.

Sewing Circle Entertain.

The members of the Sewing Circle of the Calvary Colored Baptist church entertained the members and friends last evening with a parlor sociable at the home of Arthur Smith, of West Third street. It was for the benefit of the church and pastor. There was a large gathering and a pleasant evening, ending with refreshments, was passed. The serving of the refreshments was looked after by Eppie Wilson, Arthur Smith, Mrs. Nickens, Miss Laura Smith, Miss Emma Batts and Mr. Batts. Spencer Conway exercised a supervising influence over the details of the affair.

In Honor of a Guest.

There was a very enjoyable gathering of friends at the home of Miss Bessie Fitz Randolph, of Park avenue, last evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Caroline Hammond, of Freehold, N. J. The guests assembled at the Seventh-Day Baptist church and rode to the home of Miss Rndolph awheel. There were thirty present. The evening was spent in playing games and acting charades after which refreshments were served.

Right in His Element.

John C. Whiting, the young man from Plainfield who was secretary of the short lived Y. M. C. A., has been appointed a war secretary of the New York Association and has his headquarters at Fort Hamilton. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a large and important work among the soldiers and Mr. Whiting is right in his element when he is doing such work.—Westfield Leader.

TO BUILD A PARSONAGE

OFFICIAL BOARD OF GRACE M. E. CHURCH DECIDES TO HAVE ONE.

The Action Will Have to Be Approved by the Board of Trustees When the Work Will Be Started.

It seems very probable that the Grace M. E. church will soon have a home which it can offer for the accommodation of its pastor. There has been a movement on foot in the church for sometime looking toward the erection of a parsonage. While it was merely talk among the members of the congregation, and no action was attempted, it found general favor with those who considered it. Last night the first active move in that direction was taken.

At the regular meeting of the official board of the church, it was decided to build a parsonage. While the movement needed to be started by the official board, it will have to be approved by the Board of Trustees before anything can be done. There seems little doubt, however, but that the trustees will support the plan and vote in favor of it when work will be started without delay.

The site selected is in the rear of the lot now occupied by the church. Its convenience to the church itself and nearness to the neighborhood in which the majority of the congregation resides makes it a satisfactory site.

PARK CLUBHOUSE COMMITTEE.

Those Who Will Continue to Make the Club a Popular One.

The following persons have been selected as members of the house committee of the Park Golf Club: B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Meredith Dryden, Mrs. W. L. Saunders and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr. The fifth member of the commitee is yet to be selected. It is the intention of the committee to immediately proceed to furnish the new clubhouse and make it as attractive as possible.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company, at the solicitation of the club, has consented to extend its water mains to Johnston's drive on Somerset street, so that a pipe line can be run to the new clubhouse. By the extension of the main people living in the upper part of the borough will have increased fire protection. The work of laying the main will be started at once.

ALMOST DROWNED AT NEW MARKET.

In Trying to Rescue an Oar Miss Sofield Fell Into the Pond.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 14—While trying to rescue an oar that she had dropped from the boat in which she was rowing in New Market pond last night, Miss Stella Sofield had a narrow escape from drowning. She lost her balance and fell into the water. Phillip Mitz heard her screams from the shore, and he gave the alarm to two other young men in a rowboat. They rowed to the spot where the young woman was just about to go down for the last time and succeeded in pulling her into their boat. After working over her for a considerable length of time they succeeded in resuscitating her.

FOUND DEAD.

Aged Bound Brook Woman Died Suddenly of Heart Failure.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 14.—Mrs. Hannah Sofield, of Franklin street, South Bound Brook, was found dead in her house at 11:30 o'clock this morning by Miss Jennie Miller, a neighbor, who had been attracted to the house by the non-appearance of Mrs. Sofield. The dead woman was 68 years of age. She died from heart failure. She leaves four children. County Physician Wagoner was notified.

A Convenient Route to Coney Island.

Residents of this city who delight in an accasional day's outing to popular Coney Island, should know that the very quickest, most direct and comfortable way of reaching there is via Central Railroad of New Jersey. It requires no walking or any discomfort whatever, and you can travel by the company's regular trains. At Jersey City the ferry for foot of Whitehall street lands passengers right at the terminal of the Thirty-ninth Street ferry to South Brooklyn, where it connects in same station with Long Island Railroad with trains for either Coney Island or Manhattan Beach. This most direct and comfortable route enables the public to avoid crossing to New York and then hurrying for a steamboat that may have just departed and whose place of landing may be a great distance from a railroad terminal. The above route, now that the public knows of it, is growing into popularity by residents along the line of the Central, to a much greater extent even than the company anticipated. Through tickets obtainable at all the company's offices.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE GO.

TWELVE CARS CARRY EXCURSIONISTS TO ASBURY PARK.

First of the Sunday-school Excursions of the Season—Threatening Weather Kept Many Away, Nevertheless the Train Was Well Filled—An Exciting Incident at Departure of the Train.

There is something inexpressibly fascinating in the sky the day before an excursion. There were scores of little faces turned heavenward yesterday and again early this morning, searching the rifts of clouds for a glimpse of the blue beyond. And the older ones, too, cast an anxious eye aloft now and then to see if, perchance, there were prospects of a fine day today.

The reason for all this worry and anxiety was that today was the day set for the first of the Sunday school excursions to the seashore and that there were several hundred people, young and old, who were anxious to catch a glimpse of the Atlantic once more and incidentally to enjoy the varied delights that Founder Bradley allows in his good town of Asbury Park. The Sunday school of the Trinity Reformed church had selected today for their annual excursion and made ample arrangements to accommodate the numerous members and many of their friends.

The excursion train was scheduled to leave the North avenue station at 8 o'clock and so there was a great hurry and scurry to be there in time to get a seat. The storm of yesterday had decided many against the trip, but when the clouds rolled away and the sun came out late in the afternoon, there was a change in the programme. This morning early the sky looked threatening, but the knowing ones declared that it was going to clear. A glimpse or two of blue sky added to that opinion.

The train was composed of twelve cars, including a combination baggage car, all but one of which was well filled when the time came for the departure. As usual, the young folks predominated, with enough of the older ones to leaven the party.

The only exciting incident attendant to the departure was when the train pulled out of the side to back up again on the main track. Some of the excursionists were just arriving and they thought that they were left behind sure enough. Several bolted for the back platform. There was a commotion among them until a bystander explained the situation.

Two elderly women stood by the news-stand as the train drew away on the siding. They saw it move and made a sudden start, then realizing the fruitlessness of the attempt, they watched its supposed departure while two big tears rolled down the cheeks of one to be hastily wiped away.

The train came back, however, and everybody that wanted to go was safely stowed away inside. The friends gathered on the platform and there was a great waving of hands and scattering "good-bys" as the trainload of expectant pleasure-goers started for their destination at the shore.

INJURY TO THE EYE.

Westfield Man's Optic Being Treated at the Muhlenberg Hospital.

Elmer W. Brokaw, of Westfield, is now at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he was compelled to go in order to have an injured eye properly attended to.

The injury to Mr. Brokaw's eyes is a most serious one. A few days ago he was engaged in using a file on some hard metal, when suddenly the steel broke and a portion of the file went into his eye. He has been doctoring ever since, and the conclusion was finally arrived at by his family to send him to the hospital for treatment.

A Man in Hard Luck.

Wm. J. Collins, of Brooklyn, who fell at the North Avenue station a few days ago, and dislocated his shoulder blade, has had any amount of trouble with the same shoulder. This makes the sixth time he has dislocated the shoulder and he has fractured his arm twice and had his thumb dislocated twice.

Finishing a Borough Report.

Collector George F. Brown, of the borough, and Treasurer R. M. Fountain, of the School Board, worked very late last evening to complete their report which has to be sent to the Somerset county officials.

DEWEY FIGHTS AGAIN

Grande Island in Subig Bay is Forced to Surrender.

ADMIRAL'S PROMPT ACTION

A German Gunboat Ge's Humbled. The Raleigh and Concord by Order of Admiral Dewey Do an Exellent Job. A Subsequent Explanation. R fusal of Dewey to Relieve the Germans of Refugees.

Manila, July 9, via Hong Kong, July 14.--The insurgents on Wednesday, July 6, reported that the German gunboat Irene, in Subic bay, refused to permit them to attack the Spaniards on Grande island. Rear Admiral Dewey promptly dispatched the United States cruisers Raleigh and Concord to investigate the matter. On entering Subic bay the Raleigh opened fire on the forts, whereupon the Irene slipped her cable and steamed out by the other channel.

In response to the fire of the American warship the Spaniards, numbering more than 1,300 men, surrendered everything.

On returning to Manila the Irene explained that she interfered "in the cause of humanity," and offered to hand over to the Americans the refugees she had on board. Rear Admiral Dewey, however, declined to accept them.

Washington, July 14.--The navy department has made public this dispatch:

Hong Kong,
Received at Washington, July 13.
To the Secretary of the Navy, at Washington:

Aguinaldo informed me his troops had taken all of Subig bay, except Isla Grande, which they were prevented from taking by the German man of war Irene, on July 7. Sent Raleigh and the Concord there; they took the island and about 1,300 men, with arms and ammunition. No resistance. The Irene retired from the bay on their arrival.

I shall send the Boston to Cape Engano about July 16 to meet second army detachment It is not practicable to send to Guam. No chartered vessel available. DEWEY.

Governor General Augusti has issued a proclamation promising to grant autonomy to the islands and offering the insurgents inducements to join the Spanish forces. General Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, has replied that the overtures of the Spanish commander come too late.

Manila, July 7, via Hong Kong, July 14.--The insurgents yesterday made vigorous attacks on the Spaniards from all sides with little result. They shelled the Spanish block houses and the trenches north of Manila and captured the Spanish guns at Santa Mesa. There was a furious musketry fire all night long at San Juan, Santa Ana, Paso, and Pasayi, the Spaniards replying with artillery and musketry. The insurgent artillery is not yet operating.

The Americans and the insurgents are acting independently, both conducting their own operations and hoping to evolve an agreement afterwards. The duration of General Aguinaldo's influence is uncertain, but it is certain that he Mohammedans of the south archipelago will ignore him and the other regions are content to use Aguin-insurgents of the island of Luzon and aldo until the Spaniards are expelled, when there will be a state of chaos unless a strong force of Americans as-Ana have joined the insurgents.

The secret Katipunan Society, which was chiefly instrumental in organizing the campaign, is not fitted, it is said, to assist in administering the government of the Philippines.

The Americans are postponing operations until they are fully prepared for any contingency. The natives are proving intractable.

About thirty thousand Americans are expected here soon, which would enable them effectively to control the whole of the Philippine islands.

In the meantime there are differences between the insurgent chiefs and Aguinaldo. The latter is reported to be aware that he cannot capture Manila without the Americans, but a majority of his followers are confident that he can. They consider it desirable that he should attain a position which would enable him to make the best terms possible with the Americans. Accordingly the insurgents have abandoned their attitude of inaction and have arranged for further revolts on the part of the hitherto loyal natives.

The Americans are drilling persistently and promise to make splendid fighters when the time arrives for them to take the field against the Spaniards. The sanitation of Cavite is dangerously neglected.

No Ready for Peace.

Madrid, July 14.--The government continues its assurances to the effect that the ministers are not taking part in any peace negotiations which may be proceeding.

The Correspondencia, Independent and semi-official, says:

"There is an enormous difference between the concessions which Spain is willing to make and the demands of the Americans."

The Correspondencia adds: "Peace is impossible until a Spanish victory has lowered the pride of the Americans or another disaster forces Spain to make the most ample concessions."

Wounded at Old Point.

Newport News, Va., July 14.--The first transport to bring wounded soldiers to the field hospital at Old Point Comfort arrived yesterday. It was the transport City of Washington, and had on board a number of the injured soldiers. The men will be transferred to the tents as soon as the quarantine inspection is over.

Half a Million for War.

Albany, July 14.--The war appropriation bill of $500,000 passed the senate yesterday by a strict party vote.

HOSTILITIES SUSPENDED

A Truce at Santiago till Noon of To-Day.

READY FOR THE STRUGGLE

Telegrams from Miles and Shafter. If the Enemy Will Not Give Up Shafter Will Open With Every Gun He Has, and Will Have the Assistance of the Navy, Which Has the Range of the City.

Washington, D. C., July 14.--The following bulletin has been posted:

Playa del Este, July 13.

Secretary of War:

At a meeting between the lines at which General Shafter and General Wheeler and the Spanish general Toral were present, the latter claimed he was unable to act without authority of his government, but has received authority to withdraw and surrender the harbor, post, munitions of war and the eastern portion of Cuba. He urgently requests until to-morrow noon to receive an answer from his government regarding the offer of our government to send his forces, which was granted. MILES.

On the bulletin giving Miles's dispatch was written underneath the dispatch the following:

"Permission to withdraw was declined by war department."

(Signed) R. A. A.

Adjutant General, Washington:

Your telegram saying no modification of orders allowed just received. Have had an interview of an hour and a half with General Toral and have extended truce until noon to-morrow; told him that his surrender only will be considered, and that he was without hope of escape and had no right to continue the fight.

"I thing it made a strong impression upon him and hope for his surrender; if he refuses I will open on him at 12 noon, to-morrow with every gun I have and will nave the assistance of the navy, who are ready to bombard the city with 13-inch shells.

SHAFTER

Off Juragua, July 12, 8 p. m., via Kingston, July 14.--All the negotiations for a peaceful surrender of Santiago de Cuba ended in utter failure and the city must fall by the sword.

General Toral, the Spanish commander, has finally and definitely refused General Shafter's proposal for an unconditional surrender, and the American army now only awaits the word of its general to begin the final struggle.

Just when the attack will be made depends upon the time which will ensue before General Randolph can land his batteries at the front, as it is definitely settled that he forward movement will not begin until the army is fully backed up by the big guns, the absence of which caused the loss of so many lives during the previous engagements.

General Randolph's movement began early this morning, but to-night, out of the ten batteries, one of four guns had succeeded in making its way over the almost impassable trail to the trenches at the front. This, with the four batteries already there, is not considered by the American commander as sufficient, and probably twenty-four hours more will elapse before the general engagement begins.

General Shafter's second and last proposal to surrender was sent into Santiago at noon yesterday. It went in the form of a terse note in which the general pointed out the hopelessness of the Spanish position, surrounded by American troops and cut off from reinforcements, and without means to combat our fleet, which can hurl shells by the hundred into the heart of the city. Unconditional surrender, it was declared, were the only terms to be considered and only prompt acceptance of these terms could save the Spanish forces and innocent citizens from awful slaughter.

The firing which has been going on at intervals since Sunday afternoon was ordered stopped when the flag of truce started for the Spanish and has not been resumed since.

No attention was paid to General Shafter's communication, until shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, when a reply came under a flag of truce. General Toral was as brief as his foe, saying in effect that if the Americans wanted Santiago they could come and get it. He declared unconditional surrender to be entirely beyond reason, and possibility, and expressed himself as ready to meet an attack at any time, the invading army saw fit to make one.

General Shafter accepted the reply as final, and, although no firing was ordered, he immediately began preparations for the coming struggle.

General Randolph's ten light batteries were ordered rushed from the landing place at Juragua and a change in the lines was begun.

This movement places the American forces in a semi-circle entirely surrounding Santiago, cutting off the retreat of the Spaniards, except by water ,as our flanks rest at the water's edge.

The late arrivals of volunteers were moved up from Jaragua and the First Illinois regiment, the Eighth Ohio and the regiment from the District of Columbia were located in the trenches vacated by Lawton's men.

Hines's battery was swung around to the north closely connecting with Lawton's forces, and now occupies a bluff from which it can fire directly into the heart of the city. This is a mos timportant move, as it enables the Americans to shell the city without injuring the hospitals and public buildings, which are flying Red Cross flags, the present position being such that shells can be thrown over all the buildings thus protected from assault.

The little town of Caimeras was evacuated by the Spanish troops yesterday and is now occupied by the Cuban troops with a few companies of regulars.

Hines's battery yesterday did some firing on the bull ring, at the northern end of the city, and also on the trenches. The shrapnel seemed to have little effect on the Spaniards in the trenches and apparently did very little damage.

General Miles went to the front today and will probably remain there the greater part of to-morrow. He went ashore early this morning and telephoned to General Shafter. The latter advised him not to start out until later, as the roads were in a frightful condition from the rains and badly blocked by supply trains.

The general waited until noon and then set out accompanied by Troop A of the Second cavalry, the only mounted troop of General Shafter's army.

It was raining heavily when the start was made.

CONDITIONS IN HAVANA.

Key West, July 14.--A Cuban boatman from Casa Blanca, sailed out in an open boat on Monday and was picked up by the Bancroft of the Havana blockading squadron, transferred to another government vessel and brought here yesterday morning. He says he left Havana because being an able bodied man he would not die of hunger.

Food is very scarce and dear there, he says, and besides this he could find no work. There are cattle enough, he says, yet meat sold at 50 cents per pound. Flour, beans, bacon and other provisions cannot be had except at high prices.

Bread is dearer than anything else and if the blockade is kept up any longer many will starve. The Cubans in town are the first to starve as Blanco is selzing all food stuffs and has prohibited sending out provisions to neighboring towns, where the people are dying of hunger.

The En les Chain.

Washington, July 14.--Three large pouches of mail, containing more than 12,000 letters addressed to Miss Natalie Schenck, were taken to the Babylon, L. I., postoffice yesterday by William Erwood, the mail carrier. When Erwood told Miss Schenck that the mail was being postmarked in the postoffice by Postmaster Gustav Dowden and his deputy, Charles Flanly, and assistants, Miss Lizzie Berry and Miss Emma Seaman, she threw up her hands and requested Erwood not to bring the missives to her, as she was tired out counting the many dimes and postal orders she received the day before.

Since she started her chain of letters to obtain money for the Red Cross Miss Schenck has received more than 98,000, aside from the 12,000 received yesterday. Each day the influx of mail increases. It has now reached such enormous proportions that Miss Schenck and her grandfather, Matthew Morgan, have been forced to call a halt, and they now request that no more letters be sent. More than $700 was received in postal orders and coin Tuesday. Thus far more than $2,600 has been forwarded to Miss Katharine Leverick, secretary of the Red Cross Society .

First New York at San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 14.--Companies I, K and L of the First New York regiment arrived here yesterday and were met at the ferry landing by a committee composed of former residents of New York. The soldiers were given a fine reception and were breakfasted before taking up the march to Camp Merritt, where they will go into camp pending the completion of arrangements for transportation to Honolulu. It is generally understood that the entire regiment will be shipped on one steamer, though it has been hinted that the regiment may be dispatched in detachments on the next fleet of transports, which is to leave this city some time next week. The New Yorkers are splendidly equipped, so there will be little delay in getting the men started for Honolulu.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS IN HAYTI.

Port au Prince Experience a Lively Shaking in the Early Morning Hours

Port au Prince, July 14.--Another seismic disturbance occurred here at twenty minutes past six yesterday morning, lasting ten seconds.

It was more severe than the first. It is reported from Petionville, lovated several miles from here in the mountains, that several houses were thrown down.

How the Brahmin Cleans His Teeth.

When the Brahmin cleans his teeth he must use a small twig cut from one of a number of certain trees, and before he cuts it he must make his act known to the gods of the woods.

He must not indulge in this cleanly habit every day. He must abstain on the 6th, the 8th, the 9th, the 14th, the 15th, and the last day of the moon, on the days of the new and full moon, on the Tuesday in every week, on the day of the constellation under which he was born, on the day of the week and on the day of the month which correspond with those of his birth, at an eclipse, at the conjunction of the planets, at the equinoxes, and other unlucky epochs, and also on the anniversary of the death of his father or mother.

Any one who cleans his teeth with his bit of stick on any of the abovementioned days will have hell as his portion.—Hindu Manners.

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. For your easy selection they have been assorted into three lots on the centre tables—50c, 60c, 75c, formerly $1, $1.25, $1.50.

CHICKERING PIANOS

"I say, as an artist, without prejudice that they are the best Pianos in the world taking everything into consideration. We have Pianos in Germany of splendid tone, but the action is not perfect. In certain movements like this I cannot play as I would like to on the German Piano. On those Pianos I have to play as the Piano permits. On the Chickering I play as I wish."

Could words be stronger?

The CHICKERING has been well termed "The Oldest in America, the Best in the World". Here, and here only, in New Jersey.

THE OREGON'S DEADLY WORK.

Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 14.--Some idea of the awful rain of shells poured into the doomed Spanish squadron on the morning of July 3 by the pursuing American warships may be gained from the number of shots fired from the battleship Oregon. This number also bears out the statement of the Spanish officers that it was the fire from the second batteries that drove their men from their guns and forced the ships to beach.

From the time when Private O'Shay of the battleship Oregon fired the shot from her forward six-pounder, until the Cristobal Colon turned toward the shore, the Oregon fired 1,776 shells. Of these 1,670 were from her six-pounders. The big thirteen-inch guns were fired thirty-four times, the eight-inch guns twenty-eight times and the six inch guns twenty-four times. The one-pounders were fired twenty times.

The destruction caused by some of the shots was fearful. One eight-inch shell, which penetrated the turret of the Almirante Oquendo, exploded and killed every person inside, blowing some to pieces.

SUFFERING OF SANTIAGO REFUGEES

Their Condition Terrible. Starvation Threatened.

Off Juragua, July 12, via Kingston, July 14.--General Shafter telegraphed to Washington to-day in regard to the extreme privations suffered by the 18,000 Santiago refugees now at El Caney and he received a reply directing him not to assume the responsibility of their maintenance, but to give them such food as he can spare from the soldiers' stores.

Already 22,500 rations have been sent to them, but these are exhausted, as well as the provisions sent by Miss Clara Barton in behalf of the Red Cross Society.

The condition of affairs in the camp of the refugees is terrible, and if it continues many people will starve to death. Up to date, eight persons have died. The churches are being used as hospitals. One of them contains 107 persons. A very old woman committed suicide to-day in her distress, killing herself with a machete.

TOWN OF SIBONEY BURNED.

Health Authorities Ordered Its Destruction in the Interest of Health.

Off Juragua, July 13, via Kingston, July 14.--The miserable little town of Juraguicito (Siboney) lies in ashes tonight. It was burned under the orders of the army health authorities. Almost every building of the fifty which straggled along the irregular bluff was set fire to during the day and the Cuban inhabitants have fled to the caves in the overhanging hillside for shelter.

The action was taken at the urgent request of Major Legardo of the hospital corps and served the joint purpose of ridding the hospital camp of the unhealthful and dirty buildings and driving away scores of Cuban followers whose presence was a serious inconvenience to the hospital workers.

The building in which field telegraphs and telephone offices were located shared the common fate. The work was not completed until after dark, when the torch was applied to the last building of the town.

Cardinal's Call to Catholics.

Baltimore, Md., July 14.--Cardinal Gibbons has prepared a circular to be read in the Roman Catholic churches Sunday morning, which is intended to carry out the suggestion made by the president that the people of the land unite in giving thanksgiving for the victory of the American fleet off Santiago.

The cardinal's letter calls upon the people to return thanks to Almighty God for his blessings upon the arms of this land in the conflict with the Spanish fleet, for the victory achieved, and for the escape of the Americans with comparatively no loss.

The circular further points out that prayers be said for an early bloodless end to the war.

Fourth Expedition Will Sail July 25.

San Francisco, July 14.--Major General Otis has practically finished his plans for the second half of the fourth expedition. The three vessels comprising it will sail from this port on the 25th inst.

The bulk of the Third brigade has been selected to go. Colonel Berry, commanding the Seventh California, and Colonel Kessler, commanding the First Montana, have been notified by General Otis that they will sail on that date.

The rest of the expedition will be made up of either the South Dakotas or the Fifty-first Iowa troops, with the South Dakotas given the preference. Brigadier General Otis, now commanding, will be in charge.

All Luzon in Revolt.

Madrid, July 14.--An official dispatch received from Iloilo says that a German cruiser which left Manila on July 5 has arrived there with a letter from Captain General Augustin saying that the situation at Manila is unchanged.

The letter described the American reinforcements which had already arrived and said that 6,000 more were expected to arrive on July 15, when an attack would be made upon the city of Manila.

Two native chiefs have been shot for the crime of rebellion in the island of Masbate.

The inhabitants of the island of Luzon, the letter says, have risen in a body.

Guarding Our Coast.

Washington, July 14.--Although it has been decided to remove the mines in the harbors on the Atlantic coast, the naval signal service is still on the watch for Spanish vessels. The whole coast from Maine to Texas is in telephone and telegraph connection with General Greely's office and constant watch is kept at all important stations both day and night.

Fall River Steamer Disabled.

New Haven, Conn., July 14.--The Fall River line steamer Plymouth was towed into New Haven harbor yesterday in a disabled condition by a tug. The nature of the Plymouth's accident is not yet known.

THE PHILIPPINE TAXES.

President Signs Proclamation Authorizing Merritt to Collect Military Contributions.

Washington, July 14.--The new colonial policy on which the United States has entered was inaugurated at Wednesday's cabinet meeting, when President McKinley signed a proclamation authorizing General Merritt to collect military contributions in the Philippine islands.

The proclamation is a unique document, for it marks a new departure in our foreign and fiscal policy. It reads:

"By virtue of the authority in me vested as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States of America, I, William McKinley, do hereby order and direct General Wesley Merritt to collect military contributions as soon as the ports and territories of said island are occupied by our naval and military forces, etc., etc."

Unlike most documents, this is attested by the secretary of war, instead of the secretary of state. It commands General Wesley Merritt to collect "military contributions" in the form of tariff duties, all expenses of such collection to be paid out of said revenues.

A letter addressed to the president by Secretary Gage was read at the cabinet meeting, in which the secretary said that the tariff existing in the islands under Spanish rule has been reproduced with certain modifications. Most of the duties have been made specific, but there has been added a sur-tax by which certain kinds of imported merchandise is to pad ad valorem duty.

The secretary says that certain forms of taxation in the Philippine islands are oppressive and obnoxious, and are abolished. This refers especially to the tax on cock fighting.

"Discriminations now existing in favor of the Spanish government and religious societies are omitted."

HAWAII'S FIRST GOVERNOR.

President to Appoint Him Acting Governor Until Commission Arrives.

Washington, July 14.--The Hawaiian commission will not be able to sail for Hawaii until August 10.

Senator Cullom, chairman of the commission, has been trying to get passage before that date, but has been unable to do so, and is now making arrangements to sail at that time on the Alameda.

GOVERNOR SANFORD B. DOLE

Meanwhile the president will appoint President Dole acting governor of the territory, and as soon as he is notified he will assume his new duties.

Sail To day for Honolulu.

San Francisco, July 14.--The steamer Alameda sailed for Honolulu yesterday. Among her passengers was F. M. Hatch, minister from Hawaii to the United States, and Lorrin A. Thurston, special commissioner of the Hawaiian government in the interest of annexation, who have just arrived here from Washington.

Senator Henry Waterhouse of Hawaii and his son came with them. Minister Hatch will practice law in Honolulu.

Rebellion in China.

Canton, July 14.--Owing to the defeat of the imperial troops, near Woo Chow, a thousand picked braves have been dispatched there, convoyed by two gunboats.

The prefect of Woo-Chow reports the imperial losses to be 1,500 killed, and adds that unless he is reinforced before Friday he will be forced to surrender.

The rebels declare their intention to overthrow the Manchu rule, and the promise ample reward to each locality supplying recruits.

The rebels are in camp two or three miles east of Woo-Chow. They expect to advance to-day.

It is reported that the French minister has informed the government at Pekin that France may be obliged to intervene by force of arms, owing to the menace to French commercial interests in the southern provinces.

Wants Floating Docks.

Washington, July 14.--The navy department has asked for bids for two floating docks, to cost not over $250,000. Chief Endicott of the bureau of yards and docks wants these to send south where they could be used for docking our war vessels. There are several such docks that may be purchased, so the government will not have to wait to construct its own. The bids for constructing the floating dock at New Orleans will be called for in ten days.

Capt. Gridley's Funeral.

Erie, July 14.--The remains of the late Captain Charles V. Gridley of the Olympia arrived in this city yesterday morning and were immediately turned over to the family with no demonstration.

The funeral was held at sunset and was very largely attended. Business houses were closed during the afternoon and flags were at half mast.

Mr. Fish Starts North.

Siboney, July 14.--Mr. Nicholas Fish of New York left to-day for the North with the bodies of Hamilton Fish, Jr., and Captain Capron, who were killed with the Roosevelt Rough Riders in battle.

Arrival of Wounded Troops.

Newport News, July 14.--The steamer City of Washington arrived at Old Point from Santiago with sick and wounded soldiers.

YELLOW FEVER COMES

MEASURES OF PRECAUTION

Prompt Measures to Check the Spread of the Disease. The Situation Serious. Danger from the Unhealthful Conditions Which the Army Faces. Terrible Effect of the Heavy Rainfall.

Washington, July 14.--The next great battle before the United States is that with yellow fever, and, although the preparations for meeting it are the most thorough and scientific ever devised, it is no secret that he subject is giving the authorities in Washington considerable apprehension. Word was received at the war department this morning that at Siboney, near General Shafter's headquarters, fourteen cases of yellow fever had been reported, nine among the soldiers and five among the non-combatants.

The period of incubation in the disease is from three to five days, which means that if an outbreak is coming, we shall soon hear from it. In fact, there are already rumors of an epidemic in camp, but as yet they have no official corroboration.

The war department is relying principally upon the prompt action to stay the disease, if each suspected case is instantly removed to an isolated hospital, of which several are already established. Two of the best experts in this disease are in charge, Dr. John Guiteras and Dr. Nicholas Senn. Yellow fever infects places and not persons, according to the department experts, and so the effort will be made as soon as a place seems infected to take the troops away from it to some other point. After they get into Santiago it will be a much easier matter to make these necessary changes of residence, unless the whole region should become infected, which is not now thought likely.

The transports from Santiago bringing home the sick and wounded soldiers, are now being landed at Fort Monroe instead of at Florida points. Extra pains will be taken to disinfect the ships and promptly remove any suspected cases to high ground in a safe latitude.

In spite of all the precautions and the excellent medical attendance, it goes without saying that the conditions at Santiago are very threatening. The heavy rains, the heat of a tropical sun, and lying in the trenches are the very things that produce malaria and fevers of various types. General Sternberg says sleeping in wet clothes on rain soaked grounds and then fighting under hot suns with improper food and unprovided with shelter at night tend to develop the disease.

He believes a long siege of any Cuban city at this season would result in greater disaster to the men than would follow from bullets in an attack on the enemy. He thinks it preferable to sustain some losses through gun fire than to subject the entire army to the outbreak of yellow fever. What applies to Santiago, he says, will apply with equal force to Porto Rico, and, perhaps to Havana, if the warm season continues when the campaign against it begins.

The figures of the aggregate of cases reported, which are either yellow fever or a kindred disease, come close to one hundred.

The seriousness of the situation was not fully realized until General Miles reached the scene of operations. His prompt recognition of the perils involved in a protracted siege at this season was at first pooh-poohed by overwise civilian officers at the department, who remarked that he general was always insisting on a great many more delays and formalities than were necessary. The order he issued yesterday, however, for the burning of the hamlet where he made his temporary headquarters told a plainer story than any which had yet reached Washington, and for the first time the departmental authorities were fully impressed.

Du Bosc Tells Us Goodby.

Montreal, Quebec, July 14.--Messrs. Du Bosc and Carranza sailed yesterday on the Dominion line steamer Ottoman. With them went a petty officer and two sailors of the steamer Panama, which was captured at the beginning of the war.

These went as cattlemen, but they were the men who accompanied Carranza on the schooner which made the mysterious trip during his absence. Carranza himself had his beard shaved off when he turned up at the Windsor, and went to the boat with a false beard.

A Blockade-Runner Wrecked.

Washington, July 14.--Captain Sawyer, signal officer at Key West, has reported to the war department that the ship San Domingo was wrecked off the Isle of Pines, Cuba, while trying to run the blockade. Her nationality is unknown. Captain Sawyer reports he believes she was one of the vessels secured by General Blanco to run the blockade and furnish food supplies to his army.

Gallant Soldiers Promoted.

Washington, D. C., July 14.--The president has directed the promotion of Lieutenant Colonels W. S. Worth, Thirteenth infantry; E. H. Liscum, Twenty-fourth infantry, and E. P. Ewers, Ninth infantry, to the grade of brigadier generals in recognition of their gallant and meritorious action in the operations against Santiago.

Troops Embarking at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., July 14.--In addition to the Sixty-ninth New York volunteers and Second New York volunteers, orders have been issued to the Eleventh and Nineteenth infantry regulars to be in readiness to board the transports at Tampa.

League Convention.

Omaha, July 14.--The National Republican League convention met here yesterday. President L. J. Crawford made the annual address.

No Show for Laymen.

It is rather a remarkable fact that both parties in New Jersey seem predisposed nearly all the time to nominate no one but lawyers as candidates for Governor. On the Democratic side ever since the election of George B. McClellan in 1877 none but lawyers were placed in nomination. That discrimination, however, has not been as remarkable in the Republican party, even though Lawyer John W. Griggs was chosen in 1895 and Lawyer Foster M. Voorhees will be the standard-bearer in the approaching campaign. However, Grubb and Kean, all laymen, tried hard but ineffectually to reach the Governor's chair; but when a lawyer was nominated in the person of John W. Griggs he found little difficulty in getting there. In some of the agricultural counties a strong prejudice exists against electing lawyers to public office. In Burlington county such prejudice is deep seated, but why lawyers should be objected to is not very clear. Should the Democratic politicians be permitted to have their way this time another lawyer would probably be nominated for Governor. They would make a selection from such a distinguished group as Judges Kirkpatrick, Lippincott and Garrison, Elvin W. Crane, Senator Daly, C. S. Atkinson and Howard Carrow. While Messrs. Crane, Carrow and Daly are willing, yet the Judges will not permit the use of their names. To the wealth of lay timber, then, all anxious eyes must be turned or else to the military for a candidate. Generals Donnelly and Plume represent the latter, while in the former class the array is imposing. The prominent laymen are Benjamin F. Lee, Johnston Cornish, Mayor Seymour, David S. Crater, Rufus Blodgett and Senator Braun. And there are others. Either of the men from Mercer county would make an exceptionally strong candidate.

How the Trolley Changes.

Ever since the trolley first made its appearance, the sober farmer all over the country has been treated to a series of surprises that have nearly astonished him out of a year's growth. It is now the turn of the old and staid tillers of the soil from over in Somerset and Middlesex counties to view with awe and astonishment the advent of the whirring trolley car into that section. The cars already ply between New Brunswick and Bound Brook, New Brunswick and Metuchen and Bound Brook and Somerville, while gangs of Italian laborers are busily working on the main thoroughfares in Somerville and Bound Brook, laying tracks and preparing for the advent of the electric cars. It will only be a question of a month or perhaps less when the cars will be running through those very towns. Meanwhile, the work progresses rapidly and the plodding old steed, that has pulled the family for years, dances and curvets about like a yearling at the sight of such strange happenings, and such wierd unnatural creatures that go whirring along without any apparent cause. It certainly does recall to one the steady advance of civilization to see a trolley car go spinning along through the country where once even a passing team was regarded as an event.

Heroes of Pompton Lakes.

Bravery in war does not alone have full play where bullets whine in close proximity to vital portions of the body and where the zest of battle numbs the natural sense of self-security. Valorous men there are at the front in far-off Cuba, but their counterparts are seen in the troops who have been left at home to the more monotonous duty of guarding powder mills and other incidentals of international conflict far removed from general attack of the enemy.

Those soldiers who were detailed for guard duty at Pompton Lakes, to keep Spanish spies from doing dirty work at the powder mills located there, have had two chances to make heroes out of themselves and they have accepted those chances with conduct so fearless as to win the plaudits of the country.

But between being in the thick of the battle in the Cuba bush and guarding powder mills there probably isn't a man at Pompton Lakes who wouldn't rather be with the boys in Cuba.

Talking and Acting.

The various societies in Plainfield that waxed so enthusiastic in their wordy demonstrations of unswerving loyalty and support to Uncle Sam, while the agitation over the destruction of the battleship Maine was at its height, undoubtedly are finding that a sober realization of actually enlisting is quite a different feeling than that experienced when the war was simply a prospective outcome of all the talk then going on.

Of course, no one thought at the time that the orgaizations would be called upon, but now that Adjutant-General Stryker has actually found it necessary to notify them that their services as volunteers could be utilized it throws a different light upon the situation. The number of members in the various societies called upon will probably be so small as to make a good deal of unfavorable comment seen from Washington Rock.

"How much is your axle grease?" asked a green-looking individual, walking into a store on Front street a few days ago.

"Eight cents a box," was the reply.

"Too much," said the farmer, who, like others of his kind, was looking for a bargain

"Well, being it's you," said the clerk, with a twinkle in his eye and a wink at the bystanders, "you can have three boxes for a quarter."

The farmer laid down his 25 cent piece and took up his three boxes of axle grease, with the air of a man who had just struck a sharp bargain.

The New York daily papers are in the midst of a lively argument over the authenticity of the war despatches they publish. Each claims for itself, of course, the only correct and complete account of the situation at the seat of war and points the finger of ridicule at the specials in the columns of the other journals, claiming that they were written in the office. The result is that many of the readers do not know what to believe. It is nevertheless a fact that the great New York dailies have been called upon this year to make greater exertions to furnish their readers with the news than ever before. It is no slight task to cover in detail the movements of several armies and various fleets and it requires a fortune to maintain the fleet of despatch boats and small army of correspondents that daily supplies the public in and about New York with the freshest bits of news from all the points of interest.

As a prelude to the general observance of the Fourth of July, a quiet and peaceable resident of the city, living on West Seventh street, had an experience that he does not care to have repeated another year. It was early in the morning of the National holiday that eighteen young men assembled on the lawn in front of his house and immediately proceeded to serenade the young daughters of the man. Now, the intent of the celebration was misinterpreted by the stern parent. He appeared unto the young men in a costume that clearly evidenced haste in preparation, to stop the thundering bombardment which was going on. In spite of his attempts to terminate the almost unbearable noise, the young men continued to give a reception from 2 until 4 o'clock that morning. The beautiful front lawn was strewn with the remains of fire-crackers and resembled a small battle-field. It is said that the young women enjoyed the celebration from their rooms, and enjoyed the extra excitement caused by their father's appearance. The father is a Quaker, and it is said that his talk was a little strong for one identified with that sect.

THE DYNAMITE GUN.

The Sims-Dudley dynamite gun, used by General Shafter in the attack upon Santiago, is a beautiful terror. The projectile is a long tube containing the dynamite and other explosives which discharge it. When the tube strikes the ground or any obstruction everything within forty feet is smashed to atoms by the concussion.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The vigorous movement in progress among the lawyers and courts of the State to purge the bar of the scallawag members who have disgraced the profession, is a wholesome sign of the times. Professional courtesy has been strained to the breaking point by the dishonorable and systematic trickery and rascality of these men, and it will elevate the New Jersey bar in the esteem of the public and of the whole country that it has had the courage to rise up against and turn down these legal pirates and freebooters. While they are at it let the honest lawyers make a clean job of the business.—New Brunswick Fredonian.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Chicago has been seeing what existance is without any newspapers. Every paper in that city was compelled to stop publication owing to a strike among the stereotypers. Such a situation in New York can hardly be imagined. Without the floods of extras and specials that are constantly on the streets of the metropolis the New Yorkers would not know what to do. Particularly at this time, when the general interest in the war is so great, would such a state of affairs fairly bewilder the New Yorker who ordinarily is very difficult to phase.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 14.—Fanwood Council, No. 744, R. A., enjoyed a visit from S. D. G. R. Pfeiffer, of Bayonne, and Brother Petter, of the Supreme Council, at their meeting Tuesday evening.

Joseph Morse, who resides up on the Jerusalem road, went to Scotch Plains, Wednesday, and proceeded to fill up with rank bug poison. The result was that he began to raise the mischief, and found himself before Justice Clark. He protested that he was guilty, and the squire gave him choice of paying $5, or taking 10 days. He paid the money.—Westfield Leader.

Few in town know of the narrow escape Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Braker had upon their trip to Europe. They sailed June 29th on the steamer Catalonia from Boston. After being out eight days fire was discovered in the hold among some bales of cotton. The fire proved to be a very stubborn one, but was finally extinguished.

Charles Sellers, the Scotch Plains horror, who was committed to the county jail by Judge Clark several weeks ago, was released Wednesday afternoon. Sellers was charged with highway robbery.

Edmund Mooney, while riding his wheel on Mountain avenue Tuesday evening, collided with a wagon, breaking his wheel and bruising himself quite badly.

Mrs. Samuel Richards, of Elizabeth, who has been visiting Mrs. J. D. Stout, returned to her home Tuesday.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 14—The Township Committee are in session each evening this week going over the assessment books. Assessor J. M. C. Marsh says that the new buildings that have been erected during the past year will increase the valuation assessed about 10 per cent. He attends the meeting of the County Board of Assessors at Elizabeth Monday next.

The new Westfield Water Company expects to use the Holly system in supplying the town with water. By this system the water is pumped direct from the wells into the pipes. No standpipe is used, and in case of fire the pumping station is notified and the pressure is increased. This same system is in use at Rahway.

The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration will meet tomorrow night at the home of Chairman C. H. Denman, on Mountainside avenue, for the purpose of straightening out the accounts. About $25 is yet needed to pay all bills.

The final settlement of the acounts of the Borough of Mountainside and Westfield Township, will take place Saturday, when the recently-appointed commissioners will meet for that purpose in the township rooms.

Mrs. T. M. K. Miller, of the Boulevard, has gone to Bradley Beach to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fairchild, of Jersey City, will spend the summer at Chestnut Lawn.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 14.—The Town Council of this place held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, which was the first meeting of the new members. Miss Emma Egel was re elected president for the Council for the ensuing year, and called the meeting to order, appointing the various committees and performing the duties of her office in a manner which proved to those present that woman is capable of filling the highest positions in the gift of citizens in this or any other town. An invitation was received to attend the mayors' convention in Detroit, August 1st to 4th, which was accepted. A committee was appointed to purchase a silver spike to be driven in the tie which will complete the trolley line through this town, and the occasion will be made a gala day for Lincoln. The date and programme will be announced in this paper for a few days.

THE KAFFIR AND THE MONTH.

Couldn't Understand Our Method of Reckoning.

At a dinner party in South Africa the hostess told the Kaffir boy to "bring the champagne." The boy left and returned without the wine. She commanded him again to bring the champagne with the same result. Then he whispered "No wine."

"Nonsense," said the woman, "there is plenty."

"No," persisted the native, "me look at all the bottles; all say extra dry."

A second woman engaged a boy in September and at the end of the month gave him his wages. At the end of October she again proceeded to pay him, when he surprised her by objecting to the amount. He wanted to be paid more for thirty-one days than for thirty—not unreasonably. The woman remonstrated and broke into poetry: "Thirty days hath September," etc. "No," said the Kaffir cutely, "no month thirty-one day, all month thirty day. Four month thirty day, then thirty-one, then thirty-two. No, me no stop here," and no logic could induce him to consent to an arrangement that seemed likely to progress indefinitely in favor of his employer.—New York Tribune.

How Pomp Was Converted.

Dr. Payson, the famous and beloved preacher of Portland, Me., says the Christian Endeavor World, used to tell the following pointed story:

One very stormy Sunday he went to church, more from habit than because he expected to find anybody there. Just after he had stepped inside the door an old negro came in and asked if Dr. Payson was to preach there that day, explaining that he was a stranger in town and had been advised to go to his church.

"Upon that," said Dr. Payson, "I made up my mind to preach my sermon if nobody else came."

Nobody else did come, so the doctor preached to the choir and the old negro.

Some months afterward he happened to meet the old negro, and, stopping him, asked how he enjoyed the sermon that stormy Sunday.

"Enjoy dat sermon," replied the old man. "I 'clare, doctah, I neber heerd a better one. You see, I had a seat pretty well up in front, an' whenever you'd say somethin' I'd jess look all roun' jes' see nobody only jess me. An' I says to m'self, 'He must mean you, Pomp, youse such a dreadful sinner.' Well doctah, dat ar sermon set me a-thinkin' what a big sinner I war, an' I went an' jined de church down home. I'ze a deacon, now."

WOMEN AGE QUICKLY

WHEN MARRIED THEY STAY AT HOME AND WORRY.

The "Worry Habit" is One Cause—Physical Inferiority to Man is Another—How to Retain a Youthful Appearance Until Late in Life.

That women age—that is, become old in appearance—more quickly than the members of the sterner sex, is a matter of every-day observation; it is a matter of such common knowledge that very few of us stop to ask why it is so. Yet it is surely a question which deserves more general attention, seeing that it touches us all very nearly. The son regrets to see his mother, who has lavished such care upon him, looking "old before her time," and the husband naturally likes his wife to preserve the freshness of youth as long as possible.

What, then, are the causes of this rapid ageing, and can they be removed?

The most important factor in this fading of the bloom of youth among women is worry. Woman is more delicately constructed than man, her nerves are more highly strung; hence the effect of worry upon her organization is always greater than upon man. And woman has far greater opportunities for worry than the lord of creation.

Speaking generally, a woman has to depend upon a man for her living. A man, if he be worried, has to throw it off and turn his attention to current business duties; the wife's duties are confined to the household, and are chiefly mechanical, thus leaving her mind free to occupy itself with any subject of uneasiness that may arise.

For instance, the wife at home—confined within the four walls of her dwelling—worries over the fact that her husband's business is not prospering; whereas he, although just as much interested, has his mind occupied with the transaction of current affairs, and has not the same opportunity to indulge in disquieting reflection. Moreover, the worry acts more disastrously on her finer nerves than upon his. It is women rather than men who "go round the corner to meet trouble," as some one has expressed it. Everybody knows that worry kills more people than works does.

Another reason why women fade more quickly than men, is that they develop more speedily. Take a boy and girl of the same age and watch them; you will find that at the end of a given period that the girl has learnt more and is developed to a greater extent than the boy. The natural result of this rapid development is a correspondingly earlier loss of freshness.

Of these three causes it is possible to do something to counteract two at least. It is possible to increase their physical strength and to find mental occupation which will prevent them from worrying so much. Both objects may be attained to a great extent by the same means.

If a woman is to protect herself from the ravages of worry, and so retain her youth for a longer period, she must come into more frequent contact with other people—as her husband does—and read good books; she must relieve the monotony of her duties and the limiting influence of confinement within four walls by taking outdoor exercise—a walk every day or a spin on a bicycle; in short, she must exercise the body and mind in a healthful manner, and she will find the bloom of youth and health remain with her for years after it has faded in other women of the same age.

"The ordinary woman," says a celebrated physician, "leads such a monotonous existence that her mind has no occupation but worry; she is almost made up of worry upon worry. What she needs is to come out of herself much more than she does. She must have intercourse with more people and take more exercise. This can be done without neglecting the home, and every rightminded man will do his best to secure for his mother, or his sister, or his wife these aids to the retention of youthfulness of body and mind."

Home-Made Koumiss.

Even in town milk may be had so thoroughly fresh and rich that it is an easy matter to make koumiss at home. Lager-beer bottles, with the patent crockery-tipped corks, are the best for keeping this drink, but if those are not at hand the ordinary sort may be tied down securely with fine wire if they taper properly and fit well. To make, put one-third of a cake of compressed yeast in half a teacupful of warm (not hot) milk, add two teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved, pour into the bottle, fill with hot milk, shake well, cork, put in a cool place, and it is ready to use the next day.

The value of koumiss as a building-up food is little understood in this country. On the Russian steppes "koumiss-cures" are frequented by persons out of health or unduly delicate. It is also a refreshing summer drink.

Compote of Pears.

Pare and cut one dozen nice, ripe pears, into halves; remove the core and put the pears in cold water with the juice of one lemon; place a saucepan with one pint water and one cupful sugar over the fire; add the thin peel and juice of one lemon; when it boils put in the pears and boil till a straw will pierce through them easily, then pour them in a dish; when cold drain off the liquor and boil it down to one-half; remove, and when cold pour the syrup over the pears and serve.

DISPLAY OF FLOWERS

BEST RECEPTACLES FOR MOST EFFECTIVE ARRANGEMENT.

Choice of Vases as Regards Shape and Color of First Importance—Slender Flowers Require High Receptacles and Short Stems Low Vases.

The choice of vases, as regards both shape and color, is of the first importance. Tall, slender flowers, such as daffodils and narcissi, should have holders, if possible, half as high again as their own length. Tulips and other flowers of the same type, on the contrary, require to rise from a low, broad base. It is a great assistance in arranging flowers which it is desired should stand upright by themselves, like the last mentioned, to fill the receptacle loosely with wet moss, into which they may be stuck as seems requisite to the artist, besides which, the flowers go twice as far if assisted in this way.

A branch of pink almond blossom, blackthorn or wild cherry, allowed to stick carelessly, or apparently carelessly, in all its lovely natural spikiness out of a big, fat, blue pot, will at once bring a bit of living spring into the room, but the same flowers, when broken up into uninteresting small sticks and placed in slender receptacles, at once lose all character and become unimportant and meaningless.

In the case of violets and snowdrops and such other frail beauties a low bowl, not more than three inches in height, is the most satisfactory arrangement. Here, again, the use of moss is invaluable. There are at present on the market some inexpensive, modern, shallow Delft bowls, which seem made for the accommodation of violets, hyacinths and other wofully short-stemmed blossoms.

Roses must be treated according to their variety. Some spirited, stiff-necked kinds consent to lend themselves to lofty designs, while tea roses and others of a more yielding, drooping disposition yearn for bowls and the support of one another's company, and even so it is necessary to place a wire support in the bowl to keep them from slipping. Can anything be lovelier than old-fashioned silver bowls filled with mixed roses?

Useful Love Letters.

There is a very amiable lady who uses her love letters to score off her husband when opportunity occurs. It is her custom when her husband says anything disparaging to her to fetch out one of these relics of courtship days and reel off the glowing tribute to her virtues which is therein contained. These letters originally numbered somewhere about 200, but owing to sundry successful raids which the poor persecuted husband has made upon them, the number has been considerably reduced. When he penned the tender missives little did he imagine what instruments of torture they would in later years become.

Wainscotting.

Made of Denim and Webbing.

To Manicure the Nails.

To manicure the nails thoroughly hold the tips of the fingers in a bowl of hot soap suds for a few minutes. Then, with an orange stick (never a steel instrument), push back the cuticle, which must not under any circumstances be cut. Trim and file the nails to shape them, and the shape must be a delicate oval, not a point. If a high polish is desired, put the pink salve on first, then powder and polish; add more salve and powder, polish again and wash the hands. After they are dry rub the nails with a polisher that has not been in powder, and, as Byron says, they will look like "the petals of a pink rose."

How to Remove Freckles.

Very delicate skin freckles easily. A few of these "kisses of the sun god" are supposed to accentuate the whiteness of a pretty complexion, but too many are most harassing to the soul of woman. If a mask of thin muslin, dipped in buttermilk frequently, is worn for a day immediately after the freckles make their appearance, all trace of them will vanish. Holes for the mouth and eyes must be cut in the mask. A wet day might be chosen for the cure, during which the fair patient would undergo the fashionable rest cure, "a day in bed."

For That Tired Feeling.

Ardent lady cyclists may be pleased to know that when they return stiff and tired from a long country ride they will derive great benefit and relief from taking a warm bath into which has been poured a good teacupful of white vinegar. Ammonia used liberally in the same way also has excellent results.

To Make the Skin Dry.

For an oily skin, a most unattractive possession in woman, put a little borax in the water and use at night a mixture of rose water and simple tincture of benzoin. The face may be washed in warm water.

THE LITTLE WISEACRE.

Once there was a little miss (her age was scarcely four),
Who said and did the quaintest things you might have thought her more.
Her mother called her in one day and said: "My child, see here
Did I not say you must be good and stay in doors, my dear?
You are a naughty little girl and I can't love you now,
A horrid, dreadful cold you'll have and ill you'll be I vow!"
"Why, mamma dear, the blinds were closed and how could you see me?"
"There is a little bird that sees how good or bad you be,
So though you try with all your might you can not fool me, dear,
For my heart's bird, in softest word tells ever wise and clear
Of good or bad that I can't see; he knows it all, my child."
This baby girl hung down her head and looked so meek and mild,
And thought awhile quite earnestly of all that she had heard;
Then said with saucy innocence: "Well, I can fool the bird."

A VISIT TO FAIRYLAND.

Little Dorthy's Dolls Surprise Her by Suddenly Becoming Fairies.

Little Dorothy was playing with her dolls one summer day, and, being tired, she sat down, with her little curly head on her doll's dresser, to look at her dolls. Suddenly she heard her prettiest doll, Lily, say to another doll, "When are you going home, Rose?"

"I don't know," answered Rose.

"Let's go now," said Lily.

At this moment Dorothy saw her shadow, and saw that she was no taller than her doll.

"Take me with you," she cried.

"All right, come on," said Lily.

Then they took her to the door, which Dorothy was surprised to find only a little taller than herself.

At the door there awaited them a splendid coach, drawn by six little winged horses in gold harness. When they got in the coach, the horses spread their wings and flew away. After they had gone about three miles they stopped at a beautiful palace. Then they went into the palace, and Lily and Rose told Dorothy that this was their home, and a beautiful home it was, for it was surrounded by pleasant lawns and cool fountains.

After Dorothy had been in the palace for a short time, Lily, Rose, Tulip, Tuberose, Violet and Sweet Clover called for her to walk with them. Dorothy was surprised to see that they all had wands, when Rose handed her a pretty little ivory one with a gold dog's head on it.

"Are you faries?" she cried in delight.

"Oh, what fun!" cried Dorothy, going up to a mirror to see whether she had wings. Yes, there was a splendid pair of little red, pink, green and yellow wings.

So they started off, but instead of walking, they flew to a grassy spot, where they stopped to rest. Tulip waved her wand around her head three times, and there appeared another fairy in servants' dress, with a tiny fruit cake and a small table, on which she set the cake. Then other servants came with chairs and bottles of fairy wine, and quickly disappeared. When they had all eaten, Tuberose struck the table with her wand and it disappeared. Then they all flew home, and Dorothy was getting ready for a ball, when she awoke with a start to find it all a dream.

Odd Things for Odd Times.

Here are some things you might do to pass away an evening, or to provide entertainment for a party of friends when nothing better offers itself:

To find a number any one thinks of, use the following method: Let a person think of a number, say 6. Tell him to multiply it by 3. Ask him to then add 1; then multiply by 3, then add to this the number thought of. The result will be 63. After he informs you of the entire amount, you strike off the last number, which will leave six, the original number.

By taking a long piece of wood, such as the handle of a broom, and placing a watch at one end, the ticking will be heard very distinctly at the other end.

By placing a garden snail upon a piece of glass it will produce, by drawing itself along, a very sweet music, similar to the musical glasses often heard. This sounds rather queer, but just try it, and you will have music equal to the guitar.

Provide a glass goblet about two-thirds filled with water, draw a fiddle bow across its edge, and the surface of the water will exhibit a pleasing figure composed of fans, four, six or eight in number, dependent on the dimensions of the vessel, but chiefly on the pitch of the note produced. It makes a pretty effect.

Mix a grain or two of potassium with an equal quantity of sodium, add a globule of quicksilver, and the three metals, when shaken, will take fire and burn vividly.

Caller (to child, whose mother has left the room for a moment)—Come hear to me, my dear. Enfant Terrible—No, I musn't do that. Mamma told me I must stay sitting in the chair, because there's a hole in the cushion.

Elbing. Das hiesige Schöffengericht verurtheilte den Premierlieutenant der Landwehr, Ingenieur und Landmesser Pruschinski, der bei der Regierung in Lüneburg angestellt ist, wegen Betruges in mehreren Fällen zu drei Monaten Gefängniß.

Rheinprovinz.

Düsseldorf. Eine Anzahl von Reichs-, Staats-, Provinzial-, Stadt- und Privatbeamten gründete hier eine Genossenschaft zum Erwerbe angemessener Wohnungen, um dem steten Steigen der Wohnungsmiethen so weit als möglich entgegenzuwirken. Der Genossenschaft sind schon 342 Beamte beigetreten.

Elberfeld. Aus Anlaß seiner silbernen Hochzeit schenkte Fabrikant Adolf Boeddinghaus der Betriebskrankenkasse der Firma W. Boeddinghaus u. Co. 20,000 Mark, von deren Zinsen den erkrankten Angehörigen der Arbeiter und Arbeiterinnen freie Arznei und ärztliche Behandlung gewährt werden soll. Auch die Angestellten der genannten Firma erhielten namhafte Geschenke.

Provinz Sachsen.

Halle. Bei Räumung eines tiefen Kanalschachtes kamen die beiden Kanalarbeiter Bärwald und Kutzniewsky durch Einathmung giftiger Dünste um's Leben. Zwar war es möglich, die beiden Unglücklichen noch lebend aus dem Schlammfange herauszuziehen, doch starben sie bald darnach in der Klinik. Beide Männer hinterlassen Frau und Kinder.

Provinz Schlesien.

Glatz. Das hiesige Schwurgericht hat den der Fälschung schuldig befundenen Wünschelburger Bürgermeister Langer zu vier Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilt.

Tost. Das Schloß des Gutsbezirks Gurodze sowie acht Besitzungen sind vollständig niedergebrannt; eine Anzahl Vieh ist in den Flammen umgekommen.

Liegnitz. Vor dem Hause eines hiesigen Bildhauers, der sein Dienstmädchen schwer gezüchtigt hatte, fanden deshalb an zwei Abenden Tumulte statt. Ein Steinhagel zertrümmerte die Fenster des Hauses, die fertigen Grabdenkmäler wurden von den Tumultuanten zerstört. Da am zweiten Abend die Polizei machtlos war, mußte Militär einschreiten, das mit aufgepflanztem Bajonett vorging und blinde Schüsse abgab. Zahlreiche Verwundungen sind vorgekommen und zahlreiche Verhaftungen vorgenommen.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Kiel. Der neue Kreuzer „Hertha" kollidirte bei der Rückkehr von der Probefahrt mit der Werftpinasse 2, die jüngst mit der Werftwache im Hafen sank. Die Pinasse wurde vollständig zertrümmert.

Glückstadt. Die Gründung der chemischen Fabrik in unserem Orte ist nunmehr als gesichert zu betrachten; die Eintragung der Gesellschaft unter der Firma „Norddeutsche chemische Fabrik in Glückstadt A. G. m. u. H." hat bereits stattgefunden; das Aktienkapital beträgt 3,500,000 Mark.

Provinz Westfalen.

Münster. Ein Hagelwetter richtete im Kreise Lüdinghausen enormen Schaden an. Die Ernte ist theilweise zu neun Zehntel vernichtet.

Witten. Im Diakonissen-Krankenhause starb der Arbeiter Günneberg aus Langendreer an Blutvergiftung. Er hatte auf ein an sich unbedeutendes Geschwür Heilpflaster gelegt, das er von einem Kurpfuscher erhalten hatte. Als der junge Mann im Krankenhause Heilung suchte, war es zu spät.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Die Geschworenen haben den Bankier Max Wiette, dessen Unterbilanz sich auf 500,000 Mark beziffert, während die für die Gläubiger verfügbare Masse höchstens 50,000 bis 60,000 Mark beträgt, wegen Unterschlagung von 56,350 Mark zu vier Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilt.—Das königliche Konservatorium hat dieser Tage seinen Direktor, den Hofrath Professor Eugen Krantz, durch den Tod verloren. Krantz stand erst im 54. Lebensjahre.

Großenhain. Auf Beschluß beider städtischen Kollegien ist vom 1. Juli ab eine gewerbliche Gemeindesteuer der bestehenden Großbetriebe, welche eine Jahreseinnahme von 100,000 Mark und darüber haben, eingeführt worden, die zwei Prozent der Jahreseinnahme beträgt.

Leipzig. Eine eigene Art, Geld zu verdienen, hatte sich hier ein 29jähriger Provisionsreisender erdacht. Er beschaffte Glasbuchstaben für Schaufenster und beseitigte sie. Nachts zog er umher und beschädigte oder stahl die Glasbuchstaben; anderen Tages bot er wieder Ersatz dafür an, was ihm in den meisten Fällen auch glückte.—Der Verband deutscher Fahrradhändler beabsichtigt eine Fahrradmesse. Sie wird in der Zeit vom 3. bis 9. November in den Räumlichkeiten des Kristallpalastes dahier abgehalten. Die Vorarbeiten schreiten rüstig vorwärts, und schon jetzt läßt sich mit Sicherheit eine umfassende Betheiligung der deutschen Fahrradindustrie und der mit dieser in Beziehung stehenden Geschäftszweige erwarten.

Reusa. Unter Vergiftungserscheinungen schwer erkrankt ist der Bleicher Karl Wunderlich, seine Frau und sein Sohn. Die Leute hatten gehacktes Rindfleisch gegessen, das sie bei einem Fleischer in Plauen gekauft haben; das Fleisch war in farbiges Papier eingewickelt gewesen. Die übrigen Familienangehörigen, die nichts von dem Fleisch genossen hatten, sind gesund geblieben.

DANCERS SUPPLIED TO ORDER.

A London Dry Goods Store Provides Dancing Young Men to Its Customers.

Among the articles purveyed to its customers by a mammoth London dry goods store are young dancing men. In London, as elsewhere, hostesses have the greatest difficulty in obtaining the requisite number of male dancers for their balls. Outside of the military, dancing men form a very small minority of the regular residents in the metropolis. On the other hand, there are almost at all times plenty of visitors in London, young men who come up for a few days from the country or universities, who would be only too glad of the opportunity to attend a private ball but are debarred therefrom owing to the limited extent of their acquaintance in the city.

To obviate this difficulty ,and bring the would-be hostesses and guests together, a plan has been devisel by the management of the big shop which is said to work satisfactorily. When a customer intends to give a ball and finds that she will not be able to find partners for all her women guests, she notifies the shop to supply her with a specified number of young men. The order is filled through the medium of a list wherein male visitors to the city are requested to enter their names. Of course the management of the shop has to be very careful concerning the social status of hosts and guests. It would never do to send small tradesmen to the house of a woman of rank. This difficulty is obviated by a system of tabulation. The managers take care to find out all about the hostesses and the men, and, having satisfied themselves concerning their position in society, arrange them in groups accordingly.

Thus everybody can be suited without danger of unpleasant contretemps. The scheme is said to be profitable to the store, for of course the young men who are thus accommodated buy their gloves, ties and other necessaries there. —New York Sun.

DANGEROUS ODORS.

One Smell of Highly Concentrated Prussic Acid Will Kill a Man.

Some smells are dangerous. A single sniff of highly concentrated prussic acid will kill a man as quickly as a shot through the heart. The odor of a bad egg is due to the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen and the objectionable perfumes of sewers and bone factories are attributable chiefly to the same gas. Chemical laboratories are famous for bad smells. Berzelius, who discovered the element called "selenium," once tried the experiment of permitting a bubble of pure hydrogen selenide gas to enter his nostril. For days afterward he was not able to smell strong ammonia, the olfactory nerves being temporarily paralyzed. Selenium gas has the odor of putrid horseradish. Tellurium is even worse. There is a story of a physician, whose patient, a lady, refused to take an absolutely necessary rest because she was so fond of being always on the go in society. He gave her a pill containing a small quantity of tellurium, and her breath was affected by it to such an extent that she was not able to appear in public for a month. She never guessed what the trouble was. The volatized essential oil of roses is supposed to cause "rose cold." This peculiar complaint is so far nervous in its character that paper roses sometimes excite it.—Boston Transcript.

HOW IT SPREADS.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Cure all kidney ills.

Here is a case in point:

Mrs. R Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pain across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position but had to be constantly changing about. It was the same way at night time. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney troubles but I could not see that any of them benefitted me Doan,s Kidney Pills were procured for me at L. W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any relief. I always keep a supply of them on hand and would not think of being without them I can re ommend Doan's Kidney Pills and advise all who suffer with a lame back to give them a fair trial."

THE ZAMBEZI MISSION

WHAT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IS DOING IN AFRICA.

Father R. Sykes, S. J., Is the Present Superior of the Mission—Boundaries as Fixed by the Propaganda—The Mission Is a Prefecture Apostolic.

From the Jesuit Fathers engaged on the Zambezi mission we have recently received the first number of their Zambezi Mission Record, which is written in Africa and printed in London. It is well produced and well illustrated and its promoters should have no difficulty in making it a successful quarterly statement of the progress of their distant mission. Father R. Sykes, S. J., is the present superior of the mission. We quote the following from a description of the staff and stations of the mission, says the London Tablet:

"We may perhaps here state that the mission of the Zambezi was first intrusted to the fathers of the Society of Jesus by the sacred college of propaganda toward the close of the year 1877. In 1875 Bishop Ricards, then vicar apostolic of the eastern district of the Cape of Good Hope, while on a visit to Europe secured from the English provincial of the society three Jesuit fathers and a staff of lay brothers, with the purpose of intrusting to them the work of education in the College of St. Aidan's, which he had recently established in Grahamstown. In petitioning the father general for this concession the zealous prelate had in mind a large and farreaching plan. He thought that St. Aidan's might serve as a base and, if we may be allowed the expression, the nerve center of radiating missionary enterprise whose ramifications should extend into what were then far distant and unexplored regions. This scheme seemed to be about to be realized when the sacred congregation of propaganda, through its cardinal prefect, intrusted to us, toward the end of 1877, the vast but at the time loosely defined regions of the Zambezi mission.

"Of course much preliminary work had to be undertaken before the mission could start on its active career. Funds had to be collected and the missioners themselves had to be procured. Father Henry Depelchin of the Belgian province of the society was appointed the first superior, but it was not until about the middle of April, 1879, that the first batch of missionaries started, amid the pomp of religious ceremony and the earnest blessings and prayers of the assembled Catholics from Grahamstown, going forth on their long and perilous journey to the Zambezi by means of the slow and tedious ox wagon.

"The boundaries of the Zambezi mission as definitely fixed by propaganda are: On the north the southern limits of the missions of Nyassa-Taganyika, Kongo Free State and the Portuguese or lower Kongo to the twenty-second degree of longitude east of Greenwich; on the east by the somewhat uncertain limits of the Portuguese east African possessions; on the south by the river Limpopo from the point at which it enters the Portuguese possessions until it meets the tropic of Capricorn, and thence by that line to the twenty-second degree of longitude; on the west by the twenty-second degree of longitude.

"The mission of the Zambezi is a prefecture apostolic, the superior of the mission being the prefect apostolic. As the limits of the mission pretty well correspond with the more modern geographical designation of Rhodesia the title of prefecture apostolic of Rhodesia is sometimes used to designate the spiritual jurisdiction of the superior of the Zambezi mission.

"Besides this mission of the Zambezi proper, or Rhodesia, the society has several important houses and stations in the vicariate apostolic of the eastern district of Cape Colony, which are under the charge of the same superior.

"In Cape Colony there is St. Aidan's college, Grahamstown, a college for the education of boys preparing for the liberal professions. The fathers of the society took charge of this college in 1876. The superior of the mission in Rhodesia has his residence in Bulawayo. There is a Catholic church for the white population, a boys' school taught by two of the fathers, and a girls' school taught by the Dominican sisters, who have also charge of the town hospital."

Number of baptisms in the Zambezi mission	474
Number of schools in mission during above period	11
Number of children in these schools	511
Number of orphanages in mission	3
Number of children in these orphanages	86
Number of children on farms	180
Number of children in workshops	118
Number of dispensaries for natives	6

Jesuits of Beirut.

The Jesuit fathers of Beirut, where they direct with such success their celebrated University of St. Joseph, that is doing so much for the education of the oriental clergy, issued between 1882 and 1890 an Arabic version of the Holy Bible in three beautifully printed volumes, for which new type, with vowels attached to the consonants, had been cast. A photolithographic reproduction of this edition has just been issued in a single octavo volume of 562 pages. Luzac's Oriental List writes of it, "We must confess that the type, though minute, is perfectly clear, and we hope that the volume will soon find its way among the large class of Arabic speaking Christians." A short but serviceable commentary is appended to the text.

Trappist Monks For the Klondike.

"The Trappist monks of the Oka monastery," says the New York World, "are to go to the Klondike to introduce their perfect agricultural methods, thereby making habitable the region for those lured thither by the thirst of gold. They brave the hardships of the undertaking, the rigor of the climate, not for themselves, but for others."

HEAD OF THE OBLATES.

Father Augier, the New Superior General, Was Elected by a Large Majority.

The general chapter of the oblates of Mary Immaculate, which was composed of 42 members, eight of whom were bishops, met at the convent in the Rue de St. Petersburg in Paris recently for the election of a new superior general in place of Pere Souillier, who died in October last. At the first scrutiny Pere Augier, second assistant of the order, was elected by a large majority. He was born in the diocese of Nice in 1845, and at the age of 15 was impelled by his piety to enter the juniorate of Notre Dame des Lumieres. Three years later he entered the noviciate. He next studied at Autun, and after being ordained priest in 1869 was sent to the Grand Seminaire of Ajaccio, which had been founded a short time before by Cardinal Guibert, and at which Pere Augier professed theology for several years.

His next post was on the staff of the clergy at the Sacre Cœur on Montmartre. In 1882 he was appointed procureur general of his order and remained for the next eight years in Rome. There he founded a flourishing house for higher studies. He left Rome for Paris on being appointed assistant general, in which quality he made a visitation of the most distant missions confided to the order by propaganda in Africa and Asia.—London Tablet.

CATHOLIC BLUEJACKETS.

How Their Spiritual Welfare In the English Navy Is Cared For.

The spiritual interests of Catholic bluejackets in the English navy are evidently not overlooked by those in command afloat. The news has reached us that when, not long ago, the channel squadron was at Palma, Majorca, and the excited popular feeling made it, in the opinion of the admiral, unwise to land any church parties on Sunday, he gave permission to have mass said on board one of the ships for the Catholics, the mass being attended by 400 or 500 men. Further permission was given by the captain of the same ship for the Rev. Father Goldie, S. J., who was visiting the port to look after the interests of British seamen on behalf of the Catholic Truth society, to go on board every morning and give communion to whoever desired it.

The result of this was that about 120 officers and men, who would otherwise have lacked the opportunity, were enabled to go to their duties. We are sure that those who actively interest themselves in the spiritual welfare of Catholic bluejackets will be encouraged in their efforts in their cause by this evidence of the absence of bigotry in naval officers, and their willingness to meet us half way in all reasonable demands. —London Tablet.

GIFT FOR FATHER SALTER.

For Four Years He Has Allowed His Salary to Be Paid on the Church Debt.

The Rev. John B. Salter of Tuckahoe, N. Y., celebrated his silver jubilee recently by officiating at a solemn high mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. He was assisted by the Rev. Edward V. Higgins, the Rev. John H. Dooley, the Rev. John J. Morris and the Rev. Daniel A. Gibbon of New York.

The Rev. D. J. McMahon, a friend of Father Salter in early life before either of them were priests, preached an eloquent sermon. John Baptist Salter was born in New York in 1850, graduated from Manhattan college in 1869, and was ordained at St. Joseph's seminary in Troy in 1873. About four years ago the marble quarries in this village, in which many of his parishioners find employment, began running irregularly, and since then Father Salter has served without pay, allowing his salary to be paid on the church debt. He insisted the other day on not receiving any gifts of money from the congregation, but a committee of women secretly secured about $5,000 in order that he might enjoy a year's vacation offered him by Archbishop Corrigan.—New York Sun.

The Pope and Gladstone's Death.

Leo XIII had the highest admiration for Mr. Gladstone, whom he regarded as the greatest Englishman of modern times, and during the illness of Mr. Gladstone his holiness followed the daily bulletins with the keenest sympathy. His death is the occasion of great grief to the pope. His holiness has on several occasions told Mgr. Angeli, his private secretary and confidant, that he would die soon after the death of one of the great ones of this century—that is, after the death of either Queen Victoria, Mr. Gladstone or Prince Bismarck. It was therefore with great caution that Cardinal Rampolla broke the news of Mr. Gladstone's death to him. The news reached the Vatican about 11 o'clock, while the pope was at mass. After mass Cardinal Rampolla entered the papal apartment and shortly afterward informed the pope, who said, "Requiem eternam dona ei, Domine," to which the minister replied, "Amen."—Vatican Cor. London Daily Mail.

Brief Catholic Items.

When the 3,000 troops of New Jersey were mobilized at Sea Girt a few weeks ago, it was found that 1,800 of them were Catholics.

The Jesuit order is said to number 14,251 members. Six thousand of these are priests who read mass, and 4,416 are students or novitiates. Of the 22 provinces Germany is the strongest and Spain next.

The Celtic cross which Archbishop Williams recently had erected in the Catholic cemetery at North Cambridge is a memorial to the brave soldiers interred therein and was dedicated on Memorial day.

RICH OSAGE INDIANS.

As a Community They Are the Wealthiest in the World.

The Osage Indians are the richest community in the world. They number but 1,729 souls, all told—men, women and children; they own 1,500,000 acres of valuable land; have $9,000,000 in trust with the Government, which pays 5 per cent. interest, and have leases with cattlemen for the use of their pasture lands, which bring them between $40,000 and $50,000 a year, without counting the rent from the agricultural lands and the proceeds of their own labor. That, however, is very small. They have so much money that they are lazy, idle and in a state of rapid degeneration.

There is no more striking example of the corrupting influences of wealth and idleness. The Indians have no incentive for education or labor, but spend their time loafing and visiting each others' homes, where, as the agent says, "they feast and gossip until one might suppose their capacity for both was exhausted; but each trifing occurrence serves as a text, which is discussed from every possible point of view. The old men find great pleasure in recounting the past history of the people, and have eager and interested listeners in the children. I find the most efficient weapons I can use against these tendencies to be ridicule and moral suasion whereby I impress upon them the necessity of looking forward and of staying at their homes to look more closely after their property and the interests of their children."

The entire tribe is composed of about 300 families, of which 1,170 are adults and 559 are children of school age. This gives them over 5,000 acres of land for each family, and more than 850 acres per capita, with $30,000 cash for every family. Including the "grass money" as they call it, which is received from leasing the pastures, the income of the tribe will average $500,000 a year, which is about $300 per capita, or $1,600 per family, without any labor whatever. This enormous wealth and the increasing values of the lands which lie just south of the Kansas line and consists of valuable timber and large tracts of rich citizenship of great value, and has caused many dissolute white men to marry into the tribe, so that 829, mostly children, are of mixed blood.

The "squaw men," as the whites who marry Indian women are called, are not enrolled, and receive nothing directly, but indirectly they control the shares of their wives and children, and have been gaining more and more influence among the people. The tribe is governed by a chief and fifteen councillors, and at the last election the mixed bloods, or "squaw men" by bribery and other influences succeeded in electing their candidates for chief and the council. This has caused a great deal of discontent among the fullbloods and it is probable that the government will be compelled to interfere in order to protect those who are really entitled to a share in the rights of the tribe.—Chicago Record.

BELOVED AUTHORS' FADS.

Ibsen Has a Great Fondness for Copper Animals.

Charles Dickens had a curious caprice. He professed that he could not write with ease and pleasure unless certain quaint little bronzes were upon his desk. When they were there the shuttles in the wonderful web of fiction flew with magical rapidity. He needed three things—blue ink, quill pens and his fetiches.

A lady who has visited the Norwegian dramatist, Henrik Ibsen, at home has informed the world that in precisely the same manner he uses a queer collection of copper animals. They crowd upon his table—grotesque cats and rabbits and other bits of clever modeling. Ibsen finds in their companionship a help and spur, and he is emphatic in saying that if they vanished he should produce no plays.

Jules Michelet, the French historian a tremendous toiler through a long lifetime, had a strange love for the coarse boxes in which he kept his papers. He preserved them with him unchanged in his study for forty years. However damaged and begrimed they might become, and this was inevitable he would not have them changed. Possibly their presence seemed to assist his flow of ideas. He was equally faithful to an old dilapidated table cover. Holes and ink stains were not detrimental to its value in Michelet's eyes.

In the case of Haydn, the composer a ring was the fetich. If he had it upon his finger he could think brilliantly; if he missed it, all his skill seemed gone He often declared that without this trinket he was curiously dull. He might sit down to an instrument, but all creative power, he would find, had departed from him.—Tid-Bits.

Chinese Welcome of Spring.

According to the Chinese almanac, spring commenced on Feb. 4. It is customary on the day previous for the Canton officers to proceed to the place named Tung-kao-cheung to receive the spring, which is regarded as the happiest season. On Feb. 3, therefore, the Prefect of Kwangchow and the Magistrates of Namhoi and Punu districts proceeded with a large guard to Tung-kao-cheung. When they arrived the said officers acted as farmers, one of them taking charge of a paper cow, one holding a paper plough, and one performing the act of sowing seed. When the ceremonies were finished the large assemblage tried to stone the paper cow to fragments. The people are of the opinion that if the paper cow is stoned to fragments the year will be prosperous.—Chinese Exchange.

PROFESSIONAL QUACKERY.

A Noted Physician Uses His Powers for Profits in a Patent Medicine.

Professional ethics are a very much wanted among the members of the medical profession. It is considered unprofessional to advertise—that is, to pay for an advertisement. It is also bad form to recognize any of the many proprietary medicines that are daily used as beneficial. In view of these two well authenticated propositions, the fact that Dr. Cyrus Edson, late of the Metropolitan health department, and a physician of national repute, should sue his partners for a share of the profits in a patent medicine, is highly amusing to ordinary ailing mortals.

As stated by Edson's lawyers, Dr. Ullo, Dr. Edson, through motives of "professional delicacy," did not care to hold or figure openly in the scheme, so he agreed to surrender his 20 per cent. of stock for a one-tenth interest in the dividends of the company. He now contends that it is this interest out of which he has been defrauded by the conspiracy of the defendants. Stil and Stemmler, who, he says, to further their conspiracy, have voted to themselves salaries of $3,000 and $2,000 a year respectively, and have tampered with the books and papers of the corporation.

The allegations in the complaint are made for the most part on information and belief, and it was shown that Dr. Still made an affidavit on which the charges of Dr. Edson are based. This would place Still in the position of charging himself with being one of the persons to whom he furnishes the information, and virtually accusing himself of a fraud. When Dr. Ullo was asked about this peculiar state of affairs he stated that there were other cases on record of persons "turning State's evidence."

Dr. Pincoffs, representing the defendant Stemmler, referred sarcastically to Dr. Edson's "professional delicacy." Justice Pryor was plainer. He said:

"The whole amount of the matter is that Dr. Edson was willing to take his profits from a quack medicine."

"Oh, no, your Hono," cut in Dr. Pincoffs; "it is not a patent medicine; it is a very good thing."

"Well, at any rate," said the Court, "he was willing to appear indifferent to the sale of the preparation, while he was really talking it up to the profession for his tenth interest?"

A CLEVER SWINDLE.

An American Sharp Captures the English Word Guessers.

For some time past the folowing advertisement has appeared in several London papers, chiefly in those of a religious character:

"Desiring to better advertise the 'Overland' cycles, we will give away ten of our best 20 lb cycles free, one to each of ten persons sending in the most words made from the letters in the word 'Overland.' It costs you nothing to try. Send your list at once, enclosing stamp, to —— & Co., South John street, Liverpool."

The local police had their attention drawn to the matter, and the detectives, suspecting that something was wrong, arrested the receiver of the communications, who proved to be Montgomery. The prisoner's office in Liverpool was found to be merely a receptacle for letters. Five thousand five hundred letters, most of which contained stamps, that had been received from all parts of the country, were seized. Many of the letters came from clergymen. Montgomery, after getting thousands of postage stamps, sent to each correspondent the following:

Liverpool.

Dear Sir: Being employed in the office of —— (giving the name in the advertisement), I have succeeded in making a copy of their own complete list of all the words to be made from "Overland." You lacked many of the words. As I am unable to use it myself on account of my employment here, I will mail you the list on receipt of thirty shillings. You can thereby make certain of one of the prize cycles. Yours in confidence.

The English police say that had they not arrested Montgomery so soon he would, by means of this circular, have obtained hundreds of pounds within a few days. The prisoner said that he came from the United States and that he lived in Indianapolis. In his possession was found a circular offering pianos free, one to each of twenty persons sending in the largest lists of words made from the letters forming the two words, "Carleton piano." The circular purported to be issued by the Carleton Piano Company of 77 Fifth avenue, New York city.

"AS LONG AS A FLOUR BARREL."

It is probable that at first thought most persons would be inclined to doubt the accuracy of the old saying that a horse's head is as long as a flour barrel. Flour barrels vary somewhat in length. Some are made stouter and stronger, some slender and a little higher. An average flour barrel is about twenty-nine inches in height.

A man to whom the old saying was familiar made up his mind the other day to see for himself just how near right it was, and he measured the heads of three horses. One of these horses was said to have rather a large head for its size; it wasn't a very big horse. The horse's head, exclusive of the ears, measured 28 inches in length. The heads of the two other horses, which were horses of fair average size, with average heads, measured, one, 27 inches, the other 27½ inches. So that this investigator discovered that the old saying was substantially true.

CYCLING COMMENT

Miss Jennie Frentz, of Scotch Plains, has purchased a new wheel.

Monday night the newly-organized bicycle squad of the Park Avenue Baptist church will take their first run. The young people will meet in front of the church at 8 o'clock, and ride to Metuchen and back. Captain Frank Clarkson will be in charge of the run, with Lieutenant Miss Lizzie Runyon as his assistant.

Tonight, if the weather is fair, the Y. M. C. A. boys expect to take a bicycle run to some nearby point, where the roads are good and the riding easy. This is the regular night for the bi-monthly run which is to Somerville, but, as the roads there are so poor, it has been decided not to take that run, but to go somewhere under the leadership of Captain Cuming.

The hotel and repair shop committee of the New Jersey Division of the L. A. W. has announced a number of new appointments of official hotels and repair shops. Among them are the Mansion House at New Brunswick and the Sewaren House at Sewaren. They both allow L. A. W. members 10 per cent. reduction from their usual table and lodging rates. The Vaux Hall Inn, Milburn, allows 20 per cent to L. A. W. members. Among the repair shops appointed are L. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick; the Garretson Cycle Company, of Somerville, and J. P. Evans, of Elizabeth. The L. A. W. discount at New Brunswick and Elizabeth is 10 per cent. At Somerville it is 25 cents. Local Consul Thomas A. Cuming is ready and anxious to give wheelmen any information they wish regarding the L. A. W. and its privileges.

ROD AND GUN.

Edward F. Randolph, of Liberty street, has been a frequent visitor at Perth Amboy where he has been quite successful in the pursuit of the members of the finny tribe.

Frank Hedden went fishing in Green Brook Monday and caught two turtles, one weighing 12 pounds and the other 28 ponnds. Six pickerel were also numbered in the day's catch.

"Spiel" Walsh and Harry Huff spent yesterday afternoon fishing on the New Market pond. They say that they returned with a good catch, but their friends would like to see some of the fish.

The fishermen who have recently visited Perth Amboy and Sewarren report that the weak fish are biting well and that the fishing is unusually good. A number of great catches have been reported.

Monday evening Frank Hedden and John Welch went fishing in Green Brook near Sebring's mills. Besides a goodly catch of fish they captured two large snapping turtles, one weighing twenty-two pounds and the other twelve pounds. One of the turtles was kept in a tub of water at Hedden's stable where it was exhibited to many of the friends of the captor.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

A. D. Cook, of East Seventh street, has purchased a new grey horse.

Samuel H. Edwards' bay mare, "Molly," is entered in the 2:40 class at the New Brunswick race meet this week. This will be "Molly's" first appearance in a race and will be watched with interest. The mare has done some fast work on the road and track and she is thought to be a good candidate for honors in that event

A number of local horsemen have gone to New Brunswick this afternoon to attend the opening day of the meet of the New Brunswick Driving Association. There will be several local horses in competition there. The meet is the concluding one of the circuit of the Central New Jersey Driving Association which opened in this city last month. The showing has not been a very good one and Plainfield is the only city that has made any money. The racing was of good quality, but the attendance was rather slack and did not come up to expectations.

GOLF.

The new club house of the Park Golf Club is nearing completion and will be ready for use in a short time.

This evening there will be a meeting of the Park Golf Club when some matters of importance will be discussed.

William Barry, who formerly worked on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has been engaged by the Park Golf Club to work on their links this season.

WORLD OF SPORTS.

THE FATAL ALL-ROUND EVENT.

One of the Severest Competitions Ever Attempted by Athletes.

It is a singular thing that within a year two winners of the all-round have died—John Cosgrove of Albany, and Alexander Jordan of New York city. Mr. Cosgrove died from the results of an appendicitis operation, and Mr. Jordan succumbed to trouble with his heart and lung. The all-round is one of the severest competitions ever attempted by athletes, and the strain on a winner in the past has invariably been terrific. Malcolm Ford was one of the very few men who ever started on an all-round competition and finished comparatively fresh and strong. The all-round programme consists of ten events, decided in this order: 100 yards run, putting the 16-pound shot, running high jump, half mile walk, throwing the 16-pound hammer, pole vault, 120-yards hurdle race, throwing the 56-pound weight, running broad jump and one mile run. Under the existing system of scoring, which is the best that has been devised, a man to qualify must equal the following figures: 100 yards run, 0:14 3-5; one mile run, 7:30; half mile walk, 6:23; 120-yard hurdle race, 0:22 2-5; running high jump, 3 feet 9 inches; running broad jump, 13 feet 1 inch; pole vault, 6 feet 6 inches; putting the 16-pound shot, 26 feet 2 inches; throwing the 16-pound hammer, 61 feet, and throwing the 56-pound weight, 15 feet. The above performances equalled gives a man the minimum percentage; the maximum, which is the best on record in every case, gives a competitor 1,000 points.

ERNEST ROEBER,

CHAMPION GRECO-ROMAN WRESTLER OF THE UNITED STATES.

Cornell Wants a Shorter Course.

Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania have not yet decided whether Poughkeepsie or Saratoga will be the place for their regatta. In a general way Saratoga is preferred by all three competitors. Cornell is considering the advisability of asking to have the distance of the course shortened one mile. This would mean a three-mile race instead of four miles. It is now decided that the University of Wisconsin will enter a crew. Professor Wheeler of Cornell says that the reports published recently in effect that the University of Toronto had been invited to send a crew to compete in the regatta are not true. It is probable, however, that the Canadian university will yet be represented, as the name of its crew as a competitor will be presented at the next meeting of the association.

MISCELLANEOUS SPORTS.

The number of golf clubs now in the United States Golf Association is 101, an increase of 40 within a year.

A fine old hickory bat that has been in Pete Browning's possession for over seven years has been presented to Fred Clarke by the Gladiator.

The national amateur billiard championship of America, which was to have been held in the near future, has been postponed until the late fall or winter months.

Martin Julian, Fitz's adviser and manager, who has been rather quiet for several weeks, has cut loose again and this time he announces that Fitzsimmons will fight McCoy sooner than the latter has an idea.

Gaudaur, champion oarsman of the world, and Robert Johnson of Vancouver, have arranged a match race for the championship and a purse. A side bet of $2,000 has been made. The race will be rowed this summer on Burrard Inlet, at Vancouver, B. C.

L. M. Hamburger of Chicago, who is now in Paris as the representative of the Amateur Athletic Union, expects to carry out ideas which will result in a great athletic meet at the Paris Exposition in 1900. Hamburger is an enthusiast on athletics, and has the warm support of every one interested in amateur athletics.

A sweepstake professional race for the 100-yard championship of the world will be run off in September by W. H. Robertson. The entry will be $50, and efforts will be made to bring several crack English sprinters over here. The Boston men who have promoted this event heretofore have charged $100 entrance. The added money will be $250.

DIAMONDS IN AMERICA.

They Are Cut Better Here Than in Europe Owing to a Special Process.

In no country are there more diamonds to be found than in the United States, according to the population. It is estimated by a leading New York diamond dealer that there are upward of $500,000,000 worth of diamonds in this country. Moreover, this vast amount is increasing every year.

Until quite recently diamonds were rarely cut in this country; but American inventors have developed a process for diamond cutting which is vastly superior to that done abroad.

The loss in weight through cutting is sometimes fully one-half, but the value is increased probably more than twofold.

The Dutch city of Amsterdam has been the great diamond-cutting centre of the world from time immemorial, and up to a few years ago over 12,000 people in that place were directly or indirectly dependent upon this trade.

But it was not reasonable to suppose that Amsterdam should continue to hold a monopoly of diamond cutting. As one of the greatest importing cities of the world, New York gradually offered inducements to diamond cutters and an industry has been gradually built up there that is now very flourishing and profitable. In 1859 Henry D. Morse, of Boston, Mass., invented a machine for cutting and polishing diamonds, and since then improvements have been made upon it that are very important. The foreigners continue to polish their stones by hand, but in this country machinery is largely used.

A famous gem expert places the total value of all the diamonds in the world at over $1,000,000,000, of which $350,000,000 worth are in the hands of dealers, carried as stock. All the other diamonds are in the hands of private individuals, and the question naturally arises, Who owns them? This is not so easily answered, except in the case of large and world-famous gems.—Godey's Magazine.

BULL-FIGHTERS NEXT TO ROYALTY.

A nation whose great sport is bull-fighting, must be said to linger still in remote and cruel times. And Spain is such a nation. Notwithstanding the great drain of the Cuban war, her people find plenty of means to support this amusement. Nobody in the nation commands such an income from his daily effort as the popular bull-fighter. Mazzantini, one of the most famous of these, earned 396,000 pesetas last year, it is said, or over $79,000. He participated in 66 fights and killed 163 bulls. Another popular torrero, Reverte, took part in 71 fights during the year, killed 160 bulls and earned 276,000 pesetas, or $55,200. These men stand next to royalty itself in the popular mind. No great singer, actor or orator approaches them. They amuse the people with spectacles of blood.

That the sensibilities of such a people should be dulled to human as well as brute suffering can hardly be questioned. The bull fight, like the gladiatorial fight, cultivates the brutal instincts, depreciates the value of human life, and makes men comparatively cruel and insensible to the misery of others. We may thus turn to contemplate the atrocious policy of extermination by slow starvation adopted by the Spanish Government in Cuba under the guise of a war measure with little wonder. It has been made tolerable to the nation through the long subjection of the people to the hardening influences of bull fighting. Such a civilization belongs far in the past and must crumble away. —Springfield Republican.

A Moravian Cemetery.

"There is a cemetery in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, which wins out according to my experience," said a prominent tobacco dealer to a Washington Star reporter. "I spent a Sunday there not along ago and was wonderfully entertained and interested. It is the burial place of the Moravians, a communistic religious organization, which exists there in very large numbers. The Moravians are a very desirable kind of people. They are strict in their religious views, it is true, but they are a determined, untiring and prosperous people. They all work and they owe no one a penny. In their cemetery, as in their life, they have a place for everything and everything in its place. At one end of the cemetery married men are buried and the opposite side married women. At the other end unmarried women, and on the opposite side the unmarried men are buried. Each grave has a stone, but it contains nothing but the bare announcement of the name of the deceased, no date of death or age of the deceased being given in any case. Children are placed respectively on the male and female sides of the cemetery, but there is no family grouping."

Novel Railway Traveling.

Passengers to Bulawayo by the new railway experience somewhat of a novelty in crossing the Shashi River. A correspondent writes that when he wished to go over there were three or four feet of water in the river, and consequently the engines could not cross, as the water would have extinguished the fires. The method adopted was to make a train equal in length to the width of the river, and then an engine was placed at the rear, which hustled the train across the river, so that it extended its full width. Another engine—or more literally speaking—a brace of engines—was waiting on the far side, and these were coupled to the train and dragged it out. It was a new way of fording a river by the rail. The bridge at the Shashi had been completely washed away, and at one time the water was eight feet over the old bridge.—Bulawayo Chronicle.

UP-TO-DATE DISCIPLINING.

How Mothers Can Train Their Children by Hypnotic Suggestion.

Chicago mothers are pursuing an up-to-date way of training their children. It is by suggestion.

This at first brings to mind all the terrors of hypnotism. Educators have been startled at this apparent application of a species of the black art by mothers to their babes in the cradle. But a kindly matron who has tried it insists that it is nothing of the sort.

She declares that in suggestion not the faintest degree of hypnosis is necessary. The force employed is merely the action of one mind, alert and active, upon another mind, rendered for the time being quiescent, either by will power or during a sleep, which may be either natural or induced. For all purposes of child training the natural sleep usually proves the best, in addition to being the simplest and easiest to obtain.

The mother, therefore, who wishes to influence her child for good by means of suggestion, merely talks to the little one during sleep precisely as she would were the child awake, having first, however, paved the way to the childish consciousness by gently and lovingly mentioning her purpose in the day time.

"When you are sound asleep tonight," is the manner in which one very successful Chicago mother suggester commences operations, holding her child in her arms, "I am coming to talk to you about the nice things papa and I want you to do; mamma will help you to do them in that way. So you must be ready to listen to me even though you are asleep, when I begin to talk to you."

To the mind of the child, anything "mamma" does is natural and right, so she accepts the nightly talk for what it really is, a natural working out of her parents' affection for her, and is not only ready but anxious to listen. That she actually does listen, with mental if not physical ears, is proved by her subsequent conduct. And the mother, by carefully alluding to the subject of the nightly admonitions only when an especially pleasant feeling exists between herself and the child, insures pleasant associations for and a ready acceptance of them on the part of the baby.

"Tell me something nice when you talk to me to-night, mamma," is a frequent remark of the delighted little one.

The mother who wishes to make a similar experiment should, just before retiring for the night, and when herself in a calm and peaceful frame of mind, take up her position by the bedside of the child, and, gently taking the little hands into her own—at least if the child seems restless under the sound of her softly modulated voice, or until the experiment has become an assured one—quietly talk to the little one precisely as she would were the child awake.

ACQUISITION OF BRAVERY.

"I would like to let young men know," said an old soldier, "that bravery, like almost any other attribute, can be acquired. I would like to let them know this, because there are some poor fellows who are brought into the world with a timid nature that causes them much suffering. While having an admiration for brave men, they feel that they are cowards, and, accustoming themselves to this belief, they never attempt to fight against their weakness. Do you know I really believe that most of the noted brave men of the world have become brave simply by systematically overcoming cowardice. Did not Lannes, Napoleon's most dashing general, say: 'The man who says he never felt fear is a poltroon and a liar.' But, while Lannes thus acknowledged to the sensation of fear, he never allowed himself to show it; and that is the point. Moreover, by practice such things become easy.

"Now, if there is any young man who is a coward and wishes to become brave, let me say this to him: Make up your mind first of all that it is much preferable to suffer death than be trampled upon or humiliated. From what you have experienced you know the disgust, the suffering, acute and degrading, that results when you back down in an unmanly fashion. Say this then: 'I much prefer to die than to experience such feelings again. Impress it upon your mind, and then, as a test to your spirit, force yourself to face those things that you have been avoiding from fright. If a man has been overawing you—bluffing you, in plain terms—lay for him deliberately, bluff him back double, and if he wishes to fight throw yourself upon him with a vim and punch hard; he cannot do more than kill you, and, as you have made up your mind that it is better to die than submit to humiliation, your death, as it were, is a thing already programmed. And if you whip him the sensation is very agreeable, and frees you from any further fears of falling a victim to cowardice."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TORAL ASKS FOR TERMS.

Wants Commission to Consider Them.

HIS REQUEST REFUSED.

TORAL'S POSITION IS A HOPELESS ONE.

The Truce Expires This Noon and Washington Awaits Toral's Decision—He Must Surrender or Else be Bombarded.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 14, 12:55 p. m—Only two despatches have been received from the front at the War Department since midnight to 11 o'clock this morning. Both referred to details in the shipment of commissary stores for the army at Santiago.

The officials expect to receive word soon whether General Toral has decided to fight or will accept the terms of surrender as offered by the Americans. The general opinions seems to be that he will resolve to fight to the last to save his fighting reputation in Spain.

Our lines have now thoroughly invested Santiago and further resistance on the part of the Spanish forces is hopeless. All are hoping that Toral will realize the situation and give up the hopeless fight.

The officials say that Shafter's forces can take the city in two hours by assault. The warships of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet can throw over 200 shells into the city in a couple of hours with terrible results.

It is believed here that when Santiago falls, Spain will be compelled to sue for peace. The fall of the city is deemed all that is needed to start the movement that is already gathering much force in Madrid.

Secretary Alger said this morning that he did not expect any news from Santiago until this afternoon when the news will come telling whether Toral surrenders or that the land and and sea forces have promptly begun the assault upon the expiration of the truce at noon.

Washington, July 14, 1:05 p. m.—Shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, Secretary Alger received a cable despatch from Gen. Shafter saying that Gen. Toral, the Spanish commander, asks for the appointment of a commission to consider the terms of surrender.

The despatch indicates that Santiago is on the point of being delivered over to the hands of the Americans.

The despatch was immediately taken to the White House by Adjutant General Corbin who was closeted with the President at once.

It is known positively that the despatch contained information that Santiago is on the point of unconditional surrender.

Washington, July 14, 1:44 p. m—The officials of the administration did not think for a moment that Gen. Toral's request for the appointment of commissioners will be listened to by the generals at the front.

It is evidently only another attempt to delay the proceedings. The President has refused Toral's poposition and has instructed Gen. Miles to tell Toral that unless the surrender is made by noon, the bombardment will commence.

THE TERMS OF PEACE.

The Spanish Soldiers Are to Be Taken Home to Spain

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 14, 3:30 p. m.—Santiago has surrendered. The American troops are now marching into the city and the Stars and Stripes are flying where the Castilian banner has long been floating.

A despatch has been received from General Miles to the effect that General Toral surrendered the city of Santiago and his forces at noon today.

The Spaniards were to surrender all of Eastern Cuba and all their munitions of war. The Spanish soldiers are to be transported to Spain.

THE YELLOW JACK.

Santiago Reeks With It and Shafter will Take Many Precautions.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 14, 11:23 a. m.—The city of Santiago is reeking with the dread "Yellow Jack." This fact has been known to General Shafter for some time and has been communicated to the War Department.

General Shafter has announced that as soon as the city falls he will surround it with troops, but will send in a sufficient number to preserve order. This arrangement will be kept up until fall when the fever disappears.

No Cubans will be allowed to enter the city after the Americans capture it lest the looting that took place at El Caney should be repeated.

DENIES PEACE DEMAND.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 14—Senor Puigcerver, Minister of Finance, denied yesterday the truth of the rumor that Spain had suspended payment of her obligations. Spain, he declared, would continue to pay her obligations as long as he was Minister of Finance.

Duke Almodovar del Rio, Foreign Minister, denied that foreign diplomacy was taking action to the end of securing peace.

Senor Aunon, Minister of Marine, announced that the Spanish forces at Santiago were still resisting the Americans, but that it was impossible to send them any assistance.

SHIPS AWAIT SIGNAL.

SAMPSON IS NOW READY TO FIRE ON CITY.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

At the front with the American army at Santiago, July 13, via Playa del Este, July 14, 1:13 p. m—The armistice continues until Thursday at noon when the surrender of the city by the Spaniards or a general assault of the city is expected.

General Miles has been in conference with General Shafter most of the day. The American land batteries are now in position and the guns are trained upon the Spanish trenches.

The fleet is prepared to assist in the bombardment of the city. The ships are lying off Aguadores awaiting the signal to begin firing. The burning of the houses in the village of Siboney still continues.

The troops that arrived on the Yale have not yet been landed. The wreckers are hard at work on the Cristobol Colon and declare that she will be able to go to the United States under her own head of steam.

GERMANY EXPLAINS.

$5,000 FIRE ON A FARM.

FLAMES WORK RUIN ON MILLER STOCK FARM NEAR WESTFIELD.

Five Buildings Were Destroyed—Live Stock Was Saved—Westfield Fire Department Called, But Too Late.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 14—At 2 o'clock this morning, fire broke out in one of the straw stacks on the large stock farm of W. Miller, between Westfield and Sprinfield, and before it could be controlled had spread to five barns and outbuildings and destroyed them all, entailing a loss of over $5,000.

One hundred tons of hay, twenty-five tons of straw and all the farming implements in the buildings were totally destroyed. Twenty-five head of valuable horses and five cows were saved. The Westfield Fire Department was called, but the flames had secured too much headway by the time the firemen arrived.

By hard work, however, the firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the carriage house and residence across the street. Among the livestock saved was the well-known stallion, "Washington Chime," and the trotter "Mongford."

The fire was discovered just before 2 o'clock by one of the employees of the farm who was sleeping in one of the barns. The smell of smoke attracted his attention and he discovered the straw stack ablaze.

The loss is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Nelson, 74 Duer street, North Plainfield, will respond to calls for service at funerals, weddings, or in the visitation of the sick.

THE NEW HOSEHOUSE.

Councilmanic Committee Consider the New Plans.

The Councilmanic fire and building committee met last evening and examined the new plans for the hosehouse to be erected in the West End. The committee seemed to be very well satisfied with the plans and feel assured that according to the changes made there will be a material decrease in the cost of construction. The bids for construction will now be advertised for and by the August meeting of the Council it is hoped that the contract will be given out and the work of construction be started.

Boss Plumber Sued for Wages.

The case of Edward J. McCann against Daniel J. Galbraith was tried in Justice Mosher's court this morning. McCann, who is a plumber, sued Galbraith for about $7 wages which he claimed due him on two jobs. The defendant filed a set-off alleging incompetence in doing the work, and the taking of various tools and other articles from the shop, which were not paid for. The plaintiff was represented by J. P. D. Kirch and the defendant by I. L. Brady.

Macadamizing Woodland Avenue.

Woodland avenue is being treated to a coat of macadam this summer. The property owners along the avenue clubbed together and decided to have the street macadamized if they had to pay for it themselves. Smalley Brothers are doing the work, and will have to put on a coating of stone at least six inches in depth before the fine stone can be spread on.

New switch a Duplicate of Old One.

The switch that has been placed in the battery room at fire headquarters is identical with the one that was burned out a short time ago. Both switches were made by Herbert Chamberlain, of the local telephone company and seem to be the best that can be found. The new switch is now installed and working all right.

MR. AND MRS. LA CASSE IN THE CITY AGAIN.

ARE BRIGHT AND CHIPPER.

THEY WILL RESUME THEIR EDUCATIONAL WORK HERE.

While Staying in New York Since the Wreck They Have Been the Center of Attraction for Those Who Lost Relatives on the La Bourgogne—Their Financial Loss Was $800.

Bright and chipper, showing little in their mood and manner that they have been through a hair breadth escape from death—a thrilling happening that for the moment made them the popular heroes of the day—Mr. and Mrs. Adrain C. La Casse, of La Bourgogne fame, arrived in town last night to resume their residence here.

The experience of Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse, the latter the only woman to be saved from the passengers in the ill-fated steamer that carried almost 600 souls to watery graves in mid-ocean, is an oft-repeated tale—too fresh in the memory of Press readers to need repetition here.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse were seen by a reporter of The Press, and stated that the report that they had determined to leave Plainfield, was an error. In the event of their trip across the Atlantic having been taken without incident, they fully intended to return to this city in the latter end of the summer and again engage in their work of instructors—Mr. La Casse to continue his association with Miss Hellwig in the school of languages and Mrs. LaCasse as private tutor of French to a number of children of wealthy Plainfielders.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse are stopping at Mrs. Harned's boarding-house at 19 Craig place, but later on will again establish themselves in a house.

During their stay in New York, since they returned with the other survivors of La Bourgogne from Halifax, they have been visited by scores of persons who had relatives on the steamer and were lost at sea. They were surfeited with innumerable enquiries from the despairing ones, seeking even the slightest bit of information of the last moments of the dear ones whose lives were cut short in that dense fog off Sable Island. They said that the grief of many of the bereaved ones was simply unconsolable. When they were called on in New York the visitors regarded them with a feeling akin to deep love because they afforded the only link between the fate of the dead and the living.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse were going to Paris to visit the former's parents, whom he had not seen in several years. But they have had enough of sea voyages and will never attempt the trip again. They lost about $800 in money and baggage.

As yet Mr. LaCasse said he had not engaged a lawyer to represent their claims for damages from the French line.

Sewing Circle Entertain.

The members of the Sewing Circle of the Calvary Colored Baptist church entertained the members and friends last evening with a parlor sociable at the home of Arthur Smith, of West Third street. It was for the benefit of the church and pastor. There was a large gathering and a pleasant evening, ending with refreshments, was passed. The serving of the refreshments was looked after by Eppie Wilson, Arthur Smith, Mrs. Nickens, Miss Laura Smith, Miss Emma Batts and Mr. Batts. Spencer Conway exercised a supervising influence over the details of the affair.

In Honor of a Guest.

There was a very enjoyable gathering of friends at the home of Miss Bessie Fitz Randolph, of Park avenue, last evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Caroline Hammond, of Freehold, N. J. The guests assembled at the Seventh-Day Baptist church and rode to the home of Miss Rrndolph awheel. There were thirty present. The evening was spent in playing games and acting charades after which refreshments were served.

Right in His Element.

John C. Whiting, the young man from Plainfield who was secretary of the short lived Y. M. C. A., has been appointed a war secretary of the New York Association and has his headquarters at Fort Hamilton. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a large and important work among the soldiers and Mr. Whiting is right in his element when he is doing such work.—Westfield Leader.

TO BUILD A PARSONAGE.

OFFICIAL BOARD OF GRACE M. E. CHURCH DECIDES TO HAVE ONE.

The Action Will Have to Be Approved by the Board of Trustees When the Work Will Be Started.

It seems very probable that the Grace M. E. church will soon have a home which it can offer for the accommodation of its pastor. There has been a movement on foot in the church for sometime looking toward the erection of a parsonage. While it was merely talk among the members of the congregation, and no action was attempted, it found general favor with those who considered it. Last night the first active move in that direction was taken.

At the regular meeting of the official board of the church, it was decided to build a parsonage. While the movement needed to be started by the official board, it will have to be approved by the Board of Trustees before anything can be done. There seems little doubt, however, but that the trustees will support the plan and vote in favor of it when work will be started without delay.

The site selected is in the rear of the lot now occupied by the church. Its convenience to the church itself and nearness to the neighborhood in which the majority of the congregation resides makes it a satisfactory site.

PARK CLUBHOUSE COMMITTEE.

Those Who Will Continue to Make the Club a Popular One.

The following persons have been selected as members of the house committee of the Park Golf Club: B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Meredith Dryden, Mrs. W. L. Saunders and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr. The fifth member of the commitee is yet to be selected. It is the intention of the committee to immediately proceed to furnish the new clubhouse and make it as attractive as possible.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company, at the solicitation of the club, has consented to extend its water mains to Johnston's drive on Somerset street, so that a pipe line can be run to the new clubhouse. By the extension of the main people living in the upper part of the borough will have increased fire protection. The work of laying the main will be started at once.

ALMOST DROWNED AT NEW MARKET.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 14—While trying to rescue an oar that she had dropped from the boat in which she was rowing in New Market pond last night, Miss Stella Sofield had a narrow escape from drowning. She lost her balance and fell into the water. Phillip Mitz heard her screams from the shore, and he gave the alarm to two other young men in a rowboat. They rowed to the spot where the young woman was just about to go down for the last time and succeeded in pulling her into their boat. After working over her for a considerable length of time they succeeded in resuscitating her.

FOUND DEAD.

Aged Bound Brook Woman Died Suddenly of Heart Failure.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 14.—Mrs. Hannah Sofield, of Franklin street, South Bound Brook, was found dead in her house at 11:30 o'clock this morning by Miss Jennie Miller, a neighbor, who had been attracted to the house by the non-appearance of Mrs. Sofield. The dead woman was 68 years of age. She died from heart failure. She leaves four children. County Physician Wagoner was notified.

A Convenient Route to Coney Island.

Residents of this city who delight in an accasional day's outing to popular Coney Island, should know that the very quickest, most direct and comfortable way of reaching there is via Central Railroad of New Jersey. It requires no walking or any discomfort whatever, and you can travel by the company's regular trains. At Jersey City the ferry for foot of Whitehall street lands passengers right at the terminal of the Thirty-ninth Street ferry to South Brooklyn, where it connects in same station with Long Island Railroad with trains for either Coney Island or Manhattan Beach. This most direct and comfortable route enables the public to avoid crossing to New York and then hurrying for a steamboat that may have just departed and whose place of landing may be a great distance from a railroad terminal. The above route, now that the public knows of it, is growing into popularity by residents along the line of the Central, to a much greater extent even than the company anticipated. Through tickets obtainable at all the company's offices.

OFF FOR THE SHORES OF THE OLD ATLANTIC.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE GO.

TWELVE CARS CARRY EXCURSIONISTS TO ASBURY PARK.

First of the Sunday-school Excursions of the Season—Threatening Weather Kept Many Away, Nevertheless the Train Was Well Filled—An Exciting Incident at Departure of the Train.

There is something inexpressibly fascinating in the sky the day before an excursion. There were scores of little faces turned heavenward yesterday and again early this morning, searching the rifts of clouds for a glimpse of the blue beyond. And the older ones, too, cast an anxious eye aloft now and then to see if, perchance, there were prospects of a fine day today.

The reason for all this worry and anxiety was that today was the day set for the first of the Sunday school excursions to the seashore and that there were several hundred people, young and old, who were anxious to catch a glimpse of the Atlantic once more and incidentally to enjoy the varied delights that Founder Bradley allows in his good town of Asbury Park. The Sunday school of the Trinity Reformed church had selected today for their annual excursion and made ample arrangements to accommodate the numerous members and many of their friends.

The excursion train was scheduled to leave the North avenue station at 8 o'clock and so there was a great hurry and scurry to be there in time to get a seat. The storm of yesterday had decided many against the trip, but when the clouds rolled away and the sun came out late in the afternoon, there was a change in the programme. This morning early the sky looked threatening, but the knowing ones declared that it was going to clear. A glimpse or two of blue sky added to that opinion.

The train was composed of twelve cars, including a combination baggage car, all but one of which was well filled when the time came for the departure. As usual, the young folks predominated, with enough of the older ones to leaven the party.

The only exciting incident attendant to the departure was when the train pulled out of the side to back up again on the main track. Some of the excursionists were just arriving and they thought that they were left behind sure enough. Several bolted for the back platform. There was a commotion among them until a bystander explained the situation.

Two elderly women stood by the news-stand as the train drew away on the siding. They saw it move and made a sudden start, then realizing the fruitlessness of the attempt, they watched its supposed departure while two big tears rolled down the cheeks of one to be hastily wiped away.

The train came back, however, and everybody that wanted to go was safely stowed away inside. The friends gathered on the platform and there was a great waving of hands and scattering "good-bys" as the trainload of expectant pleasure-goers started for their destination at the shore.

INJURY TO THE EYE.

Elmer W. Brokaw, of Westfield, is now at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he was compelled to go in order to have an injured eye properly attended to.

The injury to Mr. Brokaw's eyes is a most serious one. A few days ago he was engaged in using a file on some hard metal, when suddenly the steel broke and a portion of the file went into his eye. He has been doctoring ever since, and the conclusion was finally arrived at by his family to send him to the hospital for treatment.

A Man in Hard Luck.

Wm. J. Collins, of Brooklyn, who fell at the North Avenue station a few days ago, and dislocated his shoulder blade, has had any amount of trouble with the same shoulder. This makes the sixth time he has dislocated the shoulder and he has fractured his arm twice and had his thumb dislocated twice.

Finishing a Borough Report.

Collector George F. Brown, of the borough, and Treasurer R. M. Fountain, of the School Board, worked very late last evening to complete their report which has to be sent to the Somerset county officials.

DEWEY FIGHTS AGAIN

Grande Island in Subig Bay is Forced to Surrender.

ADMIRAL'S PROMPT ACTION

A German Gunboat Ge's Humbled. The Raleigh and Concord by Order of Admiral Dewey Do an Exellent Job. A Subsequent Explanation. R fusal of Dewey to Relieve the Germans of Refugees.

Manila, July 9, via Hong Kong, July 14.--The insurgents on Wednesday, July 6, reported that the German gunboat Irene, in Subic bay, refused to permit them to attack the Spaniards on Grande island. Rear Admiral Dewey promptly dispatched the United States cruisers Raleigh and Concord to investigate the matter. On entering Subic bay the Raleigh opened fire on the forts, whereupon the Irene slipped her cable and steamed out by the other channel.

In response to the fire of the American warship the Spaniards, numbering more than 1,300 men, surrendered everything.

On returning to Manila the Irene explained that she interfered "in the cause of humanity," and offered to hand over to the Americans the refugees she had on board. Rear Admiral Dewey, however, declined to accept them.

Washington, July 14.--The navy department has made public this dispatch:

Hong Kong,
Received at Washington, July 13.
To the Secretary of the Navy, at Washington:

Aguinaldo informed me his troops had taken all of Subig bay, except Isla Grande, which they were prevented from taking by the German man of war Irene, on July 7. Sent Raleigh and the Concord there; they took the island and about 1,300 men, with arms and ammunition. No resistance. The Irene retired from the bay on their arrival.

I shall send the Boston to Cape Engano about July 16 to meet second army detachment. It is not practicable to send to Guam. No chartered vessel available. DEWEY.

Governor General Augusti has issued a proclamation promising to grant autonomy to the islands and offering the insurgents inducements to join the Spanish forces. General Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, has replied that the overtures of the Spanish commander come too late.

Manila, July 7, via Hong Kong, July 14.--The insurgents yesterday made vigorous attacks on the Spaniards from all sides with little result. They shelled the Spanish block houses and the trenches north of Manila and captured the Spanish guns at Santa Mesa. There was a furious musketry fire all night long at San Juan, Santa Ana, Paso, and Pasayi, the Spaniards replying with artillery and musketry. The insurgent artillery is not yet operating.

The Americans and the insurgents are acting independently, both conducting their own operations and hoping to evolve an agreement afterwards. The duration of General Aguinaldo's influence is uncertain, but it is certain that he Mohammedans of the south archipelago will ignore him and the other regions are content to use Aguininsurgents of the island of Luzon and aldo until the Spaniards are expelled, when there will be a state of chaos unless a strong force of Americans as-Ana have joined the insurgents.

The secret Katipunan Society, which was chiefly instrumental in organizing the campaign, is not fitted, it is said, to assist in administering the government of the Philippines.

The Americans are postponing operations until they are fully prepared for any contingency. The natives are proving intractable.

About thirty thousand Americans are expected here soon, which would enable them effectively to control the whole of the Philippine islands.

In the meantime there are differences between the insurgent chiefs and Aguinaldo. The latter is reported to be aware that he cannot capture Manila without the Americans, but a majority of his followers are confident that he can. They consider it desirable that he should attain a position which would enable him to make the best terms possible with the Americans. Accordingly the insurgents have abandoned their attitude of inaction and have arranged for further revolts on the part of the hitherto loyal natives.

The Americans are drilling persistently and promise to make splendid fighters when the time arrives for them to take the field against the Spaniards. The sanitation of Cavite is dangerously neglected.

No Ready for Peace.

Madrid, July 14.--The government continues its assurances to the effect that the ministers are not taking part in any peace negotiations which may be proceeding.

The Correspondencia, Independent and semi-official, says:

"There is an enormous difference between the concessions which Spain is willing to make and the demands of the Americans."

The Correspondencia adds: "Peace is impossible until a Spanish victory has lowered the pride of the Americans or another disaster forces Spain to make the most ample concessions."

Wounded at Old Point.

Newport News, Va., July 14.--The first transport to bring wounded soldiers to the field hospital at Old Point Comfort arrived yesterday. It was the transport City of Washington, and had on board a number of the injured soldiers. The men will be transferred to the tents as soon as the quarantine inspection is over.

Half a Million for War.

Albany, July 14.--The war appropriation bill of $500,000 passed the senate yesterday by a strict party vote.

HOSTILITIES SUSPENDED

A Truce at Santiago till Noon of To-Day.

READY FOR THE STRUGGLE

Telegrams from Miles and Shafter. If the Enemy Will Not Give Up Shafter Will Open With Every Gun He Has, and Will Have the Assistance of the Navy, Which Has the Range of the City.

Washington, D. C., July 14.--The following bulletin has been posted:

Playa del Este, July 13.

Secretary of War:

At a meeting between the lines at which General Shafter and General Wheeler and the Spanish general Toral were present, the latter claimed he was unable to act without authority of his government, but has received authority to withdraw and surrender the harbor, post, munitions of war and the eastern portion of Cuba. He urgently requests until to-morrow noon to receive an answer from his government regarding the offer of our government to send his forces, which was granted. MILES.

"Permission to withdraw was declined by war department."
(Signed) R. A. A.

Adjutant General, Washington:

Your telegram saying no modification of orders allowed just received. Have had an interview of an hour and a half with General Toral and have extended truce until noon to-morrow; told him that his surrender only will be considered, and that he was without hope of escape and had no right to continue the fight.

"I thing it made a strong impression upon him and hope for his surrender; if he refuses I will open on him at 12 noon, to-morrow with every gun I have and will nave the assistance of the navy, who are ready to bombard the city with 13-inch shells.

SHAFTER.

Off Juragua, July 12, 8 p. m., via Kingston, July 14.--All the negotiations for a peaceful surrender of Santiago de Cuba ended in utter failure and the city must fall by the sword.

General Toral, the Spanish commander, has finally and definitely refused General Shafter's proposal for an unconditional surrender, and the American army now only awaits the word of its general to begin the final struggle.

Just when the attack will be made depends upon the time which will ensue before General Randolph can land his batteries at the front, as it is definitely settled that he forward movement will not begin until the army is fully backed up by the big guns, the absence of which caused the loss of so many lives during the previous engagements.

General Randolph's movement began early this morning, but to-night, out of the ten batteries, one of four guns had succeeded in making its way over the almost impassable trail to the trenches at the front. This, with the four batteries already there, is not considered by the American commander as sufficient, and probably twenty-four hours more will elapse before the general engagement begins.

General Shafter's second and last proposal to surrender was sent into Santiago at noon yesterday. It went in the form of a terse note in which the general pointed out the hopelessness of the Spanish position, surrounded by American troops and cut off from reinforcements, and without means to combat our fleet, which can hurl shells by the hundred into the heart of the city. Unconditional surrender, it was declared, were the only terms to be considered and only prompt acceptance of these terms could save the Spanish forces and innocent citizens from awful slaughter.

The firing which has been going on at intervals since Sunday afternoon was ordered stopped when the flag of truce started for the Spanish and has not been resumed since.

No attention was paid to General Shafter's communication, until shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, when a reply came under a flag of truce. General Toral was as brief as his foe, saying in effect that if the Americans wanted Santiago they could come and get it. He declared unconditional surrender to be entirely beyond reason, and possibility, and expressed himself as ready to meet an attack at any time, the invading army saw fit to make one.

General Shafter accepted the reply as final, and, although no firing was ordered, he immediately began preparations for the coming struggle.

General Randolph's ten light batteries were ordered rushed from the landing place at Juragua and a change in the lines was begun.

This movement places the American forces in a semi-circle entirely surrounding Santiago, cutting off the retreat of the Spaniards, except by water ,as our flanks rest at the water's edge.

The late arrivals of volunteers were moved up from Jaragua and the First Illinois regiment, the Eighth Ohio and the regiment from the District of Columbia were located in the trenches vacated by Lawton's men.

Hiner's battery was swung around to the north closely connecting with Lawton's forces, and now occupies a bluff from which it can fire directly into the heart of the city. This is a mos timportant move, as it enables the Americans to shell the city without injuring the hospitals and public buildings, which are flying Red Cross flags, the present position being such that shells can be thrown over all the buildings thus protected from assault.

The little town of Caimeras was evacuated by the Spanish troops yesterday and is now occupied by the Cuban troops with a few companies of regulars.

Hines's battery yesterday did some firing on the bull ring, at the northern end of the city, and also on the trenches. The shrapnel seemed to have little effect on the Spaniards in the trenches and apparently did very little damage.

General Miles went to the front today and will probably remain there the greater part of to-morrow. He went ashore early this morning and telephoned to General Shafter. The latter advised him not to start out until later, as the roads were in a frightful condition from the rains and badly blocked by supply trains.

The general waited until noon and then set out accompanied by Troop A of the Second cavalry, the only mounted troop of General Shafter's army.

It was raining heavily when the start was made.

CONDITIONS IN HAVANA.

Key West, July 14.--A Cuban boatman from Casa Blanca, sailed out in an open boat on Monday and was picked up by the Bancroft of the Havana blockading squadron, transferred to another government vessel and brought here yesterday morning. He says he left Havana because being an able bodied man he would not die of hunger.

Food is very scarce and dear there, he says, and besides this he could find no work. There are cattle enough, he says, yet meat sold at 50 cents per pound. Flour, beans, bacon and other provisions cannot be had except at high prices.

Bread is dearer than anything else and if the blockade is kept up any longer many will starve. The Cubans in town are the first to starve as Blanco is seizing all food stuffs and has prohibited sending out provisions to neighboring towns, where the people are dying of hunger.

The En les Chain.

Washington, July 14.--Three large pouches of mail, containing more than 12,000 letters addressed to Miss Natalie Schenck, were taken to the Babylon, L. I., postoffice yesterday by William Erwood, the mail carrier. When Erwood told Miss Schenck that the mail was being postmarked in the postoffice by Postmaster Gustav Dowden and his deputy, Charles Fianly, and assistants, Miss Lizzie Berry and Miss Emma Seaman, she threw up her hands and requested Erwood not to bring the missives to her, as she was tired out counting the many dimes and postal orders she received the day before.

Since she started her chain of letters to obtain money for the Red Cross Miss Schenck has received more than 98,000, aside from the 12,000 received yesterday. Each day the influx of mail increases. It has now reached such enormous proportions that Miss Schenck and her grandfather, Matthew Morgan, have been forced to call a halt, and they now request that no more letters be sent. More than $700 was received in postal orders and coin Tuesday. Thus far more than $2,600 has been forwarded to Miss Katharine Leverick, secretary of the Red Cross Society.

First New York at San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 14.--Companies I, K and L of the First New York regiment arrived here yesterday and were met at the ferry landing by a committee composed of former residents of New York. The soldiers were given a fine reception and were breakfasted before taking up the march to Camp Merritt, where they will go into camp pending the completion of arrangements for transportation to Honolulu. It is generally understood that the entire regiment will be shipped on one steamer, though it has been hinted that the regiment may be dispatched in detachments on the next fleet of transports, which is to leave this city some time next week. The New Yorkers are splendidly equipped, so there will be little delay in getting the men started for Honolulu.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS IN HAYTI.

Port au Prince Experience a Lively Shaking in the Early Morning Hours

Port au Prince, July 14.--Another seismic disturbance occurred here at twenty minutes past six yesterday morning, lasting ten seconds.

It was more severe than the first. It is reported from Petionville, lovated several miles from here in the mountains, that several houses were thrown down.

How the Brahmin Cleans His Teeth.

When the Brahmin cleans his teeth he must use a small twig cut from one of a number of certain trees, and before he cuts it he must make his act known to the gods of the woods.

He must not indulge in this cleanly habit every day. He must abstain on the 6th, the 8th, the 9th, the 14th, the 15th, and the last day of the moon, on the days of the new and full moon, on the Tuesday in every week, on the day of the constellation under which he was born, on the day of the week and on the day of the month which correspond with those of his birth, at an eclipse, at the conjunction of the planets, at the equinoxes, and other unlucky epochs, and also on the anniversary of the death of his father or mother.

Any one who cleans his teeth with his bit of stick on any of the abovementioned days will have hell as his portion.—Hindu Manners.

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. For your easy selection they have been assorted into three lots on the centre tables—50c, 60c, 75c, formerly $1, $1.25, $1.50.

CHICKERING PIANOS

"I say, as an artist, without prejudice that they are the best Pianos in the world taking everything into consideration. We have Pianos in Germany of splendid tone, but the action is not perfect. In certain movements like this I cannot play as I would like to on the German Piano. On those Pianos I have to play as the Piano permits. On the Chickering I play as I wish."

Could words be stronger?

THE OREGON'S DEADLY WORK.

Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 14.--Some idea of the awful rain of shells poured into the doomed Spanish squadron on the morning of July 3 by the pursuing American warships may be gained from the number of shots fired from the battleship Oregon. This number also bears out the statement of the Spanish officers that it was the fire from the second batteries that drove their men from their guns and forced the ships to beach.

From the time when Private O'Shay of the battleship Oregon fired the shot from her forward six-pounder, until the Cristobal Colon turned toward the shore, the Oregon fired 1,776 shells. Of these 1,670 were from her six-pounders. The big thirteen-inch guns were fired thirty-four times, the eight-inch guns twenty-eight times and the six inch guns twenty-four times. The one-pounders were fired twenty times.

The destruction caused by some of the shots was fearful. One eight-inch shell, which penetrated the turret of the Almirante Oquendo, exploded and killed every person inside, blowing some to pieces.

SUFFERING OF SANTIAGO REFUGEES

Their Condition Terrible. Starvation Threatened.

Off Juragua, July 12, via Kingston, July 14.--General Shafter telegraphed to Washington to-day in regard to the extreme privations suffered by the 18,000 Santiago refugees now at El Caney and he received a reply directing him not to assume the responsibility of their maintenance, but to give them such food as he can spare from the soldiers' stores.

Already 22,500 rations have been sent to them, but these are exhausted, as well as the provisions sent by Miss Clara Barton in behalf of the Red Cross Society.

The condition of affairs in the camp of the refugees is terrible, and if it continues many people will starve to death. Up to date, eight persons have died. The churches are being used as hospitals. One of them contains 107 persons. A very old woman committed suicide to-day in her distress, killing herself with a machete.

TOWN OF SIBONEY BURNED.

Health Authorities Ordered Its Destruction in the Interest of Health.

Off Juragua, July 13, via Kingston, July 14.--The miserable little town of Juraguicito (Siboney) lies in ashes tonight. It was burned under the orders of the army health authorities. Almost every building of the fifty which straggled along the irregular bluff was set fire to during the day and the Cuban inhabitants have fled to the caves in the overhanging hillside for shelter.

The action was taken at the urgent request of Major Legardo of the hospital corps and served the joint purpose of ridding the hospital camp of the unhealthful and dirty buildings and driving away scores of Cuban followers whose presence was a serious inconvenience to the hospital workers.

The building in which field telegraphs and telephone offices were located shared the common fate. The work was not completed until after dark, when the torch was applied to the last building of the town.

Cardinal's Call to Catholics.

Baltimore, Md., July 14.--Cardinal Gibbons has prepared a circular to be read in the Roman Catholic churches Sunday morning, which is intended to carry out the suggestion made by the president that the people of the land unite in giving thanksgiving for the victory of the American fleet off Santiago.

The cardinal's letter calls upon the people to return thanks to Almighty God for his blessings upon the arms of this land in the conflict with the Spanish fleet, for the victory achieved, and for the escape of the Americans with comparatively no loss.

The circular further points out that prayers be said for an early bloodless end to the war.

Fourth Expedition Will Sail July 25.

San Francisco, July 14.--Major General Otis has practically finished his plans for the second half of the fourth expedition. The three vessels comprising it will sail from this port on the 25th inst.

The bulk of the Third brigade has been selected to go. Colonel Berry, commanding the Seventh California, and Colonel Kessler, commanding the First Montana, have been notified by General Otis that they will sail on that date.

The rest of the expedition will be made up of either the South Dakotas or the Fifty-first Iowa troops, with the South Dakotas given the preference. Brigadier General Otis, now commanding, will be in charge.

All Luzon in Revolt.

Madrid, July 14.--An official dispatch received from Iloilo says that a German cruiser which left Manila on July 5 has arrived there with a letter from Captain General Augustin saying that the situation at Manila is unchanged.

The letter described the American reinforcements which had already arrived and said that 6,000 more were expected to arrive on July 15, when an attack would be made upon the city of Manila.

Two native chiefs have been shot for the crime of rebellion in the island of Masbate.

The inhabitants of the island of Luzon, the letter says, have risen in a body.

Guarding Our Coast.

Washington, July 14.--Although it has been decided to remove the mines in the harbors on the Atlantic coast, the naval signal service is still on the watch for Spanish vessels. The whole coast from Maine to Texas is in telephone and telegraph connection with General Greely's office and constant watch is kept at all important stations both day and night.

Fall River Steamer Disabled.

New Haven, Conn., July 14.--The Fall River line steamer Plymouth was towed into New Haven harbor yesterday in a disabled condition by a tug. The nature of the Plymouth's accident is not yet known.

THE PHILIPPINE TAXES.

President Signs Proclamation Authorizing Merritt to Collect Military Contributions.

Washington, July 14.--The new colonial policy on which the United States has entered was inaugurated at Wednesday's cabinet meeting, when President McKinley signed a proclamation authorizing General Merritt to collect military contributions in the Philippine islands.

The proclamation is a unique document, for it marks a new departure in our foreign and fiscal policy. It reads:

"By virtue of the authority in me vested as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States of America, I, William McKinley, do hereby order and direct General Wesley Merritt to collect military contribution as soon as the ports and territories of said island are occupied by our naval and military forces, etc., etc."

Unlike most documents, this is attested by the secretary of war, instead of the secretary of state. It command General Wesley Merritt to collect "military contributions" in the form of tariff duties, all expenses of such collection to be paid out of said revenues.

A letter addressed to the president by Secretary Gage was read at the cabinet meeting, in which the secretary said that the tariff existing in the island under Spanish rule has been reproduced with certain modifications. Most of the duties have been made specific, but there has been added a sur-tax by which certain kinds of imported merchandise is to pad ad valorem duty.

The secretary says that certain form of taxation in the Philippine islands are oppressive and obnoxious, and are abolished. This refers especially to the tax on cock fighting.

"Discriminations now existing in favor of the Spanish government and religious societies are omitted."

HAWAII'S FIRST GOVERNOR.

President to Appoint Him Acting Governor Until Commission Arrives.

Washington, July 14.--The Hawaiian commission will not be able to sail for Hawaii until August 10.

Senator Cullom, chairman of the commission, has been trying to get passage before that date, but has been unable to do so, and is now making arrangements to sail at that time on the Alameda.

GOVERNOR SANDFORD B. DOLE

Meanwhile the president will appoint President Dole acting governor of the territory, and as soon as he is notified he will assume his new duties.

Sail To-day for Honolulu.

San Francisco, July 14.--The steamer Alameda sailed for Honolulu yesterday. Among her passengers was F. M. Hatch, minister from Hawaii to the United States, and Lorrin A. Thurston, special commissioner of the Hawaiian government in the interest of annexation, who have just arrived here from Washington.

Senator Henry Waterhouse of Hawaii and his son came with them. Minister Hatch will practice law in Honolulu.

Rebellion in China.

Canton, July 14.--Owing to the defeat of the imperial troops, near Woo Chow, a thousand picked braves have been dispatched there, convoyed by two gunboats.

The prefect of Woo-Chow reports the imperial losses to be 1,500 killed, and adds that unless he is reinforced before Friday he will be forced to surrender.

The rebels declare their intention to overthrow the Manchu rule, and the promise ample reward to each locality supplying recruits.

The rebels are in camp two or three miles east of Woo-Chow. They expect to advance to-day.

It is reported that the French minister has informed the government at Pekin that France may be obliged to intervene by force of arms, owing to the menace to French commercial interests in the southern provinces.

Wants Floating Docks.

Washington, July 14.--The navy department has asked for bids for two floating docks, to cost not over $250,000. Chief Endicott of the bureau of yards and docks wants these to send south where they could be used for docking our war vessels. There are several such docks that may be purchased, so the government will not have to wait to construct its own. The bids for constructing the floating dock at New Orleans will be called for in ten days.

Capt. Gridley's Funeral.

Erie, July 14.--The remains of the late Captain Charles V. Gridley of the Olympia arrived in this city yesterday morning and were immediately turned over to the family with no demonstration.

The funeral was held at sunset and was very largely attended. Business houses were closed during the afternoon and flags were at half mast.

Mr. Fish Starts North.

Siboney, July 14.--Mr. Nicholas Fish of New York left to-day for the North with the bodies of Hamilton Fish, Jr., and Captain Capron, who were killed with the Roosevelt Rough Riders in battle.

Arrival of Wounded Troops.

YELLOW FEVER COMES

Prompt Measures to Check the Spread of the Disease. The Situation Serious. Danger from the Unhealthful Conditions Which the Army Faces. Terrible Effect of the Heavy Rainfall.

Washington, July 14.--The next great battle before the United States is that with yellow fever, and, although the preparations for meeting it are the most thorough and scientific ever devised, it is no secret that he subject is giving the authorities in Washington considerable apprehension. Word was received at the war department this morning that at Siboney, near General Shafter's headquarters, fourteen cases of yellow fever had been reported, nine among the soldiers and five among the non-combatants.

The period of incubation in the disease is from three to five days, which means that if an outbreak is coming, we shall soon hear from it. In fact, there are already rumors of an epidemic in camp, but as yet they have no official corroboration.

The war department is relying principally upon the prompt action to stay the disease, if each suspected case is instantly removed to an isolated hospital, of which several are already established. Two of the best experts in this disease are in charge, Dr. John Guiteras and Dr. Nicholas Senn. Yellow fever infects places and not persons, according to the department experts, and so the effort will be made as soon as a place seems infected to take the troops away from it to some other point. After they get into Santiago it will be a much easier matter to make these necessary changes of residence, unless the whole region should become infected, which is not now thought likely.

The transports from Santiago bringing home the sick and wounded soldiers, are now being landed at Fort Monroe instead of at Florida points. Extra pains will be taken to disinfect the ships and promptly remove any suspected cases to high ground in a safe latitude.

In spite of all the precautions and the excellent medical attendance, it goes without saying that the conditions at Santiago are very threatening. The heavy rains, the heat of a tropical sun, and lying in the trenches are the very things that produce malaria and fevers of various types. General Sternberg says sleeping in wet clothes on rain soaked grounds and then fighting under hot suns with improper food and unprovided with shelter at night tend to develop the disease.

He believes a long siege of any Cuban city at this season would result in greater disaster to the men than would follow from bullets in an attack on the enemy. He thinks it preferable to sustain some losses through gun fire than to subject the entire army to the outbreak of yellow fever. What applies to Santiago, he says, will apply with equal force to Porto Rico, and, perhaps to Havana, if the warm season continues when the campaign against it begins.

The figures of the aggregate of cases reported, which are either yellow fever or a kindred disease, come close to one hundred.

The seriousness of the situation was not fully realized until General Miles reached the scene of operations. His prompt recognition of the perils involved in a protracted siege at this season was at first pooh-poohed by overwise civilian officers at the department, who remarked that he general was always insisting on a great many more delays and formalities than were necessary. The order he issued yesterday, however, for the burning of the hamlet where he made his temporary headquarters told a plainer story than any which had yet reached Washington, and for the first time the departmental authorities were fully impressed.

Du Bosc Tells Us Goodby.

Montreal, Quebec, July 14.--Messrs. Du Bosc and Carranza sailed yesterday on the Dominion line steamer Ottoman. With them went a petty officer and two sailors of the steamer Panama, which was captured at the beginning of the war.

These went as cattlemen, but they were the men who accompanied Carranza on the schooner which made the mysterious trip during his absence. Carranza himself had his beard shaved off when he turned up at the Windsor, and went to the boat with a false beard.

A Blockade-Runner Wrecked.

Washington, July 14.--Captain Sawyer, signal officer at Key West, has reported to the war department that the ship San Domingo was wrecked off the Isle of Pines, Cuba, while trying to run the blockade. Her nationality is unknown. Captain Sawyer reports he believes she was one of the vessels secured by General Blanco to run the blockade and furnish food supplies to his army.

Gallant Soldiers Promoted.

Washington, D. C., July 14.--The president has directed the promotion of Lieutenant Colonels W. S. Worth, Thirteenth infantry; E. H. Liscum, Twenty-fourth infantry, and E. P. Ewers, Ninth infantry, to the grade of brigadier generals in recognition of their gallant and meritorious action in the operations against Santiago.

Troops Embarking at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., July 14.--In addition to the Sixty-ninth New York volunteers and Second New York volunteers, orders have been issued to the Eleventh and Nineteenth infantry regulars to be in readiness to board the transports at Tampa.

League Convention.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

No Show for Laymen.

It is rather a remarkable fact that both parties in New Jersey seem predisposed nearly all the time to nominate no one but lawyers as candidates for Governor. On the Democratic side ever since the election of George B. McClellan in 1877 none but lawyers were placed in nomination. That discrimination, however, has not been as remarkable in the Republican party, even though Lawyer John W. Griggs was chosen in 1895 and Lawyer Foster M. Voorhees will be the standard-bearer in the approaching campaign. However, Grubb and Kean, all laymen, tried hard but ineffectually to reach the Governor's chair; but when a lawyer was nominated in the person of John W. Griggs he found little difficulty in getting there. In some of the agricultural counties a strong prejudice exists against electing lawyers to public office. In Burlington county such prejudice is deep seated, but why lawyers should be objected to is not very clear. Should the Democratic politicians be permitted to have their way this time another lawyer would probably be nominated for Governor. They would make a selection from such a distinguished group as Judges Kirkpatrick, Lippincott and Garrison, Elvin W. Crane, Senator Daly, C. S. Atkinson and Howard Carrow. While Messrs. Crane, Carrow and Daly are willing, yet the Judges will not permit the use of their names. To the wealth of lay timber, then, all anxious eyes must be turned or else to the military for a candidate. Generals Donnelly and Plume represent the latter, while in the former class the array is imposing. The prominent laymen are Benjamin F. Lee, Johnston Cornish, Mayor Seymour, David S. Crater, Rufus Blodgett and Senator Braun. And there are others. Either of the men from Mercer county would make an exceptionally strong candidate.

How the Trolley Changes.

Ever since the trolley first made its appearance, the sober farmer all over the country has been treated to a series of surprises that have nearly astonished him out of a year's growth. It is now the turn of the old and staid tillers of the soil from over in Somerset and Middlesex counties to view with awe and astonishment the advent of the whirring trolley car into that section. The cars already ply between New Brunswick and Bound Brook, New Brunswick and Metuchen and Bound Brook and Somerville, while gangs of Italian laborers are busily working on the main thoroughfares in Somerville and Bound Brook, laying tracks and preparing for the advent of the electric cars. It will only be a question of a month or perhaps less when the cars will be running through those very towns. Meanwhile, the work progresses rapidly and the plodding old steed, that has pulled the family for years, dances and curvets about like a yearling at the sight of such strange happenings, and such wierd unnatural creatures that go whirring along without any apparent cause. It certainly does recall to one the steady advance of civilization to see a trolley car go spinning along through the country where once even a passing team was regarded as an event.

Heroes of Pompton Lakes.

Bravery in war does not alone have full play where bullets whine in close proximity to vital portions of the body and where the zest of battle numbs the natural sense of self-security. Valorous men there are at the front in far-off Cuba, but their counterparts are seen in the troops who have been left at home to the more monotonous duty of guarding powder mills and other incidentals of international conflict far removed from general attack of the enemy.

Those soldiers who were detailed for guard duty at Pompton Lakes, to keep Spanish spies from doing dirty work at the powder mills located there, have had two chances to make heroes out of themselves and they have accepted those chances with conduct so fearless as to win the plaudits of the country.

But between being in the thick of the battle in the Cuba bush and guarding powder mills there probably isn't a man at Pompton Lakes who wouldn't rather be with the boys in Cuba.

Talking and Acting.

The various societies in Plainfield that waxed so enthusiastic in their wordy demonstrations of unswerving loyalty and support to Uncle Sam, while the agitation over the destruction of the battleship Maine was at its height, undoubtedly are finding that a sober realization of actually enlisting is quite a different feeling than that experienced when the war was simply a prospective outcome of all the talk then going on.

Of course, no one thought at the time that the orgaizations would be called upon, but now that Adjutant-General Stryker has actually found it necessary to notify them that their services as volunteers could be utilized it throws a different light upon the situation. The number of members in the various societies called upon will probably be so small as to make a good deal of unfavorable comment

THE DYNAMITE GUN.

The Sims-Dudley dynamite gun, used by General Shafter in the attack upon Santiago, is a beautiful terror. The projectile is a long tube containing the dynamite and other explosives which discharge it. When the tube strikes the ground or any obstruction everything within forty feet is smashed to atoms by the concussion.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The vigorous movement in progress among the lawyers and courts of the State to purge the bar of the scallawag members who have disgraced the profession, is a wholesome sign of the times. Professional courtesy has been strained to the breaking point by the dishonorable and systematic trickery and rascality of these men, and it will elevate the New Jersey bar in the esteem of the public and of the whole country that it has had the courage to rise up against and turn down these legal pirates and freebooters. While they are at it let the honest lawyers make a clean job of the business.—New Brunswick Fredonian.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Chicago has been seeing what existance is without any newspapers. Every paper in that city was compelled to stop publication owing to a strike among the stereotypers. Such a situation in New York can hardly be imagined. Without the floods of extras and specials that are constantly on the streets of the metropolis the New Yorkers would not know what to do. Particularly at this time, when the general interest in the war is so great, would such a state of affairs fairly bewilder the New Yorker who ordinarily is very difficult to phase.

Any evening when the sky is over cast, the great searchlights at Sandy Hook and Fort Hamilton can be seen by Plainfielders who will watch the horizon to the eastward. The powerful rays of light shoot across the heavens at frequent intervals as the operators in charge of them sweep the harbor, constantly on the lookout for any strange vessel that may try to enter the harbor under cover of darkness. The lights themselves may be seen from Washington Rock.

"How much is your axle grease?" asked a green-looking individual, walking into a store on Front street a few days ago.

"Eight cents a box," was the reply.

"Too much," said the farmer, who, like others of his kind, was looking for a bargain

"Well, being it's you," said the clerk, with a twinkle in his eye and a wink at the bystanders, "you can have three boxes for a quarter."

The farmer laid down his 25 cent piece and took up his three boxes of axle grease, with the air of a man who had just struck a sharp bargain.

* * * *

The New York daily papers are in the midst of a lively argument over the authenticity of the war despatches they publish. Each claims for itself, of course, the only correct and complete account of the situation at the seat of war and points the finger of ridicule at the specials in the columns of the other journals, claiming that they were written in the office. The result is that many of the readers do not know what to believe. It is nevertheless a fact that the great New York dailies have been called upon this year to make greater exertions to furnish their readers with the news than ever before. It is no slight task to cover in detail the movements of several armies and various fleets and it requires a fortune to maintain the fleet of despatch boats and small army of correspondents that daily supplies the public in and about New York with the freshest bits of news from all the points of interest.

* * * * *

As a prelude to the general observance of the Fourth of July, a quiet and peaceable resident of the city, living on West Seventh street, had an experience that he does not care to have repeated another year. It was early in the morning of the National holiday that eighteen young men assembled on the lawn in front of his house and immediately proceeded to serenade the young daughters of the man. Now, the intent of the celebration was misinterpreted by the stern parent. He appeared unto the young men in a costume that clearly evidenced haste in preparation, to stop the thundering bombardment which was going on. In spite of his attempts to terminate the almost unbearable noise, the young men continued to give a reception from 2 until 4 o'clock that morning. The beautiful front lawn was strewn with the remains of fire-crackers and resembled a small battle-field. It is said that the young women enjoyed the celebration from their rooms, and enjoyed the extra excitement caused by their father's appearance. The father is a Quaker, and it is said that his talk was a little strong for one identified with that sect,

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 14—Henry Stevens has returned from Trenton, where he has been visiting his son.

Mr. Badel, of the Brunswick Traction Company, was in town yesterday looking after the interest of the road now being constructed through the borough. It is thought by the first part of August cars will be running over the line. Owing to the rain yesterday work was stopped temporarily.

Miss Lillian Spinner has returned to her home in New York, after spending several weeks with Miss Lizzie Herlick.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin H. Rugg, of Plainfield, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Swackhammer, of Church street.

Mrs. Jerry Dunham, of Church street, will soon leave for Ocean Grove to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Smith, of Somerville, have been visiting relatives in the borough.

Miss Maag, of Plainfield, has been the guest of friends on Washington avenue.

Mr. Brown, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Laing are visiting Mrs. Laing's parents at Red Bank.

Mrs. J. C. Taylor, of Church street, has been visiting Plainfield friends.

Wm. Jennings has been visiting friends in Plainfield for a short time.

Class meeting will be held at the M. E. church tomorrow evening.

Miss Gaston, of Newark, is the guest of Mrs. Sutphen for a few days.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 14.—Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Nelson were guests of Plainfield friends yesterday.

Two weddings of prominence are promised in the near future and they will both attract a large number of people.

The addition to the schoolhouse will be completed early next month so that school will open at the usual time.

Mrs. Day and her daughter, Miss Irene Day, spent yesterday in Plainfield with friends.

Miss Anna Titsworth has returned from a visit with Plainfield friends.

Mrs. Titsworth was the guest of relatives at Plainfield yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 14.—Fanwood Council, No. 744, R. A., enjoyed a visit from S. D. G. R. Pfeiffer, of Bayonne, and Brother Petter, of the Supreme Council, at their meeting Tuesday evening.

Joseph Morse, who resides up on the Jerusalem road, went to Scotch Plains, Wednesday, and proceeded to fill up with rank bug poison. The result was that he began to raise the mischief, and found himself before Justice Clark. He protested that he was guilty, and the squire gave him choice of paying $5, or taking 10 days. He paid the money.—Westfield Leader.

Few in town know of the narrow escape Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Braker had upon their trip to Europe. They sailed June 29th on the steamer Catalonia from Boston. After being out eight days fire was discovered in the hold among some bales of cotton. The fire proved to be a very stubborn one, but was finally extinguished.

Charles Sellers, the Scotch Plains terror, who was committed to the county jail by Judge Clark several weeks ago, was released Wednesday afternoon. Sellers was charged with highway robbery.

Edmund Mooney, while riding his wheel on Mountain avenue Tuesday evening, collided with a wagon, breaking his wheel and bruising himself quite badly.

Mrs. Samuel Richards, of Elizabeth, who has been visiting Mrs. J. D. Stout, returned to her home Tuesday.

Mrs. Dyer, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nichol, has gone to her home in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Norman Dunn spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Banks, of Plainfield.

Frank Bullman, of Brooklyn, is spending a week with his friend, Geo. Allen.

T. Rombo Collins is confined to the house with a severe attack of malaria.

Good Will Lodge, No. 101, K. of P., meet in their room this evening.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 14—The Township Committee are in session each evening this week going over the assessment books. Assessor J. M. C. Marsh says that the new buildings that have been erected during the past year will increase the valuation assessed about 10 per cent. He attends the meeting of the County Board of Assessors at Elizabeth Monday next.

The new Westfield Water Company expects to use the Holly system in supplying the town with water. By this system the water is pumped direct from the wells into the pipes. No standpipe is used, and in case of fire the pumping station is notified and the pressure is increased. This same system is in use at Rahway.

The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration will meet tomorrow night at the home of Chairman C. H. Denman, on Mountainside avenue, for the purpose of straightening out the accounts. About $25 is yet needed to pay all bills.

The final settlement of the acounts of the Borough of Mountainside and Westfield Township, will take place Saturday, when the recently-appointed commissioners will meet for that purpose in the township rooms.

Mrs. T. M. K. Miller, of the Boulevard, has gone to Bradley Beach to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fairchild, of Jersey City, will spend the summer at Chestnut Lawn.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 14.—The Town Council of this place held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, which was the first meeting of the new members. Miss Emma Egel was re elected president for the Council for the ensuing year, and called the meeting to order, appointing the various committees and performing the duties of her office in a manner which proved to those present that woman is capable of filling the highest positions in the gift of citizens in this or any other town. An invitation was received to attend the mayors' convention in Detroit, August 1st to 4th, which was accepted. A committee was appointed to purchase a silver spike to be driven in the tie which will complete the trolley line through this town, and the occasion will be made a gala day for Lincoln. The date and programme will be announced in this paper for a few days.

Realty Changes.

Dr. and Mrs. Honeyman, of Lincoln place, leave today for the Thousand Islands, where they will spend several weeks enjoying life.

Miss Mary Louise VanEps, of East Front street, has just returned from Somerville, where she has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. John L. Hagaman.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

THE KAFFIR AND THE MONTH.

Couldn't Understand Our Method of Reckoning.

At a dinner party in South Africa the hostess told the Kaffir boy to "bring the champagne." The boy left and returned without the wine. She commanded him again to bring the champagne with the same result. Then he whispered "No wine."

"Nonsense," said the woman, "there is plenty."

"No," persisted the native, "me look at all the bottles; all say extra dry."

A second woman engaged a boy in September and at the end of the month gave him his wages. At the end of October she again proceeded to pay him, when he surprised her by objecting to the amount. He wanted to be paid more for thirty-one days than for thirty—not unreasonably. The woman remonstrated and broke into poetry: "Thirty days hath September," etc. "No," said the Kaffir cutely, "no month thirty-one day, all month thirty day. Four month thirty day, then thirty-one, then thirty-two. No, me no stop here," and no logic could induce him to consent to an arrangement that seemed likely to progress indefinitely in favor of his employer.—New York Tribune.

How Pomp Was Converted.

Dr. Payson, the famous and beloved preacher of Portland, Me., says the Christian Endeavor World, used to tell the following pointed story:

One very stormy Sunday he went to church, more from habit than because he expected to find anybody there. Just after he had stepped inside the door an old negro came in and asked if Dr. Payson was to preach there that day, explaining that he was a stranger in town and had been advised to go to his church.

"Upon that," said Dr. Payson, "I made up my mind to preach my sermon if nobody else came."

Nobody else did come, so the doctor preached to the choir and the old negro.

Some months afterward he happened to meet the old negro, and, stopping him, asked how he enjoyed the sermon that stormy Sunday.

"Enjoy dat sermon," replied the old man. "I 'clare, doctah, I neber heerd a better one. You see, I had a seat pretty well up in front, an' whenever you'd say somethin' I'd jess look all roun' fer see nobody only jess me. An' I says to m'self, 'He must mean you, Pomp, youse such a dreadful sinner.' Well doctah, dat ar sermon set me a-thinkin' what a big sinner I war, an' I went an' jined de church down home. I'ze a deacon, now."

That women age—that is, become old in appearance—more quickly than the members of the sterner sex, is a matter of every-day observation; it is a matter of such common knowledge that very fewof us stop toask why it is so. Yet it is surely a question which deserves more general attention, seeing that it touches us all very nearly. The son regrets to see his mother, who has lavished such care upon him, looking "old before her time," and the husband naturally likes his wife to preserve the freshness of youth as long as possible.

What, then, are the causes of this rapid ageing, and can they be removed?

The most important factor in this fading of the bloom of youth among women is worry. Woman is more delicately constructed than man, her nerves are more highly strung; hence the effect of worry upon her organization is always greater than upon man. And woman has far greater opportunities for worry than the lord of creation.

Speaking generally, a woman has to depend upon a man for her living. A man, if he be worried, has to throw it off and turn his attention to current business duties; the wife's duties are confined to the household, and are chiefly mechanical, thus leaving her mind free to occupy itself with any subject of uneasiness that may arise.

For instance, the wife at home—confined within the four walls of her dwelling—worries over the fact that her husband's business is not prospering; whereas he, although just as much interested, has his mind occupied with the transaction of current affairs, and has not the same opportunity to indulge in disquieting reflection. Moreover, the worry acts more disastrously on her finer nerves than upon his. It is women rather than men who "go round the corner to meet trouble," as some one has expressed it. Everybody knows that worry kills more people than works does.

Another reason why women fade more quickly than men, is that they develop more speedily. Take a boy and girl of the same age and watch them; you will find that at the end of a given period that the girl has learnt more and is developed to a greater extent than the boy. The natural result of this rapid development is a correspondingly earlier loss of freshness.

Of these three causes it is possible to do something to counteract two at least. It is possible to increase their physical strength and to find mental occupation which will prevent them from worrying so much. Both objects may be attained to a great extent by the same means.

If a woman is to protect herself from the ravages of worry, and so retain her youth for a longer period, she must come into more frequent contact with other people—as her husband does—and read good books; she must relieve the monotony of her duties and the limiting influence of confinement within four walls by taking outdoor exercise—a walk every day or a spin on a bicycle; in short, she must exercise the body and mind in a healthful manner, and she will find the bloom of youth and health remain with her for years after it has faded in other women of the same age.

"The ordinary woman," says a celebrated physician, "leads such a monotonous existence that her mind has no occupation but worry; she is almost made up of worry upon worry. What she needs is to come out of herself much more than she does. She must have intercourse with more people and take more exercise. This can be done without neglecting the home, and every rightminded man will do his best to secure for his mother, or his sister, or his wife these aids to the retention of youthfulness of body and mind."

Home-Made Koumiss.

Even in town milk may be had so thoroughly fresh and rich that it is an easy matter to make koumiss at home. Lager-beer bottles, with the patent crockery-tipped corks, are the best for keeping this drink, but if those are not at hand the ordinary sort may be tied down securely with fine wire if they taper properly and fit well. To make, put one-third of a cake of compressed yeast in half a teacupful of warm (not hot) milk, add two teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved, pour into the bottle, fill with hot milk, shake well, cork, put in a cool place, and it is ready to use the next day.

The value of koumiss as a building-up food is little understood in this country. On the Russian steppes "koumiss-cures" are frequented by persons out of health or unduly delicate. It is also a refreshing summer drink.

Compote of Pears.

Pare and cut one dozen nice, ripe pears, into halves; remove the core and put the pears in cold water with the juice of one lemon; place a saucepan with one pint water and one cupful sugar over the fire; add the thin peel and juice of one lemon; when it boils put in the pears and boil till a straw will pierce through them easily, then pour them in a dish; when cold drain off the liquor and boil it down to one-half; remove, and when cold pour the syrup over the pears and serve.

BEST RECEPTACLES FOR MOST EFFECTIVE ARRANGEMENT.

Choice of Vases as Regards Shape and Color of First Importance—Slender Flowers Require High Receptacles and Short Stems Low Vases.

The choice of vases, as regards both shape and color, is of the first importance. Tall, slender flowers, such as daffodils and narcissi, should have holders, if possible, half as high again as their own length. Tulips and other flowers of the same type, on the contrary, require to rise from a low, broad base. It is a great assistance in arranging flowers which it is desired should stand upright by themselves, like the last mentioned, to fill the receptacle loosely with wet moss, into which they may be stuck as seems requisite to the artist, besides which, the flowers go twice as far if assisted in this way.

A branch of pink almond blossom, blackthorn or wild cherry, allowed to stick carelessly, or apparently carelessly, in all its lovely natural spikiness out of a big, fat, blue pot, will at once bring a bit of living spring into the room, but the same flowers, when broken up into uninteresting small sticks and placed in slender receptacles, at once lose all character and become unimportant and meaningless.

In the case of violets and snowdrops and such other frail beauties a low bowl, not more than three inches in height, is the most satisfactory arrangement. Here, again, the use of moss is invaluable. There are at present on the market some inexpensive, modern, shallow Delft bowls, which seem made for the accommodation of violets, hyacinths and other wofully short-stemmed blossoms.

Roses must be treated according to their variety. Some spirited, stiff-necked kinds consent to lend themselves to lofty designs, while tea roses and others of a more yielding, drooping disposition yearn for bowls and the support of one another's company, and even so it is necessary to place a wire support in the bowl to keep them from slipping. Can anything be lovelier than old-fashioned silver bowls filled with mixed roses?

Useful Love Letters.

There is a very amiable lady who uses her love letters to score off her husband when opportunity occurs. It is her custom when her husband says anything disparaging to her to fetch out one of these relics of courtship days and reel off the glowing tribute to her virtues which is therein contained. These letters originally numbered somewhere about 200, but owing to sundry successful raids which the poor persecuted husband has made upon them, the number has been considerably reduced. When he penned the tender missives little did he imagine what instruments of torture they would in later years become.

Wainscotting.

Made of Denim and Webbing.

To Manicure the Nails.

To manicure the nails thoroughly hold the tips of the fingers in a bowl of hot soap suds for a few minutes. Then, with an orange stick (never a steel instrument), push back the cuticle, which must not under any circumstances be cut. Trim and file the nails to shape them, and the shape must be a delicate oval, not a point. If a high polish is desired, put the pink salve on first, then powder and polish; add more salve and powder, polish again and wash the hands. After they are dry rub the nails with a polisher that has not been in powder, and, as Byron says, they will look like "the petals of a pink rose."

How to Remove Freckles.

Very delicate skin freckles easily. A few of these "kisses of the sun god" are supposed to accentuate the whiteness of a pretty complexion, but too many are most harassing to the soul of woman. If a mask of thin muslin, dipped in buttermilk frequently, is worn for a day immediately after the freckles make their appearance, all trace of them will vanish. Holes for the mouth and eyes must be cut in the mask. A wet day might be chosen for the cure, during which the fair patient would undergo the fashionable rest cure, "a day in bed."

For That Tired Feeling.

Ardent lady cyclists may be pleased to know that when they return stiff and tired from a long country ride they will derive great benefit and relief from taking a warm bath into which has been poured a good teacupful of white vinegar. Ammonia used liberally in the same way also has excellent results.

To Make the Skin Dry.

For an oily skin, a most unattractive possession in woman, put a little borax in the water and use at night a mixture of rose water and simple tincture of benzoin. The face may be washed in warm water.

THE LITTLE WISEACRE.

Once there was a little miss (her age was scarcely four),
Who said and did the quaintest things you might have thought her more.
Her mother called her in one day and said: "My child, see here Did I not say you must be good and stay in doors, my dear?
You are a naughty little girl and I can't love you now,
A horrid, dreadful cold you'll have and ill you'll be I vow!"
"Why, mamma dear, the blinds were closed and how could you see me?"
"There is a little bird that sees how good or bad you be,
So though you try with all your might
you can not fool me, dear,
For my heart's bird, in softest word tells ever wise and clear
Of good or bad that I can't see; he knows it all, my child."
This baby girl hung down her head and looked so meek and mild,
And thought awhile quite earnestly of all that she had heard;
Then said with saucy innocence:
"Well, I can fool the bird."

A VISIT TO FAIRYLAND.

Little Dorthy's Dolls Surprise Her by Suddenly Becoming Fairies.

Little Dorothy was playing with her dolls one summer day, and, being tired, she sat down, with her little curly head on her doll's dresser, to look at her dolls. Suddenly she heard her prettiest doll, Lily, say to another doll, "When are you going home, Rose?"

"I don't know," answered Rose.

"Let's go now," said Lily.

At this moment Dorothy saw her shadow, and saw that she was no taller than her doll.

"Take me with you," she cried.

"All right, come on," said Lily.

Then they took her to the door, which Dorothy was surprised to find only a little taller than herself.

At the door there awaited them a splendid coach, drawn by six little winged horses in gold harness. When they got in the coach, the horses spread their wings and flew away. After they had gone about three miles they stopped at a beautiful palace. Then they went into the palace, and Lily and Rose told Dorothy that this was their home, and a beautiful home it was, for it was surrounded by pleasant lawns and cool fountains.

After Dorothy had been in the palace for a short time, Lily, Rose, Tulip, Tuberose, Violet and Sweet Clover called for her to walk with them. Dorothy was surprised to see that they all had wands, when Rose handed her a pretty little ivory one with a gold dog's head on it.

"Are you faries?" she cried in delight.

"Oh, what fun!" cried Dorothy, going up to a mirror to see whether she had wings. Yes, there was a splendid pair of little red, pink, green and yellow wings.

So they started off, but instead of walking, they flew to a grassy spot, where they stopped to rest. Tulip waved her wand around her head three times, and there appeared another fairy in servants' dress, with a tiny fruit cake and a small table, on which she set the cake. Then other servants came with chairs and bottles of fairy wine, and quickly disappeared. When they had all eaten, Tuberose struck the table with her wand and it disappeared. Then they all flew home, and Dorothy was getting ready for a ball, when she awoke with a start to find it all a dream.

Odd Things for Odd Times.

Here are some things you might do to pass away an evening, or to provide entertainment for a party of friends when nothing better offers itself:

To find a number any one thinks of, use the following method: Let a person think of a number, say 6. Tell him to multiply it by 3. Ask him to then add 1; then multiply by 3, then add to this the number thought of. The result will be 63. After he informs you of the entire amount, you strike off the last number, which will leave six, the original number.

By taking a long piece of wood, such as the handle of a broom, and placing a watch at one end, the ticking will be heard very distinctly at the other end.

By placing a garden snail upon a piece of glass it will produce, by drawing itself along, a very sweet music, similar to the musical glasses often heard. This sounds rather queer, but just try it, and you will have music equal to the guitar.

Provide a glass goblet about two-thirds filled with water, draw a fiddle bow across its edge, and the surface of the water will exhibit a pleasing figure composed of fans, four, six or eight in number, dependent on the dimensions of the vessel, but chiefly on the pitch of the note produced. It makes a pretty effect.

Mix a grain or two of potassium with an equal quantity of sodium, add a globule of quicksilver, and the three metals, when shaken, will take fire and burn vividly.

Caller (to child, whose mother has left the room for a moment)—Come hear to me, my dear. Enfant Terrible—No, I musn't do that. Mamma told me I must stay sitting in the chair, because there's a hole in the cushion.

DANCERS SUPPLIED TO ORDER.

Among the articles purveyed to its customers by a mammoth London dry goods store are young dancing men. In London, as elsewhere, hostesses have the greatest difficulty in obtaining the requisite number of male dancers for their balls. Outside of the military, dancing men form a very small minority of the regular residents in the metropolis. On the other hand, there are almost at all times plenty of visitors in London, young men who come up for a few days from the country or universities, who would be only too glad of the opportunity to attend a private ball but are debarred therefrom owing to the limited extent of their acquaintance in the city.

To obviate this difficulty, and bring the would-be hostesses and guests together, a plan has been devisel by the management of the big shop which is said to work satisfactorily. When a customer intends to give a ball and finds that she will not be able to find partners for all her women guests, she notifies the shop to supply her with a specified number of young men. The order is filled through the medium of a list wherein male visitors to the city are requested to enter their names. Of course the management of the shop has to be very careful concerning the social status of hosts and guests. It would never do to send small tradesmen to the house of a woman of rank. This difficulty is obviated by a system of tabulation. The managers take care to find out all about the hostesses and the men, and, having satisfied themselves concerning their position in society, arrange them in groups accordingly.

Thus everybody can be suited without danger of unpleasant contretemps. The scheme is said to be profitable to the store, for of course the young men who are thus accommodated buy their gloves, ties and other necessaries there. —New York Sun.

DANGEROUS ODORS.

One Smell of Highly Concentrated Prussic Acid Will Kill a Man.

Some smells are dangerous. A single sniff of highly concentrated prussic acid will kill a man as quickly as a shot through the heart. The odor of a bad egg is due to the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen and the objectionable perfumes of sewers and bone factories are attributable chiefly to the same gas. Chemical laboratories are famous for bad smells. Berzelius, who discovered the element called "selenium," once tried the experiment of permitting a bubble of pure hydrogen selenide gas to enter his nostril. For days afterward he was not able to smell strong ammonia, the olfactory nerves being temporarily paralyzed. Selenium gas has the odor of putrid horseradish. Tellurium is even worse. There is a story of a physician, whose patient, a lady, refused to take an absolutely necessary rest because she was so fond of being always on the go in society. He gave her a pill containing a small quantity of tellurium, and her breath was affected by it to such an extent that she was not able to appear in public for a month. She never guessed what the trouble was. The volatized essential oil of roses is supposed to cause "rose cold." This peculiar complaint is so far nervous in its character that paper roses sometimes excite it.—Boston Transcript.

HOW IT SPREADS.

People Are Talking All Over Plainfield.

This Report Comes From Somerset Street.

How it spreads.

Can't keep a 'good thing' down.

Ever notice how good things are imitated.

Better the article, more imitators.

Fortunately the puplic have a safegard.

Praise can't be imitated.

And true praise takes root and spreads.

Claim is one thing, proof is another.

Claim is what the manufacturer says.

Proof is what the people say.

Plainfield people say

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Cure all kidney ills.

Here is a case in point:

Mrs. R Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pain across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position but had to be constantly changing about. It was the same way at night time. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney troubles but I could not see that any of them benefitted me Doan,s Kidney Pills were procured for me at L W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any relief. I always keep a supply of them on hand and would not think of being without them I can re ommend Doan's Kidney Pills and advise all who suffer with a lame back to give them a fair trial."

WHAT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IS DOING IN AFRICA.

Father R. Sykes, S. J., Is the Present Superior of the Mission—Boundaries as Fixed by the Propaganda—The Mission Is a Prefecture Apostolic.

From the Jesuit Fathers engaged on the Zambezi mission we have recently received the first number of their Zambezi Mission Record, which is written in Africa and printed in London. It is well produced and well illustrated and its promoters should have no difficulty in making it a successful quarterly statement of the progress of their distant mission. Father R. Sykes, S. J., is the present superior of the mission. We quote the following from a description of the staff and stations of the mission, says the London Tablet:

"We may perhaps here state that the mission of the Zambezi was first intrusted to the fathers of the Society of Jesus by the sacred college of propaganda toward the close of the year 1877. In 1875 Bishop Ricards, then vicar apostolic of the eastern district of the Cape of Good Hope, while on a visit to Europe secured from the English provincial of the society three Jesuit fathers and a staff of lay brothers, with the purpose of intrusting to them the work of education in the College of St. Aidan's, which he had recently established in Grahamstown. In petitioning the father general for this concession the zealous prelate had in mind a large and farreaching plan. He thought that St. Aidan's might serve as a base and, if we may be allowed the expression, the nerve center of radiating missionary enterprise whose ramifications should extend into what were then far distant and unexplored regions. This scheme seemed to be about to be realized when the sacred congregation of propaganda, through its cardinal prefect, intrusted to us, toward the end of 1877, the vast but at the time loosely defined regions of the Zambezi mission.

"Of course much preliminary work had to be undertaken before the mission could start on its active career. Funds had to be collected and the missioners themselves had to be procured. Father Henry Depelchin of the Belgian province of the society was appointed the first superior, but it was not until about the middle of April, 1879, that the first batch of missionaries started, amid the pomp of religious ceremony and the earnest blessings and prayers of the assembled Catholics from Grahamstown, going forth on their long and perilous journey to the Zambezi by means of the slow and tedious ox wagon.

"The boundaries of the Zambezi mission as definitely fixed by propaganda are: On the north the southern limits of the missions of Nyassa-Taganyika, Kongo Free State and the Portuguese or lower Kongo to the twenty-second degree of longitude east of Greenwich; on the east by the somewhat uncertain limits of the Portuguese east African possessions; on the south by the river Limpopo from the point at which it enters the Portuguese possessions until it meets the tropic of Capricorn, and thence by that line to the twenty-second degree of longitude; on the west by the twenty-second degree of longitude.

"The mission of the Zambezi is a prefecture apostolic, the superior of the mission being the prefect apostolic. As the limits of the mission pretty well correspond with the more modern geographical designation of Rhodesia the title of prefecture apostolic of Rhodesia is sometimes used to designate the spiritual jurisdiction of the superior of the Zambezi mission.

"Besides this mission of the Zambezi proper, or Rhodesia, the society has several important houses and stations in the vicariate apostolic of the eastern district of Cape Colony, which are under the charge of the same superior.

"In Cape Colony there is St. Aidan's college, Grahamstown, a college for the education of boys preparing for the liberal professions. The fathers of the society took charge of this college in 1876. The superior of the mission in Rhodesia has his residence in Bulawayo. There is a Catholic church for the white population, a boys' school taught by two of the fathers, and a girls' school taught by the Dominican sisters, who have also charge of the town hospital."

Number of baptisms in the Zambezi mission	474
Number of schools in mission during above period	11
Number of children in these schools	511
Number of orphanages in mission	3
Number of children in these orphanages	86
Number of children on farms	180
Number of children in workshops	118
Number of dispensaries for natives	6

Jesuits of Beirut.

The Jesuit fathers of Beirut, where they direct with such success their celebrated University of St. Joseph, that is doing so much for the education of the oriental clergy, issued between 1882 and 1890 an Arabic version of the Holy Bible in three beautifully printed volumes, for which new type, with vowels attached to the consonants, had been cast. A photolithographic reproduction of this edition has just been issued in a single octavo volume of 562 pages. Luzac's Oriental List writes of it, "We must confess that the type, though minute, is perfectly clear, and we hope that the volume will soon find its way among the large class of Arabic speaking Christians." A short but serviceable commentary is appended to the text.

Trappist Monks For the Klondike.

"The Trappist monks of the Oka monastery," says the New York World, "are to go to the Klondike to introduce their perfect agricultural methods, thereby making habitable the region for those lured thither by the thirst of gold. They brave the hardships of the undertaking, the rigor of the climate, not for themselves, but for others."

HEAD OF THE OBLATES.

The general chapter of the oblates of Mary Immaculate, which was composed of 42 members, eight of whom were bishops, met at the convent in the Rue de St. Petersburg in Paris recently for the election of a new superior general in place of Pere Souillier, who died in October last. At the first scrutiny Pere Angier, second assistant of the order, was elected by a large majority. He was born in the diocese of Nice in 1845, and at the age of 15 was impelled by his piety to enter the juniorate of Notre Dame des Lumieres. Three years later he entered the noviciate. He next studied at Autun, and after being ordained priest in 1869 was sent to the Grand Seminaire of Ajaccio, which had been founded a short time before by Cardinal Guibert, and at which Pere Angier professed theology for several years.

His next post was on the staff of the clergy at the Sacre Cœur on Montmartre. In 1882 he was appointed procureur general of his order and remained for the next eight years in Rome. There he founded a flourishing house for higher studies. He left Rome for Paris on being appointed assistant general, in which quality he made a visitation of the most distant missions confided to the order by propaganda in Africa and Asia.—London Tablet.

CATHOLIC BLUEJACKETS.

How Their Spiritual Welfare In the English Navy Is Cared For.

The spiritual interests of Catholic bluejackets in the English navy are evidently not overlooked by those in command afloat. The news has reached us that when, not long ago, the channel squadron was at Palma, Majorca, and the excited popular feeling made it, in the opinion of the admiral, unwise to land any church parties on Sunday, he gave permission to have mass said on board one of the ships for the Catholics, the mass being attended by 400 or 500 men. Further permission was given by the captain of the same ship for the Rev. Father Goldie, S. J., who was visiting the port to look after the interests of British seamen on behalf of the Catholic Truth society, to go on board every morning and give communion to whoever desired it.

The result of this was that about 120 officers and men, who would otherwise have lacked the opportunity, were enabled to go to their duties. We are sure that those who actively interest themselves in the spiritual welfare of Catholic bluejackets will be encouraged in their efforts in their cause by this evidence of the absence of bigotry in naval officers, and their willingness to meet us half way in all reasonable demands. —London Tablet.

GIFT FOR FATHER SALTER.

For Four Years He Has Allowed His Salary to Be Paid on the Church Debt.

The Rev. John B. Salter of Tuckahoe, N. Y., celebrated his silver jubilee recently by officiating at a solemn high mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. He was assisted by the Rev. Edward V. Higgins, the Rev. John H. Dooley, the Rev. John J. Morris and the Rev. Daniel A. Gibbon of New York.

The Rev. D. J. McMahon, a friend of Father Salter in early life before either of them were priests, preached an eloquent sermon. John Baptist Salter was born in New York in 1850, graduated from Manhattan college in 1869, and was ordained at St. Joseph's seminary in Troy in 1873. About four years ago the marble quarries in this village, in which many of his parishioners find employment, began running irregularly, and since then Father Salter has served without pay, allowing his salary to be paid on the church debt. He insisted the other day on not receiving any gifts of money from the congregation, but a committee of women secretly secured about $5,000 in order that he might enjoy a year's vacation offered him by Archbishop Corrigan.—New York Sun.

The Pope and Gladstone's Death.

Leo XIII had the highest admiration for Mr. Gladstone, whom he regarded as the greatest Englishman of modern times, and during the illness of Mr. Gladstone his holiness followed the daily bulletins with the keenest sympathy. His death is the occasion of great grief to the pope. His holiness has on several occasions told Mgr. Angeli, his private secretary and confidant, that he would die soon after the death of one of the great ones of this century—that is, after the death of either Queen Victoria, Mr. Gladstone or Prince Bismarck. It was therefore with great caution that Cardinal Rampolla broke the news of Mr. Gladstone's death to him. The news reached the Vatican about 11 o'clock, while the pope was at mass. After mass Cardinal Rampolla entered the papal apartment and shortly afterward informed the pope, who said, "Requiem eternam dona ei, Domine," to which the minister replied, "Amen."—Vatican Cor. London Daily Mail.

Brief Catholic Items.

When the 3,000 troops of New Jersey were mobilized at Sea Girt a few weeks ago, it was found that 1,800 of them were Catholics.

The Jesuit order is said to number 14,251 members. Six thousand of these are priests who read mass, and 4,416 are students or novitiates. Of the 22 provinces Germany is the strongest and Spain next.

The Celtic cross which Archbishop Williams recently had erected in the Catholic cemetery at North Cambridge is a memorial to the brave soldiers interred therein and was dedicated on Memorial day.

Captain Sands of the United States cruiser Columbia has a sister in the Visitandine order, Sister Hilda, who is directress of the schools served from the convent of her order at Catonsville, Md.

RICH OSAGE INDIANS.

As a Community They Are the Wealthiest in the World.

The Osage Indians are the richest community in the world. They number but 1,729 souls, all told—men, women and children; they own 1,500,000 acres of valuable land; have $9,000,000 in trust with the Government, which pays 5 per cent. interest, and have leases with cattlemen for the use of their pasture lands, which bring them between $40,000 and $50,000 a year, without counting the rent from the agricultural lands and the proceeds of their own labor. That, however, is very small. They have so much money that they are lazy, idle and in a state of rapid degeneration.

There is no more striking example of the corrupting influences of wealth and idleness. The Indians have no incentive for education or labor, but spend their time loafing and visiting each others' homes, where, as the agent says, "they feast and gossip until one might suppose their capacity for both was exhausted; but each trifing occurrence serves as a text, which is discussed from every possible point of view. The old men find great pleasure in recounting the past history of the people, and have eager and interested listeners in the children. I find the most efficient weapons I can use against these tendencies to be ridicule and moral suasion whereby I impress upon them the necessity of looking forward and of staying at their homes to look more closely after their property and the interests of their children."

The entire tribe is composed of about 300 families, of which 1,170 are adults and 559 are children of school age This gives them over 5,000 acres of land for each family, and more than 850 acres per capita, with $30,000 cash for every family. Including the "grass money" as they call it, which is received from leasing the pastures, the income of the tribe will average $500,000 a year, which is about $300 per capita, or $1,600 per family, without any labor whatever. This enormous wealth and the increasing values of the lands which lie just south of the Kansas line and consists of valuable timber and large tracts of rich citizenship of great value, and has caused many dissolute white men to marry into the tribe, so that 829, mostly children, are of mixed blood.

The "squaw men," as the whites who marry Indian women are called, are not enrolled, and receive nothing directly, but indirectly they control the shares of their wives and children, and have been gaining more and more influence among the people. The tribe is governed by a chief and fifteen councillors, and at the last election the mixed bloods, or "squaw men" by bribery and other influences succeeded in electing their candidates for chief and the council. This has caused a great deal of discontent among the fullbloods and it is probable that the government will be compelled to interfere in order to protect those who are really entitled to a share in the rights of the tribe.—Chicago Record.

BELOVED AUTHORS' FADS.

Charles Dickens had a curious caprice. He professed that he could not write with ease and pleasure unless certain quaint little bronzes were upon his desk. When they were there the shuttles in the wonderful web of fiction flew with magical rapidity. He needed three things—blue ink, quill pens and his fetiches.

A lady who has visited the Norwegian dramatist, Henrik Ibsen, at home has informed the world that in precisely the same manner he uses a queer collection of copper animals. They crowd upon his table—grotesque cats and rabbits and other bits of clever modeling. Ibsen finds in their companionship a help and spur, and he is emphatic in saying that if they vanished he should produce no plays.

Jules Michelet, the French historian a tremendous toiler through a long lifetime, had a strange love for the coarse boxes in which he kept his papers. He preserved them with him unchanged in his study for forty years. However damaged and begrimed they might become, and this was inevitable he would not have them changed. Possibly their presence seemed to assist his flow of ideas. He was equally faithful to an old dilapidated table cover. Holes and ink stains were not detrimental to its value in Michelet's eyes.

In the case of Haydn, the composer a ring was the fetich. If he had it upon his finger he could think brilliantly; if he missed it, all his skill seemed gone He often declared that without this trinket he was curiously dull. He might sit down to an instrument, but all creative power, he would find, had departed from him.—Tid-Bits.

Chinese Welcome of Spring.

According to the Chinese almanac, spring commenced on Feb. 4. It is customary on the day previous for the Canton officers to proceed to the place named Tung-kao-cheung to receive the spring, which is regarded as the happiest season. On Feb. 3, therefore, the Prefect of Kwangchow and the Magistrates of Namhoi and Punu districts proceeded with a large guard to Tung-kao-cheung. When they arrived the said officers acted as farmers, one of them taking charge of a paper cow, one holding a paper plough, and one performing the act of sowing seed When the ceremonies were finished the large assemblage tried to stone the paper cow to fragments. The people are of the opinion that if the paper cow is stoned to fragments the year will be prosperous.—Chinese Exchange.

PROFESSIONAL QUACKERY.

Professional ethics are a very much wanted among the members of the medical profession. It is considered unprofessional to advertise—that is, to pay for an advertisement. It is also bad form to recognize any of the many proprietary medicines that are daily used as beneficial. In view of these two well authenticated propositions, the fact that Dr. Cyrus Edson, late of the Metropolitan health department, and a physician of national repute, should sue his partners for a share of the profits in a patent medicine, is highly amusing to ordinary ailing mortals.

As stated by Edson's lawyers, Dr. Ullo, Dr. Edson, through motives of "professional delicacy," did not care to hold or figure openly in the scheme, so he agreed to surrender his 20 per cent. of stock for a one-tenth interest in the dividends of the company. He now contends that it is this interest out of which he has been defrauded by the conspiracy of the defendants. Stil and Stemmler, who, he says, to further their conspiracy, have voted to themselves salaries of $3,000 and $2,000 a year respectively, and have tampered with the books and papers of the corporation.

The allegations in the complaint are made for the most part on information and belief, and it was shown that Dr. Still made an affidavit on which the charges of Dr. Edson are based. This would place Still in the position of charging himself with being one of the persons to whom he furnishes the information, and virtually accusing himself of a fraud. When Dr. Ullo was asked about this peculiar state of affairs he stated that there were other cases on record of persons "turning State's evidence."

Dr. Pincoffs, representing the defendant Stemmler, referred sarcastically to Dr. Edson's "professional delicacy." Justice Pryor was plainer. He said:

"The whole amount of the matter is that Dr. Edson was willing to take his profits from a quack medicine."

"Oh, no, your Hono," [illegible] Dr. Pincoffs: "It is not a patent medicine; it is a very good thing."

"Well, at any rate," said the Court, "he was willing to appear indifferent to the sale of the preparation, while he was really talking it up to the profession for his tenth interest?"

A CLEVER SWINDLE.

For some time past the folowing advertisement has appeared in several London papers, chiefly in those of a religious character:

"Desiring to better advertise the 'Overland' cycles, we will give away ten of our best 20 lb cycles free, one to each of ten persons sending in the most words made from the letters in the word 'Overland.' It costs you nothing to try. Send your list at once, enclosing stamp, to —— & Co., South John street, Liverpool."

The local police had their attention drawn to the matter, and the detectives, suspecting that something was wrong, arrested the receiver of the communications, who proved to be Montgomery. The prisoner's office in Liverpool was found to be merely a receptacle for letters. Five thousand five hundred letters, most of which contained stamps, that had been received from all parts of the country, were seized. Many of the letters came from clergymen. Montgomery, after getting thousands of postage stamps, sent to each correspondent the following:

Liverpool.

Dear Sir: Being employed in the office of ——— (giving the name in the advertisement), I have succeeded in making a copy of their own complete list of all the words to be made from "Overland." You lacked many of the words. As I am unable to use it myself on account of my employment here, I will mail you the list on receipt of thirty shillings. You can thereby make certain of one of the prize cycles. Yours in confidence.

The English police say that had they not arrested Montgomery so soon he would, by means of this circular, have obtained hundreds of pounds within a few days. The prisoner said that he came from the United States and that he lived in Indianapolis. In his possession was found a circular offering pianos free, one to each of twenty persons sending in the largest lists of words made from the letters forming the two words, "Carleton piano." The circular purported to be issued by the Carleton Piano Company of 77 Fifth avenue, New York city.

"AS LONG AS A FLOUR BARREL."

It is probable that at first thought most persons would be inclined to doubt the accuracy of the old saying that a horse's head is as long as a flour barrel. Flour barrels vary somewhat in length. Some are made stouter and stronger, some slender and a little higher. An average flour barrel is about twenty-nine inches in height.

A man to whom the old saying was familiar made up his mind the other day to see for himself just how near right it was, and he measured the heads of three horses. One of these horses was said to have rather a large head for its size; it wasn't a very big horse. The horse's head, exclusive of the ears, measured 28 inches in length. The heads of the two other horses, which were horses of fair average size, with average heads, measured, one, 27 inches, the other 27½ inches. So that this investigator discovered that the old saying was substantially true.

Miss Jennie Frentz, of Scotch Plains, has purchased a new wheel.

Monday night the newly-organized bicycle squad of the Park Avenue Baptist church will take their first run. The young people will meet in front of the church at 8 o'clock, and ride to Metuchen and back. Captain Frank Clarkson will be in charge of the run, with Lieutenant Miss Lizzie Runyon as his assistant.

Tonight, if the weather is fair, the Y. M. C. A. boys expect to take a bicycle run to some nearby point, where the roads are good and the riding easy. This is the regular night for the bi-monthly run which is to Somerville, but, as the roads there are so poor, it has been decided not to take that run, but to go somewhere under the leadership of Captain Cuming.

The hotel and repair shop committee of the New Jersey Division of the L. A. W. has announced a number of new appointments of official hotels and repair shops. Among them are the Mansion House at New Brunswick and the Sewaren House at Sewaren. They both allow L. A. W. members 10 per cent. reduction from their usual table and lodging rates. The Vaux Hall Inn, Milburn, allows 20 per cent to L. A. W. members. Among the repair shops appointed are L. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick; the Garretson Cycle Company, of Somerville, and J. P. Evans, of Elizabeth. The L. A. W. discount at New Brunswick and Elizabeth is 10 per cent. At Somerville it is 25 cents. Local Consul Thomas A. Cuming is ready and anxious to give wheelmen any information they wish regarding the L. A. W. and its privileges.

ROD AND GUN.

Edward F. Randolph, of Liberty street, has been a frequent visitor at Perth Amboy where he has been quite successful in the pursuit of the members of the finny tribe.

Frank Hedden went fishing in Green Brook Monday and caught two turtles, one weighing 12 pounds and the other 28 ponnds. Six pickerel were also numbered in the day's catch.

"Spiel" Walsh and Harry Huff spent yesterday afternoon fishing on the New Market pond. They say that they returned with a good catch, but their friends would like to see some of the fish.

The fishermen who have recently visited Perth Amboy and Sewarren report that the weak fish are biting well and that the fishing is unusually good. A number of great catches have been reported.

Monday evening Frank Hedden and John Welch went fishing in Green Brook near Sebring's mills. Besides a goodly catch of fish they captured two large snapping turtles, one weighing twenty-two pounds and the other twelve pounds. One of the turtles was kept in a tub of water at Hedden's stable where it was exhibited to many of the friends of the captor.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

A. D. Cook, of East Seventh street, has purchased a new grey horse.

Samuel H. Edwards' bay mare, "Molly," is entered in the 2:40 class at the New Brunswick race meet this week. This will be "Molly's" first appearance in a race and will be watched with interest. The mare has done some fast work on the road and track and she is thought to be a good candidate for honors in that event.

A number of local horsemen have gone to New Brunswick this afternoon to attend the opening day of the meet of the New Brunswick Driving Association. There will be several local horses in competition there. The meet is the concluding one of the circuit of the Central New Jersey Driving Association which opened in this city last month. The showing has not been a very good one and Plainfield is the only city that has made any money. The racing was of good quality, but the attendance was rather slack and did not come up to expectations.

GOLF.

The new club house of the Park Golf Club is nearing completion and will be ready for use in a short time.

This evening there will be a meeting of the Park Golf Club when some matters of importance will be discussed.

William Barry, who formerly worked on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has been engaged by the Park Golf Club to work on their links this season.

WORLD OF SPORTS.

THE FATAL ALL-ROUND EVENT.

It is a singular thing that within a year two winners of the all-round have died—John Cosgrove of Albany, and Alexander Jordan of New York city. Mr. Cosgrove died from the results of an appendicitis operation, and Mr. Jordan succumbed to trouble with his heart and lung. The all-round is one of the severest competitions ever attempted by athletes, and the strain on a winner in the past has invariably been terrific. Malcolm Ford was one of the very few men who ever started on an all-round competition and finished comparatively fresh and strong. The all-round programme consists of ten events, decided in this order: 100 yards run, putting the 16-pound shot, running high jump, half mile walk, throwing the 16-pound hammer, pole vault, 120-yards hurdle race, throwing the 56-pound weight, running broad jump and one mile run. Under the existing system of scoring, which is the best that has been devised, a man to qualify must equal the following figures: 100 yards run, 0:14 3-5; one mile run, 7:30; half mile walk, 6:23; 120-yard hurdle race, 0:22 2-5; running high jump, 3 feet 9 inches; running broad jump, 13 feet 1 inch; pole vault, 6 feet 6 inches; putting the 16-pound shot, 26 feet 2 inches; throwing the 16-pound hammer, 61 feet, and throwing the 56-pound weight, 15 feet. The above performances equalled gives a man the minimum percentage; the maximum, which is the best on record in every case, gives a competitor 1,000 points.

ERNEST ROEBER,

CHAMPION GRECO-ROMAN WRESTLER OF THE UNITED STATES.

Cornell Wants a Shorter Course.

Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania have not yet decided whether Poughkeepsie or Saratoga will be the place for their regatta. In a general way Saratoga is preferred by all three competitors. Cornell is considering the advisability of asking to have the distance of the course shortened one mile. This would mean a three-mile race instead of four miles. It is now decided that the University of Wisconsin will enter a crew. Professor Wheeler of Cornell says that the reports published recently in effect that the University of Toronto had been invited to send a crew to compete in the regatta are not true. It is probable, however, that the Canadian university will yet be represented, as the name of its crew as a competitor will be presented at the next meeting of the association.

MISCELLANEOUS SPORTS.

The number of golf clubs now in the United States Golf Association is 101, an increase of 40 within a year.

The national amateur billiard championship of America, which was to have been held in the near future, has been postponed until the late fall or winter months.

Martin Julian, Fitz's adviser and manager, who has been rather quiet for several weeks, has cut loose again and this time he announces that Fitzsimmons will fight McCoy sooner than the latter has an idea.

Gaudaur, champion oarsman of the world, and Robert Johnson of Vancouver, have arranged a match race for the championship and a purse. A side bet of $2,000 has been made. The race will be rowed this summer on Burrard Inlet, at Vancouver, B. C.

L. M. Hamburger of Chicago, who is now in Paris as the representative of the Amateur Athletic Union, expects to carry out ideas which will result in a great athletic meet at the Paris Exposition in 1900. Hamburger is an enthusiast on athletics, and has the warm support of every one interested in amateur athletics.

A sweepstake professional race for the 100-yard championship of the world will be run off in September by W. H. Robertson. The entry will be $50, and efforts will be made to bring several crack English sprinters over here. The Boston men who have promoted this event heretofore have charged $100 entrance. The added money will be $250.

DIAMONDS IN AMERICA.

In no country are there more diamonds to be found than in the United States, according to the population. It is estimated by a leading New York diamond dealer that there are upward of $500,000,000 worth of diamonds in this country. Moreover, this vast amount is increasing every year.

Until quite recently diamonds were rarely cut in this country; but American inventors have developed a process for diamond cutting which is vastly superior to that done abroad.

The loss in weight through cutting is sometimes fully one-half, but the value is increased probably more than twofold.

The Dutch city of Amsterdam has been the great diamond-cutting centre of the world from time immemorial, and up to a few years ago over 12,000 people in that place were directly or indirectly dependent upon this trade.

But it was not reasonable to suppose that Amsterdam should continue to hold a monopoly of diamond cutting. As one of the greatest importing cities of the world, New York gradually offered inducements to diamond cutters and an industry has been gradually built up there that is now very flourishing and profitable. In 1859 Henry D. Morse, of Boston, Mass., invented a machine for cutting and polishing diamonds, and since then improvements have been made upon it that are very important. The foreigners continue to polish their stones by hand, but in this country machinery is largely used.

A famous gem expert places the total value of all the diamonds in the world at over $1,000,000,000, of which $350,000,000 worth are in the hands of dealers, carried as stock. All the other diamonds are in the hands of private individuals, and the question naturally arises, Who owns them? This is not so easily answered, except in the case of large and world-famous gems.—Godey's Magazine.

BULL-FIGHTERS NEXT TO ROYALTY.

A nation whose great sport is bull-fighting, must be said to linger still in remote and cruel times. And Spain is such a nation. Notwithstanding the great drain of the Cuban war, her people find plenty of means to support this amusement. Nobody in the nation commands such an income from his daily effort as the popular bull-fighter. Mazzantini, one of the most famous of these, earned 396,000 pesetas last year, it is said, or over $79,000. He participated in 66 fights and killed 163 bulls. Another popular torrero, Reverte, took part in 71 fights during the year, killed 160 bulls and earned 276,000 pesetas, or $55,200. These men stand next to royalty itself in the popular mind. No great singer, actor or orator approaches them. They amuse the people with spectacles of blood.

That the sensibilities of such a people should be dulled to human as well as brute suffering can hardly be questioned. The bull fight, like the gladiatorial fight, cultivates the brutal instincts, depreciates the value of human life, and makes men comparatively cruel and insensible to the misery of others. We may thus turn to contemplate the atrocious policy of extermination by slow starvation adopted by the Spanish Government in Cuba under the guise of a war measure with little wonder. It has been made tolerable to the nation through the long subjection of the people to the hardening influences of bull fighting. Such a civilization belongs far in the past and must crumble away. —Springfield Republican.

A Moravian Cemetery.

"There is a cemetery in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, which wins out according to my experience," said a prominent tobacco dealer to a Washington Star reporter. "I spent a Sunday there not along ago and was wonderfully entertained and interested. It is the burial place of the Moravians, a communistic religious organization, which exists there in very large numbers. The Moravians are a very desirable kind of people. They are strict in their religious views, it is true, but they are a determined, untiring and prosperous people. They all work and they owe no one a penny. In their cemetery, as in their life, they have a place for everything and everything in its place. At one end of the cemetery married men are buried and the opposite side married women. At the other end unmarried women, and on the opposite side the unmarried men are buried. Each grave has a stone, but it contains nothing but the bare announcement of the name of the deceased, no date of death or age of the deceased being given in any case. Children are placed respectively on the male and female sides of the cemetery, but there is no family grouping."

Novel Railway Traveling.

Passengers to Bulawayo by the new railway experience somewhat of a novelty in crossing the Shashi River. A correspondent writes that when he wished to go over there were three or four feet of water in the river, and consequently the engines could not cross, as the water would have extinguished the fires. The method adopted was to make a train equal in length to the width of the river, and then an engine was placed at the rear, which hustled the train across the river, so that it extended its full width. Another engine—or more literally speaking—a brace of engines—was waiting on the far side, and these were coupled to the train and dragged it out. It was a new way of fording a river by the rail. The bridge at the Shashi had been completely washed away, and at one time the water was eight feet over the old bridge.—Bulawayo Chronicle.

UP-TO-DATE DISCIPLINING.

How Mothers Can Train Their Children by Hypnotic Suggestion.

Chicago mothers are pursuing an up-to-date way of training their children. It is by suggestion.

This at first brings to mind all the terrors of hypnotism. Educators have been startled at this apparent application of a species of the black art by mothers to their babes in the cradle. But a kindly matron who has tried it insists that it is nothing of the sort.

She declares that in suggestion not the faintest degree of hypnosis is necessary. The force employed is merely the action of one mind, alert and active, upon another mind, rendered for the time being quiescent, either by will power or during a sleep, which may be either natural or induced. For all purposes of child training the natural sleep usually proves the best, in addition to being the simplest and easiest to obtain.

The mother, therefore, who wishes to influence her child for good by means of suggestion, merely talks to the little one during sleep precisely as she would were the child awake, having first, however, paved the way to the childish consciousness by gently and lovingly mentioning her purpose in the day time.

"When you are sound asleep tonight," is the manner in which one very successful Chicago mother suggester commences operations, holding her child in her arms, "I am coming to talk to you about the nice things papa and I want you to do; mamma will help you to do them in that way. So you must be ready to listen to me even though you are asleep, when I begin to talk to you."

To the mind of the child, anything "mamma" does is natural and right, so she accepts the nightly talk for what it really is, a natural working out of her parents' affection for her, and is not only ready but anxious to listen. That she actually does listen, with mental if not physical ears, is proved by her subsequent conduct. And the mother, by carefully alluding to the subject of the nightly admonitions only when an especially pleasant feeling exists between herself and the child, insures pleasant associations for and a ready acceptance of them on the part of the baby.

"Tell me something nice when you talk to me to-night, mamma," is a frequent remark of the delighted little one.

The mother who wishes to make a similar experiment should, just before retiring for the night, and when herself in a calm and peaceful frame of mind, take up her position by the bedside of the child, and, gently taking the little hands into her own—at least if the child seems restless under the sound of her softly modulated voice, or until the experiment has become an assured one—quietly talk to the little one precisely as she would were the child awake.

ACQUISITION OF BRAVERY.

"I would like to let young men know," said an old soldier, "that bravery, like almost any other attribute, can be acquired. I would like to let them know this, because there are some poor fellows who are brought into the world with a timid nature that causes them much suffering. While having an admiration for brave men, they feel that they are cowards, and, accustoming themselves to this belief, they never attempt to fight against their weakness. Do you know I really believe that most of the noted brave men of the world have become brave simply by systematically overcoming cowardice. Did not Lannes, Napoleon's most dashing general, say: 'The man who says he never felt fear is a poltroon and a liar.' But, while Lannes thus acknowledged to the sensation of fear, he never allowed himself to show it; and that is the point. Moreover, by practice such things become easy.

"Now, if there is any young man who is a coward and wishes to become brave, let me say this to him: Make up your mind first of all that it is much preferable to suffer death than be trampled upon or humiliated. From what you have experienced you know the disgust, the suffering, acute and degrading, that results when you back down in an unmanly fashion. Say this then: 'I much prefer to die than to experience such feelings again. Impress it upon your mind, and then, as a test to your spirit, force yourself to face those things that you have been avoiding from fright. If a man has been overawing you—bluffing you, in plain terms—lay for him deliberately, bluff him back double, and if he wishes to fight throw yourself upon him with a vim and punch hard; he cannot do more than kill you, and, as you have made up your mind that it is better to die than submit to humiliation, your death, as it were, is a thing already programmed. And if you whip him the sensation is very agreeable, and frees you from any further fears of falling a victim to cowardice."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TROOPS NOW IN THE CITY

COMMISSION CONSIDERING TERMS OF CAPITULATION.

The Hist Informed Sampson's Fleet Just as They Were About to Open the Bombardment—Great Rejoicing On Ships.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago, Cuba, July 14, via despatch boat to Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 15, 11.18 a. m.—A portion of the American army is now in possession of the city of Santiago. The main body of the troops has not, according to the plans, entered the city.

There is only a sufficient force in the city to preserve order.

While peace reigns, a high commission is now arranging the terms for the capitulation. The commission consists of British Consul Robert Mason, Gen. Tolan and Gen. Toral's chief of staff for the Spanish, Gen. Wheeler, Gen. Lawton and Capt. Miley for the Americans.

The American army is beside itself with joy over the surrender of the city. Cheers after cheers greeted the news and there were noisy demonstrations all along the line. The men are now able to rise in their trenches without feeling the breath of the Spanish bullets as they flew by.

It is said that Toral's surrender came just in the nick of time for had it been delayed much longer, the American artillery would have opened its deadly fire on the city and its fortifications.

With Sampson's fleet off Aquadores, Cuba, July 14, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 15, 1.39 p. m.—The news that Santiago had surrendered reached here at three o'clock. The end came swiftly and unexpectedly.

The slaughter was believed to have just commenced for the Spanish refusal to surrender had been so emphatic and so recent that all had given up any idea of a peaceful end to the struggle around Santiago. When the report of the surrender came, Sampson's officers could hardly credit it.

As the hour of noon approached, the steamer Hist steamed close to shore and awaited the signal from General Miles to attack. As 1 and 2 o'clock passed, there was great excitement manifest in the fleet.

A few minutes after 2 o'clock, the Hist dashed toward the flagship displaying signals. The Oregon was first in line and made out, "Enemy has surrendered." Cheer upon cheer burst from the officers on deck and was caught up by the other ships.

The surrender of Toral came in the nick of time for Sampson was in position to drop shells ever two minutes into the heart of the city which would have been demolished before night.

At the Adventists' Tent.

The Adventists' tent, on Somerset street and Linden avenue, contained a large and interested audience last evening. The subject of "The Millenium" was presented by Elder Horton. A feature of the meeting was the asking and answering of questions. Tonight the sermon will be on "The Law and the Gospel," illustrated; Saturday night, "Origin, history and destiny of Satan; Sunday night, "The final home of the saved." Bible class Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. All welcome.

FIRE STARTED IN HAY.

Destroyed a Number of Buildings and Their Contents—Somerville Fire Department's Efforts Were of no Account.

Fire broke out in one of the buildings on Bernard Meyers' stock farm, at Finderne, last night, and destroyed all the barns and outbuildings. The origin of the fire is unknown, but as it started in the large hay barn, which was filled with newly cut hay, it is supposed it is due to spontaneous combustion.

Mr. Meyers conducts a creamery in the Rink building, on Watchung avenue, this city, which is in charge of his son, Benjamin Meyers. When Mr. Myers was seen this morning in regard to the fire, he said that it started about 5 o'clock. It spread rapidly and soon destroyed all the outbuildings, which joined one another, and a large creamery that stood some distance away, but did not injure the house.

All the stock was saved, but 200 tons of hay, bins of grain, farming utensils, etc., were burned. A large engine house and the windmill were destroyed.

Mr. Myers said that the fire would not make any difference in their milk supply.

The fire department from Somerville was sent for, but could not save any of the buildings. The loss is placed at $12,000, fully covered by insurance.

DENNY KANE AGAIN ON DECK.

Stopped Another Runaway Horse This Noon.

A delivery horse belonging to George Schlereth, an upholsterer, of 139 West Second street, ran away this noon while its driver was in the house, and got as far as Front and Somerset streets before being caught.

The horse turned the corner of Second street and Park avenue at a slow gait, but before he reached the middle of the block broke into a run. The wagon collided with the South Plainfield stage which stood in front of Shaw's drug store, and was upset. Dennis Kane, who stood near the corner, ran out and caught the animal before any more damage was done. The wheels were broken, and one of the axles snapped off short. Mr. Schlereth knew nothing about the runaway until told about it by some one after the horse had been caught.

Knocked Down by a Horse.

Last evening Mrs. H. E. Needham, of Jackson avenue, received a severe injury while she was delivering a message to Thomas Newman, driver of the Scotch Plains stage. She stopped Mr. Newman on Somerset street opposite Powers' drug store, and, while she was talking to the driver, one of the team of horses became frightened and kicked Mrs. Needham in the side. The blow knocked her down and at first it was thought that Mrs. Needham was seriously hurt. She was assisted to her feet by Chief Marshal Wilson, who happened to be near, and she was then able to walk home. Today she feels the effect of the blow very much.

Hurt by Ice Tongs.

James Lindsey, aged 22 years, a resident of South Plainfield, was brought to the Muhlenberg Hospital early this morning suffering with a painful and severe injury to his left knee. Lindsey is employed by an ice company at South Plainfield and this morning about 5 o'clock he was carrying a quantity of ice. While carrying a large piece the tongs slipped and one of the points struck the knee penetrating it to the joint. Lindsey suffered a great deal of pain from the accident, but the injury is not considered to be serious. He will be confined for some little time at the hospital.

Hurt in a Runaway.

An Elizabeth man and his wife had a thrilling experience with a runaway horse on the Dugway road near Washingtonville, yesterday afternoon. The horse became frightened and ran up the embankment and wrecked the buggy. The couple were thrown out and the woman quite badly hurt. They stopped at R. M. Clark's house in Washingtonville where the woman's injuries were temporarily attended to. Then they were brought to the North avenue station where they took the train for home.

Frank Bailey, of 86 Duer street, has resigned his position as substitute letter-carrier, for the reason that the chances for his becoming a regular carrier are too small to warrent his running the risk of waiting. Mr. Bailey only carried the mail one day. He has returned to his old position at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works.

THE BERGEN SCHEME IS FINALLY ADOPTED.

County Boulevard Finds Favor with Freeholders.

ESTIMATED COST $300,000.

BIDS FOR THE FRANCHISE WILL BE ADVERTISED SOON.

The Report of the County Road Committee Was Adopted by the Board of Freeholders Yesterday Afternoon—Three Members Voted Against It—Route Selected—Some of the Changes.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 15.—The movement toward the proposed county boulevard and trolley line from this city to Plainfield took a decided step forward yesterday afternoon. The Union County Board of Freeholders expressed themselves in favor of it by a vote of 11 to 3.

A meeting of the Board was held yesterday afternoon when the report of the county road committee was received, putting the cost of the widening of the thoroughfare at not over $300,000. The report was adopted by a vote of 11 to 3, Messrs. Adams, of Cranford, Higgins, of Linden, and Robinson, of Fanwood, voting against it. Mr. Scudder, of Westfield, did not vote. Mr. Hulskamper, a member of the county roads committee, was not present.

The report of the committee was presented by Chairman Martin Roll. It was largely formulated from the report of the county engineers, Frank J. Hubbard, and J. F. Bauer, of Elizabeth, both of whom were present at the meeting. The report reviewed the situation, describing the present condition of the thoroughfare in question, the movement started by Frank Bergen last fall and the work of his committee. The committee reported that they had endeavored to estimate the cost of widening Westfield and and North avenues, from Orchard street, in Elizabeth, to Richmond street, in Plainfield. The cost according to these estimates, was $351,838, which the committee thought excessive.

Reductions amounting to $102,481, they counted on as coming from benefits to vacant properties that were opened up by the construction of the trolley line and by omitting to open up the line for a short distance in Westfield and in Cranford. In any event, they considered that $300,000 would cover the cost of the improvement.

They closed by submitting maps of the proposed improvement and recommended that they be adopted and filed and that bids for the franchise be solicited by advertisements as required by law. Then followed a lengthy discussion after which the report was adopted, together with the maps. Bids will be advertised for at once.

The voluminous report of County Engineers Hubbard and Bauer was received by the county road committee but was not presented to the board. The maps, however, were given and the plans laid out by the engineers will be followed.

The Engineers' report gives the start in Plainfield from Richmond street. The fronts of the oil cloth works and the shops of the Aluminum Plate and Press Company will be moved. To Fanwood the widening will be done on the north side and then it will be shifted from one side to the other so as to straighten the roadway.

Through from Fanwood to Westfield as far as Westfield avenue, the widening will continue on the north side. There it will be necessary to require the property of John M. Clark and Mary Cox and to move the building of Sonn Brothers. For five hundred feet on either side of the Westfield station, the road will remain at its present width, sixty-six feet, so as not to necessitate the moving of the Standard building or the Park Hotel.

From Westfield the widening will continue on the north side, taking out the bend in the road near Garwood and changing to the south side on entering Cranford. The road will run around the big block in Cranford as at present, for the space of two hundred feet where the road is eighty feet wide.

It will be necessary to completely macadamize North avenue from Westfield to Plainfield for a width of sixteen feet. It will be necessary to move a hundred buildings.

A new bridge will have to be built over the Cranford river and all the existing culverts and drains widened or rebuilt. There will also be necessary 123,500 cubic feet of excavation.

NOW READY FOR PEACE.

Spain Sees Further Resistance is Useless.

THE END NOW AT HAND.

INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS SUSPENDED IN SPAIN.

Sagasta Says Spain Wants Peace, But it Must Be an Honorable Peace—France May Act as Mediator—Army Wants War.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 15, 1 p. m.—The official gazette today publishes a royal decree suspending throughout Spain the rights of individuals as guaranteed by the constitution. This means practically the same thing as a declaration of martial law.

The decree adds that the Government will account to Parliament for the use it may make of this measure. The publication of the decree is generally accepted, however, as being convincing proof that Spain is now ready to sue for peace. It is believed by many that negotiations toward that end are actually in progress.

Of course it has been understood for some time past that the Government was anxious, very anxious indeed, to secure peece but that it was at a loss how to accomplish it without too serious results. It is now believed that the Government wishes to have full power to suppress any evidences of discontent or rebellion that will be pretty sure to follow.

The Carlists are furious at the turn of events. They are sure to attempt some kind of trouble.

One official expressed the conviction that official overtures for peace would be drawn before Sunday. There is every reason to believe that France has offered her services as mediator to Spain and that the offer will probably be accepted.

Senor Sagasta says that Spain wants peace, but it must be an honorable peace as Spain deserves. The officials of the army are anxious to resist to the last, but the government cannot consent to such a useless sacrifice. Had Spain a fleet left, the situation would be different.

EXTENSION OF THE TROLLEY.

Brunswick Company Want to Erect a Temporary Bridge.

The New York and Philadelphia Traction Company are making efforts to get their cars running through Somerville and Bound Brook so as to have a continuous route to New Brunswick. They are at present laboring with the committee of the Board of Freeholders, having in charge the construction of the bridge over Peter's brook, to let them erect a temporary bridge. Engineer Herbert says this can be done so that the cars could be running through Somerville by Sunday or Monday. It is thought that the Freeholders will consent. The tracks have now been laid through Bound Brook as far as the Central station and connections will be made with the New Brunswick line in about ten days, so that the cars can run through.

There is a hitch at the Somerset street crossing of the Central Railroad on the way to Raritan. Some of the property-owners object to the depression of the street under the railroad, because it will injure them. The contractors are ready to proceed with the work, but the company cannot go ahead until the objections are overcome.

Corey Divorce Case Still On.

Several lawyers of this city are in Newark today engaged in taking testimony in the Corey divorce case. It is hoped that the case can be disposed of today.

JOSH LUTKIN'S VISIT TO JUSTICE MOSHER.

Came Down From Smalleytown to Get Married.

DISAPPOINTMENT WAS HIS.

HIS PROSPECTIVE WIFE WAS TOO YOUNG, THE JUDGE SAID.

Josh Said That He Was Sixty-one Years Old and Susan Rudge, His Fiance, Was Only Seventeen—Josh Wanted to Pay the Fee With Chickens—The Judge Declined to Tie the Knot.

"We want ter git married, Yer Honor." Justice Mosher, who was lazily gazing out of the window of his office last night, looked up at this brief exclamation, and beheld a strange-looking pair standing before him. The man was old and gray, raw-boned, lanky, with a tuft of whiskers hanging down over his bosom, keen blue eyes that sparkled and shone in his excitement, and twinkled with humor as he proceeded to explain to the Judge what brought him to the city.

He was dressed in rusty black, and wore a straw hat pushed on the back of his head, while the bottoms of his trousers were poked in the tops of cowhide boots.

His companion was a shy little damsel, who didn't seem to be over sixteen. She wore a white dress, trimmed with green ribbons, and kept tight hold of the elder's hand.

"Jedge, yer see its this way," said Mr. Wayback, after a moment's silence, shifting a gunny sack which he held under his arm to another position, accompanied by a faint "cluck" from its depths.

"Yer see its this way. My name is Josiah Larkin, and I live over by Smalleytown. Susie and me want to git married, and as her folks keep makin' such a tarnal fuss about it, we thought we would just slip over to Plainfield and let you tie the knot unbeknown to 'em."

Josh shifted the gunny sack again, and then apparently remembering something else, continued, "These here pullets, if they'd be any good to ye, you're welcome to them," and pushing down his long arm hauled out two white Leghorn pullets which he stroked affectionately. "These we brought along for your fee, me and Susie, and I bet you'll find them tender, too."

Justice Mosher was nonplussed for a moment. Just what to make of the strange looking couple he did not know. The man was 60 years old at the least, and the Judge suspected that something was not right. Then the pullets too; that kind of a fee the Judge was not used to.

"Jedge, we don't like to keep yer waitin'," continued Josh, looking uneasily at his companion. Give me your hand, Sue," "Now say the words Jedge and we'll be gittin' out of here."

Judge Mosher could see no reason for delay, so getting down "Honeyman" he opened the book and began to look for the formula on marriages.

"What is your name?" asked the Judge.

"Josiah Lutkin," was the reply.

"Your age?"

"Sixty-one."

"Your name?" turning to the girl.

"Susan Rudge."

"How old?"

"Seventeen years, eight months and twenty-eight days."

"But," said the Judge, looking up in dismay, "She is not of age and I dare not marry her without her parents' permission."

Here was a dilemma, indeed. What to do the couple did not know. They looked at each other for a few moments, then slowly clasping hands they walked sadly out of the room as quietly as they had come.

The Judge, as he sat in the gathering darkness, could hear their feet pattering down the stairway, accompanied now and then by a disgusted cluck from the depths of the gunny-sack. It was some time before the Judge went home, then it was to dream of the fine fee he had lost.

A Horse Knocked Out This Soldier.

Willard Case, of East Second street, who joined the Fifth Cavalry several months ago, is now probably at the front or on the way there. Case went to Tampa a month ago with his regiment. Soon after he arrived there, he was kicked on the shin by a horse and laid up for several weeks. A letter written by him on July 4th, said that his regiment had received orders to be ready to go to the front at once and that they expected to start in a few days.

REVOLUTIONARY RELICS.

ARTICLES THAT HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED IN THE WALLACE HOUSE.

A Cradle Which Rocked the Late Vice-Chancellor VanFleet to Sleep in His Infant Days—An Old Time Clock

Somerville, July 15—The historical Wallace house is looking at the best at this time of year, with a wealth of foliage about it, and the large flag presented by the Junior Order of American Mechanics last year is waving above the treetops. A number of valuable Revolutionary relics have recently been added to the collection within the old house, and the rooms are now pretty well furnished. The Nova Caesarea Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Newark, have just completed the furnishing of its room on the second floor. It is carpeted with the old-time rag carpet, and upon this stands an ancient bedstead, with high posts and a canopy stretched over a frame resting on the posts and covering the whole bed. This was the gift of Mrs. A. VanFleet, wife of the late Vice-Chancellor. She has also presented a mahogany cradle, in which her distinguished husband was rocked in his infant days. A walnut bureau and a mahogany dressing case of ancient patterns are gifts of other members of the chapter. Mrs. Bedle is the donor of two ancient brass candlesticks and some handsome blue ware plates, that adorn the walls.

The Jersey Blues have just placed in the upper hall an ancient cherry wardrobe from the Yard family. The most important contribution came from the late James Y. Elmendorf, of Millstone, whose collection of relics numbers fifty articles of rare Colonial and Revolutionary history. The famous red coat taken by his grandfather, General Frederick Frelinghuysen, from Colonel Rahl, after the battle of Trenton, is in a glass case, recently provided by the General Frelinghuysen Chapter, and is in the latter's room. There are old deeds and curious wills on parchment, valuable biographs and books, manuscript copy of the address of General Frelinghuysen on the death of Washington, handsome mahogany chairs, china wash bowl over 150 years old, unique centre and side brass lamps and numerous other curios.

A relic on the stair landing is a tall clock which has the following remarkable history: The clock was procured from Peter Sutphen, of Hillsborough Township, Somerset county. When the British were approaching Millstone, in order to preserve the works of the clock, they were encased in a waterproof box and sunk in the Millstone river till all danger was over, when they were carried back to the old case to resume their duty of time keeping. The clock was presented by Mrs. Spencer Weart, aided by other women of Jersey City.

MRS. MILLIKEN'S SUIT.

She Wants the City to Pay $10,000 for Damages Sewer Beds Caused.

Papers have been issued in the $10,000 damage suit which was brought against the city by Mrs. Sarah Milliken, of West Front street, some time ago, and the trial of the case has been set down for the next term of court. Codington & Swackhamer are Mrs. Milliken's lawyers.

Mrs. Milliken sued the city for alleged damages done to her business of keeping boarders by the sewer beds, which were placed very near her house in the western end of the city. Craig A. Marsh, the corporation counsel, who will represent the city in the case, has sailed for Europe, but will probably return before October, the date when court opens. The lawyers for the plaintiff have been assured that this case is among the first on the docket, and will come up early for trial.

Tax on Deed of Conveyance.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 15—In answer to a letter from County Clerk Somers, James E. Boyd, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, gives an opinion that a deed of conveyance based upon a nominal consideration is liable to tax, and that the stamp should be governed by the actual value of the property conveyed in the deed, and not by the amount of the consideration.

At the Volunteers Tent.

The Volunteers of America have their tent again ready for meeting and will hold a service this evening. Tomorrow evening Col. Merrill, editor of the Volunteers Gazette, will be in the tent with his stereopticon of Cuban views. Sunday evening Gospel views will be shown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers, of the Jackson building, will give a bicycle party Sunday evening to a number of their Seventh-Day Baptist friends.

RIVALS OF THE ROAD SHOW LOTS OF SPEED.

An Exciting Road Race Was Held Last Night.

ANGERBAUER THE VICTOR.

RAY POOLE DEFEATED PETER SIMMONDS FOR TIME PRIZE.

The Race Was Arranged By Harry K. Lister—Five Prizes and a Time Prize Were Awarded — Simmonds Thinks He Won Time Prize — How They Finished — The Times Made.

There exists a mighty rivalry at present between two of Plainfield's wheelmen as to which is the speediest. Last night, with twenty-four other riders, they met but the result was far from satisfying to the friends of one of the riders, at least. Ray Poole, tall and fair, and Peter Simmonds, the heavily-built colored racer, were the rivals, and last night the honors went to Poole.

It all happened in the ten mile handicap road race that Harry K. Lister arranged for last evening. The race was started at the corner of Park avenue and Randolph road and followed Park avenue to Holly's Corners and thence to Pumptown by the way of Oak Tree and back over the same course. The distance is about eight miles although it was called ten for convenience. The racers went by the way of Oak Tree so as not to have to cross the Lehigh Valley tracks at grade.

The race was started at 7:16 o'clock. It was witnessed by nearly five hundred people who crowded Park avenue so that passing vehicles found difficulty in making their way through them. There was not a great deal to see; only the start, as each bunch of riders was sent off at the pistol shot, and the finish, when they came through like young cyclones while the crowd went into ecstacies of joy or disgust depending on the position of their favorite rider.

One of the riders in the very first bunch was Henry Angerbauer. He kept the lead, and there he remained winning out by a good distance. Embleton, Westerfield, Sorensen, Maguire and Stout held together after the first few miles. Christofferson came up and made a good showing on the first half, but a punctured tire put him out of the race. Stout would not wait and paced the bunch so that he finished in the rear of the bunch at the tape.

Poole crept up in company with Abbott, from Rahway, and they brought with them two other riders. They kept well away from the scratch men. The four scratch men stayed together for a time, then McDowell, of New Brunswick, quit. Sorensen fell behind. Simmonds and Letson, of Stelton, finished within a wheel of each other, the colored rider in the lead.

The finish, with the actual time of the riders, was as follows:

Competitor.	Handicap.	Actual Time.
Henry Angerbauer.	3 min.	22:24
Wm. Embleton.	1¼ "	22:02
Charles Westerfield.	1¼ "	22:20
Chris. Sorensen.	1½ "	23:26 3-5
John Maguire.	2 "	23:05
Chauncey Stout.	2½ "	23:39 1-5
M. Owens.	2 "	23:17 1-5
Burt Townley.	2 "	23:18
Ray Poole.	½ "	21:24 1-5
Fred Abbott.	½ "	22:15
John Dallon.	1½ "	23:35 4-5
Roger Haskard.	1½ "	23:36
Ed Duck.	3 "	25:08
P. Simonds.	sc.	22:10 2-5
Fred Letson.	sc.	22:10 3-5

The times of the other riders were not taken but they finished in the following order:—C. Apgar, Plainfield, 1-4 minute; Yep Sorensen, Plainfield, scratch; Joe Burke, Plainfield, 1-4 minute; James Slorah, Plainfield, 2 minute; C. Embleton, Westfield, 1½ minutes; Lewis Peterson, Plainfield, 2 minutes; Fred Kroner, Plainfield, 2 minutes.

The time-keepers were J. W. Van Sickle and Charles E. Vail. The judges were Nathan Titsworth and Charles B. Morse.

The first time prize was awarded to Ray Poole, with William Embleton second and P. Simmonds third. Simmonds and his friends were very indignant as they were sure that Simmonds had finished less than fifteen seconds after Poole but the watches said otherwise.

Don't Cross the Trocha.

Justice Mosher, who was tried severely yesterday by the crowd that thronged his court room during the progress of the trial of McCann against Galbraith, has issued new orders and appointed Constable Rockafellow to enforce them. The Judge says that the inside railing is for the use of lawyers, principals and reporters, and that the general public must not cross the line which separates the outer court from the inner upon pain of being "fired" from ther room.

VICTORIOUS

Toral Surrenders His Entire Army of 32,000 Men and 11,000 Square Miles of Territory

SANTIAGO NOW OURS

Commissioners Meet to Arrange Final Terms.

DEPORTATION FOR DONS

Territory Turned Over to the United States All Eastern Cuba from Asseradores on the South to Sagua on the North. The Spaniards Accept America's Conditions. The Deportation a Difficult Problem.

Washington, July 15.--The following statement was given out yesterday:

Playa, July 14.

To Adjutant General at Washington:

Have just returned from interview with General Toral. He agrees to surrender upon the basis of being returned to Spain.

This proposition embraces all of eastern Cuba from Aserradero on the south to Sagua on the north, via Palma, with practically the Fourth Army Corps. Commissioners meet this afternoon at 2.30 to definitely arrange the terms.

W. R. SHAFTER,
Major General.

This means that Spain surrenders on the terms dictated by the United States.

The troops embraced in the surrender are estimated to be about 32,000.

The one condition granted is that they shall be sent back to Spain.

There is great rejoicing at the White House and at the war and navy departments. The end of the long siege, so trying to the American troops and so fatal to many of them is now at an end, and the president and all the government officers under him feel relieved from a great burden.

The victory is complete and it has been gained without the loss of a single vessel of the American navy. When the news came, shortly after 2 o'clock, General Corbin hastened with it to the White House, where he was soon joined by Secretary Alger. After quickly but carefully considering the contents of the dispatch it was decided to make it public at once.

The Santiago campaign is ended now. There is nothing left but to receive the formal surrender of the Spanish troops. The attention of the administration will be at once directed to the work of preparation for the Porto Rico campaign. As heretofore stated, none of the troops now at Santiago will be used for that campaign.

At 2.30 o'clock the secretary of war and the adjutant general went to the White House and, with the president, were awaiting the announcement of Toral's formal surrender.

At 11 o'clock the secretary of war got a dispatch from General Shafter saying that the Spanish General Toral had asked for the appointment of a commission to consider the terms of surrender.

The dispatch was immediately taken to the White House by Adjutant General Corbin.

The war department afterwards posted the following bulletin:

"Cable just received from General Shafter says that General Toral has asked that commissioners be appointed to arrange terms of surrender, Toral having already appointed his."

According to what Shafter said, Toral simply repeated the proposition that he had been making all along for the acceptance by this government of terms of surrender.

Shafter has repeatedly been told that nothing but unconditional surrender will be accepted; the Spanish officers, however, to retain their side arms and all prisoners to be sent to Spain at the expense of the United States. Although Shafter did not say so, it was, of course, evident that his dispatch was sent before noon, the hour when the bombardment by sea and land was announced to commence.

The White House conference adjourned shortly after 12 o'clock and the announcement was authorized that the president declined to appoint the commission asked for by Toral. The secretary of war was instructed to telegraph General Shafter to demand the immediate and unconditional surrender of the Spanish forces under penalty of prompt bombardment by land and naval forces. General Shafter was also directed to carry out the president's orders forthwith.

Gen. Miles Announces Surrender.

Secretary of War, Washington:

Before Santiago, July 14.

General Toral formally surrendered the troops of his army, troops and division of Santiago on the terms and understanding that his troops would be returned to Spain.

General Shafter will appoint commission to draw up conditions and arrangements for carrying out the terms of surrender. This is very gratifying, as General Shafter and the officers and men of this command are entitled to great credit for their fortitude in overcoming almost insurmountable obstacles which they encountered.

A portion of the army had been affected with yellow fever, and efforts will be made to separate those that are infected and those free from it, and to keep those who are still onboard ship separated from those on shore.

Arrangements will immediately be made for carrying out further instructions of the president and yourself.

NELSON A. MILES,
Commanding General.

DEWEY IS ALL RIGHT

The War Department Is Wholly Satisfied With His Work.

MERRITT IS AT HONOLULU

Several of Our Transports and the Big Monitor Monterey Have Passed Hawaii En Route to Manila. Madrid Informed That Philippine Insurgents Are Divided. Germany Favors a Trade Coalition Against Us.

Washington, D. C., July 15.--It can be stated positively that no representations have yet been made to the German government respecting the actions of the German naval commanders in the Philippines.

It is the opinion of officials of the state department that Admiral Dewey has so conducted himself in dealing with the foreign men of war in the Philippines as to leave no room for suggestion or representation on the part of the state department and so long as this state of affairs continues it is not likely that there will be any interference with this able officer.

Berlin, July 15.--In response to an inquiry on the subject the correspondent of the Associated Press was officially informed yesterday that nothing, either officially or unofficially, is known by the German government of the cruiser Irene's interference with the insurgents at Subig bay.

London, July 15.--The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The idea of forming a central European coalition, consisting of the Triple Alliance and its immediate neighbor, to oppose the expected increasedly hostile commercial policy of the United States is gaining ground in Germany."

Madrid, July 15.--A dispatch from Governor General Augusti, dated from Manila, says the insurgents are divided into two parties, advocating independence or autonomy. He adds that a majority of the inhabitants of the Philippines are opposed to the American occupation of the islands, and he expresses the belief that by the concession of reforms the confidence of the natives can still be gained.

An official dispatch from Manila, dated July 9, says the garrison of that place and the Spanish outposts have conflicts daily with the insurgents, who are receiving numerous reinforcements and the dispatch adds:

"We have inflicted great losses upon them. The Americans dare not attack Manila, fearing to find themselves confronted by the rebels and unable to withstand them. They also fear that if Aguinaldo's forces attack the town the population will join them."

Food Scarce at Iloilo.

Hong Kong, July 15.--Letters received here to-day from Iloilo, dated July 8, say a severe scarcity of food prevails there. The merchants are using paper in their business transactions, payable on the arrival of funds.

The sugar mills have been stopped, owing to the working people having deserted, the cane is rotting in the fields and it is estimated that a quarter of the sugar crop is already ruined.

Victoria, B. C., July 15.--The steamer Warrimoo, just arrived from Honolulu, reports that Major General Wesley Merritt has arrived at Honolulu on his way to Manila. The City of Para arrived at Honolulu on July 5. The Morgan City and Indiana were scheduled to arrive that evening.

Bandmaster Watson of the Thirteenth Minnesota was suffering from typhoid fever and was taken to the Red Cross hospital.

The Monterey and collier Brutus left Honolulu for Manila on July 1. The Monadnock, with the collier Nero, arrived at Honolulu on July 3. Necessary repairs to her machinery delayed them there six or seven days. The Nero was in first class shape. The Monadnock made the trip alone and had a hundred tons of coal left. She averaged ten knots the whole distance.

Cable from Hawaii to Japan.

Advices from Honolulu state that the executive council of the island government has signed a contract with the Scrymser Company to lay a cable from the American coast to Honolulu and Japan. The line will run from San Diego to Honolulu and thence to Japan, the latter section to be exclusive. The work is with the understanding that he objection of the secretary of state of the United States shall vitiate all agreements. The provisions of the contract permit the government of the United States to protect itself should it deem the contract inimical to American interests.

American Flag Sent to Hawaii.

San Francisco, July 15.--A beautiful American flag was sent by the steamer Alameda to the Hawaiian chamber of commerce to be unfurled at the ceremony of raising the flag in that city. It was the gift of the chamber of commerce of San Francisco.

Wounded Troops Arrive.

Fortress Monroe, July 15.--The United States transport Breakwater arrived at Inner Quarantine, off Old Point Comfort, yesterday, having on board 520 wounded soldiers from Santiago. This, with the 223 received Wednesday, gives the field hospital here some six hundred more troops than it has accommodations for.

Details from all the companies here are now busy erecting additional hospital tents, and it is probable that houses on the post will be utilized for sheltering the wounded.

Anger Stops Troops.

Charleston, July 15.--The preparation for embarkation of troops has been brought to a stand still by the receipt of the following telegram from Secretary Alger to General Wilson:

"Do not prepare to embark troops for Santiago until further orders.

"R. A. ALGER."

The Obdam was to have sailed with General Wilson and his command at noon yesterday.

TROOPS REACH HONOLULU.

Third Manila Expedition Was There on July 5. Monadnock There on July 4.

San Francisco, July 15.--The transports City of Para, Ohio, Indiana and Morgan City of the third Philippine expedition, reached Honolulu on July 5, just too late to participate in the Fourth of July celebration, but in ample time for a royal welcome, which had been arranged for them by the authorities and the people.

The monitor Monadnock and the collier Nero made the run from San Francisco in ten days, reaching Honolulu on the evening of of July 4. The Newport, with General Merritt on board, and the Valencia had not arrived when the Miora sailed for Vancouver on July 5.

The ships had a rough trip, but none injured. All took different courses on the run in compliance with sealed orders, opened after leaving this port.

Honolulu was ablaze with American colors. The officers called on President Dole and were warmly welcomed by him, while the privates feasted on the executive grounds.

On July 5 all ships were coaling preparatory to sailing on to Manila on the arrival of the Newport.

The Monterey and the Brutus delayed their sailing owing to an accident to the boiler of the collier compelling them to put back to Honolulu, from which port they finally sailed on the evening of July 1.

The executive council of Hawaii has signed a contract with the Scrysmer company to lay a cable from San Diego to Honolulu and thence to Japan.

AN AWFUL RUMOR.

Said That Engineers and Firemen of the Merida All Died at St. Lucia.

New York, July 15.--It is rumored that the engineers and firemen of the British steamer Merida, of the Norton line, are all dead at St. Lucia. The agents of the line admit that they have heard a report that the engineers of the steamer are dead, but say that they have heard nothing from her of any such occurrence. The Merida, which is in command of Captain Tompsett sailed from Montevideo on June 8 and Rio Janeiro on June 18 for this city. She put into St. Lucia on July 11. The agents say the vessel proceeded on her voyage to New York on July 12, and she is due here about July 20.

Battleship Iowa Coming North.

Brooklyn, July 15.--Officials at the navy yard say that dry dock No. 3, which has been undergoing repairs for many months, will be ready to receive the battleship Iowa in about three weeks. The work of removing the coffer dam at the entrance has been commenced, and will occupy perhaps two weeks. Then the channel will be dredged and preparations made for the docking of the Iowa, which will be sent north soon, to have an unexploded Spanish shell from one of Cervera's guns removed from her armor and some needed repairs made.

Not Known in Germany.

Berlin, July 15.--In response to an inquiry on the subject, the correspondent here of the Associated Press was officially informed that nothing, either officially, or unofficially, is known by the German government of the cruiser Irene's interference with the insurgents at Subig bay.

THE CANON OF THE YELLOWSTONE.

All the Earth Thereabout Seems to Be Paint.

The canon is so tremendously wild and impressive that even the great falls cannot hold your attention. It is about twenty miles long and a thousand feet deep—a weird, unearthly looking gorge of jagged, fantastic architecture, and most brilliantly colored. It is not the depth or shape of the canon, nor the waterfalls, nor the green and gray river chanting its brave song as it goes foaming on its way that most impresses the observer, but the colors of the decomposed volcanic rocks. With few exceptions, the traveler in strange lands finds that however much the scenery and vegetation in different countries may change, Mother Earth is ever familiar and the same. But here the very ground is changed, as if belonging to some other world. The walls of the canon from top to bottom burn in a perfect glory of color, confounding and dazzling when the sun is shining—white, yellow, green, blue, vermillion, and various other shades of red indefinitely blending. All the earth there seems to be paint. Millions of tons of it lie in sight, exposed to the wind and weather as if no account, yet marvelously fresh and bright, fast colors not to be washed out or bleached out by either sunshine or storms.—John Muir in Atlantic Magazine.

Robbed of Its Sentiment.

A mysterious package arrived at one of the private schools in the city the other day. It was addressed to a Western girl, and besides the card of a young newspaper man, who has recently come back from Havana, it contained a machete, a real Cuban machete. The knife was 20 inches long, with a heavy blade, painted blood red to within an inch of the cutting edge. The steel was widened at the lower end, and bent into a hollow handle. The weapon was as frightful an implement as you would care to see, and the girls, of course, were delighted with it.

"Can't you fancy," said the proud possessor, "as you look at this rude knife, how some heroic Cuban workman in the fastness of the Cuban hills forged this weapon to fight for his country and his home? Can't you fancy him beating prayers into the steel?"

"I could," remarked one of the other girls, "if it weren't for one thing."

"What's that," asked everybody.

The matter-of-fact girl pointed to a small and inconspicuous label pasted to the blade. "Made in Hartford, Conn.," it read.—Washington Post.

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. For your easy selection they have been assorted into three lots on the centre tables—50c, 60c, 75c, formerly $1, $1.25, $1.50.

RAILROADS AND PIERS FOR MILES.

The Steamship Roumanian, With Tug and Lighters, Sails for Santiago.

New York, July 15.--The steamship Roumanian, formerly of the Clyde line, and recently purchased by the government, sailed from this port yesterday for Santiago. She was accompanied by the sea going tugs Britannia and Gladisfen, with six steam lighters, and the expedition will carry 100 skilled laborers and 205 negro laborers in addition to the entire apparatus and supplies necessary to build piers, floats and railroads.

It is understood that the contract for this extensive work has been awarded to the firm of D. Van Aken Co. of Washington. The firm will furnish two steam pile drivers, small platform cars, dummy engines and light steel rails and ties, also lumber and piles.

It is the intention to construct railroads from the piers into Santiago for the purpose of carrying the troops to the transport ships as soon as the city is taken.

The proposed Porto Rican expedition is to consist of 10,000 of the regular troops now around Santiago, and the difficulty of embarking the soldiers and supplies without the aid of piers, lighters, and floats has made it urgent that the contract awarded to Van Aken and company should be pushed forward with all possible speed.

It is estimated that it will take the expedition about a week to reach Santiago, and by that time the United States army will be in full possession of the city.

Colonel Huncker has had charge of the arrangements for the expedition, which is understood to be the immediate result of General Miles's first dispatches from the front.

WILL REQUIRE BIG FLEET.

Forty-five Steamers Necessary to Take Spaniards Back to Spain.

Washington, July 15.--It was pointed out in Washington yesterday that the proposition of the Spaniards to adjust the final terms of surrender by a commission was no novelty in warfare, and especially in such cases as this, where complex considerations are involved. The proposition to remove the Spanish army in the province of Santiago, divided as it is between several towns remote from one another, to secure the removal of dangerous obstructions in ports, and to arrange the details of transportation of this army, involves so many factors that considerable time might very properly be expended in adjusting them.

An enormous number of transports will be required to carry out our promise to convey the Spanish troops to Spain. Some idea of the fleet necessary may be gathered from the difficulties that Shafter experienced in landing in Cuba his first detachment of fifteen thousand men, though he had at Tampa all the conveniences of a well equipped American port. It is roughly estimated that there are in Santiago province and it is presumed that the terms of surrender will include that whole province, no less than 30,000 Spanish soldiers, and to transport these men to Spain, allowing for the presence on each transport of a suitable guard from the American army, would require no less than forty-five large steamers, a number in excess of the entire fleet of transports now available in southern waters.

PORTO RICO EXPEDITION.

Major-Gen. Brooke Ordered from Chickamauga to Consult About It.

Washington, July 15.--Major General Brooke, commanding the large army of volunteer United States troops now at Chickamauga, has been ordered to report to Washington and is expected to reach here to-day.

It is believed that he has been called to consult as to the Porto Rican military expedition, which it is now proposed shall leave the United States within a short time after the fall of Santiago.

The details of the expedition will not be settled until after the consultation with General Brooke, but it is believed that aside from some of the regulars now in Cuba, the Porto Rican expedition will not draw upon our troops in Cuba to any extent, the plan being to have our Cuban forces largely returned to the United States for recuperation.

General Wilson's division, composed of the brigades of Generals Haines and Ernst, are under orders for the Porto Rico expedition. One brigade is now at Charleston and the other at Chickamauga.

No more troops, it is ordered, shall be embarked for Santiago, with the exception of two regiments of immunes. These immune regiments are at New Orleans and Galveston, where transports have been provided to take them to Cuba.

Prizes Sent North.

Key West, Fla., July 15.--Acting under instructions from the authorities at Washington, United States Marshal Herr will send the following Spanish prize steamers to New York:

Miguel Jover, Guido, Catalina and Buena Ventura.

The steamers are loaded with cotton, staves, cottonseed oil and lumber, and were among the first captured at the outbreak of the war.

They are scheduled to leave at four o'clock and will be convoyed by the gunboat Newport.

The paroled crews of the Spanish prizes, numbering several hundred men, will also accompany the steamers north.

Duffield Not Wounded.

Off Santiago de Cuba, July 15.--General Duffield is suffering from malarial fever, but he is not wounded, as reported in the United States.

According to the last accounts, General Duffield was still commanding at Siboney, in the place of General Young, who is sick and is on his way to the United States.

England as Arbitrator.

London, July 15.--The St. James Gazette says it learns from an authoritative source that he British government has formally consented to arbitrate the boundary dispute between Chile and Argentine, if the matter is not mutually settled by August 15 next.

TROOPS WILL RETURN

The Santiago Army Will Be Sent North to Escape Fever.

NEW TROOPS TO PORTO RICO

Troops Before Santiago to Be Brought to the United States and Kept in the North Until October. They Will Not Be a Part of the Porto Rico Expedition, but Will Be Sent Back in the Fall

Washington, D. C., July 15.--Although the reported appearance of a few cases of yellow fever among our troops in front of Santiago presents a perplexing problem to the president and his advisers, it is almost certain to result in the temporary removal of practically all our land forces from the island of Cuba as promptly as possible.

In this connection the question of withholding for the present the expedition now being fitted out against Porto Rico has been under serious consideration, but up to this time no positive conclusion, it is thought, has been reached.

Investigation with respect to the climatic condition at San Juan, however, has convinced the officials that there would be practically no danger to our troops there from yellow fever, which annually prevails in nearly all parts of Cuba.

The city of San Juan, which is built on high ground, is said to be exceptionally clean for a Spanish town. The water is said to be good and, all things considered, it is not believed that the present arrangements for the invasion of the island will be interfered with.

None of the troops now in front of Santiago, it is understood, will take part in this expedition, but will be brought north to remain until October, when it is expected that the danger of the Cuban fevers will have passed away.

Major General Brooke has been ordered from Chickamauga to Washington for consultation regarding the Porto Rico expedition.

No more troops will be sent to Cuba save two regiments of immunes from New Orleans and Galveston.

Surgeon General Sternberg stated yesterday that he had rectived no further reports as to the health of the soldiers in camp at Santiago. He regarded this as a hopeful sign, taking it for granted that, if there had been a considerable extension of yellow fever, the fact would have been reported to him.

No Fever in Washington.

Washington, D. C., July 15.--Dr. Blodgood of the Naval Hospital here said yesterday that there was not the slightest possibility that yellow fever cases would be brought here for treatment, nor would the ship carrying them even approach New York or any other city. Dr. Bloodgood also said that there had been no cases of yellow fever reported on board any of the American ships up to the present time and he thought it likely in view of the extreme precautions taken, that the fever may be avoided altogether in the navy. Cases appearing among the land forces, he said, would doubtless be handled promptly and effectively quarantined. The standard of the present medical force and equipments in both the army and navy he believed made a spread of the disease very unlikely, as scientific study of the fever has resulted in almost certain cures and preventatives.

SPAIN FEARS WATSON.

Coast Light Out and Harbors Closed at Night.

London, July 15.--According to mail advices received here from Cadiz, dated July 3, the old Spanish broadside armor clad Vitoria, for some time past used as a training ship, which was towed back to Cadiz, after starting ostensibly for the Philippine islands with the fleet of Admiral Camara, is the only warship in the harbor.

Mines have been laid to protest the entrance into the port of Cadiz, and the coast lights are extinguished along the whole Spanish coast.

Advices received here to-day from the Canary islands, under date of July 4, say the two Spanish torpedo boats are still at Las Palmas, and it is announced that a Spanish warship is at anchor at Teneriffe.

Ships are not allowed to enter the harbor after dark, and the coast lights are extinguished. Most of the visitors have left the place.

Pillsbury One Game Ahead.

Vienna, July 15.--By dint of sheer pluck and unwavering persistency, Pillsbury manages to keep the American colors well to the fore among the world's chess masters competing here in the international chess tournament. Slowly but surely he is forging ahead of his chief rival, Tarrasch, who, invincible to all but the young American himself, cannot, however, be altogether shaken off. Last night Pillsbury had increased his lead to a clear game, having won from Tschigorin, as predicted, while Tarrasch could not escape the unwelcome draw forced on him by Schlechter.

Government Finances in Good Condition

Washington, July 15.--Aside from the bond issue the finances of the government are in good condition. The cash balance in the treasury, amounting to $223,284,229, including the gold reserve, which has not fallen noticeably since the war was declared, notwithstanding the fact that large payments of gold have been made in the course of business since then. The war revenue law has increased the receipts of the government about $700,000 per day.

Carried Help to Cubans.

Key West, July 15.--The first news of the successful landing of the Florida and Fanita expeditions, which left here on June 25, was received yesterday morning.

The landing was effected early on the morning of July 3, at Palo Alto, on the south coast of Cuba but not until after several lively skirmishes with the Spanish forces.

A $1,100,000,000 SUBSCRIPTION

War Loan Has Proved a Remarkable Success.

Washington, D. C., July 15.--Subscriptions to the issue of $200,000,000 war loan bonds closed at 3 o'clock yesterday. The tabulation of the applications will not be completed for some time, but enough is known to warrant the statement that the loan is a great success, in its popularity, than the most sanguine had expected. Assistant Secretary Vanderlip said that approximately the subscriptions would reach $1,100,000,000, five and a half times the amount that had been asked for.

Of these $500,000,000 are in syndicate bids, two of them for the entire issue; $700,000,000 are represented by checks, drafts, postal and express money orders; about $75,000,000 are in sums of $500 and less, the subscriptions being accompanied by the cash.

There will be no allotments in excess of $10,000, and none at all to firms or corporations. Subscriptions came in yesterday by telegraph and special delivery letters arrived in great numbers. The first mail received yesterday morning contained between 6,000 and 7,000 letters. Last Monday's mail of 21,600 letters was the greatest received in any one day since the call was issued.

THE TERRITORY SURRENDERED.

It Includes 11,000 Square Miles, Four Cities and 150,000 Inhabitants.

Washington, July 15.--The territory surrendered by General Toral includes an area of 11,000 square miles, with some 150,000 inhabitants, and contains the cities of Santiago, Guantanamo, Baracoa and Sagua de Tanamo.

The region is one of the richest in the island. It has numerous iron, manganese and copper mines, some of which are owned by American syndicates. Among these are those of Juragua, Sigua, Ponupo and Baiquiri.

The Guantanamo district has a number of magnificent sugar plantations, among which are those of Soledad, Los Canos and Isabel of Brooks and company, Esperanzo of Baro, Romelle of McKinley, Santa Cecilia of Arturo Simon, San Miguel, Confluente and San Ildefenso of Bueno and company.

Santiago proper has a number of plantations, the largest of which are La Union of Dussac, Natillo of Bueno and company, San Sebastian of Brooks and company and Santa Ana of Ausa.

CHINA'S REBELLION.

Defeat of Imperial Forces Near Woo-Chow is Confirmed.

Hong Kong, July 15.--The defeat of the imperial troops near Woo-Chow is confirmed.

Thousands of bodies have been recovered from the river and have been buried at Woo-Chow. The losses of the imperial forces are probably more than 1,500 killed, which was the number first announced.

It is reported here that the Chinese doctor Sun Yat Sen, who was inveigled into he Chinese embassy in London in 1896 and imprisoned there until he succeeded in notifying the British government officials through a friend, that he had been kidnapped, is among the leaders of the present rebellion.

It is said the rebels have decided not to advance further than Shue-Hing, above Sams-Hui, fearing foreign complications in the event of Canton being attacked.

The credibility of this report is questioned, as the inhabitants of Canton are greatly in sympathy with the rebels.

SAMPSON'S TERMS.

Notified Shafter That Spanish Surrender Must Include Mines Removed.

Off Santiago, July 15.--Admiral Sampson formally notified General Shafter that he must not sign any acceptance of surrender without first consulting him. Admiral Sampson was anxious that any surrender should include a thorough removal of all mines in the harbor, and the evacuation of all ports which had fired on his ships.

The bombardment of the city of Santiago by the fleet, which it had been intended to begin yesterday morning, was again postponed on account of a message from General Shafter announcing another truce. The Massachusetts and the Oregon had come up from Guantanamo bay for the purpose of participating.

The postponement of the naval assault on Santiago will delay the sailing of Commodore Watson's squadron for the coast of Spain temporarily.

Cuban Navy.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 15.--The "Cuban navy" is in bad shape.

The naphtha launch Alfrede, Captain John (Dynamite) O'Brien, in charge, arrived yesterday morning in a disabled condition, bowsprit and topmasts broken and running gear disarranged.

O'Brien reports heavy weather off Brunswick, and the launch barely escaped wreck from the heavy seas. She will remain here repairing for some days. J. A. Huan, chief of the Cuban junta, says he does not know when she will leave

Major Harrison, acting ordnance officer, is displaying great activity now, and ordnance stores, rifles ,etc., are coming in freely.

The commanding officers think there is something in the wind and that a forward move is in the air. The general rumor is that the camp prepared at Fernandina will not be used, notwithstanding the expense incurred by citizens and others of some eight thousand dollars in preparing it.

Tried to Run the Blockade.

Key West, July 15.--A cruiser which has arrived from the vicinity of Havana, where she had been doing blockade duty for the past two weeks, reports that under cover of darkness last Sunday night a large vessel attempted to break the blockade and enter Havana harbor.

When first discovered the stranger was heading straight in shore for Morro light.

Being fired upon she turned around and put to sea under full speed, leaving her identity unknown.

Spain's Cabinet Divided.

Madrid, July 15.--The minister of the interior, Senor Capdepon, in an interview yesterday, is quoted as saying he could not deny that a portion of the cabinet was in favor of peace.

"But," he added, "peace is a very difficult problem to solve."

COMING EVENTS.

July 17—Irving L. Brady will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4:15 p. m. Miss Blanche Fellows will sing.

The Press and the News.

"Santiago has surrendered." The news appeared on The Daily Press bulletin board and was passed from mouth to mouth. The more demonstrative cheered at the good news and everybody looked happy, indeed, as they heard it and passed on.

As has been the case when any event of great importance has suddenly been heralded through the country, The Daily Press was the first to tell the people of Plainfield of the great and glorious happenings in eastern Cuba yesterday afternoon.

There seemed little chance of any exciting happening; it looked as if Toral was making another bluff to gain time, and The Press had gone to press. A despatch came. It was bulletined immediately. The extra that told to the citizens the glad tidings followed at once. Another proud achievement was won for The Daily Press.

Mr. Reese in the Sanctum.

There is prospect of livelier competition in Westfield journalism than has been the case in the past. For a long time the Westfield Standard has had things pretty much its own way in that place, but now The Leader has come under the control and direction of Franklin E. Reese, who will doubtless bring vigor and enterprise to its columns in such a manner as to make it more of a factor in the community. Mr. Reese, who was connected with The Daily Press up to a short time ago, is a talented young man, possessed of the ability to push The Leader into the front rank of the New Jersey weekly papers.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Some deluded sporting men, who rendezvous in Long Branch clubhouses, are believed to have inspired a plan to open the racetrack there and run off a card or two of speedy events, with the clubhouses as headquarters for the bookies. A feature of the plan, aside from the booming of the old seaside resort, is to discredit the anti-gambling law. The promoters of the scheme believe, too, that if they are hauled into court for participating in this fracture of the constitution, they will escape with fines which will nowhere equal the profits from the speculation. However this violation of the law may be treated in the Monmouth criminal court, certain it is that if these schemers are convicted the higher courts of the State will sustain the finding of the jury, and instead of fines the full penalty of imprisonment may be imposed.—New York Press.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Private F. S. McCarthy, of Company H, Third N. J. Volunteers, is spending a 24 hour furlough with relatives in this city. McCarthy says that despite reports to the contrary, the Third is not going to be sent to Manila. McCarthy is stationed at Fort Hancock, where there are 12 other boys, all of whom read The Press every day with as much eagerness as if they were in Cuba. The paper reaches camp the next morning, and by the time it has passed round, it is night.

* * * * *

There was a little incident that occurred at the county jail at Elizabeth last Saturday that gave vivid evidence of the manner in which the O'Donnell family are impressed with their enforced vacation at the jail. Chief Grant took Mrs. O'Donnell down to the county jail that day, and, on her arrival at the county building, among the prisoners to see her enter its barred precincts was her husband.

"What? Got the old woman here too?" exclaimed Hughie, and he laughed loud and long. His wife said nothing, neither did she laugh.

J. A. Costales, who formerly lived on Kensington avenue in this city, and who has been the Spanish teacher in the Y. M. C. A. ever since that language was taught there, is now living in New York. When the Twenty second Regiment was ordered to Camp Black, Mr. Costales thought that he too would be called out, but was much disappointed to learn that only single men would be accepted. As Mr. Costales had a wife, his enlistment was prevented. Mr. Costales is a Cuban born in the United States, and has a desire to fight for his father's land. He may yet have an opportunity.

* * * *

Dr. Hults, a prominent physician of Perth Amboy, is the proud possessor of a three month-old baby. It became necessary, in the watches of the night, for him to go downstairs after some milk. He descended in his nightgown and bare feet, secured a teacup of milk and tried to replace the cover of the glass jar in which the milk was kept. The cover stuck and would neither go on nor off. The doctor gave it a gentle jog, but it wouldn't budge. He then set down the teacup, took the glass jar between his knees and gave the cover a mighty twist. The jar was shivered into a thousand pieces, badly cutting the doctor's hands. One large piece flew downward with such force that it laid his right foot open to the bone. The house was resounding with the lamentations of the hungry infant. But before he could quiet his son, it was necessary for the doctor to take three stitches in his foot and to bandage both hands and one eye.

Dullness in Police Court.

When asked this morning if his wide-awake officers had succeeded in detecting and arresting any violators of the law last night, Captain Grant replied in the negative. This meant that there were no victims in the "Bookery" who were waiting the arrival of the City Judge to grant them liberty or to consign them to much more agreeable quarters in the county jail. The police have little to do just at the present time, for there has not been an arrest for nearly a week. If this state of things exists much longer the officers will forget how to run in a refractory drunk, and lodge him behind the bars in the most approved style.

New Brunswick's Coal War.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 15.—There is no cessation in the coal war. The Raritan Coal Company has cut the price to $3 98 a ton for nut and stove coal, while the other dealers are selling at $4.47, judging from bids they made to supply the county buildings for the winter. Meanwhile the dealers declare they will sell coal as cheap as any one in the city. It is expected that the coal companies for which the other coal men in New Brunswick are handling coal will make a further cut in prices to meet the figures of the Raritan Coal Company.

—In the window of Leggett's drug store, in the Y. M. C. A. building, there are on exhibition a number of gooseberries of monster size grown by James Pierson, of 601 Richmond Richmond street.

BARB WIRE IN WAR.

Barb wire, intended as a peaceful agent of husbandry, has become a myriad-pointed engine of defensive warfare. About the fortified approaches to Santiago it was stretched in tangled confusion by the Spaniards. But barb wire is an American product and our boys know how to pull its teeth.

WEATHER MAN SMILED ON THE EXCURSIONISTS.

PLEASANT DAY AT THE SEASHORE.

Twelve Cars of Pleasure Seekers Sought the Breezes at Asbury Park Yesterday.

Whether it was due to the removal of Farmer Dunn or not, it is a fact that the weather smiled favorably upon the excursionists who went to Asbury Park yesterday with the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church. And the result—pleasure for everybody. The excursionists were twelve cars strong. When they arrived at the Park there was a hurried scattering, and soon the Plainfielders were sprinkled out over the domain of Founder Bradley, fully enjoying all the things that that eminent citizen has congregated together to attract visitors to that particular spot along the shore.

The excursion train was in charge of Conductor Joe Ross, and he and the other members of the crew exercised every attention possible to make the journey to and from the Park a pleasant one. The return home was made in good time, one hour and thirty six minutes elapsing from the time of departure at the Park to the arrival in Plainfield, including two stops, aggregating eight minutes.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Rogers, of West Second street, are entertaining company from out of town.

Miss Julia Clark, of North avenue, was able to go out yesterday for the first after a serious illness.

W. E. Lowe and family, of Park avenue, left town this morning to enjoy the balance of the summer in the mountains.

W. E. Kinney, of Arlington avenue, has returned from a stay in the mountains. He will join his family, who are still stopping in the mountains, a little later on.

FOR A STORAGE RESERVOIR.

A Site Selected Back of the Orange Mountain Range by Newark Engineers.

Newark engineers have selected a site for a 700,000,000-gallon storage reservoir half a mile south of Great Notch, back of the Orange Mountain range and in a natural basin quite near the big conduits which supply the city from the Pequannock watershed. A storage reservoir has been greatly needed, and last week the pumps at Belleville ran for four days taking water from the lower Passaic river through natural filtering beds near the river bank, into which a number of wells were driven some years ago.

—The Sunday-school children of Grace M. E church are enjoying themselves today on the mountains back of Plainfield. It is the annual picnic of the school.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN

Dunellen, July 15—The members of the Presbyterian church and Sunday-school will join with the First Presbyterian church, of Plainfield, in their annual excursion to the seashore, July 21st.

The trolley tracks are now laid as far as Taylor's Hotel in the borough and it is expected that by the last of next week the rails will be laid as far as the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway, where they will be joined It was at first the intention of the Brunswick Traction Company to lay their tracts alongside of the Plainfield tracks so far as the borough line, but it is understood that an agreement has been made whereby the tracks are to be joined. If the present progress is continued cars will be running over the new tracks by the first of August. A switch is to be located in front of the Central Railroad station and this will be the only switch in the borough.

A horse owned by Mr. Apgar attempted to run away yesterday afternoon, but Mr. Apgar managed to hold on long enough to bring the animal to a standstill. There was no damage.

Mrs. Wm. Pickup and Mrs. Wm. Peel, of Philadelphia, have returned home after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. P.C. Staats of North avenue

Rev. Frank Fletcher will take no regular vacation this year, but will take a day now and then when he feels as though he needs it.

During the summer months needed repairs will be made to the borough schools, and bids for the work are now being advertised.

An adjourned meeting of the Borough Council was held last evening. Nothing but ordinary business was considered.

Mr Douglass, of The Dunellen Call, was a welcome visitor at The Daily Press office, Plainfield, yesterday.

Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., made a profit of $30 on their Fourth of July celebration.

Miss Mabel Jamison, of Church street, will spend the month of August at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Joseph Apgar and daughter are visiting relatives at Annandale and Cokesbury.

Miss Martha Kratzel, of North avenue, is entertaining her cousin from Westfield.

The Misses Maier, of North avenue, are entertaining company from New York.

W. H. Terry spent yesterday with his mother at Metuchen.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 15—Rev. F. E. Peterson, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will spend his vacation at Milton, Wis., where he will attend a church conference.

The marriage of Miss Hannah Lillian Larkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Larkin, to Jay William Crofoot, of Alfred, N. Y., will be celebrated at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Tuesday, August 2d, at 12 o'clock noon.

Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, will visit Old Glory Council, at Plainfield, next Tuesday evening.

Miss Cora Belle Ahrens, of Stratford, Ont., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs Stanley Day.

Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A M., cleared $40 on their celebration Fourth of July.

There will be a meeting of the Twilight Club next Saturday evening.

Miss Hannah Dantz is the guest of friends in Brooklyn, for a short time.

Miss Lulu Davis is visiting relatives at Somerville for a few days.

Mrs. F. A. Halstead, of Newark, is a visitor in town for a short time.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 15—Rev. Mr. Woodruff, pastor of the Methodist church, of this place, has been granted a vacation of five weeks. Mr. Woodruff will spend it among the various Indian tribes in the west.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P. at their meeting last evening entertained the "Oriental Degree" team from the uniform rank of Plainfield. One candidate was initiated and lived through the "oriental." After regular business the evening was spent in a social manner.

George Gray, a colored man, who was committed to Elizabeth, by Judge Hoar, of Fanwood, for threatening the life of Annie Carr, was released Wednesday.

The Board of Engineers of the Fanwood Fire Department, held their regular quarterly meeting in B. & E. Co. rooms on Wednesday evening.

A cablegram has been received by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Braker, announcing their safe arrival in England.

Miss Ethel Marsh entertained a few of her young friends at a birthday gathering yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Trayman will lead the prayer meeting in the Baptist church this evening.

George MacCauley, who is stationed at Fort Slocum, spent Thursday with his parents.

Miss Nancy Wade is spending a week with her grandparents at Lyons Farms.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U A. M., meet in their rooms this evening.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 15—A lamp exploded in the room occupied by a servant at the home of H. H. Downes, on Park street, at 10 o'clock last evening, and but for the prompt action of Mr. Downes a serious fire would no doubt have occurred. As it was the curtains, the wood-work and some of the furniture were burned. Mr. Downes threw the lamp out of the window and was badly burned about both hands and arms. The fire alarm was sounded, but the fire was extinguished before the engines had been taken from fire headquarters.

The bicycle ordinance has never been enforced or any attempt made to do so and now the peddlers' ordinance is just as much a dead-letter law. The merchants are very indignant and say that if it is not enforced they will hire a constable at their own expense and have it attended to.

J. R. Connoly, cashier of the First National Bank, has been granted a month's vacation. He, with Mrs. Connoly and Miss Clara Connoly, will spend the month at Asbury Park.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 15—Mr. Ernest Downell, of Newark, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray, at their residence on the west Boulevard.

The hose company had a practice run Monday evening and demonstrated by their promptness in being at their post that in case of fire they could be depended upon to do their duty well. After the practice run the regular monthly meeting was held and three new members were added to the roll. Considerable business was transacted, among other things being the adoption of a new constitution, and the company bids fair to be a successful one.

The new woollen mill, which is in course of erection, is to be completed according to contract September 1st.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text: — And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God. 1 Kings xviii: 39. July 17, 1898.

30. "And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down." In the third year Elijah is told to go and show himself to Ahab and that the Lord will send rain. He is as usual obedient and starts to seek Ahab, but on the way he meets Obadiah, a servant of Ahab, and commissions him to go and say to his master, "Behold Elijah is here!" Obadiah informs him that he has been searched for everywhere and that kingdoms and nations had been caused to take an oath that they could not find him. How securely hidden are all whom God hides. How gloriously safe are all whose lives are hid with Christ in God. (Col. iii, 3). On being assured that Elijah would surely show himself to Ahab that day, Obadiah goes to Ahab with the news, and Ahab starts to meet Elijah. The result of the interview is that all Israel, with the prophets of Baal and of the groves, are summoned to meet Elijah at Carmel.

31. "And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of tribes of the sons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the Lord came, saying, Israel shall be thy name." It was when Jacob was made helpless by having his thigh put out of joint that he clung in conscious weakness and obtained the blessing and the new name of Israel. His descendants were chosen that through them and their helplessness God might make himself a name for the benefit of all nations (II Sam. vii, 23; Isa. lxiii, 12, 14). In their deliverance from Egypt, life in the wilderness, crossing the Red sea and the Jordan, it is the Lord alone who is seen working so marvelously in spite of their unworthiness.

32. "And with the stones he built an altar in the name of the Lord and he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two measures of seed." Elijah had but one motive—the glory of God—and but one aim—to make Him a name. He knew and believed that he stood before God and he cared nothing for the opinions of Ahab or all his people if only God was glorified. With great calmness therefore, and quiet confidence we may imagine him building his altar in the name of the Lord. See what wonders might be wrought through us, only we were willing to live in the name of the Lord (John xiv, 13, 14; xv, 16; xvi, 23, 24).

33. "And he put the wood in order and cut the bullock in pieces and laid him on the wood and said Fill four barrels with water and pour it on the burnt sacrifice and on the wood." This would entirely destroy any possibility of deception as to the source of the fire that was expected.

34, 35. "And the water ran around about the altar, and he filled the trench also with water." The second and third time was the altar and sacrifice deluged with water, until even the trench was filled. How amazed the prophets of Baal must have been to see such strange preparations! Did you ever try to kindle a fire with wet wood? If not, you can hardly appreciate this situation. It is only when things are, humanly speaking, impossible, that God really has opportunity to show himself. When Moses thought that the deliverance of Israel from the land of Pharaoh was a hopeless task, then God said, "Now shalt thou see what I will do" (Ex. vi, 1).

36. "Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel and that I am Thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word." Having made all these preparations and the time of the evening sacrifice having come, the servant of the Lord calmly looks up to heaven and talks confidently with his God. He says that he has done everything as God had told him. So the arrangement about the water was no thought of Elijah's but a command of God. Now he asks that God will accept and seal it all as His, that His great name may be known. It is only when we are walking with Him, self subdued and fully agreed with Him about everything, that we can expect to see his name magnified.

37. "Hear me, O Lord, hear me, that this people may know that Thou art the Lord God and that Thou hast turned their heart back again." All has been done that the people may know that Jehovah is the true God. This was the great aim of all God's dealings with Israel, that all people of the earth might know the hand of the Lord (Joshua iv, 24). Can we say that, as far as we know, we are living day by day simply that the hand of God may be seen upon us to His glory? Is it our one aim that, regardless of what it may cost us or of how or where He may lead us, we want above all things the life of Jesus made manifest in us (II Cor. iv, 11)?

38. "Then the fire of the Lord fell and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench." Was there ever fire like that? Ah, Lord God, there is nothing too hard for Thee! Water and even stones are as easily consumed by Thy fire as wood or flesh. How quickly the answer came and on Elijah's part there was no striving or wrestling, but a calm and holy confidence. Thus the fire came at the dedication of the tabernacle and of the temple and on other occasions (Lev. ix, 24; II Chron. vii, 1; Judg. vi, 21; I Chron. xxi, 26). And I doubt not that but Abel's sacrifice was accepted by the sword of flame touching and consuming it.

39. "And when all the people saw it they fell on their faces, and they said, The Lord, He is the God; the Lord, He is the God." How much they meant by their confession God knew, who read their hearts, and He knows just how much or how little we mean by our professions and confessions. May we have that truth in the inward parts which He so desires (Ps. li, 6). As the prophets of Baal were overcome, so will everyone be who sets himself against God (Isa. ii, 11, 17; II Thess. i, 7-10). May He now cast down every high and proud thing in or about us and subdue us wholly to Himself that we may magnify Him.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning July 17. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Exhortation to Earnestness.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Eccl. ix, 10. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

There are many old maxims which enforce the same sentiment as this verse from the Bible. They are good guides to conduct. Most people are so constituted that they need frequent reminders of duty. Indolence and indifference almost insensibly creep over us, and effort is relaxed and excuses are found for idleness and abandonment of work. It is a singular fact, and as true as singular, that many natures enter with great interest and enthusiasm upon a new piece of work and maintain zeal and activity so long as it is new or difficult, but when the end appears within sight a revulsion of feeling sets in, a doubt arises if the result will pay for the exertion, and there is great temptation to give up the whole matter. This is peculiarly the case with people of nervous temperament and may be due in some measure to the fact that the nervous vitality has been overtaxed, and the final draft made upon it to complete the task finds the physical forces exhausted and this reacts on mental and spiritual powers, causing a sense of weariness, indifference and discouragement.

Each one needs to study his own nature and know where and when his peculiar temptations will arise, and so be ready to meet them.

Some never seem ready to do anything with vigor. Some appear to consider it a mark of culture to be very moderate in expression and exertion, as if it was vulgar to be earnest and interested. Such notions are false and pernicious. The great Italian poet Dante well characterizes such as these. He represents them as neither living nor dead, but confined in the vestibule of hell, whom neither hell nor heaven will receive. Pusillanimity is their fault. Here was "that one who made the great refusal." Perhaps the poet meant the rich young ruler who was told to sell all he had and give to the poor and then follow Jesus. Certain it is that no one ever attained to any eminence in goodness who did not put his strength into doing good. Doers of the word and not mere hearers are the blessed and blessing ones.

This passage also means another thing —"What is well worth doing is worth doing well." No work which ought to be done should be done carelessly or slightingly. Activity and fidelity are imbedded in this proverb.

This also discounts all seeking afar for a sphere of work. Whatever is near at hand, the present opportunity is to be improved. The duty close by may not be so attractive as some faroff one dreamed of, but it is the real one. Do the present duty with all your might. Be earnest.

Secretary Hurlbut.

Compact, vigorous physique, alert and energetic manner, keen eye, firm chin, courteous bearing and that indescribable but easily recognized atmosphere which belongs to men of ability disciplined by administration of large and weighty matters, such is Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, the corresponding secretary of the Sunday School union and Tract societies of the Methodist Episcopal church. He is in the prime of life and whether in the office, in meetings of the boards or on the platform addressing great assemblies he is master of his business and a worthy successor of John H. Vincent and Daniel Wise.

His work is intimately related to that of the Epworth League. Better work has never been done by the two societies of which he is secretary than at the present time. The League should heartily assist in distribution of the new and admirable tracts now available. The recent improvements in The Classmate place it in the front rank of young people's papers, alongside The Youth's Companion and Epworth Herald, while The Sunday School Advocate stands without a peer in its class. Dr. Hurlbut's hand and brain have had much to do with the recent improvements.

Losses.

Upon the white sea sand
There sat a pilgrim band
Telling the losses that their lives had known
While the evening waned away
From breezy cliff and bay
And the strong tide went out with weary moan.

Some talked of vanished gold,
Some of proud honors told,
Some spake of friends that were their trust no more
And one of a green grave
Beside a foreign wave,
That made him sit so lonely on the shore.

But when their tales were done
There spake among them one,
A stranger, seeming from all sorrow free,
"Sad losses have ye met,
But mine is heavier yet,
For a believing heart hath gone from me."

"Alas," these pilgrims said,
"For the living and the dead,
For fortune's crulety, for love's sure cross,
For the wrecks of land and sea!
But, however, it came to thee.
Thine, stranger, is life's last and heaviest loss."

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Thüringische Staaten.

Eisenach. Der Gemeinderath hat der Errichtung eines Krematoriums auf dem hiesigen Friedhofe zugestimmt. —Der hier abgehaltene Schlossertag nahm mit großer Majorität einen Antrag und eine Resolution zu Gunsten von Zwangsinnungen an. Dagegen stimmten Berlin, Stettin und Breslau.

Langenleuba-Niederhain. Pastor Müller, dem seit einem Zeitraum von 15 Jahren die Seelsorge für diese Gemeinde und für Neuenmörbitz übertragen war, ist verschieden.

Sondershausen. Die Gewerkschaft Kyffhäuser, welche in der Feldflur Badra, einem Dorfe des hiesigen Bezirks, das Recht des Bergbaues erworben hat, stieß in der Grube „Gut Glück" in einer Tiefe von 233 Meter auf Kupferschiefer von ausgezeichneter Beschaffenheit.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Wegen zahllosser Betrügereien, durch welche namentlich hohe Offiziere um viele Tausende geschädigt wurden, ist der Leiter und Begründer der hiesigen „Jugendwehr," der sogenannte „Lieutenant" Brehner, verhaftet worden. Derselbe hat, unter dem Vorgeben, unter der Mitwirkung von Generälen und Stabsoffizieren eine militärische Wochenschrift gründen zu wollen, viele Leute zur Herausgabe von Geldsummen veranlaßt.—Durch eine Feuersbrunst wurden in Moorburg vier Wohnhäuser eingeäschert und drei andere Wohnhäuser beschädigt; 12 Familien sind obdachlos.

Lübeck. Eine kürzlich in Eutin wegen Diebstahls verhaftete Kindergärtnerin, welche bei dem hiesigen Kaufmann Minlos in Dienst gestanden hatte, war von demselben wegen verschiedener Unregelmäßigkeiten entlassen worden. Am Tage ihrer Entlassung starb das sechsjährige Söhnchen des Herrn Minlos, es zeigten sich Symptome einer Vergiftung. Die eingeleitete Untersuchung hat nun ergeben und das Mädchen hat auch gestanden, daß es der Milch des Kindes eine Morphiummischung beigemengt habe, die den Tod des Kindes herbeiführte.

Mecklenburg.

Dömitz. Eine zur hiesigen Dynamitfabrik gehörige Patronenhütte ist in die Luft geflogen. Ein Arbeiter wurde getödtet.

Sülze. In Redderstorf ist ein Tagelöhnerkaten niedergebrannt. Das Kind des Tagelöhners verbrannte. Seine Frau und drei andere Kinder erhielten lebensgefährliche Brandwunden. Weniger schwer wurden noch zwei andere Personen verletzt.

Braunschweig.

Blankenburg. Der aus dem Heere entfernte Lieutenant Steuben gerieth auf der Neuen Halberstädter Straße mit seinem Vater, dem Obersten Steuben, in Streit, im Verlaufe dessen er den Vater mit einem Revolver zu erschießen drohte. Der Oberst verhinderte den ungerathenen Sohn, seine Drohung in die That umzusetzen, indem er ihm einen heftigen Schlag gegen den Kopf versetzte, der den jungen Mann kampfunfähig machte. Der Vater erstattete darauf selbst Anzeige gegen den Sohn, und die Polizei nahm diesen fest.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Hofrath Professor Dr. Wagner, dem Leiter der landwirthschaftlichen Versuchsstation Darmstadt wurde von der preußischen Regierung das Anerbieten gemacht, in Berlin eine ähnliche Anstalt zu errichten und sollte dafür Dr. Wagner eine Summe von 1,500,000 Mark zur Verfügung gestellt werden. Professor Dr. Wagner hat sich aber entschieden, seinen hiesigen Posten nicht zu verlassen.

Friedberg. Der Großherzog hat die Errichtung einer aus neun Mitgliedern bestehenden Handelskammer für die Stadt und den Kreis Friedberg genehmigt.

Gimbsheim. Der hiesige Milchhändler Ph. Jac. Oswald wurde wegen Milchfälschung vom Wormser Schöffengericht zu drei Wochen Gefängniß verurtheilt.

AN ORDINANCE

designating the streets and highways of the City of Plainfield in, through and upon which the posts or poles of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company may be placed and maintained, and the manner of placing the same, and providing for the construction, maintenance and use by said Company of underground conduits, cables, wires, manholes and appurtenances for the distribution of electricity for light, heat and power.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and highways of the City of Plainfield are hereby designated as and for the streets and highways in, through or upon which the posts or poles of said Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company may be placed, maintained and used by said Company, subject to the provisions of the General Statutes of the State of New Jersey in such case made and provided, and subject to the regulations contained in this ordinance, or that may be imposed by the corporate authorities or legislative body of the City of Plainfield:

Sec. 2. That the manner of placing said posts or poles shall be as follows:

They shall be firmly planted in the ground, adjacent to and within eighteen inches of the curb line on streets where curb lines have been established, and secured by cement or grouting wherever necessary to maintain the poles in an erect position, and said posts or poles shall not be less than one hundred feet apart.

Sec. 3. That said Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company be and is hereby authorized to construct and maintain for the uses of its business of generating and distributing electricity for the purposes of light, heat and power, a system of subways of underground conduits, including the necessary manholes and street openings and lateral connections to property lines beneath the surface of the streets and other highways in said City, and to drain same to storm sewers, and to place, maintain and operate in its system of subways or underground conduits the wires, cables or other electrical conductors necessary for its business, and to construct, maintain and use for such purposes a system of electrical conductors in connection with the necessary poles and appurtenances for the distribution of electricity from such conduits.

Sec. 4. That said system of subways herein authorized shall be constructed as follows: The same shall be at least three feet below the surface of the streets where located, with manholes where necessary, level with the surface of the street; the trenches shall be carefully backfilled and the material thoroughly rammed to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner; the work of rolling and repairing the pavement shall be done by the Street Commissioner and the cost of said work shall be paid by said Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company; and all the work of constructing shall be carried on under the supervision of the Street Commissioner. In case the said company shall fail to restore, relay or repair, or cause to be restored, relaid or repaired, any pavement or street surface within forty-eight hours after receiving notice from the Street Commissioner that such work is required, said Street Commissioner shall have the right to cause such work to be done and the cost thereof shall be paid by the said Company;

Sec. 5. That said Company shall indemnify the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield against, and assume all liability and damages which may at any time arise, come or occur to said City from any injury to persons or property from the doing of any work herein authorized, or any work done upon, under or along any of the streets of the said City by said Company, or from neglect of the Company or its employes to comply with the provisions of any ordinance of said City relative to the use of streets or highways or public places, particularly as to the erection and maintenance of lights and guards at or about excavations; and the acceptance by the Company of this ordinance shall be an agreement by it to pay to the Common Council of Plainfield any sum of money for which the City may become liable from or by reason of such injury or damage.

Sec. 6. That said Company shall construct such subways and appurtenances at the rate of at least sixteen hundred feet (1,600) each year from the date of the approval or final adoption of this ordinance until the following streets are clear of wires and poles of said Company, viz:

The Common Council shall have option to designate in what order subways in the streets specified in this section shall be laid; and the said Company shall be at liberty to construct subways in the other streets specified in the first section of this ordinance earlier than herein specified, upon said Company applying to the Common Council and obtaining special permission in the premises.

Sec. 7. That this ordinance shall be void unless said Company shall file with the Clerk of said City its acceptance hereof within twenty days from and after the passage hereof, which acceptance shall be taken and construed to be a consent to the terms and provisions hereof, and an agreement by said Company to perform whatever is hereby required within the time or times herein limited, and said Company shall also within said period of twenty days file with the Treasurer of said City a bond, with sureties to be approved by the Mayor, in the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of the terms and conditions of this ordinance.

Sec. 8. That said Company shall pay into the Treasury of said City all advertising and printing fees incurred by the City under this ordinance, and this ordinance shall take effect immediately.

Approved by the Mayor July 12th, 1898.
CHAS J. FISK, Mayor.
Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

for the repairing and permanent improvement of East Ninth Street.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the roadbed of East Ninth Street, extending from the northeasterly crosswalk of Park Avenue to the southerly crosswalk of Watchung Avenue, be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of eight feet on each side of the centre line of said street and for a depth of four inches at the general expense of the City, to be paid for (after first applying the direct contribution of property owners) out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of streets, as provided by the Act of the Legislature entitled "An act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the roadbeds of streets at the general expense," approved May 13, 1884.

Sec. 2. That before any work shall be done under this ordinance, the property owners along the line of the proposed improvements shall deposit with the City Treasurer the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars ($650 00).

Approved by the Mayor July 12th, 1898.
CHAS. J. FISK, Mayor.
Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to License Inns and Taverns and to Regulate and Prohibit the Sale of Spirituous and Fermented Liquors," approved February 10th, 1892, amended April 7th, 1894.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

That there be added to said ordinance the two following sections, to be numbered Sections 25 and 26 respectively:

"Sec. 25. That any license heretofore granted and now in force, or that may hereafter be granted, under the provisions of this ordinance, may, at the discretion of the Common Council, be renewed by the Common Council for the period of one year from date of the expiration thereof, upon application of the licensed person or persons respectively, and it shall not be requisite in order to such renewal that the application therefor shall have annexed thereto any certificate of citizens or freeholders or any affidavit or affidavits; provided that such applicant for renewal of license shall not have been theretofore convicted of violating any of the ordinances of the City of Plainfield, or any of the laws of this State; and provided further that before receiving any renewal of license as herein contemplated, the applicant shall enter into recognizance in the same manner as if said license was applied for or granted under the appropriate foregoing section of said ordinance.

"Sec. 26. That upon petition of any person duly licensed under this ordinance, or his legal representative, the Common Council may, pursuant to Chapter CLXXIX of the public laws of New Jersey for the year 1892, permit a transfer of the license held by such applicant to another person to be named in such application, to be designated in said application, upon the payment of a transfer fee hereby fixed at the sum of Twenty-Five Dollars in each case."

Approved by the Mayor July 12th, 1898.

SOLVING THE PROBLEM.

The Culture of Alfalfa is Reclaiming Nebraska's Semi-Arid Lands.

Southern and Southwestern Nebraska is still talking alfalfa and hens. Of course, all the alfalfa talk includes about the best beef steer and his sister, and the talk of the hen includes the talk about eggs. Alfalfa and the hen is doing wonderful things for Southern and Southwestern Nebraska.

Time was when the average Nebraska farmer could think of acres only by the thousand, and hens were considered as something too insignificant for a farmer to consider. To-day a few acres of alfalfa, a few beef steers, some dairy cows, a few hogs and a lot of hens are making the farmer richer than multiplied acres of corn.

The alfalfa crop has steadily increased every year for twenty years, but despite the manifest advantages of this crop there are some people who refuse to believe that it is a good crop and persist in raising corn and hauling it to market.

Alfalfa will grow almost everywhere if it can be started. A few years ago it was thought that it would grow only on the bottom lands. To-day some of the best alfalfa fields in the State are in the sandhills and upon the uplands. Alfalfa is a wonderful enricher of land. Its roots absorb water like a sponge. Take a field of corn and a field of alfalfa lying side by side. After a good rain do a little experimenting. Dig down in the corn field and you will find the earth moistened by the rain to a depth of 3 or 4 inches. Then dig down into the alfalfa field and you will find that the rain soaked down from 18 inches to 3 feet.

The only trouble in getting alfalfa started on the uplands is to carry it through a season of dryness. Once the alfalfa roots are well grounded it will grow and increase in yield. As a stock food it has no equal. Hogs will eat it cured as greedily as when green, and they prefer it to corn at all times. As a flesh producer it is the greatest food known.

Alfalfa is rapidly solving the Western Nebraska problem.—Omaha World-Herald.

"I don't approve of the time payment system of buying a Piano. When I can afford one I shall buy it", said a lady who merely wanted to look at Pianos lately.

"If everyone felt as you do," said we, "how many homes in Jersey would have Pianos? Probably not one-tenth of the present number. We know one or two parties who felt that way ten years ago, and do so yet—but they haven't got Pianos; we know thousands who felt the other way, and have had their Pianos—their own—for years back."

This lady bought a Piano from us on a first payment of Ten Dollars. You can do so, too.

A LAZY BOY'S INVENTION.

Which Gave the Idea of Running an Engine Automatically.

Laziness moved a lad named Humphrey Potter, of England, to invent the forerunner of the eccentric. This boy's duties were rather humdrum. He had to sit all day long near the cylinder of the clumsy Newcomen engine and work the valves that alternately let steam and water against the head of the piston—first a jet of steam from the boilers to drive the piston down, and then a jet of cold water to condense the steam and allow gravity to bring the piston back for the next stroke.

As he glanced across the moor one sultry day, he saw a number of his companions sporting in the cooling waters of the river. He longed to join them, but he could not leave his post. So he set his wits to work.

In a short time he had fastened stout cords to each end of the walking beam of the engine, brought them around wooden pegs near the cylinder, and fastened them to each of the valves. The device worked like a charm. When one end of the beam went down the steam valve opened, and when the other end was lowered a jet of water rushed in to form the vacuum.

Then he scampered off, and was soon the gayest of the gay among his fellows. Some hours later, Newcomen was surprised to find the engine running without an attendant. He searched for the boy, and found his device.

He saw the steam engine of the future in the misshapen machine before him. Nothing else was wanted to make the engine automatic. When the sun and planet device of Watt gave rotary motion to the engine shaft, the eccentric took the place of young Potter's strings and pegs.

This lazy lad quite properly drops out of history at this point, but he cannot be forgotten as long as the steam engine remains man's most valuable and faithful friend and helper.—Golden Days.

WENT TO A DINNER WITH BARE FEET

One of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson's Eccentricities.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson made herself highly popular in England on her first visit there with her husband. Some of her eccentricities were almost as much discussed as her attractions, and one of those best known here is said to have created a lasting impression at the first dinner party which she attended in London. She and her husband were late in arriving and the guests assembled to meet them had time to talk of the novelist's American wife before she was announced. The dinner was practically her introduction to the society of her husband's country. When she entered the room the most astonishing feature of her appearance did not make itself noticed at first. It was only after an interval of several minutes that the other guests noticed that Mrs. Stevenson wore neither shoes nor stockings. As this fact became generally known to the persons invited to meet her the expression of the faces of the women is said to have been almost as remarkable as the agility which the men showed in their attempts to keep from stepping on her toes, a danger that was quite remote and existing only in the somewhat disturbed imagination of the other guests. The fact that the exposed feet were comely is said to have been powerless to reconcile the guests to the sight of them. But Mrs. Stevenson's attractiveness made even the guests forget what danger there might be to the feet after they were under the table. The absence of shoes and stockings was luckily explained subsequently as a peculiarity personal to the novelist's wife, and so England never got the impression that it was customary for American women to attend formal dinners without their shoes and stockings.—New York Sun.

Spectacled Cows.

Cows with spectacles are to be seen on the Russian steppes. The steppes are covered with snow more than six months of the year. The cows subsist on the tufts of grass which crop above the snow, and the rays of the sun on the snow are so dazzling as to cause blindness. To obviate this calamity, it occurred to a kind hearted man to protect the cows' eyes in the same way as those of human beings, and he manufactured smoke colored spectacles which could be safely worn by cattle. These spectacles were a great success and are now worn by upward of 40,000 head of cattle, which no longer suffer from snow blindness.—New York Herald.

Five Emeralds.

Cortes obtained in Mexico five emeralds of wonderful size and beauty. One was like a rose, another in the shape of a horn, a third in that of a fish, with diamond eyes, a fourth like a bell, with a pearl for a clapper; the fifth was a cup, with a foot of gold and with four litle chains, each ended with a large pearl. He had also two emerald vases, worth three hundred thousand crowns each.

No More Receipts.

The up-to-date housewife doesn't ask for the receipt of such and such delectable dish. She asks for its "method" of making.

The Y. M. C. A. nine will try conclusions with the Dunellen team tomorrow afternoon on the latter's grounds. The game is called for 3:30 o'clock. As the Dunellen boys have won their series of games with the Clinton Avenue Club, a victory for the Y. M. C. A. boys would put them near the top of the heap.

Tomorrow, the baseball cranks will have to find some other place beside the Crescent Oval to see baseball. The diamond there is fast loosing its well-kept appearance. The grass and weeds are growing there and the rains have washed and gullied the field until it looks little like a baseball diamond.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Frank L. O. Martin Cycle Company close their store now at 8 o'clock during the hot weather.

Councilman T. J. Carey, of the borough, rode his wheel to Whitehouse today.

Out of a carload of "Pennant" wheels, received Monday by the Bard Cycle Company, they report fifty-one sold to date. If you are about to purchase a wheel, look at the "Pennant" which sells for $25.

There are a number of riders in this city and vicinity who can show considerable speed on the road. Races, like the one of last evening, are bound to encourage such sport and develop a friendly rivalry that will furnish many interesting contests.

Instead of taking the scheduled ride to Somerville last night, the Y. M. C. A. bicycle squad took a run in another direction under the leadership of Captain Thomas A. Cuming. There were eight wheelmen who went on the ride, and they enjoyed a spin over towards Rahway and back. The start was made at 8 o'clock from the building, and as the men were good riders, the captain set a stiff pace from the first. The route took them first to Metuchen, then over the Menlo Park and Iselim road to Rayway. They returned by way of Westfield. When they reached the association building lemonade was served and the boys enjoyed a swim in the tank.

GOLF.

There will be some playing at golf on the links of the Park Golf Club tomorrow. In the near future matches will be arranged. It is hoped that a game will be arranged between the Parks and the Hillside team.

A meeting of the House Committee of the Park Golf Club will be held tomorrow night. The committee will make arrangements for the opening of the new club house which is scheduled to occur a week from tomorrow if it can be finished in time, and they will also consider the furnishing of the house.

ROD AND GUN.

The new grounds of the Climax Gun Club at George Thatcher's roadhouse, near Fanwood, will be opened tomorrow. There will be a team race between the Dunellen and the Climax clubs.

Captain "Jack" Brewer, who prides himself as a targot shot, was defeated yesterday afternoon before the Elkwood traps at Long Branch in a match with Dr. G. S. Gagnon, of Chicago, after an exciting finish. Captain Brewer finished with forty-five breaks. Dr. Gagnon, amid much enthusiasm, broke forty-six.

Lost $64 in Cash.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 15—Mrs. Nelson had a rather unpleasant trip to Newark yesterday where she went to do some shopping. After she had finished her business, she started to board a trolley car for Elizabeth at the corner of Broad and Market streets. She carried a hand bag in which was a pocketbook containing $64 in cash. There was quite a crowd waiting for the car, and when Mrs. Nelson opened her hand bag to get her pocketbook she found it missing. It is supposed that it was stolen.

R. L. Toney Out Again.

Robert L. Toney, of Madison avenue, who collided with a carriage while scorching through Fanwood two weeks ago, and broke his collar bone, besides spraining his ankle and cutting a deep gash in his face, is able to be out again. Toney has spent the time since his accident in the hospital, and when released was very glad. It will be several weeks now before he can do much riding.

—The little son of E. J. Cooley, of Watchung avenue, is bravely bearing the discomforts of a collar bone, caused by falling out of bed at their present summer home, Asbury Park.

—Friends of the O'Donnell family say that the city is not assisting the children, as has been stated. Two children are supporting themselves and Mrs. Lindsley is caring for the little girl.

—Nelson M. Wiegand, of Traxton, N. Y., a graduate of the Buffalo College of Pharmacy, has accepted a position with Druggist J. H. Leggett. Mr. Wiegand won the prizes in the Junior and Senior years in college.

—Little Margaret Leggett, of Madison avenue, was prevented from enjoying the excursion to Ocean Grove yesterday on account of a badly cut and bruised face. Her brother, Burt, accidentally hit her in the face with a croquet mallet while playing a game of croquet.

—Doerne & Edsall are making a big cut on trunks and leather dress cases and hand bags of which they have just put on sale another large shipment direct from Peddie's factory. They commence their summer clearance sale tomorrow on Johnston & Murphy's men's fine shoes, closing out at cost, as well as many other summer lines.

—The borough dog catcher picked up a handsome New Foundland dog this morning about 7 o'clock and placed him in the pound. A little later John Leal, of this city, was in the borough and made inquiries of Chief Marshal Wilson concerning the dog, which happened to be owned by Mr. Leal. The dog was secured by the owner this afternoon.

THIEF HID IN THE CELLAR, CHANCE TO STEAL SPOILED

HE WAS DETECTED JUST IN TIME.

Probably Was About to Notify a Pal —Mrs. Lawrence's House the Selected Place.

A thief secreted himself in the cellar of Mrs. P. Lawrence's house on Stelle avenue last evening, and remained concealed until after the family had retired, when he felt it safe to begin operations.

Fortunately, one of the gentlemen was detained in New York until the train leaving at 10:30, and he reached home just in time to frustrate the thief's plans.

Passing through Field avenue he saw some one leaving his grounds, and on investigation found the back cellar door left open.

This door having been closed and fastened by one of the family several hours before, it is a matter of certainty that it was opened from the inside by some one hidden there.

Presumably the thief had gone for an accomplice to assist in the work he contemplated; but owing to Mr. Lawrence's opportune return, the house was secured against robbery.

The matter has been reported to Chief Grant.

ENRAGED WOMAN'S ACT.

She Wanted a Bottle Filled With Whiskey But it was Cracked.

There was a sound of breaking glass heard on East Front street last night. The crash came from in front of a saloon, and drew a crowd at once. Roundsman Flynn rushed up to the spot to see what had happened, and saw that an Italian woman had thrown a pint whiskey flask into the middle of the street, which had broken in fragments.

The woman had gone into the side room of the saloon to get the flask filled and there discovered that it was cracked. In her rage she threw the bottle into the street. Flynn made her go out and pick up the pieces and carry them off, so that wheelmen, riding along would not puncture their tires.

Chief Wilson to Have a Vacation.

Insect Steed Ridden by Insects.

At a recent meeting of the Entomological Society of Washington some specimens of chrysopa, a species of golden-eyed fly, which had been collected in the White Mountains, were exhibited as curiosities, because each carried on its back one or more minute cecidomylid flies. The opinion was expressed that this was a true case of smaller species of insects using a larger species for the purposes of locomotion from place to place.—Youth's Companion.

A Big Tax Case.

The Singer Sewing Machine Company of Elizabeth has again brought before the Supreme Court, on a writ of certiorari, the proceedings of the State Board of Assessors, which has imposed a tax of $1,209.30 on the company. The papers filed show that the capital stock issued is $10,000,000, which, less a reduction for assessed value of real and personal property and personal estate of $814,000, leaves $9,186,000 assessable property. The writ in question was obtained to protect the company from loss of any rights under litigation entered on previously and still in progress The company alleges certain franchise exemptions which the State Board of Assessors has ignored.

SPANISH TO BE TRANSPORTED TO SPAIN.

Shafter Cabled That the Surrender Was Certain and Sent the Terms Later—Americans Will Care for the Wounded.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 16, 11:17 a. m—At 9:20 o'clock this morning the War Department received the following despatch from General Shafter:

"The Spanish have surrendered. Particulars later. "Shafter."

Washington, July 16, 12:17 a. m—The despatch giving the terms of surrender has arrived at the War Department and the officials have made public the substance of it.

According to the terms the 20,000 refugees who sought shelter in the American lines are to return to Santiago, while the American infantry are to patrol the roads about the city.

The United States hospital corps is to give attention to the sick and wounded of the Spanish army and look after them when the city falls into the Americans' hands.

All the Spanish troops in the province of Santiago de Cuba, with the exception of ten thousand at Holguin, under the command of Gen. Luque, are to come to the city of Santiago and surrender. The guns and other defences of the city are to be turned over in good condition to the Americans.

The Americans are to have full use of the Juragua railroad. All the Spanish troops are to be conveyed back to Spain together with the portable church property. The Spanish are to surrender their arms and ammunition, with the exception of the officers who will be allowed to retain their side arms.

The Spanish are to co-operate with the Americans in the removal of the mines from the harbor.

Washington, July 16, 12:50 p. m—On receipt of Shafter's official notice of the surrender of Santiago, President McKinley sent a message of thanks to the army.

In it he congratulates all on the great and wonderful triumph of arms in overcoming their grim foe and the tropical heat with many other obstacles. Secretary Alger also sent a congratulatory message.

Washington, July 16, 1:20 p. m—The final official announcement of the surrender of Santiago was received with the utmost relief by the officials.

The delay was accounted for by the difficulty had by Gen. Toral in surrendering that part of his command not in the city. The commanders of outlying garrisons questioned his right to surrender without instructions from Madrid.

The surrender is now definitely settled on our terms.

Bids for New Borough Schoolhouse.

There will be a meeting of the Borough Board of Education next Monday evening when the bids for the construction of the new public school will be opened.

Ballington Booth to Speak.

Commander Ballington Booth will be in this city to address the Volunteers July 25th. He will speak in the Y. M. C. A. hall.

COSTLY END TO A LUNCH.

JOHN LANGDON FINED $10 AND THOMAS BRANDON $5.

They Scattered Crumbs on a Church Porch, and When Remonstrated With by the Sexton, Langdon Assaulted Him.

Two of the city's street repairing gang, John Langdon and Thomas Brandon, have very poor ideas as to what occurred on East Fifth street one day last week. Their memories were refreshed considerably this morning in the city court with the help of small fines.

One day the latter part of last week these two men were at work on East Fifth street repairing that thoroughfare. At noon they went on the steps of the Bethel chapel to eat their lunch. After they were through the janitor, Torton Langford, discovered a quantity of coffee grounds, egg shells and pieces of fat meat strewn around. He suspected that Langdon and Brandon had thrown them there and he accused them of it.

Some words followed, and next thing Langford knew Langdon had struck him in the face. Brandon stepped up to separate the two, but Langford did not attempt to strike back.

Langford had the two arrested, and the trial came off this morning. Langford's story was corroborated by two reputable witnesses, J. B. Smith, who lives next door to the chapel, and J. Hervey Doane.

Brandon, it was shown, took no part in the scrap except to separate Langdon and Langford, but he did such a large amount of "lying" on the stand, as City Judge DeMeza said, that he was fined $5. Langdon was fined $10. Both men will pay tonight when they receive their week's wages.

HAD REASON FOR STRONG WORDS.

William Hedden, Who Called Peter Langenbahn a "Dutchman," Discharged.

Peter Langenbahn, of Cottage place, has a propensity for striking little girls over the knuckles with a cane, and a dislike to being called a "Dutchman." A week ago he had William Hedden, a neighbor, arrested on a charge of applying that epithet to him, besides some others of a little stronger nature.

When arraigned in the city court today, Hedden admitted using some of the language attributed to him, but said that Langenbahn has been causing trouble among the tenants in that vicinity, and struck a little girl with his cane, which caused Hedden's temper to rise. Hedden was adjudged innocent of any attempt to disturb the peace and was discharged.

CHILD FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Mother Gave Him a Bath Last Night Before Putting Him to Bed.

Arthur Spencer is the name of a four-month-old baby that was found dead in bed this morning at 7 o'clock at the home of its parents on Race street. The people are colored and have not been residents of the borough very long. Mrs. Spencer gave her young son a bath early last evening and placed him to bed. She gave him no further thought until this morning when she went to see how he was getting on. She then found him dead in the bed. The child has not been ill and the parents cannot account for the sudden death. Chief Marshal Wilson was notified of the death and sent for County Physician Dr. Wagoner. The doctor came to the borough early this morning and gave a permit for burial.

Juniors Don't Like Criticism.

The members of the local councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., express the opinion that an injustice has been done them regarding the motive that prompted them to offer their services to the Government if needed in the present war. They say that the resolution offering their services was passed in all sincerity and that they will respond to the call made so far as possible. The councils received a public notice from the Adjutant-General in which he said that volunteers would be accepted individually upon the same conditions that others have been accepted.

Composed an Episcopal Prayer.

Rev. T. Logan Murphy, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, has composed a new prayer which has received the sanction of the bishop of this diocese. It is being quite generally used.

Being Turned Out of Homes.

Agents of Baron Hirsh's colony at Woodbine are turning families from their homes for non-payment of rent. The colonists claim that they are paying all they can now and will ultimately settle in full. Twelve families are homeless. Their furniture is piled in the roadway, and hungry children are dependent upon charity.

NEW ENGINE HOUSE FOR THE WEST END.

Review of Plans for the Contemplated Structure.

NEAT, SUBSTANTIAL HOUSE.

WILL ADVERTISE FOR BIDS FOR ITS CONSTRUCTION MONDAY.

To Be Erected on West Fourth Street, Opposite Darrow Avenue—Will Accommodate a Truck and Hose Cart—The Building is to Be of Brick and it Will Be Two Stories High.

The West End is soon to have its much-wanted protection against fire The Common Council has approved of it and Monday bids for the erection of the West End engine house will be advertised for and the work laid out. It is now only a question of a few weeks when work will be started on the new structure to be established out West Fourth street.

To be exact, the West End engine house is to be erected on the north side of West Fourth street opposite Darrow avenue. It will be a substantial brick building, 62 feet, 4 inches long and 34 feet, 8 inches broad. It will be placed in a lot, 50 feet broad by 120 feet deep. It will be two stories high at the front while a hose tower 57 feet high will stand on one side.

The building, which was designed by E. V. French, the Plainfield architect, is a simple, plain structure, with no ornament, but neat and regular design. It is prepared for a truck and a hose wagon so that the name "Engine House" is really a misnomer. There are four stalls and a well arranged stable with cement floor. The whole ground plan is so arranged that not an inch of available space is wasted but is utilized in some manner. The building is to be heated with hot water, from boilers established in the cellar which extends under the front part.

The second story consists of one large room for the men and the various necessary adjuncts, bath room, toilet and others. It does not extend back but half way. A good flight of stairs and two sliding poles connect it with the first story.

There is an outside entrance to the hose tower so that it is possible to take the wet and muddy hose there without dragging it through the rest of the building.

The house is to be situated where it will be possible to reach any part of the West End in short order. It is to be built on a lot purchased from Elston M. French who realized the need of more fire protection there and gave the lot at a very moderate price.

FOR THE BOYS ON THE BADGER.

A Box of Delicacies to be Shipped to Them Next Tuesday.

Those interested in the Plainfield members of the Naval Reserve, who are serving their country on the Badger, now doing blockade duty off Havana, have an opportunity of remembering them in a substantial manner by contributing something of a practical nature to the box which is to be shipped to them next week.

The box is being packed at Smalley Brothers' meat market on North avenue and will be closed Tuesday noon. It will be directed to Dr. Simpson, the surgeon of the Badger, who will distribute the articles among the boys.

Potted meats, jellies, tobacco and other articles that will not spoil, will be welcomed by the boys. They will serve wonderfully to lighten the burdens which they are undergoing for the sake of their country.

The Volunteers Active.

Col. James W. Merrill will be at the Volunteers' tent this evening and show some Cuban war pictures. Sunday services will be held at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 and 8 p. m. There will be an illustrated gospel service. The Volunteers will hold an open air meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in Dunellen Park, if the weather is favorable.

Prayer for the Boys at Santiago.

The Mothers of America Protectors Royal Santiago Circle will hold prayer and praise meeting on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Ford, 222 East Fourth street, near Watchung avenue. Subject: "God's Care for Our Boys." All mothers are cordially invited.

Helping to Build Torpedo Boats.

B. F. Ball, son of F. H. Ball, of Washington Park, who is now engaged by the Government at Washington, is meeting with great success. He is assisting in the construction of torpedo boats, and being an engineer his services are quite valuable.

Mrs. Flanders, of West Seventh street, is summering at Patchogue, L. I.

SURRENDER IS GENUINE.

How the News Was First Received.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE.

BLANCO WANTED MADRID'S CONSENT BEFORE SIGNING

He Agreed at Last, However, and Signed Conditionally to Await Madrid's Word—No Doubt but that Surrender is Genuine.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Siboney, Cuba, July 15, via Playa del Este, July 16, 10:35 a. m.—The agreement of the surrender of the city and all of the island of Cuba east of a line from Acerraderos on the south to Sugua de Tanamo, was signed at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

It was approved by Gen. Miles and by Gens. Toral and Blanco. It is now awaiting the approval of the authorities at Madrid.

Siboney, Cuba, July 15, via Playa del Este, July 16, 12:40 p. m—The news of the first agreement to surrender yesterday was received with great joy by the troops.

The news first came an hour after Gen. Shafter met Gen. Toral. An orderly with them waved his hat in the direction of the Ninth Infantry as a signal agreed upon.

The Ninth Infantry was holding religious services at the time and were singing "Nearer My God to Thee." They stopped singing instantly and broke into lusty cheers.

Gen. Wheeler rode up saying that there was to be no more fighting. The cheers were renewed and passed along the line from one regiment to another.

This morning there was a reaction when it was learned that it was perhaps only another piece of Spanish treachery to gain time.

When the agreement was finally reached and signed, Blanco signified his approval but added that the approval of the authorities in Madrid was necessary. He wanted the matter postponed until an answer was received from Madrid. The Americans refused but agreed that the signitures should be conditional. The approval from Madrid is expected today.

By the terms of the surrender the 25,000 Spaniards will lay down their arms and submit to be taken home, an event unheard of in history.

While satisfied that the surrender is genuine, Gen. Shafter is taking no chances. He has directed Gen. Garcia to be on the lookout for any Spanish reinforcements and is taking every precaution against treachery.

Suppress News of Surrender.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 16th, 2 p. m.—The newspapers today are conspicuous on account of the blank spaces in the columns denoting the suppressions by the government censor.

BOROUGH DELINQUENTS, BEWARE.

If You Don't Pay Up Your Names Will be Published in Plainfield Papers.

The borough officials have decided on a scheme which will increase the efficiency of their methods in collecting delinquent taxes. Heretofore the tax list has been published in the Somerville papers and only a very few people residing in the borough see the papers. This year the list is to be published in the Plainfield papers and the unpleasant facts and figures will be brought home to every delinquent. The 1896 list will be published soon after July 25th, and all persons who desire to have their names kept out of the papers had better interview Collector George F. Brown, on Somerset street, prior to that date.

FAST HORSES MEET AT HIGHLAND PARK.

Auspicious Opening of New Brunswick Meet Yesterday.

PLAINFIELD HORSES CAPTURED TWO SECONDS IN THREE EVENTS.

The Meet Was Well Attended and Promises to be a Great Success—Former City Judge William A. Coddington's Entries Took Second in the Team Race—One Horse Disqualified.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 16—A large attendance and plenty of good racing marked the opening of the race meet of the New Brunswick Driving Association at Highland Park yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the concluding one of the circuit of the Central New Jersey Driving Association, and equalled the success of the Plainfield meet.

Highland Park lies just across the Raritan river from New Brunswick and thither in carriages, trolley cars and stages, awheel and on foot, the crowd gathered to the new track of the New Brunswick Association. The track was in good condition and amply accommodated the 3,000 people whe assembled there.

There was lots of excitement in the 2:35 class, pacing. Skinner's "Ned Davis" took the first two heats. In the third he finished first but clear down on the stretch, he pulled in toward the pole cutting off "Prince H," a New Brunswick entry. The attention of Starter E. B. Allen was called to it and he gave the local pacer first and moved "Ned Davis" back to second. Somehow it took the heart out of the big gelding and "Prince H" beat him out in the following heats, winning the event.

A team race was the special event of the meet. First money went to "Breastplate" and "Little Maggie" of Hall's stable at Perth Amboy. The winners took three straight heats, "Bell" and "Bolette," entered by Judge W. A. Coddington, of Plainfield, took second money.

The summaries of the day's events were as follows:

2:25 CLASS, TROTTING.

A. DeCordova's b. s. "Prince Eugene."	1	1	1
Woodbrook Farm's b. s. "Woven Wind"	3	2	2
E. Sweet's b. s. "Dr. Palmer."	2	4	3
A. B. Appleby's ch. m. "Hattie Walters."	4	3	4
Liddle and Pfeiffer's "Jamie."	5	5	5

Time—2:24¼, 2:24¼, 2:22¼.

2:35 CLASS, PACING.

W. M. Skinner's b. g. "Ned Davis."	1	1	2	2	2

J. Klotz's b. m. "Norah Mack."	4	4	4	4	4

Time—2:31, 2:33¼, 3:34¼, 2:25, 2:26¼.

SPECIAL TEAM RACE.

S. Hall's "Breastplate" and "Little Maggie."	1	1	1
W. A. Coddington's "Belle" and "Boletie."	2	2	2
J. G. Deinzer's "Lady B." and "Dr. Benner."	3	3	3

Time—2:38¼, 2:42, 2:51¼.

CLERKS HAD A GOOD TIME.

Woodhull & Martin Employes Visited Oak Tree People.

The clerks and employes of Woodhull & Martin, to the number of 25, might have been seen piling into a large stage of Captain Wm. Hand's last night about 7 o'clock. They were en route for Oak Tree, where they had a cordial invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Knight, of that place, to spend the evening with them.

The ride was a delightful one, and the party reached their destination soon after 8 o'clock. Lunch was spread on the grass and the evening was spent in sociability. Mr. Woodhull accompanied the party, and Mr. Martin would also have gone had he been home.

Couldn't Let Go the Wire.

One of the young sons of James B. Martin, of Manson place, climbed up into a tree Thursday, and while up there took hold of an electric light wire. The outside covering was worn off, and the little fellow was shocked. He could not let go, and stood there and cried until a painter working near came to his rescue and helped him down. The little fellow was not hurt, but had a bad scare.

Bad Fire Prevented.

A bad fire was narrowly averted Thursday in the office of Elston M. French & Co., on North avenue. One of the clerks dropped a lighted match in a basket full of papers, and immediately the whole mass was ablaze. The basket and its blazing contents were kicked out of doors and left to burn without molestation.

BOTH WERE ARRESTED.

BOSS AND MAN CARRY DISAGREEMENTS TO COURT.

Theodore Glaser Accuses William Easton of Embezzlement and the Latter Has Glaser Arrested for Assault.

William Easton, who has been working for Theodore Glaser, of Evona, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constable Rockafellow, at his home near Samptown, on a charge of obtaining $2 from Crane & Mundy under false pretenses. Theodore Glaser is the complainant, and claims that Easton collected this money from Crane & Mundy, and appropriated it for his own benefit.

The trouble between the two men began a week ago. Glaser keeps a fat house at Samptown. Saturday last Easton did not return to the fat house until late at night, and when Glaser remonstrated with him for being out so long, Glaser claims that Easton kicked him. Glaser admits that he defended himself, and a day or two after Easton went before Justice Storms, of New Market, and had Glaser arrested. Glaser will have an examination Monday morning.

In return Glaser now has had Easton arrested on this charge and it is not known just how the matter will end. Attorney William G. DeMeza represents Glaser, and Monday evening at 7 o'clock, before Justice Mosher, the examination will be held.

SAD SEVENTIETH BIRTHDAY.

John H. King Stricken With Apoplexy, But is Recovering.

After having just reached the age of 70 years, and having been an active worker ever since his early youth, John H. King, of West Second street, was Thursday stricken with an apoplectic fit—a rather sad event for his birthday.

Mrs. King found her husband prostrated in a chair on the front porch about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. She called a number of men from Rogers' seafood market, who carried Mr. King into the parlor. A physician was immediately summoned, and he stated the malady had taken effect on the brain. The attack was quite severe, but Mr. King is now recovering from its effects and is able to sit up today. It had been planned by Mrs King to celebrate the day in honor of her husband's 70th birthday, but the affair was given up a few days previous.

Mr. King is the oldest employe of the Prudential Insurance Company in this city, having been connected with it for twenty years.

ROESEL NOT YET SENTENCED.

Convicted Murderer Waits to Hear Date of His Last Day on Earth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 16—Contrary to expectation, Justice Van Syckel did not come to Elizabeth yesterday to resentence Louis Roesel, the convicted murdered of Farmer James C. Pitts, of Summit.

Sheriff Kirk, who had been looking all morning for the Judge's arrival, went to see the Prosecutor and County Clerk to know if they had any information as to when the Judge would come, but they were completely in ignorance as to his intentions.

He may come here next week, and he may not come until August. The suspense, however, is not trying on the prisoner, nor has he asked any questions. He is under constant medical care, as his health seems to be slowly breaking down.

Break the Chain.

The following notice will be of interest to all Plainfielders who have received letters belonging to this chain: "Miss Leverich wishes to make an appeal in behalf of Matthew Morgan, the grandfather, and Mrs. Schenck, the mother of Miss Natalie Schenck, of Babylon, Long Island, to have broken the letter chain that was started by that young woman for the purpose of raising a fund for buying ice. The work has assumed such proportions that it is wholly unmanageable. The mail has to be collected each day in a big clothes basket, so that two or three persons are required to attend to it all the time. Over $2,000 collected by this means has been turned over to the auxiliary."

Looking After Sixth Street.

Street Commissioner Gavett is using the macadam and soil which is taken from Madison avenue between Fifth and Seventh streets to spread on West Sixth street from Madison to Park avenues. This is pleasing the property holders very much, as the street has long been in need of repair.

Dr. Snodgrass Goes to Europe.

Tomorrow will be the last Sunday that Rev. W. C. Snodgrass will officiate in the pulpit of the First M. E. church before his departure for Europe on his annual vacation next week.

SUMMER'S END WILL SEE BETTER STREETS.

Street Commissioner Gavett is Hard at Work.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED.

NOT ONLY GOOD ROADBEDS BUT SIDEWALKS AS WELL.

Much Macadamizing Has Been Accomplished by the Private Enterprise of Citizens—Seventy-five Cross Walks Have Been Laid—New Sewer Pipe Laid—Names of Streets to be Repaired.

Although the streets of this city are not up to their former standard, Street Commissioner Gavett by hard work and close attention to business is slowly getting them into good shape. The damage done the streets by the sewers, sewer connections and the street railway is being eliminated, and if the citizens continue to display the same public spirit as they have shown during this past summer and do much of their own macadamizing, by another year Plainfield can boast again of her fine streets and avenues.

Street Commissioner Gavett was seen this morning by a Press reporter busy surveying Richmond street, near Putnam avenue, for the sidewalks which the Council has ordered laid. He consented to tell something of the work done in the last few months by the city, and a little of what is planned to do before fall.

Men are busy or have been busy repairing or macadamizing Madison avenue in two places, from Fourth to Seventh streets, and from Ninth street to Stelle avenue. The first part of this was done by the city, the other by the property owners. Stelle avenue from Plainfield to Madison avenues is being macadamized by the owners; Woodland avenue by the owners, from South to LaGrande avenues; and Central avenue, from Randolph road to ex-Councilman Stockton's house.

Beside this, about seventy-five crosswalks have been laid in various parts of the city. Other streets which are to be attended to as soon as possible are Sandford avenue, Westervelt avenue, Belvidere avenue, by Ravine road, East Fifth street, Watchung avenue, from North avenue to Ninth street, and Putnam avenue.

A number of streets also remain to be scraped and the gutters cleaned. Some of them are LaGrande avenue from Richmond street east, East and West Second, East and West Third, West Fourth, Sherman avenue, College place, Arlington avenue, West Sixth street and Randolph road.

The scraper is now at work at Netherwood. Netherwood avenue, from North avenue to Front street, will be scraped, and so will Leland avenue from North avenue to the city limits. Several culverts are to be built and others repaired.

The new sidewalks on Richmond street will be laid some 15 feet out from the old line. When the trolley poles were planted, they were set on the true line of the curb.

The systematic inspection of the sewers in the vicinity of Richmond street and Putnam avenue showed that about 100 feet of sewer pipe were shattered by a gas explosion a year ago. New pipe has been laid in its place. Another inspection showed that some more of the pipe in that locality needed new cementing, but that they were not broken. This work has now been suspended until the two storm sewers on East Second street and Plainfield avenue are finished.

Hurt by Jumping From a Wagon.

The horse owned by Fred Hand, of this city, ran away yesterday afternoon on East Front street and was caught at the corner of Front and Elm streets by James DeGraw. Mrs. Hand, who was in the wagon, received a severe shaking up and a few slight bruises. The horse and wagon was not damaged. Mrs. Hand's injuries were received while she was jumping from the wagon before the horse got under full speed.

A Factory Shut Down.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 16—The wall-paper plant of Janeway & Co., New Brunswick, has closed its works for the summer, and about 150 of the employes will have a vacation of about six weeks. The factory is shut down annually about this time every year on account of the dullness of trade. Work will be resumed about September 1st.

House-to-House Inspection.

Herbert C. McVoy, of Sandford avenue, has been employed by the Plainfield Water Supply Company to make a house-to-house inspection where water is used to see if there is any waste of the supply being furnished.

TERMS OF SURRENDER

Gen. Shafter Sends Details of the Capitulation at Santiago.

A COMMISSION APPOINTED

Red Cross Representatives and Our Sick and Wounded to Go In at Once, Spanish Officers to Keep Their Side Arms. Forts and Guns Given Up. Captives to Be Sent to Spain. Refug es to Return to the City.

On Dispatch Boat, off Port Antonio, July 16.--The terms of surrender of the Spanish forces in Santiago de Cuba are that Spain gives up both the city and province of Santiago. The Spanish troops are to be sent to Spain by the United States, 20,000 in all, of which half are in the city.

We take the forts and guns, but the Spanish officers keep their side arms. Our troops are not to enter the city until the Spanish embark for Spain.

The Americans are to keep a circle of guards outside the city. Members of the Red Cross Society are to go into Santiago immediately and refugees are to return to their homes on Friday morning. The Spanish will police Santiago while preparing for their departure, and our sentinels will keep out stragglers and marauders with the assistance of the Cubans.

Thus at a stroke the city and province will be ours. The Spanish forces in the interior of the province of Santiago will leave as soon as possible.

Twenty-seven regiments of our troops will go to Porto Rico at once.

A hospital capable of holding 2,000 patients will be established on the hills near Santiago immediately.

Before Santiago, July 15.--Santiago has surrendered. A commission of two Spaniards, one Englishman and three Americans is now arranging terms. Probably the Spanish army will accept a parole and be returned to Spain. General Shafter insists on immediate possession of the city pending arrangements as to details, and probably will enter Santiago to-night. Our army will remain outside the city, but our sick will be taken in and a general hospital headquarters will be immediately established.

The truce, which was to have ended at noon yesterday, was prolonged by a flag sent out from the Spanish lines at 9.30. General Toral, acting on Captain General Blanco's instructions, asked time to communicate by cable with Madrid, the surrender of Santiago being too important a step to be taken without royal authority. In the meantime General Toral offered to appoint a joint commission to arrange terms.

General Miles and General Shafter decided to call for a personal interview with General Toral, his message being ambiguous.

They rode out between the lines just before noon and met General Toral, who said that he had received, a few minutes before, authority from Captain General Blanco to capitulate, and to make the work of the commissioners final.

General Toral named Robert Mason, British vice consul, General Tolon and his own (Toral's) chief of staff. General Shafter and General Miles named General Wheeler, General Lawton and Captain Miley of General Shafter's Staff. The commission is now working on the terms of the surrender.

The news was received with enthusiasm in the American line. The American warships are expected to pass under the guns of El Morro this evening and will command the town from the upper bay. It is probable that few of the ships will remain here, orders having been received for all the heavy vessels to join Commodore Watson's squadron for the Spanish coast.

Despatch from Shafter.

Washington, July 16.--Adjutant General Corbin gave out the following shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon:

Playa del Este, July 15.

To the Adjutant General:

Headquarters near Santiago. Sent you several telegrams yesterday, as did General Miles in regard to surrender. General Toral agreed yesterday positively to surrender all the forces under his command in eastern Cuba upon the distinct understanding that they were to be sent to Spain by the United States; that this surrender was authorized by General Blanco, and that its submission to-morrow was merely formal. Commissioners to arrange details were appointed, Wheeler, Lawton and Miley on the part of the United States.

Points were immediately raised by Spanish commissionrs. The discussion lasted until 10 o'clock last night. At last my commissioners think the matter will be settled to-day, and met at 9.30 o'clock this morning. There are about 12,000 troops in the city and about as many more in the surrounding district, 25,000 in all to be transported.

General Miles was present and said the surrender was as absolute and complete as possible. It cannot be possible that there will be a failure in completing arrangements.

Water famine in the city imminent. Have supply cut. This was told Lieutenant Miley by English commissioner.

Will wire frequently when negotiations are progressing.

SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

Washington, July 16.--The latest dispatches received from General Miles and General Shafter show that, with true Spanish craftiness, Toral is trying to haggle over the terms of capitulation. The dispatches were not given out in full, but such portions as were made public showed that the negotiations were still in progress and that the Spaniards had raised some rather unexpected questions. Most important of these was an insistance that the Spanish troops should retain their arms when they returned to Spain. There was entire willingness on the part of General Toral to turn over the arms to General Shafter at the time of the surrender, but with this was to be the understanding that the arms were to be returned to the Spanish troops when Spanish soil was reached.

This was a condition which had not been anticipated. The authorities here did not regard it as serious or as likely to overcome a final settlement, as it was attributed to the Spanish sensitiveness against the humiliation involved in the laying down of their arms. At the same time it was a point on which neither side appeared to be ready to yield. One of the dispatches from the front, after specifying that this difference had arisen, added that it was believed a settlement would be reached before the day closed.

DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT.

Volume of Business Exceeds That of Any Previous Year the Same Week.

New York, July 16.--The destruction of a Spanish fleet, Europe's quick appreciation of the feat, the wearying flags of truce at Santiago, and at last the surrender, have all influenced some markets day by day. But Americans have grown, and see that not many outside matters greatly influence the business which enables them to market $1,210,274,015 worth of domestic products abroad in a year, against $616,052,841 worth imported. The new loan has proved a stupendous success, over $1,300,000,000 having been subscribed, and it is now the question of chief interest whether any banks will get enough, after personal subscriptions have been accepted, to support further circulation. Industries and business are at the naturally lowest point for the year and therefore the records are the more impressive.

The decrease in output of pig iron from 225,378 tons weekly June 1st, to 216,311 July 1st, mostly due to usual stoppages for repairs a little before July 1st, carries with it a decrease of 4,216 tons weekly in unsold stocks. If the first and last of the month represented average production, the quantity consumed in manufacture would be 3.8 per cent. less than the highest ever attained in May, a small decrease for midsummer, but in fact the average production was larger, and decrease in consumption was smaller.

The fall shipments just begin in boots and shoes, and works have smaller orders than they want, though many works for several months ahead, but others few because they refuse contracts at old prices. Leather costs more, but yields slightly for common hemlock sole, while prices of hides are decidedly weaker at Chicago.

It is still between seasons for wool, but a few large purchases indicate some disposition for business, and the demand for woolen goods is better though prices for some have been reduced, and the competition as to serges seems likely to be excessive. Sales of wool were but 7,641,700 pounds, 5,521,200 being domestic, for two weeks of July, against 24,572,800 pounds last year, of which 11,965,600 were domestic.

Wheat has been dropping in price under estimates of 680 to 700 million bushels this year, which seem to be at least as well warranted as over-conservative estimates by the same parties last year. Corn exports are decreasing, as is natural, 2,557,098 bushels in two weeks of July against 4,659,315 last year. The price is nearly one cent stronger.

Stocks took a downward turn when foreign selling, after reports of yellow fever at Santiago, almost balanced foreign buying for the week, but a recovery followed, and prices closed for railroad stocks without change from a week ago, and for Trust stocks, 46 cents lower. Railroad earnings for the month of June $39,939,895 for railroads within the United States thus far reported, show an increase of 6.9 per cent. over last year, and 1.0 per cent. over 1892, although in 1892 June showed an extraordinary increase.

The volume of business still exceeds that of any previous year, for the week 17.1 per cent. greater than last year, and 7.2 per cent. greater than in 1892. Money is coming into New York heavily in July, commercial loans are hard to find, and the interior is paying its debts in advance. It is to New York a revelation, to some bankers inconvenient, of the enormous prosperity attained at the West last year. Treasury receipts for bonds cause no disturbance, and the greatest foreign balances ever known give certainty that no foreign demand can disturb the market for a long time to come.

Failures for the week have been 215 in the United States, against 263 last year, and in Canada 23, against 27 last year.

YELLOW FEVER AMONG TROOPS.

Twenty-three New Cases and Three Deaths Reported To day.

Washington, July 16.--The war department has posted a dispatch from Assistant Surgeon General Greenleaf of General Miles's staff, as follows:

Siboney, July 15.--Only 23 new cases of yellow fever and three deaths reported within the past 24 hours. Type of disease mild. Camp site moved whenever practicable. Have taken vigorous sanitary precautions to prevent the spread of the disease."

Many inquiries are coming to the war department as to the condition of the sick and wounded American soldiers near Santiago. The appearance of yellow fever among the troops is an additional cause of apprehension and doubles the number of queries. The war department does not deem it prudent just now to make any detailed statement relative to the conditions in the camp, but Adjutant General Corbin said that he could say that so far as the yellow fever was concerned the conditions at last report were certainly better than they were two days ago.

Boiler Explosion Kills Seven.

Buffalo, July 16.--Seven persons were killed and thirty-six injured by the explosion of a boiler in the Niagara branch of the National Starch Manufacturing Company at Oneida and Bond streets, in this city, yesterday afternoon. All the houses near the factory were shaken by the explosion. The boiler that exploded had been inspected and pronounced safe a week ago.

June Anthracite Output.

Washington, July 16.--The official figures place the production of anthracite coal in June at 3,026,671 tons, as compared with an output of 2,920,424 tons in June last year. The aggregate anthracite production for the year to date is 16,191,000 tons, as compared with a production of 16,110,000 tons for the corresponding period last year.

PORTO RICO DOOMED.

Campaign to Take That Island Will Be Vigorously Pushed.

Washington, July 16.--Having received official notice that Santiago has fallen, the administration at Washington will now give its attention to the Porto Rico expedition. General Miles is in direct command of this movement, but an important change in the plans has been made necessary by the decision not to use Santiago as a base, and to utilize none of the troops there because of the prevalence of yellow fever. Gen. Brooke, who is to be in command in the field, has arrived in Washington for a conference with the president and secretary of war, and it is probable that in the course of the day a plan of action will be outlined under which orders will be at once issued for the transportation of the troops from Charleston, Newport News, Tampa, New York and other points. Administration officers declare with great positiveness that the movement will go forward at once.

Admiral Sampson has been asked for his views as to what vessels of his squadron can be detailed to assist in the bombardment of San Juan, and it will probably be decided to take those not intended for Watson's squadron, which is preparing to set sail for Spain to destroy Camara's fleet.

The only condition of the surrender of Santiago on the part of the United States is the agreement to send the Spanish prisoners back to Spain. This, however, was a voluntary stipulation made by this government, and not a concession to General Toral's demands. Long ago Secretary Alger decided to send prisoners of war back to Spain as the most feasible plan of disposing of them, and at the first opportunity he made the proposition and is pleased with the result.

Having been officially assured that Santiago has fallen, the president and the secretary of war are now anxiously awaiting a report of the meeting of the commissioners, who are arranging the details of the terms of the surrender.

When Spain expresses a desire to negotiate for peace, the United States will be ready to deal with her promptly, but there is no probability that the United States will consider the question of peace on the basis of no indemnity for the war.

HARVARD ARRIVES WITH PRISONERS

Nearly Half the Number Are Said to Be Ill With Fever.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 16.--The United States auxiliary cruiser Harvard, in command of Captain Charles F. Cotton, from Santiago de Cuba, having on board 1,008 Spanish prisoners, arrived in Portsmouth harbor and dropped anchor about three miles from the center of the city at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The port physician boarded the vessel at nine o'clock and in company with the Spanish doctor made an inspection.

His visit disclosed the fact that nearly half those on board are ill.

Six Spaniards died on the passage from Santiago to Portsmouth, another death occurred yesterday forenoon, after the cruiser reached this port, and three patients were not expected to live until night.

Military Governor of Hawaii.

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.--The Call says that it has been practically decided to appoint Colonel T. H. Barber of the First New York regiment military governor of the Hawaiian islands. The appointment, however, will only be temporary, as Colonel Barber was yesterday assured that the First will go to the Philippines as soon as it was possible for the war department to relieve it of garrison duty.

The Olivette Arrives.

Newport News, Va., July 16.--The hospital ship Olivette arrived at Old Point from Santiago at 1.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon with wounded on board.

[illegible] ORGAN.

The Organ He Carried Was Provided For in His Will.

When barrel organs, once the usual accompainment of the magic lantern, came into use, a native of the Province of Tende was one of the first who traveled about Europe with this instrument.

In his peregrinations he collected money enough to enable him to purchase from the King of Sardinia the title of Count of the country where he was born—for which, probably, in a time of war, he did not pay above 1,000 guineas.

With the remainder of his money he purchased an estate suitable to his rank and settled himself peacefully for the remainder of his days in his mansion.

In the entrance hall of his dwelling he hung up his magic lantern and his organ facing the door, there to be carefully preserved till they moldered to dust; and he ordered by his will that any one of his descendants who should cause them to be removed should forfeit his inheritance, and his patrimony revert to the next heir, or, in failure of a successor, to the hospital of Tende.

Only a few years ago the organ and lantern were still to be seen carefully preserved.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Kansas Jack Rabbit Ahead.

An Emporia man heard a disturbance in the night, and on getting up to see what was the matter found his bulldog engaged in a desperate struggle with a jack rabbit. Concluding that it was dangerous to interfere, he went back into the house and shut the door. In a short time the outside struggle ceased, and looking up, he was surprised to see a jack rabbit looking in over the transom of the front door. In the morning he went out and found the bulldog dead in the front yard, with marks of rabbit teeth all over his person, bearing mute testimony to his brave and desperate struggle.—Emporia Republican.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

JAS. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., July 9, 1898.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Dogs," approved July 6th, 1887.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Sections 2 and 3 of the ordinance to which this is an amendment, shall be as follows:

Section 2. That there shall be established for the purpose of impounding dogs not muzzled as provided in Section 1st hereof, found running at large, a dog pound, to be in charge of a pound-master to be specially appointed. One suitable person shall also be specially appointed whose duty it shall be to seize and impound all dogs not muzzled as required by section 1st, which shall be found running at large in the streets of said City. Said person so appointed shall wear a shield as a badge of office, said shield to be provided by the City Clerk, and shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services the sum of twenty-five cents for each dog delivered by him to the pound master. Should any person appointed as aforesaid seize or impound any dog other than such as are not muzzled as required in section 1st, he shall upon convict on be punished by a fine not exceeding Five Dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding five days, either or both.

Section 3. That all dogs delivered to the pound-master shall be subject to a charge of Twenty-five Cents per day or fraction of a day for their keep while in charge of the pound-master, and a penalty of One Dollar to be paid by the owner of the dog to the pound-master for its redemption in addition to the charge for keep. The pound-master shall receive as compensation for his services, one half the penalties paid him, and shall be entitled further to the charges for keep before mentioned. All dogs unclaimed or unredeemed at the expiration of four days after their being impounded shall be put to death by said pound-master in the most merciful and humane manner possible.

Section 4. That the pound master and dog catcher shall be under the supervision and control of the Board of Police.

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. For your easy selection they have been assorted into three lots on the centre tables—50c, 60c, 75c, formerly $1, $1.25, $1.50.

AFTER THE SURRENDER

War Department Making Plans For Further Movements.

TROOPS WILL BE REMOVED

As Soon as the Commission Arranges the Minor Details of the Surrender, Our Troops Will Be Withdrawn from the Coast. Porto Rican Expedition Will Not Be Formed Until Infected Men Can Be Isolated.

Washington, D. C., July 16.--Secretary Alger, at the conclusion of yesterday's cabinet meeting, said that it was the intention to retain, for the time being, practically our entire force at Santiago.

As soon as the commission of Spanish and American officers arrange all the minor details of the surrender of Santiago our troops will be withdrawn into the high plateaus some miles from the coast, where they will be outside of the fever belt.

This is all that has been positively determined upon in regard to the disposition of our troops in Cuba.

Further developments will depend on the result of the conference between General Miles and General Toral, and their respective assistants.

President McKinley, yesterday, in speaking of the fall of the city of Santiago, said:

"I hope for early peace now."

The subject of peace was not mentioned at the meeting, and it can be authoritatively stated that the president has not received an intimation from any official or even semi-official source that Spain desired peace upon any terms that could be entertained by the United States.

The surgeon general of the army recommended to Secretary Alger yesterday morning that the best thing to be done is to remove our troops at Santiago into the mountains.

Orders to this effect have already been sent to General Shafter and he will keep the men out of the fever districts until it is known just how serious is the disease.

Reports were in circulation at the war department yesterday morning that Generals Chaffee and Duffield were both sick with the fever. The officials refused to confirm this rumor, however.

It is thought that the troops will be kept in the highlands for several days before orders are issued detaching any considerable portion of the army for duty at Porto Rico to bring them home.

It is understood that the yellow fever germs develop in about a week, and it is thought that the army will be kept in Cuba at least this length of time before it is formed into a new expedition. The intention of Secretary Alger is to have the entire force of General Shafter stay in safe territory until the disease infected men can be all located and separated from the others. Then and then only, it is asserted, will the department be in a position to form the Porto Rico expedition.

This much can be safely said, and that is, that practically all the artillery now in Santiago will be taken to San Juan. General Miles will also have under his command at Porto Rico all the regulars not affected by the yellow fever and a number of volunteer regiments that are free from the disease.

Chickamauga Troops to Go.

The balance of this force is to be selected from the troops now at Chickamauga. General Brooke arrived in Washington last night and will consult with Secretary Alger in regard to the regiments under his command that are the best fitted for this service. There is now at Tampa a strong artillery force, destined for San Juan, de Porto Rico. It consists of ten heavy batteries and two light batteries.

Additional orders were issued by the war department for the two immune regiments in the South to hurry up and sail for Santiago, where they are to be stationed as a garrison for the town. These two regiments are at Galveston and New Orleans, commanded by Colonel Charles S. Riche and Colonel Duncan N. Hood, respectively. They are to sail from Galveston and New Orleans and go direct to Santiago.

DEWEY PRAISES CHINESE.

Suggests That Those on Board His Ships Be Made Citizens.

Washington, July 16.--This official statement was issued by the state department yesterday:

"In further proof of the nobility of the character of Admiral Dewey is his recommendation to the United States government that the Chinese servants and other Chinamen who were on the ships of his squadron during the battle of Manila, and who rendered most efficient service on that occasion and behaved in a most exemplary manner, be recognized by this government in some substantial manner. He seems to think that men who have battled for our country should not be excluded from it.

"In referring to these Chinamen he says that they showed such courage and energy in the face of the enemy that they are certainly worth the treatment accorded citizens of other countries, who have not thus exposed their lives for the country in which they seek citizenship.

"He is decidedly in favor of recognizing these brave and useful Chinamen in such a way as shall admit them to the United States in case they desire to enter it and to become citizens of it."

Admiral Dewey's communication, which came by mail, also gives the most generous recognition to all those who participated in any way on board of the American ships during the battle of Manila.

Election Bill to Be Amended.

Albany, July 16.--The Republican leaders determined yesterday afternoon to amend the Metropolitan election district bill before it passes the assembly so as to provide that the 600 deputy superintendents of election to be appointed can only be appointed equally on the nomination of the two parties.

DEWEY AND THE INRURGENTS.

A Compact is Said to Have Been Made With Aguinaldo.

London, July 16.--Mr. S. C. Valdes is in London as the nominated representative of the Philippine insurgents under Aguinaldo. Mr. Valdes is a "nagalo" or native of the Philippines, direct descendants of the Japanese, who were the traders in the islands when the Spaniards first made their appearance centuries ago.

Mr. Valdes was born in Batangas, and was educated in Hong Kong, Chicago and London. To a representative of the Associated Press Mr. Valdes said:

"There is a sea of blood between the Spaniards and the Philippine islanders, who have received nothing from the Spaniards but outrage, injustice and prejudice. The opportunity of the Philippines has come. We will be faithful to the Americans and will follow their advice.

"We have an agreement with the Americans, with Admiral Dewey, as follows:

1. The independence of the Philippines shall be proclaimed.

2. A republic shall be established with a government designated by General Aguinaldo and approved by Admiral Dewey or General Merritt, as the case may be.

3. The government will recognize the temporary intervention of the American and European commissioners designated for the present by Admiral Dewey.

4. The American protectorate shall be recognized on the same conditions as arranged for Cuba.

5. Philippine ports shall be opened free for the commerce of the world.

6. Precautionary measures shall be adopted against Chinese immigration, so as to regulate the competition with the work of the natives.

7. The corrupt judicial system at present existing shall be reformed, intrusting at the commencement the administration of justice to competent European legal officials.

8. The complete liberty of association and of the press shall be declared.

9. There shall be a general religious toleration, but measures shall be adopted for the abolition and expulsion of the religious communities, who with an iron hand have hitherto demoralized the actual civil administration.

10. Measures conducive to the working development and prospects of the natural resources of the country shall be adopted.

11. The development of the public wealth shall be facilitated, together with the opening of roads and railways.

12. The existing obstacles to the forming of commercial enterprises and investment of foreign capital shall be suppressed.

13. The new government will keep public order and will be obliged to prevent every act of reprisal against the Spaniards.

14. The Spanish official element shall be removed to some other safe and healthy island, until opportunity is presented for them to return to Spain.

"This, of course, applies practically to all the islands. By the proclamation of the Philippine republic under this agreement the balance of influence in the far East is not disturbed, and the interests of all the civilized world will be respected and protected."

Mr. Valdes said further: "The Spaniards wished to be trusted on their word at the very moment when they were violating it. The present Governor General Augustin in a public proclamation offered peace, and to show his sincerity granted the islands a consultive assembly, but all the members were to be appointed by him and the powers of the assembly fixed after the war with America, if the natives joined in fighting the Americans.

"Yet at that moment Sagasta states in the Cortes that no reforms were to be granted in the Philippines on the lines requested by the natives.

"We shall at last get our reforms, but they will not come from the hands of those who created the abuses, but from the hands of our liberators."

Panic in Barcelona.

London, July 16.--A special dispatch from Barcelona says that the inhabitants of that city are panic stricken. They believe the Americans will select defenceless Barcelona as the first port to bombard.

The local banks are removing their specie to the country, the merchants are sending their goods to places of safety and many of the citizens are leaving.

The governor of Barcelona has informed the people that they cannot expect help from the government.

The Mines Are Being Removed.

New York, July 16.--The task of removing the submarine mines in New York harbor was actually begun yesterday morning, under the direction of the United States engineer corps. For the past month or more frequent protests have been made to the war department at Washington and to army officials in New York regarding the presence of mine fields in the channels of the bay, the objections being based chiefly on the claim that there is no longer any need for such stringent defence measures.

A Captive British Schooner.

Key West, July 16.--The British schooner E. R. Nickerson, which was captured on June 30 by the Hornet, Hist and Wampatuck, off Cape Cruz, while attempting to run the blockade into Manzanillo, was brought here yesterday by a prize crew under Lieutenant Dougal. She has a cargo of provisions, hogs, goats, etc.

She had a crew of negroes. Two passengers were on board. She was bound from Jamaica.

Difficult to Get Ships for Deportation.

Washington, D. C., July 16.--The war department expects to experience considerable difficulty in getting steamships in which to convey the Spanish prisoners of war to Spain. A few propositions were received yesterday from foreign steamship companies, but the lowest bid was $4 a head for the trip.

A New Torpedo Boat.

San Francisco, July 16.--The torpedo boat Farragut will be launched from the Union Iron Works to-day and will be placed in commission as soon as possible.

SITUATION IN SPAIN

Rights of Individuals Guaranteed by Constitution, Suspended

FIRM MEASURES ADOPTED

Peace Negotiations Are Thought to Be in Progress. Sagasta Says "Peace but it Must Be Honorable Peace." The People at Large Favor Pacific Measures. Cuba Will Be Given Up, but Porto Rico and Philippines Must Be Retained.

Madrid, July 16.--The official Gazette yesterday published a royal decree temporarily suspending throughout the Spanish peninsula the rights of individuals as guaranteed by the constitution. The decree adds that the government will render an account to parliament of the use it may make of this measure.

The publication of the decree is generally accepted here as being convincing proof that Spain is now ready to sue for peace, and that negotiations to that effect are actually in progress. The government wishes to have full power to suppress any evidences of discontent or rebellion whenever they appear.

The pacific tendency is increasing. The general public takes a favorable view of the suggestion that the powers should attempt the re-establishment of peace. But it is said, contrary to the reports current, that France has not taken the initiative.

One minister expressed the conviction that official overtures for peace will be made before Sunday and there is reason to believe that France has offered her services to Spain, and that Spain has drawn up conditions for peace that offer a basis for negotiation.

Premier Sagasta is quoted as saying that Spain wants peace, "but it must be an honorable peace, such as Spain deserves." He is also said to have declared: "The army is anxious to resist to the last, but the government cannot consent to such a useless sacrifice. Had we our fleet the situation would be very different."

The minister for war, General Correa, is quoted as declaring in an interview that he thought peace might be arranged on the following terms:

The United States and Spain to agree to let the Cubans decide by a plebiscite whether they desire independence or autonomy under the suzerainty of Spain.

The two governments to agree to abide by the result of the plebiscite.

In the event of the Cubans voting for independence, the United States to allow Spain nine months in which to withdraw her army gradually and dignifiedly from Cuba.

Continuing, the minister for war remarked: "We ought to retain Porto Rico at all events, in order to be always near Cuba, of which the Americans will be able to despoil us in course of time, and in order to more easily communicate with the South American republics, which daily display the greatest enthusiasm for Spain.

"As to the Philippine islands, it is certain we will retain them, even though the Americans succeed in occupying Manila, of which place their occupation will be most brief. An official dispatch announces that the rebel chiefs and the Americans will not always agree, which is to Spain's advantage.

"The government has formed a scheme which will not only assure to Spain the possession of the Philippine islands, but which will re-establish tranquility."

The Carlists are furious and are sure to attempt to create trouble.

INDIVIDUALS GET THE BONDS.

None Left for Those Who Applied for Lots in Excess of $5,000.

Washington, July 16.--In speaking of the bond issue Secretary Gage said that accurate figures could not be made up for several days. The first issue of the bonds would be made on the 26th of the present month.

Secretary Gage has also made public a statement in which he says:

"It may now be considered as a settled fact that no allotment of bonds can be made to banks, corporations or other forms of associated capital. The subscriptions made by individuals receive preference under the law, and the aggregate of individual subscriptions is far in excess of the total amount of bonds offered. In fact no allotment to individual subscriptions will be possible where such sibscriptions are in excess of $5,000. The bonds will not begin to draw interest until August 1."

VOTING BY SOLDIERS.

If Peace is Declared Before Election This States Troops May Not Vote.

Albany, N. Y., July 16.--The framers of the soldiers' vote bill have encountered another constitutional snag. The constitution provides that an opportunity to vote shall be afforded New York state soldiers in the federal service only in time of war.

Senator Wray said yesterday that if peace should be declared before election, and New York state troops could not reach here in time to vote at their homes, or were stationed as an army of occupation in some of our newly acquired territory, they could not be allowed to vote, owing to this provision of the constitution.

E Benjamin Andrews Elected.

Chicago, Ill., July 16.--President Harris of the school board has sent a telegrom to Professor E. Benjamin Andrews of Brown University notifying him of his selection as superintendent of the Chicago public schools. Professor Andrews will formally accept the appointment within a few days and prepare to come to Chicago to assume his new duties within ten days.

Great Fear at Porto Rico.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, July 16.--Advices received here from San Juan de Porto Rico show the inhabitants of that place are greatly alarmed. They expect the port will be attacked by the Americans and are fleeing into the interior. It is said that the city and its suburbs are practically deserted.

COMING EVENTS.

July 17—Irving L. Brady will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4:15 p. m. Miss Blanche Fellows will sing.

West Orange's Good Example.

Unusual terms have been imposed upon the Postal Telegraph Company by the West Orange Township Committee in an ordinance granting the company the right to erect poles and string wires in the township. The company must agree to pay the city $2 per year rental for every pole it erects, and it must, when demand is made by the officials, put the wires underground.

The West Orangemen evidently do not propose to be bamboozled by promises that have no weight in not being established by words of law. In the same spirit the Common Council should treat with the Plainfield Street Railway Company for extension of further privileges. Verbal promises are worthless as determining what the people are actually to get from corporations

Wards of the State.

There are 20,001 persons of all ages that are wards of this State. These include all in the hospitals, asylums and almshouses in New Jersey. The total cost of maintenance for these people last year was $1,731,403, which is equivalent to a poll tax of one dollar on every man, woman and child in New Jersey.

The persons so supported are divided into three classes. The defectives, who embrace the insane, the feeble minded, blind and deaf-mutes, number 5,290 The delinquents include the population of the prisons, jails, Reform and State industrial schools, numbering 5,582 The dependents comprise the disabled soldiers and the county paupers, numbering altogether 9 139

New Brunswick's Problem.

The New Brunswick Board of Health are engaged in the very hard work of deciding, in the words of the Home News, "how much of an odor must arise from a pig pen before the hog's abode can be determined a nuisance?"

For unique municipal problems New Brunswick certainly takes the cake. Our own idea is that a hog pen has got just about the same right to exist in a city the size of New Brunswick as a Spaniard has to rule over Cuba, which is, in the words of the day, nit.

The Paris Exposition.

There has been some resentment, and naturally so, caused by the petty hostility of the French press and a considerable section of the French people growing out of our war with Spain. Not a few of our hotheads have urged as a proper act of retaliation the withdrawal of interest and co-operation in the French exposition of 1900, for which the Gallic capital is making immense preparations. This method of resentment would be quite as petty and childish as the disapproving grimaces of our French friends. Whatever feeling of annoyance we may have, such a course would scarcely comport with American dignity, which can well afford to be serenely indifferent to mere exhibitions of spite. The obligation rests on us the more as nowhere on the continent of Europe is there probably any sincere sympathy with us in view of inevitable results. We are too big to acknowledge French antipathies with more than a French shrug.

We have already mortgaged our own action as respects the Paris exposition and other than an onward course, no matter what our feeling might be, is next to impracticable. As a question of noblesse oblige it is important to recall that in all our own expositions France has been our most varied, interesting and prolific contributor. Those artistic products which lend most attractive brilliancy to a world show of industry are peculiarly the offspring of French genius and taste, and they have been lavishly given us. We can do little less than return good for present evil, even if we regard the French people as a whole responsible and think only of the courtesies and comities of the past. Frenchmen, who are sensitive on the score of vanity, will probably feel the sting of chivalrous good nature more acutely than pouting and ill humor, and the next mood of the somewhat capricious and irresponsible Gaul is as likely as not to be one of cordial friendliness.

Much has already been done to insure a proper representation of American art and industry. Much remains to be done. Amid all the absorption of the government in war interests congress should take prompt action to give our would be exhibitors the amplest facilities. To put action off to the last moment will greatly hamper its efficiency. Whatever is done should be put on a plane beyond the suspicion of a niggardly purpose. It is mainly, too, for our own benefit that we shall participate in this as in other world fairs of the past. No finer test of the greatness of a nation can be found than in its alert and comprehensive attention to all the interests of peace in the very thick and turmoil of active war.

Colored Militia.

The Afro-Americans of New York city have been protesting against the conditions which have prevented their proper representation in the volunteer army now fighting the battles of the country. It is to be presumed that this sentiment is common in other states among the colored citizens, and such patriotism is alike natural and gratifying. Splendid volumes of courage and self devotion are bound in black leather, and our colored friends have shown it too often to have the imprint mistaken. But as Governor Black said, in answer to the complaint of the committee on organization, he was compelled to draw exclusively on the national guard in answer to the president's call. The fact is that there are but few colored regiments in the national guard throughout the whole country. According to the general logic of facts, this element in our population is entitled to a certain representation in the militia. There is no good reason why it should not have it. White men certainly would not oppose it to any considerable extent. As citizens they are entitled to bear arms, to participate in the national defense, to endure the toils of campaigning and to lay down their lives if need be. It is but common sense to give them the chance to stop bullets as generously as it is given to white men. With the third call for volunteers their chance should come. But as far as the militia problem is concerned the deficiency is mainly the result of the failure of the colored people to agitate the question with resolute zeal in the past. Whatever the prejudice or objection, which may have existed, it has been allayed. Enthusiasm on the part of the would be soldiers would finally work out to a favorable end, even if it failed to be in time to shoot Spaniards.

The noted dramatist, Victorien Sardou, in a recent interview said he owed his first dramatic success to the beauty of penmanship, which attracted the eye of the manager and got his piece read, when otherwise it would have been sent back in all its virginal innocence. Poe's celebrated short story, "The Gold Bug," it has been stated, was accepted as a prize story by The Southern Literary Messenger on much the same ground, caligraphy having been the determining factor. This shows on what minor things fortune sometimes depends.

"The difference between you and me," said a philosopher, "is that you say to masked hypocrites 'I know you,' while I leave with them the idea that they have deceived me."

Memory records services with a pencil; injuries with a graver.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Those Plainfield patriots who were tumbling over each other in their eagerness to offer their services to the Government are realizing now that it is sometimes awkward to say a thing without being prepared to back it up—Tribune.

The realization of Union County's dream of a splendid twelve-mile boulevard uniting the cities of Elizabeth and Plainfield and passing through Cranford and Westfield now depends upon the willingness of a trolley company to pay the county not less than $300,000 for a franchise over the road. This is the minimum figure for which, according to the report of engineers employed by the Board of Freeholders, the work of widening the road can be accomplished, and even then it must be left at its present dimensions in Cranford and Westfield. The idea that the cost of making the improvement could be obtained by a sale of the trolley franchise was first suggested by John Kean, who offered $100,000 for the right which a traction company was trying to secure for nothing. Shrewd Union county residents reflected that if the franchise was worth $100,000 to Mr. Kean it might be worth more to somebody else, and they procured the passage by the Legislature of the Bergen bill permitting Boards of Freeholders to sell such privileges to the highest bidder. Now that the cost of widening the road has been ascertained, bids will be advertised for and the Board of Freeholders will learn whether or not the franchise is worth as much as has been claimed.—Newark News.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Michael Flynn, of the firm of Flynn Bros., shoes dealers, has received a letter from Frank Vosseller, who is now with the regular army in the south. He reports that he, as well as the other Plainfield boys, are all doing well, that they get plenty of good food to eat, and that they have plenty of hard drilling. He also says that he has lost considerable flesh and that he was obliged to take four inches in his belt. All of the soldiers, he says, are anxious to go to the front.

Denny Kane seems to have achieved the enviable reputation of being the "right man in the right place." The "right place" in this case is where ever there happens to be a runaway. Yesterday Denny added another to the long list of runaways he had stopped. He probably has the largest record of that kind of any man in Plainfield. Somehow Denny always happens to be around when there is a runaway. It may be that others have witnessed just as many as he, but they haven't taken an active hand in it as Denny does. He allows no opportunity to pass to bring a runaway horse down. Kane possesses several attributes that might make him a valuable man on the police force

A party of young people from Plainfield, who were returning from Boynton Beach Thursday evening, in a wagonette, enjoyed all the delights of being held up without any of the usual accompanying discomforts. In fact, the little attempt at highway robbery was conducted under the personal supervision of one of the party who was anxious to add a little excitement. The party had nearly reached Rahway, with its accompanying electric lights, when a man, with his hat pulled over his eyes, sprang at the horses' heads and called on the occupants of the wagonette to deliver up their valuables. Now those of the young men, who had seen one of their number disappear into the darkness, took in the situation and put on a bold front. The others of the party screamed and prepared to give up their treasures, The firm stand of the knowing ones had its effect on the highwayman and he released the horses and disappeared. Now the members of the party are telling their friends of their exciting experience.

Although the war revenue stamps have been in use but two weeks today, yet their circulation and use has started a new craze which promises to be extremely popular. Those most strongly afflicted with the craze are former collectors of postage stamps, coins and medals. They have stopped gathering in these, which can be obtained at any old time. Now their fad is to collect internal revenue stamps which have been used and cancelled by famous people. This means that they will not only get the new stamps, but on them will be the names in full or the initials, with date, of noted literary men, statesmen, army and navy officials and other men whose names are prominent in the world of art, science and letters. Autographs in minature thus obtained, it is claimed by the collector, will be of great value in the future. Those stamps which have been cancelled nearest the time of the beginning of the use of the stamps July 1st, are considered of the greatest value as the date shows that they were among the first used.

The Bargain Centre

Among the many new bargains that have been put on sale in the bargain centre at White's store is a lot of fine all linen crash suiting, another lot of fine toweling, table linen and napkins, some extra good values in handkerchiefs for ladies and gentlemen, and many other bargains that it will pay you to investigate. This department is only a week old, but in that short time it has grown to be the most popular in the house.

Worth Knowing.

Your eyes work fifteen hours every day, and anything that will help them do their work is worth knowing. Of course I can't tell you much in this little space, but if you'll come in and see me, 103 Park avenue, I'll tell you all I know about your eyes—I don't know it all, and the man who thinks he does about any subject nearly always knows the least. Naval Fight at Pain's.

Mr. Pain will make Saturday night an evening devoted to the navy and the naval heroes of the war. Rear Admiral Francis M. Bunce has been invited to attend with many of the officers of the Navy Yard as can be present. There will be special features after the "Fall of Manila," fire pictures of favorite sailormen predominating. On this occasion a well-known actor is to assume the part of Captain General Augusti and will make the "fight" not flight "of his life."

Governor New Rebukes Clark.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, N. J. July 16—Governor Voorhees emphatically denies that he had broken any promises made to Brigadier General Plume regarding the appointment of Major Clark and Colonel Righter, of Newark, as aids to the General. The Governor said that it would be impossible to break any promise until the time for accomplishing it had arrived, and that Major Clark had made a mistake in airing his grievance.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

The parasols this year are elaborate, and the colorings, combinations, and new effects in frilling, tucking, inserted Vandykes of richest lace, and accordion-pleatings are simply marvellous. The richest and heaviest materials are utilized in strong contrast to the most diaphanous and perishable. And very many fabrics which in times past were never thought of in the creation of a parasol are now brought into prominent use. The size and shape of this season's models are varied somewhat from those fashionable a year ago, and the handles of expensive varieties are exquisite works of art. There are now on exhibition en tout cas of brocade, satin, moire, faille, taffeta, foulard, crepe de chines, crepe lisse, chiffon, grenadine, Indian mull, Swiss muslin, grass-cloth, pongee, surah, and fancy silk—plain, shot, plaited, checked, coin-dotted, embroidered, and striped. Ribbon, lace, net, velvet, silk-wrought mousseline de soie, pleated chiffon ruches, and elegant guipure appliques are among the trimmings used for these various styles. So much fancy decoration prevails that the once handsome plain silk parasol is now relegated to the realm of sun-umbrellas.

Hand-Made Lingerie.

Each succeeding year adds variety and extravagance to the department of fashionable lingerie, and all the novelties in garments of this season are distinguished for their dainty fineness and beautiful finish. Hand-made underwear of fine nainsook, expensively but not elaborately trimmed with embroidery and lace, is greatly desired by women of refined taste and abundant means, but the average woman cannot please her taste for this kind of elegance, even if she possesses it, and the machine-made garments have to satisfy her. Fortunately they do not lack either fineness or daintiness, since they are made of the same soft cambrics, lawns, and mulls as the hand-sewn pieces, and trimmed simply with the same Valenciennes, Torchon, Maltese, and Cluny laces. Point de Paris is still liked for finishing lingerie

Lovely French Creations.

Crossed corsages and many pretty fichu effects appear upon some of the dainty creations of French workshops. Some of the latest corsages for slender matrons and young women are hooked up the back or fastened invisibly, the front portion draped from side to side, trimmed with a V-shaped plastron that is edged on each side with a coquille of lace, or is bordered with narrow ribbon or insertion, and has a large jabot of lace of some rich design reaching from neck to belt.

To Lengthen Skirts.

Many of the skirts of dresses worn last summer can be given the required additional length of the present season, by removing the skirt-binding, and adding the necessary number of inches to the foot of the skirt all around, by piecing it down with skirt-lining, then covering this with the dress goods. Machine-stitch this to make it firm; rebind, then cover the whole with a number of overlapping frills of goods, matching or contrasting with the skirt fabric, as is preferred. Care must be taken in piecing, to use curving, not straight strips of the goods, or the pieced portion will have much greater fulness than the skirt-edge it is joined to.

A New Coiffure.

Many of the newest coiffures for full-dress occasions this season show the hair arranged very high on the extreme top of the very back of the head. This style is designed wholly for indoor coiffures, for no hat or bonnet could possibly be worn above the towering coils or empire loops, which are often supplemented by a jewelled butterfly poised above the coif, or a high comb encrusted with rhinestones and faceted mock jewels of every description.

Miss Madge E. Thompson will have the honor of christening the battleship Wisconsin, now building at the Union Iron Works, San Francisco. She is described as a beautiful young woman of rare attainments and a great favorite in the social circles in which she moves. She is the daughter of W. E. Thompson, and was born twenty years ago in Princeton, Wis. Governor Scofield has known her almost from infancy, and conferred the distinction upon her because of the strong personal friendship existing between her father and himself. The Wisconsin will be launched in a month or two.

How It Is Arranged.

"Of course you don't buy poetry by the yard?" he said to the editor of the magazine.

"Certainly not," replied the editor. "Quality has more to do with the price than quantity."

"Well, would you mind telling me just how you decide it.

"Not at all," answered the editor cheerfully. "We have a corps of readers, you know, and it passes through the hands of all of them. If the meaning of the poem is apparent to all we reject it. If one of them is unable to make out what the poet is driving at, it is accepted conditionally, and will be used some time within the next ten or twelve years if we have room. If it prove a puzzle to two of the readers we put it on the hooks to be used at the earliest opportunity, and to be paid for at slightly increased price. If all the readers give it up, we illustrate it; and if no one about the shop, including myself, can make even a guess at its meaning, we pay triple rates for it, and invite the poet to become a regular contributor."

An Excellent Plan.

A woman who is building a tiny house, which, however, is the crystallization of her ingenuity and ideas of convenience picked up here, there, and everywhere, has in the china closet opening from her dining-room two deep drawers inserted under the bottom shelf. The drawers are each of them fourteen inches deep and are lined throughout with tin. In one of them bread is to be kept and in the other cake. They fit snugly, the cake drawer locking. Everybody knows that the tin bread and cake boxes bought at the shops and kept on the floors of closets are very well while new, but the careless maids opening and shutting them many times a day soon bang them into a shape which prevents their tight closing. When that condition is reached, they are about as useless as an open shelf for the purpose for which they are designed, that of keeping out the heat and damp air, and also mice, if such infest the place. Housekeepers whose china closets have been in existence for years will find it an easy matter to have such drawers added.

Mistaken for a New Inventor.

Recently two gentlemen, driving in a wagonette, were smoking, when a spark falling from one of their cigars set fire to some straw at the bottom of the carriage.

The flames soon drove them from their seats, and while they were extinguishing the fire a countryman, who had for some time been following them on horseback, alighted to assist them.

"I have been watching the smoke for some time," said he.

"Why, then, did you not give us notice?" asked the astonished travellers.

"Well," responded the man, "there are so many new-fangled notions nowadays, I thought you were going by steam."

What Old People Should Eat.

A dietetic teacher advises elderly people to abstain from the use of stimulating foods. The need is indicated by natural inclination on the part of persons after they have passed the age of fifty-five to return to the simple foods of their childhood. Bread and milk, for example, is usually an esteemed diet by old people, and it is an excellent one. Another authority talking on longevity advises the free use of milk, but protests vigorously against too much bread, which to a person after sixty should be called the "staff of death" instead of that "of life."

Dainty Outing Suits.

Pink, cream, tan, blue, cream, and ecrue pique suits in tailor style, are made with a seven-gored or circular-shaped skirt, which, notwithstanding their familiar form, are completed by a pleated Norfolk waist. With these are worn very handsome belts, with trimmings and buckles of solid silver or gold filigree. Again, there are suits with short Eton jacket, and a blouse vest of delicately embroidered and tucked French muslin, or there is a very smart cutaway, with a braid-trimmed vest, or one of mull over tinted silk, pink being a favorite color.

A certain admiral, upon coming on board a ship, was met by an old classmate with the salutation, "Hello, old fellow, how are you?" Observing that the admiral had carefully combed his back hair forward up and over, to cover the bald top of his head, added: "Well, that's the first time I ever saw afterguard doing foretop duty!"

Where They Are Mated by Lottery.

It was a cynic who said that marriage is a lottery, but in the Province of Smolensk, in Russia, this aphorism has been reduced to a quarterly fact, for four times a year there is held the most remarkable lottery ever devised.

A charge of one rouble is made for a ticket, only one prize is to be drawn, and it consists of the entire sum yielded by the sale of the tickets, amounting to 5,000 rubles. The lucky winner of the prize is bound to marry a certain damsel, if he takes the 5,000 roubles. Should he be married, he is at liberty to turn over the money and the lady to any friend whom he may wish to put in for such a good thing. Should the lady, however, refuse to marry the winner, they are allowed to divide the roubles between them.

Pretty Wash Suits.

Very many of the pretty duck suits in Madras linens, piques, and fancy crashes are made up in regular tailor fashion, being modelled in many instances exactly after the style of the checked and striped summer tweeds and cheviots. These have gored skirts and smart little open-fronted jackets, with fitted waistcoats or blouse vests of white, yellow, or pink pique. Some are prettily braided in white, others are trimmed with rows of fancy cotton gimp, and still others are absolutely plain.

Violet and White Foulard Gown.

Many of the most elegant gowns for both morning and afternoon are made of foulard. This material comes in very exquisite combinations of color this summer and certainly make very charming frocks.

Violet and white are one of the popular combinations of colors in foulard and a lovely model of this material has the corsage made quite simple, fulled on to a yoke of shirred violet liberty silk. Bebe velvet ribbon outlines the yoke, while the girdle, collar and rosette on left shoulder are of wider velvet ribbon. The sleeves are tight fitting and are shirred towards the top.

Challie House Gown.

Among the many varieties of dainty wool materials which are so popular this year, challie still holds its own and being so soft and clinging makes lovely gowns for the house and street.

A model somewhat out of the ordinary, has the attached flounce on the skirt extending up in the front in a point instead of down. The corsage is made with the bib effect, outlined with narrow cream lace. This is worn over a guimp of shirred white liberty silk, made with long sleeves, finished at the wrist with a tiny ruffle.

One of the strangest industries known is that of the preparation of the skin of the common eel for articles of commerce. The skin when prepared closely resembles leather, but is more pliable and gelatinous.

A tremendous engineering feat will be undertaken this year by Japanese engineers in building an immense bridge high enough for ships in full sail to pass under across straits one mile wide to connect two islands.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Bayern.

München. Das Kultusministerium hat telegraphisch die im Gange befindliche Abiturientenprüfung an sämmtlichen Realschulen sistirt, da festgestellt wurde, daß ein Schüler einer Münchener Schule durch einen Lehrling der mit dem Druck einzelner Aufgaben betrauten Druckerei sich einzelne mathematische Aufgaben verschafft und sie zur Kenntniß ganzer Klassen gebracht hat. Es werden völlig neue Aufgaben gestellt.—Dr. Robitseck, der im März den Studenten Ottendorf im Duell tödtete, wurde vom Schwurgericht zu einem Jahre Festung, mit Abrechnung von zwei Monaten Untersuchungshaft, verurtheilt.

Dachau. Durch Blitzstrahl wurde das Maschinenhaus nebst dem daran gebauten Oekonomiestadel mit Kuhstall des Bauern Georg Stichlmeier in Erlhausen ein Raub der Flammen. Sämmtliche im Stadel befindliche Maschinen, ein Wagen, größere Mengen Stroh und Anderes sind verbrannt. Das Vieh konnte gerettet werden.

Deggendorf. Auf dem Spanferkelmarkte wurde einem Bauern für sechs Stück Ferkel der Betrag von 75 Mark geboten, was dem Bauern jedoch zu wenig war. Er offerirte nun seine Ferkel dem Käufer nach dem Gewicht und verlangte für das Pfund 1 Mark. Der Handel wurde dementsprechend abgeschlossen und als man die sechs niedlichen Thierchen zur Waage gebracht, zeigte es sich, daß sie lediglich 48 Pfund wogen.

Eichstätt. Das hiesige Landgericht verurtheilte einen 14½ Jahre alten Handlanger zu sieben Jahren Gefängniß, weil er seine schlafende Mutter überfiel, um sie mit einem Beile zu erschlagen. Die Frau erhielt jedoch keine schweren Verletzungen. Ursache der Uebelthat: die Mutter duldete nicht, daß der leichtsinnige Bursche seinen Wochenlohn in der Stadt verjubelte.

Hall. Vor einigen Wochen wurde der Aufseher Kocher am Landesgefängniß von einem Sträfling in den Unterleib gestochen. Kocher ist nun an der Verletzung gestorben. Er hinterläßt eine zahlreiche Familie, die allgemein bedauert wird.

Memmingen. Dieser Tage wurden hier durch eine Feuersbrunst mehrere Arbeiterwohnhäuser eingeäschert; 16 Familien sind obdachlos. Einer der Abgebrannten wurde wegen Verdachtes der Brandstiftung verhaftet.

Miltenberg. Nach einer Ministerialentschließung wurde Miltenberg als der geeignetste Platz für die in Unterfranken zu errichtende Schifferschule bestimmt. Die Vorbereitungen hierzu hat der Stadtmagistrat zu treffen.

Regensburg. Im nahen Steinweg ist dieser Tage ein Gastwirth an Blutvergiftung gestorben, den vor etwa zwei Monaten eine Fliege am Halse gestochen hatte.

Treuchtlingen. Am Tage der Reichstagswahl wurden die Bewohner einer Nachbargemeinde in großen Schrecken versetzt, da Nachmittags plötzlich die Sturm- oder Feuerglocke geläutet wurde. Nachdem die Leute aus den Häusern stürzten und ängstlich nach der Ursache der Alarmirung fragten, ergab sich die verblüffende Thatsache, daß das Alarmsignal die säumigen Wähler zur Wahlurne rufen sollte. Es handelte sich um Centrumswähler, die in dieser eigenartigen Weise an ihre Pflicht erinnert wurden.

Würzburg. In Trappstadt erstach der bereits zweimal vorübergehend in der Kreisirrenanstalt Werneck untergebrachte Bauer Moritz Eckstein in einem Tobsuchtsanfall seinen älteren Bruder.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Dieser Tage beging das älteste geistliche Mitglied des pfälzischen protestantischen Konsistoriums, Oberkonsistorialrath Risch, sein 50jähriges Priesterjubiläum unter großer Antheilnahme der Geistlichen der Pfalz sowie der staatlichen und städtischen Behörden. Seit 1870 gehört der hochverdiente Geistliche dem Konsistorium an.

Ludwigshafen. Drei Schiffe aus Altrip, welche mit einem schwer beladenen Kiesnachen zu Thal fuhren, erlitten unter der Rheinbrücke Havarie. Der Nachen versank und mit ihm zwei der Schiffer. Der dritte hielt sich an einem Stellbord so lange fest, bis er gerettet werden konnte.

Rheinzabern. Hier erschoß der Privatmann A. Weigel, ein etwa 50jähriger Mann, den an seinem Hause vorübergehenden Makler Reiß, der im gleichen Alter stand. Weigel, der verhaftet wurde, erklärt, er habe Reiß nur—erschrecken wollen.

Zweibrücken. Der gesammte, aus 90 Stöcken bestehende Bienenstand des Maurermeisters Mohr sen. wurde nach dem „Pf. M." mit Insektenpulver vergiftet. Es liegt wahrscheinlich ein Racheakt vor.

HIS MOTHER'S HIS SWEETHEART.

"His mother's his sweetheart—the sweetest, the best!"
So say the white roses he brings to my breast;
The roses that bloom when life's summers depart;
But his love is the sweetest rose over my heart!
The love that hath crowned me—
A necklace around me,
That closer to God and to Heaven hath bound me!

"His mother's his sweetheart!"
Through all the sad years
His love is the rainbow that shines through my tears;
My light in God's darkness, when with my dim eyes
I see not the stars in the storm of his skies.
When I bow 'neath the rod
And no rose decks the sod,
His love lights the pathway that leads me to God!

"His mother's his sweetheart." Shine bright for his feet,
O lamps on life's highway! and roses, lean sweet
To the lips of my darling! and God grant his sun
And his stars to my dutiful, beautiful one!
For his love—it hath crowned me—
A necklace around me,
And closer to God and to heaven hath bound me!

HOLLAND.

Its Peculiarities and Things for Which it is Noted.

Holland is a very peculiar country. If it were not for the dikes, dams and windmills that are scattered throughout the country the ocean would flood the country, and there would be nothing left of it.

The windmills help to keep the water out of the ground. There is very little dry land in Holland. It is estimated that there are ninety-nine hundred windmills in this little country, used for many different purposes. Of course, Holland is noted for many other things besides having so many windmills, dikes and dams. It is noted for its diamond cutting. It is at Amsterdam, Holland, that the largest diamonds are cut and polished.

The tulip is the favorite flower of Holland. Some of the bulbs of the tulip are very expensive. The Dutch are noted as being skilled skaters. People go to their places of business on skates. Everybody in Holland skates. One thing the Dutch children can do that the children of any other country can not do, and that is run or play, and at the same time knit. They can run as fast in their wooden shoes as we can, or any other children can who wear leather shoes.

City Boys as Jays.

(By Henry Geiser, Age 16.)

A city boy is apt to think himself wise in the presence of his country brothers, when the latter are visiting the city, but when he visits the farm he feels rather different about it. In the city the city fellow thinks he could lick the farmer boy with ease, but out on the farm the farmer boy can jolly him around as he pleases. You see, it's every one to his own domain. The country lad might ask if there were horses under ground pulling the cable cars, but the city fellow is equally as bad in inquiring which cow gives buttermilk.

We heard a good one recently on a city boy. His party on going through a pasture passed a cow and her calf near by. "Look," said he, "how friendly that dog is to the cow."

Peanut Candy in Rhyme.

A friend of the boys and girls has made a peanut candy recipe in verse. No doubt you'll appreciate it:

Some gloomy day when young folk yawn
And wish the weary hours were gone,
Go to your storehouse and there get
Brown sugar, heavy, almost wet;
Send some one to a peanut stand,
A quart, fresh-roasted, you'll demand;
Set all the children shelling these,
And make them whistle, if you please.
When these are shelled, chop, not too fine;
Butter some piepans, set in line;
Then take a pound of sugar, turn
Into a pan, and melt, not burn;
But add no water. When 'tis done
And like thick sirup, quickly run;
Your chopped-up peanuts lightly salt
And turn them in. If there's no fault,
Stir just a minute, pour in tins,
And cool, and then the fun begins.

A Boy Can Make This.

Dissolve in seven different tumblers containing warm water half ounces of sulphate of iron, copper, zinc, soda, alumina, magnesia and potash. Pour them all, when completely dissolved, into a large flat dish and stir the whole with a glass rod or bit of broken glass for a while. Place the dish in a warm place where it will be free from dust and will not be shaken. After due evaporation has taken place the whole will begin to shoot out into crystals. These will be of various colors and forms, some little ones being gathered together in small groups and larger ones scattered throughout the whole fluid.

This makes a very pretty ornament for your room. Be sure and preserve it carefully from the dust.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

How One of the World's Great Men Nearly Lost His Life When a Child.

The world has narrowly missed losing some of its great leaders before ever they grew to manhood. The Outlooks tells a story of one of these narrow escapes.

One November evening a mother was journeying toward the city of Marseilles with her son, a lad of 8. She had been to a country house near the city, and all day the child had run about, happy in his new surroundings. Now fatigue overtook him, and the mother put him in a peach basket borne by a donkey, and that he might not catch cold in the chill November air, covered the basket with a thick brown shawl.

The boy, cozy and warm, presently fell asleep. The donkey trugged on, getting ahead of the woman in its eagerness to reach home.

There was a local custom-house at the gate of Marseilles, and the wary inspector, if he surmised that a package contained contraband articles, resorted to the expedient of thrusting a sharp steel pick through it.

On the present occasion the donkey had come up to the gate and the inspector was preparing to thrust his pick into the basket, when the mother, some distance behind, caught sight of the movement. The voice of fear is strong, and the sharp cry of the woman that her son was in the basket did not fail to reach his ears. He threw down his pick, and the child was saved. The boy was Adolph Thiers.

The Balanced Coin.

This engraving represents what seems to be an astonishing statement, namely, that a quarter, or other piece of money, can be made to spin on the point of a needle. To perform this experiment, procure a bottle, cork it, and in the cork place a needle. Now take another cork, and cut a slit in it, so that the edge of the coin will fit into the slit; next place two forks in the cork, as seen in the engraving, and, placing the edge of the coin on the needle, it will spin around without falling off. The reason is this: that the weight of the forks, projecting as they do so much below the coin, brings the center of gravity of the arrangement much below the point of suspension, or the point of the needle, and therefore the coin remains perfectly safe and upright.

How to Make Leaf Prints.

(By Arthur Hudson, Age 12.)

To make a leaf print you must first get some leaves when they are not too tough. The best time is in early spring. Then you must get some blue print paper at a photograph supply store. This can be had at all prices, the size I use—4 by 5 inches—being ten cents a dozen sheets. Next a printing frame with glass to fit is necessary; but those who do not wish to buy one can buy what is called a transparent slate. This is a frame with a ground glass, and through which, if any drawing is placed under the glass, it can be traced on the glass. Take the ground glass to a glazier, and he will cut you a piece of plain window glass the same size. Then the sheet of paper is taken out of the package (in lamp or gas light only), and the leaves are laid upon it. Then the leaves and paper are put in the frame, the leaves being between the glass and the gray side of the blue paper. Now put the frame or plate into the sun, for a strong sun is needed, and leave it out from ten minutes to three-quarters of an hour, according to the sun. Then take the paper out and let some cold water run over it until the image comes out clear, after which you can dry in the sun without injury.

Sparrows Slay a Polecat.

"You have often heard of the ferocity of birds, no doubt," said William Anderson, a hardy old woodsman, who lives on the lower Ohio, "but I doubt if you ever heard of birds attacking and killing an animal that one would imagine could whip three or four fierce curs. While hunting down in the flats near the mouth of Green river several years ago I saw a large and fierce skunk beat an ignominious retreat after trying in vain to best several English sparrows, and later, when the skunk had screwed his courage up to the sticking point again, I saw those same insignificant looking little birds tear the animal to shreds. When my attention was first attracted the sparrows were flying from one side of the thicket to the other, twittering like mad. When I went to learn the cause the skunk, badly frightened, was dodging from one side to the other of a log, trying to escape the savage attacks of the feathered tribe. The birds didn't mind me, but kept dashing their little bills into the skunk's well-punctured hide. When the skunk started across an open space to the cover of nearby driftwood his tormentors pounced upon him and riddled the poor skunks hide."

A Tulip Festival.

Tulips are cultivated in Constantinople, and there is a tulip festival there once a year in spring.

HOW MUCH IT COST.

The Mistake a Little Boy Made by Not Getting Up Early.

One, two, three! Kenneth nestled uneasily. Four, five, six! He bored his tousled brown head deep into the pillows and tried not to hear the seven.

Lazy little Kenneth! The next time the clock spoke it said "eight," imperatively, and sent him into his shoes and stockings in a panic.

Eight o'clock! Not a tardy mark yet this term, but here was danger ahead. Oh, dear, if 'twasn't so far to school, and breakfast to eat, too.

After all, he didn't dare to stop to eat but three muffin-bites and a cooky. Then he snatched his lunch-pail from the pantry shelf and was off. Mamma was up in the berry garden, picking currants. It wouldn't do to run up for his good-bye kiss—there wasn't a minute to spare. Kenneth was nine years old, but how he did miss that kiss!

He was late to school, anyway, just by an unlucky minute or two, and on his way to his seat he could hear Miss Periwinkle's pencil-point—hard and rasping—tracing his poor little black mark. Kenneth's heart sank. No prize for punctuality now.

Well, it was a sorry morning, and a sorry boy in it. Kenneth was too hungry and too crestfallen to study, so his spelling-lesson came to grief. He had to stay in at recess to study it and lost the chance to borrow part of his dinner to comfort his hungry little stomach.

When noon did come, how he ran for his dinner-pail! It looked so shiny and comforting, and he sniffed little spicy, consoling smells round the edges of the cover. Didn't he know just what was in there?

"My mother puts up the splendidest dinners in this town!" he cried. "The splendidest in—this—town!"

Some of the boys objected, but Kenneth, tugging at the pail-cover, was insistent.

"You wait an' see! Any o' you fellows got spice-cakes in your dinners, an' tongue sandwiches—an'—an'—sage cheese? I guess so!"

The cover snapped off. The boys peered into an empty pail! Empty as poor Kenneth's little hungry stomach. It wasn't his lunch pail at all. Why hadn't he noticed there wasn't any small red worsted bow on the handle? This was mamma's milk-pail, and he got it in his hurry—oh, dear!

Of course the boys—being boys—laughed at him loudly, and of course Kenneth's face reddened angrily. But he made a big, brave effort and joined in the laugh. There was a great lump in his throat, and it was hard work squeezing the laugh through—it got caught and broke into two pieces. Still, it was a laugh. He put his hands into his pockets and walked off, trying to whistle

"My mother puts up the splendidest—" called one of the boys after him, but he didn't get any further.

Benny Brown's grimy little hand was clapped over his mouth.

"No, you don't!" Benny said, stoutly. "Ken's a brick! I guess you wouldn't 'a' laughed at yourself. You'd 'a' been hoppin'."

"That's so; so would I," agreed Emile Smith. "Good for Ken!"

"Let's make it up to him. Come on!" cried Benny, excitedly.

And when Kenneth went back to his desk there was a generous dinner spread out on it, waiting for him. Every boy had shared his choicest bits.

So, you see, Kenneth wasn't hungry when he got home to mamma at night, except for his missing kiss. But he was ever so much wiser.

"You see, mamma," he confided to her aside, "it don't do to be a lazy-bones. It's dreadful 'xpensive."

How to See Through a Brick.

Construct a hollow box or case, like the figure in the margin. One side is purposely removed in the engraving, to enable you to see the arrangement of the interior. A, B, C, and D are four small pieces of looking-glass, all placed at an angle of 45 degrees, with respect to those sides of the box on which they are fixed; at E and G two flat pieces of glass are inserted, as in the eye-glass of a telescope. Supposing you look through the opening E, in the direction of an object placed at O, you would see it in the same manner as if there was an uninterrupted view between E and G, which is evidently not the case. The cause of this is readily explained. The image of the object at O is received on the looking-glass A, by which it is reflected to B, as it is again from B to C, and afterwards to D; and this last image in D is seen by the eye of the spectator placed at E, in the same direction as if in reality he was looking at the real object itself, in the direction of the dotted line from O to E. From this it is evident that the placing an opaque body at F cannot prevent the object at O being seen. Of course all this arrangement of the instrument is concealed, and you place it in the hands of a companion, that he may look through E or G, it matters not which, at any object placed beyond. You may then safely wager that your instrument is of so magical a nature that it will enable you to see through a brick wall; but as a single brick will be more convenient, and equally wonderful, you are willing to satisfy his doubts at once. Of course the hand or the hat, or any other opaque object, will answer the same purpose.

GRANT, IN THE DAYS OF CIVIL WAR

The North and South Will Unite in Recalling His Career.

This year the birthday of General Grant, which occurs on April 27, is to be celebrated in a memorable way at his old home in Galena, Illinois. For the first time a veteran of the Confederate army, Judge Emory Speer, of Macon, Georgia, will deliver the memorial address. In answer to the invitation to give this address, Judge Speer wrote: "I do not hesitate to accept the invitation, and if I can give any adequate expression of the carefulness and honor with which the renown of that great American is cherished by his countrymen who dwell in the Southern States I shall be happy indeed." This is a significant occurrence, the honoring of the leader of the blue by a soldier of the gray; and heralds the complete establishment of the "era of good feeling." Judge Speer served in the 5th Kentucky Regiment, which was a part of the famous Orphan Brigade. He is an eloquent speaker; and his tribute to the memory of the man who conquered him, along with several hundreds of thousands of comrades, will be of unusual interest.

At Fairmont Park, Philadelphia, the day is to be commemorated by the unveiling of an equestrian statue of General Grant. In New York city the Grant Monument Association will give a banquet in memory of the great soldier; and the services at the tomb, while lacking the pomp and circumstances of the grand dedication ceremonies of one year ago, will yet be a fitting echo of that notable event. It is interesting to note among the trustees of the Grant Monument Association the names of three Confederate generals.

The most striking strait of General Grant's character was his modesty. In the makeup of the man egotism had no part. He never boasted and never posed. He had no vanity to feed. A distinguished literary critic, after reading Grant's "Memoirs," made the remark: "This is the only autobiography I have ever read which is totally devoid of egotism." Shortly after the close of the war General Grant visited Bethel, where his father had lived. The good people heard of his coming, and after the manner of country folks sought to do honor to him. They hired a band and carriages, and the judges and politicians rode out to meet and to escort him, with befitting pomp, into the town. On the way they met a middle-aged, care-worn man driving a team of horses hitched to a surrey. He looked like a country merchant out for a drive.

"Didn't hear anything of General Grant coming along this way, did you?" the leading citizen inquired.

The man in the surrey nodded. "Yes; he is on the road now," he replied and jogged on.

Shortly after the plain-looking tranger had vanished one man said o the rest: "I believe that was Grant himself."

The man was right. The care-worn, plainly-dressed, middle-aged man jogging along contentedly in the surrey was General Grant. The "judges and politicians" could hardly believe their eyes. They had expected the great general would appear in full uniform, with his staff, likewise in glittering uniforms, trailing behind him.

Another trait, rarer even than is modesty in great men, was his absolute truthfulness. Few men knew General Grant better than did General Horace Porter, who thus writes of him: "He was without exception the most absolutely truthful man I have ever encountered in public life. An incident will illustrate this trait. One day, while busy writing in his bedroom at the White House, a servant brought in a card. "Say the President is not in," ordered an importunate officer to the servant. General Grant overheard the command, and, turning suddenly in his chair, called out to the servant: "Tell him no such thing. I don't lie myself, and I don't want anyone to lie for me."

General Grant was one of the very few men who never displayed the slightest nervousness during a battle. No matter how great the personal danger or momentous the occasion, he was always outwardly calm, imperturbable. At Belmont one of his staff exclaimed: "We are entirely lost, General. They have surrounded us." "Then we will cut our way out," he replied, indifferently. During the attack on Petersburg Grant and his staff halted on the summit of a small hill, which overlooked the battlefield. The position was exposed to the fire of the enemy, who, probably noticing the gathering of officers, began to pay particular attention to that particular spot. General Grant was busy writing dispatches and gave no attention whatever to the balls flying all around him. The members of the staff began to grow uneasy, and suggested that he move to a less exposed position. Grant continued writing. When he had finished the despatches and had taken a final view of the enemy, he mounted his horse, remarking as he rode quietly away: "Well, they do seem to have got the range on us."

General Grant was never great in little things. He could not successfully manage a farm; but he led great armies to victory. He was unable to cope with his townsmen in a petty election; but he directed a negotiation that averted a war between England and the United States, and won the admiration of diplomatists. He was a soldier and statesman; not a business man; but even here he needed the spur of great responsibility to force out all the latent powers of his masterful mind.

DON CARLOS, THE PRETENDER.

Who May Yet Become the Charles Edward of the Carlist Cause.

The present turn in the affairs of Spain would seem to be the one glorious opportunity for Don Carlos, pretender to the throne, legitimate descendant of the Bourbon line, and Duke of Madrid. Time there was when the cause of Don Carlos, which meant the intrenchment of absolutism and of clerical intrigue for the union of church and state, excited little more than passive disgust in this country. But now when such an opening as has not presented itself since the legacy of Ferdinand VII bequeathed a burning issue to the Bourbons and when the United States would be glad to hear of the royal claimant, there is not one word about "Carlism" or the "Carlists," about "the Basque Provinces" or the "Pragmatic Sanction" which is not of interest.

Don Carlos, who was born March 29, 1848, is fifty years of age and is just now receiving the cordial respects of Spaniards on the fiftieth anniversary of his birth, which occurred at a small inn at Layback in the Austrian States, and while his mother, who was an Arch-duchess of Austria was en route to the Court of Vienna. He had become the heir of the Carlist fortunes by his father waiving his own claims in favor of the son, after the death of Don Carlos I, or as he was called Charles VI. The first Don Carlos was an amiable old humbug who preferred Te Deums to drilling camps

It is not generally known perhaps that as England is indebted to the amourous tastes of one of its merry monarchs for an Established Church, so Spain has a Carlist cause through the intrigues or the lapses of virtue of one of her many Messalinas. The father of Ferdinand VII had two sons, Ferdinand and Don Carlos. Ferdinand was the elder and in the closing years of his reign was without children, though he had been three times married. While on a visit to Spain one of the Neapolitan princesses was badly snubbed by the sister-in-law of Ferdinand, that is to say by the wife of Don Carlos of that day, who was heir presumptive to the throne. This snub led to a palace war and it was planned to marry the old King to another Neapolitan princess, the daughter of Francis I of Naples, who thus became Ferdinand's fourth wife. The marriage was a mere camarilla, and in due time to the consternation of all the courtiers the lady was about to present the King with a direct heir to the throne. The secret records of the Court of Spain say that though the King was the putative father, a chamberlain, the son of a tobacconist, was the real father. However, in the language of politics, not desiring to "go behind the records," we may let that pass; but, anyway, so that the Donna Carlos should never become Queen of Spain, the snubbed Neapolitan princess arranged that the King should abrogate the Salic law, through which males no matter how remote succeeded to the Crown in preference to females no matter how proximate in the direct line of succession. This law would secure the crown for the child of the lady then encente, no matter what might be its sex. Ferdinand was ill and gouty and also a mere mental cripple, who was alternately in the hands of a clerical favorite named Colornarde, and of this snubbed princess. He first proclaimed the Pragmatic Sanction which established the succession in females as well as in males, but Colornarde at once induced him to revoke this step.

When the Neapolitan princess heard of this she was at Cadiz. Driving in haste to Madrid, she went to Ferdinand and demanded that the King summon a Council of Ministers and there and then, in the presence of the Ministers, restore and re-avow the order which he had already revoked while under the influence of Colornarde. The King did as the lady directed and Don Carlos protested against this attempt to deprive him of the right of succession. Soon after the King died and in the meantime the Princess Isabella—afterwards Queen Isabella—was born.

As soon as the King died this fourth wife was appointed regent of the Kingdom and guardian of Isabella. One of her first actions was to drive out Colornarde who also narrowly escaped assassination. Her next act was to secretly marry the chamberlain by whom she had ten more children not counting Princess Isabella. Colornarde's party immediately raised the standard of rebellion in Catalonia, the Basque Provinces and Leon; and masses and Te Deums were mingling their sacred music together with the sound of bugles up the valley sides, and along the fastnesses of Spain for Carlos VIII, "the King after God's own heart, the Church's King, the King Absolute and Omnipotent, the King pure and unadulerated." Spain was now arrayed into Apostolicals and Monarchists.

These rival issues have divided Spain with slight subordinate shadings for over fifty years. The scandals of the court have been the gossip of Europe. The regent Christina, after marrying the Chamberlain, was herself driven out. When her daughter Isabella II was proclaimed Queen, the Carlists disputed the succession the second time. In turn Queen Isabella followed in the footsteps of her mother, and the late King Alphonso was generally believed to stand in the same relation to Marshall Serrano, as his mother had, to Ferdinand, to the former Chamberlain. The Carlists hailed the coronation of Alphonso as even a huger joke than the birth of Isabella.

The third Carlist war which was thus generated was carried on without pretence of strategy, yet the party of Don Carlos made a stiff fight for the crown.

Nothing emits a worse odor than a fallen name.

Among the little group of young men known at Amherst College as the 'varsity nine is Will Rushmore, of this city. Although he has only completed his Freshman year, Rushmore has made the 'varsity nine, and in the responsible position of pitcher, too. Rushmore has shown remarkable ability in that position and is considered a valuable man by his college team. He pitched several games for the Westfield team and now the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. is making an endeavor to place him in the box for them.

Either there is something the matter with baseball this year, or else New Jersey's baseball cranks have all passed away. Now word comes from Westfield that the crack nine that the Westfield Athletic Club has been supporting this season may, and in all probability will, have to disband for lack of support. Plainfield's famous Crescents have already gone, but it was generally supposed that the Westfield team was flourishing. It appears that it was otherwise, however, and that while there was considerable verbal enthusiasm there, the treasury was empty except for a few cents, and there was no prospect of filling it.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Rev. Mr. Downey, of the borough, has purchased a new wheel which he enjoys riding.

Thomas A. Cuming, the local consul for the L. A. W., reports that the road from Metuchen to Rahway by way of Iselin and Menlo Park is in fine condition for wheeling. This road has always been avoided as much as possible by wheelmen on account of its poor condition, but some time within the past few months it has been macadamized. The road is one of the pleasantest ones to ride over, and will no doubt become very popular now.

Horsely Barker, the druggist, rode to New Brunswick yesterday to take in the races.

Councilmen T. J. Carey and J. F. Buckle rode on their wheels to White house yesterday.

Charles Greer, of Woodhull & Martin's dry goods store, will start on a two weeks' vacation next week. Mr. Greer will spend his time on a wheeling trip through the State.

At the Bard Cycle Compay there is on exhibition and for sale a dynamo electric cycle lamp made by the Farnham Electric Co. It sells for $5 and is a beauty. Inspection is invited. The riding of the wheel furnishes the light and the apparatus is guaranteed.

The old Broadway hill which used to be such a favorite coasting ground for wheelmen is almost deserted now The hill has recently been thoroughly macadamized, and is as smooth as can be. But for some reason the cyclists leave it severely alone, and prefer to ride somewhere else.

Heat the New Jersey Naval Reserves Have to Work In.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Hackensack, July 16—The following extract is from a letter written by J. Fountain Westervelt, of this place, one of the Stevens Institute boys with the naval reserves of the auxiliary cruiser, Badger, to his father, E. Erskine Westervelt, under date of July 5th:

"I am sure I never experienced such a Fourth before. It is usually warm at home, but here yesterday it was simply hot. We are about four miles from Morro Castle, lying to, with the Spanish guns and flag in plain view through the glass.

"I have changed to the engine room again, at my own request, as we are short-handed there, owing to the extreme heat. Will be on all this week from 2 to 4 a. m. and p. m. The thermometer marked 131 degrees on my grating, and another man was knocked out. I stand it pretty well, but another hour would have done for me. When below we are stripped to the waist, wearing only trousers and shoes. Next week my watch will be from 4 to 8.

"During the 12 to 4 watch this afternoon my chief in the engine room was knocked out by a temperature of 138 degrees. I went and had a 'Riley cut,' which means a hair-clipping that leaves no place for old Fahrenheit to take hold. In fact, with this clip and the tan on my face, you would have to look sharp to recognize your boy."

Promised to Support His Wife.

Hugh Hayes was arrested in Elizabeth last night and brought to this city this morning by Captain Grant charged by his wife with not supporting her. Hayes came here from Somerville and then moved to Elizabeth. Hayes promised to send money to his wife for her support and that of her two children, but has not done it. He arranged today to provide a home for his family in Elizabeth, and this was all the authorities could do about it and he was allowed to go.

Mr. Becker, of Somerset street, has secured a position with J. R. Blair, the Park Avenue haberdasher.

AFTER VALVE LEAKS.

Why It Is Often Necessary to Apply a Radical Test.

No matter how sound a tire may be, and how carefully the valve may have been made, the owner and rider of it must not expect that his pump will never be called into requisition. It is to all intents and purposes practically impossible to make an absolutely air-tight valve, and if a tire only requires to be pumped up every week or so, there should be no occasion for dissatisfaction on the part of its lucky possessor.

Not unfrequently, however, it happens that the valve gets out of order, and leaks more rapidly than it has any business to do; and, indeed, a considerable proportion of the slight leakages which let down a tire perhaps in the course of a few hours or a day are due to the valve and not to punctures or any defects in the tire itself. It is, therefore, often necessary to test the valve in order to see whether there is any appreciable escape of air or not.

Supposing the valve to be of a popular type, the first thing to do is to take off the dust-cap and touch the end of the valve with the saliva. If the air is escaping this way—that is to say, through the same channel by which it is pumped in—a bubble will form, though perhaps very slowly if the leakage is very slight.

If no bubble appears at the end of the valve, turn the wheel in such a position that the valve points downwards, and hold a glass of water so that the valve is partially immersed and observe whether any bubbles form. If so, it may be merely that the cap is not screwed on tight enough, and it should be screwed on as tight as it can be with the fingers. No pliers or other instruments should be used to tighten or a damaged valve will be the result.

If no leakage is detected by either of the foregoing tests, even though the valve is still suspected, it may be necessary to open the tire, if it be a double-tube one, take out the inner tube, pump a little air into it, and immerse the entire valve in water. Bubbles must then be looked for where the valve is attached to the tube.

If tightening up does not stop the leakage at this point, it is not wise for any but experienced hands to attempt to remedy matters, and the tire had better be taken to a repairer.

Costume For Dude Cyclists.

W. H. Webster, who has been well-known in New York cycling circles for a number of years, tells of an incident that may perhaps be as instructive to some as it was amusing to him. Webster has a nephew, 19 years old, who is attending a military academy and is quite a man of fashion. Webster asked him a few days ago what to do about laying in his outing clothes for the summer, inquiring concerning the propriety of duck trousers, &c. The young fashionable replied: "Duck trousers? Not much! The only real thing for outing the coming summer will be a bicycle rig—a pair of loud plaid knickerbockers, black and white preferred and tight fitting; a blue serge sack coat, fancy waistcoat, white linen and tie, plain ribbed, dark golf stockings with fancy tops, and patent leather or tan shoes."

Gardiner's Speed Wonderful.

The speed which Arthur Gardiner displayed in the South is commented upon by all. He won his races as he pleased and could sprint eighths without effort in 13 1-5 and 2-5 seconds. This performance could not be duplicated by any man on the track to-day. Gardiner is five lengths faster in the home stretch than any other rider and will prove this the coming season. Gardiner races for pleasure and not for the money there is in it. He never takes the chances of other riders and in this way loses many races

THE BICYCLE SEASON.

Muscles That Are Developed.

The most developed muscles in a cyclist are those of the thigh, which are developed to a marvelous extent in many riders. The muscles of the calf and leg are also benefited, and the tendons of the ankle are strengthened and improved. The pulling on the handles when hill climbing tends to increase the muscles at the back of the shoulders, while the chest and arm muscles are also kept in good condition.

Women and Century Runs.

The exclusion of women from century runs of certain New York clubs has inspired a number of other organizations to make special arrangements to accommodate the gentler sex in their 100-mile trips, and it is not improbable that the outcome of the agitation against women century riders will be that at the end of the season more women than ever will be wearing century bars.

Cooper, Kiser and Bald are expected to lead the American cycle racing brigade this year.

BREAD MADE DIRECT FROM WHEAT.

The "Antispire" Methods by Which the Work of the Miller is Obviated.

The demand for bread among the poorer classes of Italy, which in many districts has been quite alarming of late, has increased the interest in that country in any and every method suggested for reducing the cost of "the staff of life" to needy consumers. Were it not that even the hungry to a great extent demand white bread, the opening of shops for the sale of the new "antispire" bread, as it is called, an invention of M. Auguste Desgotte which does away with the work of the miller, might be attended by a greater success.

The "antispire" bread is made directly from the wheat, and a great saving in the cost of manufacture is credited to it. After the wheat has been thoroughly sifted and cleaned it is subjected to a bath in tepid water for several hours. When it has thus been soaked it is poured into a machine which reduces it to a homogeneous paste. This machine is composed of a double line of thin spirals working in opposite directions. By these spirals the softened wheat seeds are well kneaded. At the end of the spirals is a double cylinder which receives the paste and makes it still more compact and ready for shaping into loaves and baking.

The quality of the bread made by the new process is variously estimated. Excellent judges and unprejudiced practical bakers admit its excellence, and say that any taste can be suited by having due regard to the leavening, manipulation and treatment in the oven. Italian experts who have investigated the matter express themselves favorably upon its digestive properties and pronounce it most nourishing. In color the "antispire" bread is very brown; its odor is agreeable and taste quite palatable. A cardinal virtue claimed for it is that it never gets mouldy and will remain "fresh" for days.—New York Herald.

HOW WILD ANIMALS DIE.

Hunger Gets Them Even If They Escap the White Man's Gun.

What becomes of all the dead birds and animals?

Some of them, hastened in their exits by villainous saltpetre, go into cooking pots or yield up their blood dabbled feathers for woman's adornment. But how about those who die a natural death?

It is the rarest thing to find the bodies of wild animals, except such as have plainly died in conflict or by accident.

It is probable that animals almost universally hide themselves when they feel the pangs of approaching death. Their chief foe is hunger, coupled with old age. Distemper kills foxes and wolves as well as domestic dogs and cats. Chills and heart disease count animal as well as human victims. Old animals die of indigestion, especially when their teeth become too poor to permit of chewing their food.

Tumors, diphtheria and consumption are frequent animal complaints and anthrax, influenza, glanders and cholera claim their share. Rabies comes in epidemics among wild animals as well as tame ones. It was so common among foxes in 1830 to 1831 in France and Switzerland that fox hunts were organized for the protection of domestic animals.

All this, however, doesn't explain what becomes of the dead animals. Perhaps that will cease to be a mystery when we find out where all the pins and shoe buttons go.—New York World.

OLD GLORY ON MORRO.

The City Was Formally Surrendered Yesterday A. M.

GREAT REJOICING NOW.

RED CROSS STEAMER FIRST TO ENTER HARBOR.

Nine Spanish Vessels, Including One Gunboat, Surrendered—Morro Castle and Other Batteries Wrecked By Bombardment.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago, Cuba, July 17, via Playa del Este, July 18, 1 p. m—The city was formally surrendered to the Americans at 9 o'clock this morning.

Gens. Shafter, Wheeler, Lawton, Ludlow, Ames and Kent, with eighty other officers of lower rank, entered the city. They were escorted by a squadron of cavalry and a regiment of infantry.

At the public square, fronting the cathedral, they were met by the civil governor of the province, the major and chief of police of the city and archbishop of Santiago. The formalities of turning the city over to the Americans then took place. The Cubans were not officially represented at the formal surrender.

The American flag was at once raised over the civil government building. At noon a light battery fired the national salute of twenty-one guns amid great enthusiasm on the part of the troops.

The Spanish gunboat Alvarese, which was surrendered to the Americans, steamed out of the harbor flying the American flag, immediately after which the Red Cross steamship, City of Texas, carrying supplies, with Clara Barton aboard, entered the harbor. Beside the Spanish gunboat, eight smaller vessels surrendered.

Immediately after the Americans took possession of the city, the Cuban colors were hoisted over the Socapa battery. They waved but for a few minutes when they were lowered for the American colors.

Morro Castle and the batteries in the vicinity were wrecked as a result of the previous bombardment by the American ships. The American and Spanish troops are now hobnobbing on the hillsides surrounding the city and there is a general exchange of courtesies.

Gen. Shafter and the commanding officers of his forces were given a dinner by the Spanish officers this afternoon. It is reported that Gen. Shafter ordered the arrest of Sylvester Scovell, the correspondent, during the ceremonies.

VIOLATED TERMS.

Spaniards Burn Lighthouses, Spike Guns and Destroy Magazines in Protest.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Key West, July 18, 1:10 p. m.—The Spanish lighthouse keepers at Cape Maysi and Cape Lucrecia, on the Cuban coast, have burned the lighthouses at those points in protest of the act of capitulation signed by General Toral.

The Spanish garrison in the fortification at Guantanamo has spiked all the cannon at that port and blown up the magazine with all its store of ammunition.

The gunboat Machias arrived at this port this morning and reported having seen the Cape Maysi lighthouse and two others in flames. Flames were also reported in the harbor of Neuvilas where a Spanish gunboat is blockaded by the auxiliary cruiser Badger.

HERO FAR FROM BATTLES

DEVOTION TO GOVERNMENT DUTIES CAUSES SERIOUS ILLNESS.

G. W. F. Randolph Stricken With Illness From Over Exertion in the Quartermaster's Officer—Now at His Home.

That the brunt of upholding the country's honor in these times of war does not always fall with telling effect upon the soldiers at the front, is evidenced in the serious illness of G. W. F. Randolph, of West Front street, brought about by over exertion in trying to keep pace with the great volume of business accumulating in the quartermaster's office in the Department of the East, U. S. A., in New York, where he is employed.

After the death of Rufus King Case, chief clerk of the quartermaster's office, due to sickness from overwork, a large amount of Col. Case's work has devolved upon Mr. Randolph by reason of his intimate knowledge of the chief clerk's duties. Like Col. Case, Mr. Randolph has been working long hours.

Last Friday while crossing the ferry from Jersey City to New York, Mr. Randolph fainted away, but after a time recovered sufficiently to walk to the Army building. But as soon as he went to his office he was overcome and became unconscious. He was removed to quarters upstairs and put to bed. A physician was called and for some time his life was despaired of. Mrs. Randolph was summoned and remained with her husband in New York till yesterday afternoon, when he was removed to this city in a special car on the Central New Jersey Railroad. The trip home weakened him considerably, and today his condition was not improved.

Mr. Randolph is a former freeholder of Somerset county and a prominent member of the G. A. R. Col. Kimball, the quartermaster, is very anxious about Mr. Randolph's condition.

TROLLEY IN SOMERVILLE

FIRST CAR RUN THROUGH THE PLACE YESTERDAY MORNING.

Regular Traffic Now From Bound Brook to Somerville, and Plainfield Will Soon Have the Same Connections.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 18—The New York and Philadelphia Traction Company started its first car through this place at 7:15 yesterday morning and has continued to run cars under twenty minutes headway between this place and Bound Brook during the day. This opens the first link of five miles of the proposed route to Philadelphia. This section of the road has attracted attention from the fact that three miles of it were constructed and operated in less than twenty-four hours, while more than three years have been consumed in building the other two miles.

The construction of the road was begun in 1895, but the opposition of the New Jersey Central, the New Brunswick Traction Company and the Bridgewater township officials kept the new company in litigation and delayed the construction. The company made a bold play last spring when one Sunday, when no injunction could be served, three miles of track were laid on the Bridgewater turnpike. This was afterward declared unlawful and the litigation continued. Finally all the opponents were won over. The Brunswick Company was consolidated with the New York and Philadelphia Company and all actions have been withdrawn from the courts.

In ten days the work of connecting the line from Bound Brook with that of the Brunswick Company, one mile east of the town will be completed, and this will make a through route from the county seat of Somerset to the county seat of Middlesex, running through a section not heretofore directly reached by rail. The company is also at work on its line from Bound Brook to Dunellen, which, in connection with the proposed line through Union county from Elizabeth to Plainfield, will make a through route from Newark to Bound Brook. Work is now in progress which will complete the line through Somerset and Mercer counties to Princeton and Trenton.

A Bicycle Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers gave a bicycle party to a number of their Seventh-Day Baptist friends last evening. There were twenty five present. After an enjoyable spin, they returned to Mr. and Mrs. Rogers' apartments in the Jackson building where refreshments were served.

PLAINFIELD HORSES CARRIED OFF HONORS

Closing Day of New Brunswick Race Meet Saturday.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE.

"HIGHLAND BOY" WON THE 2:17 CLASS IN STRAIGHT HEATS.

"Myrtle Twig" Was Second—"Linola" Won in the 2:30 Class—Darby's "Sunday" and Edwards' "Mollie Prince" Secured Part of the Purse in 2:40 Class — A Large Crowd Present.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 18—Saturday was Plainfield's day at the race meet in the New Brunswick Driving Association, held at the Highland Park track. The meet, the last in the circuit of the Central New Jersey Driving Association, began Friday afternoon and was concluded Saturday afternoon with three more events in which the Plainfield horses carried off a majority of the honors.

As on Friday afternoon, the meet was well attended, several thousand people being present. Although it is too soon to speak definitely yet, the members of the New Brunswick Association are confident that they came out even at least and expect that they netted a small amount anyway.

The event of the meet to bring out the fastest horses was the 2:17 class. In it, Charles Brower, of Plainfield, drove J. W. Arkell's "Highland Boy" to victory in three straight heats. "Myrtle Twig," with Brantingham up, carried off second money.

The first heat furnished plenty of excitement. "Highland Boy" was well up when they struck the stretch, while "Fannie Blair," from a Trenton stable, was in the lead. Arkell's big gelding came down the stretch in great form. They were almost to the line when "Fannie Blair" seemed to slacken her speed and "Highland Boy" shot ahead and passed under the wire first. After that, the chestnut gelding had no more trouble in taking the next two heats, and "Fannie Blair" played an unimportant part in the race. "Myrtle Twig" came up and took second in the following heats.

In the 2:30 class, trotting and pacing, "Linola," from Woodbrook Farm, Osborn up, had everything her own way. She was pushed close enough in the second heat, however, to lower her mark. "Ned Davis" was her greatest rival in the race.

"Ajax," a brown gelding from Wright's stable at Hightstown, finally won the race, but put his mark 15 seconds lower than before he started. Douglas Darby's "Sunday" and S. H. Edwards' "Mollie Prince" were the Plainfield entries. Darby drove his own horse and Mr. Edwards' young son, Frank Edwards, drove the mare. The first heat went to "Charming," a Cranbury mare. "Mollie" was pocketed but managed to pull third. Her driver never hurried her and she seemed to have plenty of speed. "Ajax," who bid for first and failed in the first heat, took the second, while "Mollie" took "Charming" off her feet.

In the other two heats Darby drove his chestnut mare second, while Edwards was pocketed in each heat and was content with fourth. Darby took third money and Edwards fourth. The last heat was trotted in 2:25. Wright claims to have sold his gelding for $1,000, as a result of the speed he showed in the last heat.

The summaries were as follows:

Vigilant Policeman Found Side Door Open.

Last evening Patrolman Meyers found the side door to Sharkey's grocery on Richmond street left open. He notified the proprietor. This is the second time in the last two weeks that Myers has found the door unlocked. Last time he found the key in the door.

Second Church Excursion.

Next Thursday the second church excursion of the season will leave Plainfield for Asbury Park. Several of the local churches have combined and will no doubt have a pleasant time at the shore. It is said that they have arranged for clear weather.

PORTO RICO FALLS NEXT.

Active Preparations For the Expedition Going Forward

TROOPS ARE MOVING.

COMPOSITION OF THE PORTO RICO EXPEDITION.

Miles Has Four Batteries Ready—Others Ordered to the Front—Brooks Wants All of the First Army Corps to Start.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 18, 12:45 p. m—Gen. Brooke was in conference with Sec. Alger and Gen. Corbin this morning, regarding the Porto Rican expedition.

Gen. Miles cables from Santiago that he has four batteries aboard transports ready to sail for Porto Rico. The Fifth, Eleventh and Nineteenth Regular Infantry, the light batteries C and M of the Seventh Artillery, and eight heavy batteries with mortars have been ordered to prepare for the expedition.

The preparations for the expedition are being pushed forward with all possible haste. It is the intention of Gens. Brooke and Corbin to start the campaign before the week is out.

Chattanooga, July 18, 1:18 p. m—The First Army Corps encamped at the Chickamauga National Park, is being prepared to start for Charleston and other points of embarkment for the advance on Porto Rico.

Army officials say that the entire corps is not likely to go although Gen. Brooke is anxious to take his entire command. It is probable that only part will be taken and that the rest of the expedition will be made up of troops already in the south near the scene of action.

Gen. Brooke will return from Washington Wednesday when the forward movement is expected. Haine's brigade is now under orders to move to Charleston for embarkation. The shipment of the troops will begin today.

MINES EXPLODED.

Santiago Cleared of The Dangerous Obstacles Yesterday After the Surrender.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago, Cuba, July 17, via Playa del Este, July 18, 12:33 a. m.—Almost immediately after the Spanish flag was hauled down from Morro Castle yesterday morning, steam launches, commanded by Naval Constructor Hobson and Ensign Palmer, entered the harbor.

They penetrated the harbor to the firing station for the submarine mines that guard the harbor. The mines were all exploded under the supervision of the American officers.

The officers on the Vixen which lay just outside the harbor observed that two mines had already been exploded at the entrance. The theory that they were exploded during the passing of the Merrimac is not thought probable.

EXPENSIVE TRIP.

It Will Cost the United States a Million to Send the Spaniards Home.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Waphington, July 18, 1:35 p. m—The expenses of sending the Spanish troops back to Spain from Santiago will cost the United States over a million dollars. It is feared thar the expedition will cost $4,000 a day and will occupy fifteen days.

FIREBUG WAS BUSY IN EARLY MORNING HOURS

Three Incendiary Blazes in a Brief Time in Westfield.

THE TOWN IS STARTLED.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS OFFER $200 REWARD FOR GUILTY ONES.

The Fires Followed One Another in Quick Succession — First One Discovered in I. H. Lambert's Feed Storage Warehouse, Then Two Barns, but Only One of Them Was Destroyed

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 18—Three fires, following one another in quick succession, startled Westfield early this morning. All are supposed to be of incendiary origin, and this morning the Township Committee held a hurried meeting and offered a reward of $200 for evidence that would lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

The first fire was discovered in I. H. Lambert's feed storage warehouse on North avenue at 12:15 o'clock. The firemen responded quickly and after a half hour's work succeeded in extinguishing the flames, after they had done about $300 worth of damage.

An hour and a half after that, while the firemen were cleaning up their apparatus in the hose house, another alarm came in. The fire was found to be in R. M. French's barn on North avenue, not far from the feed storage warehouse. The fire was started under a corner of the building by digging away a pile of manure and lighting a pile of paper and waste saturated with oil. The flames spread rapidly and soon gutted the building, entailing a loss of $1,000.

While the firemen were fighting this last fire flames were discovered coming from Welch Brothers' barn on Central avenue, in the rear of the business section of Broad street. The flames had not succeeded in gaining sufficient headway but what three men, who were passing along at that time, succeeded in extinguishing them. The origin was plainly incendiary. The loss was about $200.

SET OIL STOVE ON A HOT RANGE.

Result, Explosion and a Lively Time in the Kitchen.

Today noon an oil stove exploded at the home of Mrs. Cousan, on West Second street, and before the fire could be extinguished considerable wood-work was burned.

Alex, Manning, employed by Boice, Runyon & Co., was passing at the time, and he assisted in putting out the fire. At first the stove was picked up and thrown into the kitchen sink, but this did not help matters any. Mr. Manning put out the fire by throwing a pail of water on it. The explosion was caused by setting the oil stove on another stove in which there was a fire.

GROCERS TO MEET HERE.

Merchants From All Over the State to Meet at Mountain Park Inn.

Wednesday of this week the grocers of the State will hold their annual convention at Mountain Park Inn. The session will commence Tuesday night, with a meeting of the secretaries of the State, and the sessions will be continued the following day with morning and afternoon meetings.

An elaborate spread will be served at noon Wednesday, which is a feature of the conventions held by the association. Over 100 delegates are expected, besides other visitors. A cordial invitation is extended to the merchants of this city to meet with the association whether members of the association or not.

McCann Wins His Suit.

Justice Mosher this morning decided the case of Edward McCann against D. J. Galbraith, which was tried Thursday, in favor of the plaintiff. McCann sued for $7.02, which he claimed as wages due him, but the defendant filed a set-off, which more than covered the original amount. The plaintiff consented to take $3 54, which left a balance of $3.48, for which amount the Justice rendered judgment.

Trolley Struck the Buggy.

Yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock John Stevens, of Watchung avenue, was coming around the corner of Watchung avenue and Third street, when a trolley car of the Somerset street line also appeared. The horse cleared the fender, but the buggy could not escape. The wagon was partially wrecked and that was all the damage. The car was stopped suddenly or else the damage might have been worse.

Miss Lulu Conklin, of Huntington, L. I., is a guest of Miss Ethel King, of Craig place.

FLYNN CAUGHT HIS MAN

A DEFIANT CYCLIST CAPTURED BY BICYCLE COP LAST NIGHT.

"Catch Me If Your Can," Shouted the Wheelman—His Light Was Out and He Was Ordered to Stop—Fell Into a Rut.

"Your light's out" rang out the sharp challenge of Roundsman Flynn. "Get off and light up." The rider could see the two officers standing by the curb but the wheel of the Roundsman was not noticed.

An uncomplimentary remark and then the wheelman muttered "Catch me if you can. I'll give you a good time." And away he went. In an instant Roundsman Flynn was on his wheel. The next, Patrolman Myers saw them disappearing in the darkness out Richmond street. It all happened last night at 11 o'clock on Richmond street, near East Front street

Pursuer and pursued sped up Richmond street. As they neared the railroad bridge the officer of the law was close behind. Now, if the wheelman thought Flynn could not ride fast, he made the mistake of his life. As they reached Fifth street Flynn ranged alongside the rider. The pace was tremendous and the road so rough that Flynn waited before laying hands on the wheelman.

At LaGrande avenue there was a deep rut. Into it the fleeing wheelman rode. There was a grunt, a crash and the vision of a body projected through the air. The Roundsman cleared the wreck and stopped his wheel. When he reached the scene of the accident he found the man stretched out on the roadway with his knee badly cut. He proved to be Allan Shipley, coachman for Daniel Ginna, of Kensington avenue.

For attempting to escape when ordered to halt, Flynn took his prisoner to the lockup and allowed him the privilege of spending the night there.

This morning Shipley explained that the remark he made was intended for a fellow wheelman with whom he had been riding, and that he had not seen or heard the officer at all. The Judge heard the story and fined the prisoner $3. The fine was paid.

HOT PACE FOR 5 MILES.

AN EXCITING ROAD RACE WON BY PLAINFIELDERS.

It was a Scratch Race With Seven Starters, Most of Whom Were From This City—Chas. Westerfield was First.

An exciting road race, gotten up by the T.A.B. Society, of South Plainfield, attracted quite a number of spectators to the Lehigh Valley crossing out Park avenue Saturday afternoon. The start was made at the crossing and the riders went around the block by Holly's Corners, Oak Tree, Pumptown and Woodbrook Farm, a distance of about five miles. They finished at the crossing.

It was a scratch race with seven starters, most of whom were from Plainfield. The start was a hot one. Turning the corner at Holly's Corners, Victor Christofferson was going so fast that he could not turn and ran up on the bank. He caught the bunch at the bridge. Then Sorensen and Christofferson paced the riders for the remainder of the distance. As a result, when the finish came, they could not hold the lead and Charles Westerfield, of Plainfield, and "Abe" Connett, the Plainfield colored rider, finished first and second, with Christofferson third and Sorensen fourth. The other three riders came straggling in afterwards. No time was taken.

The first prize was a diamond pin and the second a pair of gold cuff-buttons. They were presented to the winners after the race.

The T. A. B. Society, of South Plainfield, is preparing for another race in the future.

Fell From His Wheel.

Harry Allen, the eight-year-old son of George Allen, of Linden avenue and Steiner place, fell from his wheel last night and hurt his head quite badly. The little fellow was riding around near the house, when his wheel slipped and threw him. Harry struck on his head and as a result has a big bump and several bruises.

Killed a Large Snake.

Lewis Bird, of Summit avenue, killed a large snake Saturday night of the kind known as land pilots. He found it in the bushes on Mountain avenue, hidden in an old shoe. The snake measured two feet in length.

Short Runaway.

Yesterday morning a horse belonging to Mr. Sheldon, of Rahway, ran away on West Third street, and upset the buggy. Mr. Sheldon's son was in the vehicle and was thrown out but was not hurt. The horse stopped after running a block.

Isaac Giles, of East Sixth street, is spending a few weeks at Stelton.

ONCE A DANCE HALL; NOW A CHURCH HOME.

The Olympia Dedicated By Fillmore Baptist Society.

SERVICES HELD YESTERDAY

A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE ATTENDED THE EXERCISES.

Rev. Mr. Johnson, the Pastor, Was in Charge of the Services — Dedicatory Sermon Preached by Rev. Mr. Jackson — Collection Amounted to $40—Corner-Stone Laid by the Masons.

The dedicatory exercises of the recently acquired edifice of the Fillmore Baptist church, formerly known as the Olympia building, on Sycamore street, were held yesterday.

In the morning the pastor, Rev. Mr. Johnson, preached a strong sermon, in which he reviewed the work of the church since its inception a few years ago.

In the afternoon the church was thronged with people and at this time the dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Jackson, pastor of the Mount Olive Baptist church. The choir from the latter church was also present and assisted in the musical part of the service under the direction of Prof. Richard Randolph as leader and Mrs. Mitchell as organist.

The sermon preached by Mr. Jackson was an especially interesting one, and his text was "The stone which the builders have rejected has become the chief stone of the corner." From these words the preacher made many practical illustrations which were attentively listened to.

Following this sermon the collection was taken, when about $40 was realized. After this part of the service the corner-stone was laid in front of the church by the members of Stone Square Lodge, F. and A. M., who were present in a body. While the stone was being laid there were prayers and several hymns were sung. The stone is a handsome one and was the gift of L. L. Manning, West Front street, dealer in granite and marble. The inscription "Fillmore Baptist church, 1898" is carved on the face of the stone, and inside is the history of the church. After a while it is the intention of the members to raise the building and place a foundation under it. When that is done the corner-stone will be relaid.

In the evening another service was held, when Rev. Wm. Perry, of Montclair, preached a powerful sermon. There was also special music. The services throughout the day were in charge of Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor of the church. All of the local colored churches were represented by members and pastors, and the latter took some part in the services.

During this week, services will be held at the church every night, and on Sunday next another attempt will be made to raise a large amount of money to help pay off the indebtedness on the church building.

The present church home was formerly the Olympia Hall, a place used for receptions, dances, etc., and is particularly well adapted to the needs of the people who have taken it from the owner, Asa Collier. It is 150 feet deep and will hold a large crowd of people.

WORK IN MISSION FIELDS.

Interesting Meeting at the Congregational Church Last Night.

The monthly missionary meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church was held last evening at the church. The meeting was led by John V. Beekman, Jr. It consisted of a survey of the mission fields in which the Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor Society are specially interested. There were five papers read, the subjects and authors of which were as follows: "City Missions in New York," by Miss Emma V. Fish; "Work Among the Indians in the West," by Miss Mary E. Robinson; "Japan," by Miss M. G. Morse; "Turkey," by Miss Elsie DeR. Suffern; and "Mimichronesia," by Miss Katharine A. Dwight. Prayers were offered for the different missionary fields.

Prayer for Brave Boys.

The Royal Santiago Circle Mothers of American Protectors will hold a prayer and praise meeting this evening at the home of Mrs. W. J. Ford, 222 East Fourth street, near Watchung avenue, at 8 o'clock. Subject: "God's Care for Our Boys." Irving L. Brady will lead.

Short Crop of Peaches.

It is estimated that only about a quarter of a crop of peaches will be gathered in Hunterdon county this year.

PORTO RICO AND SPAIN

Miles and Watson Will Now Seek New Fields of Conquest.

IMMEDIATE ACTION SURE

Spain is to Be Compeled to Sue for Peace Speedily. All the Battleships Are to Be Sent to Menace Her Coast. Instructions Issued to Commodore Brownson' The Command of the Porto Rico Expedition.

Washington, July 18.--Paving the way for the army of invasion, the navy department has initiated measures for blockading all of the ports of Porto Rico.

In accordance with instructions sent by Secretary Long, three monitors have left Key West for Porto Rican waters, where they will take station in front of San Juan, whose fortifications they will attack. The monitors are the Puritan, Amphitrite and Miantonomoh, while the Terror remains on guard off Havna.

The arrival of these three vessels will increase the blockading force in front of San Juan to six vessels. It is not intended to keep all of these ships at that point, however, but on the arrival of the monitors, the other ships will go to other Porto Rican ports.

There are only eight ports which it will be necessary to blockade, San Juan, Playa, Mayaguez, Agundilla, Arecibo, Fajardo, Naguabo and Arroyo. At the present time the only port declared in a state of blockade is San Juan. It is expected that upon the arrival of the monitors the president will proclaim the blockade of the entire island.

It is appriciated by the authorities that Spain will make a desperate resistance at Porto Rico, provided she does not sue for peace in the meantime, and the blockade of the island is a warning to Spain and the world in general that this government intends to take possession of it.

The authorities do not intend to keep the warships waiting long, but as soon as arrangements can be perfected troops will be sent to the island and the invasion will begin. The declaration and enforcement of the blockade is simply a preliminary step.

Another reason why the president and Secretary Long do not desire the army of invasion to delay its departure is the fact that the monitors have but small coal capacities and frequent coaling will be necessary without a convenient port to put into when coal is needed. For this reason it is expected that Rear Admiral Sampson, directly he arrives in Porto Rican waters next week, will make arrangements for occupying a small harbor where his ships can coal in safety. In fact, the programme followed at Guantanamo will in all probability be pursued in Porto Rico.

The dispatch of the monitors to Porto Rico water is significant as indicating the desire of the naval authorities to rely upon their heavy guns, especially as it has practically been decided to detach all the battleships from Rear Admiral Sampson's command. Besides, the monitors present a small target, and will be able to escape the shells which will be fired against them by the San Juan gunners.

Major General J. R. Brooke, who, under General Miles, will command the expedition to Porto Rico, arrived in Washington on Friday night too late to have a conference with the authorities at the war deprtment, but he spent yesterday making plans for the approaching campaign.

The Spanish Expedition.

The president and his cabinet are determined to make Spain sue for peace. If the victories of our navy and army up to date are not enough, then the war will be carried into other Spanish territory and perhaps into Spain itself.

Important instructions relative to the organization of the eastern squadron and its plan of operations against Spain were intrusted yesterday afternoon to Commander W. H. Brownson, commander of the auxiliary cruiser Yankee, for delivery to Commodore Watson, his commander in chief. These instructions were considered and approved this afternoon by Secretary Long during a conference he had with the naval war board.

The question of increasing the eastern squadron has been definitely determined. Orders will be issued within the next few days assigning all of the battleships to the eastern squadron, provided Rear Admiral Sampson makes no objection. Should orders be issued in accordance with the information of the official who talked with a reporter, Commodore Watson will have at his disposal these men of war: Battleships Oregon, Massachusetts, Iowa, Indiana and Texas, protected cruisers Newark, and probably New Orleans, Minneapolis and Columbia, and the auxiliary cruisers Yankee, Yosemite and Dixie.

This will leave armored and protected cruisers to conduct operations against Porto Rico and to defend the American coast.

Secretary Long thoroughly appreciates that no great amount of damage can be done to Spanish cities by the American warships, and that the only result of bombardment will be of a moral character, designed to influence the Madrid government to sue for peace. But the bombardment of fortifications will result in return fire from Spanish guns and it is deemed desirable to have well protected ships participate in the attack.

There can be no question of the effect of the appearance of such a force on the Spanish coast. Admiral Camara, with only one second class battleship, the Pelayo, and the first class armored cruiser the Carlos V, which may be ranked as a second class battleship, besides four torpedo boat destroyers, a dozen torpedo boats and half a doztn auxiliary cruisers, will be in a much worse plight than was Admiral Cervera. His force is so vastly inferior to Commodore Watson's command that its annihilation would be complete even if it fought under the guns of the Cadiz fortifications, from which every effort will be made by Commodore Watson to draw it.

THE CANADIAN COMMISSION.

This Country's Representatives Appointed by the President.

Washington, July 18.--The president has appointed the five commissioners who are to meet an equal number of representatives chosen by the Dominion of Canada to adjust if possible all outstanding causes of difference or friction between the governments of Canada and the United States.

The American members of the proposed joint conference are:

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana.

Senator George Gray of Delaware.

Representative Nelson Dingley of Maine, chairman of the ways and means committee of the House.

John A. Kasson of Iowa.

John W. Foster of the District of Columbia.

The commissioners named will be recognized as exceptionally qualified for the delicate task intrusted to them. Of the five, Senator Fairbanks is perhaps the only one without a wide experience either legislative or diplomatic, in the field of American relations with Canada. Mr. Gray has been for many years a member of the Senate committee on foreign relations and has always taken an active interest in the settlement of pending disputes between this country and its northern neighbor. Mr. Dingley, as a New Englander, has been called on again and again to deal with the problems growing out of the regulation of trade and commerce across the Canadian border ,as well as with the intricacies of the deep sea fisheries and international transportation questions. Mr. Foster's career as a diplomat and as the head of the state department, has put him in touch with all the matters in dispute between the government at Ottawa and Washington, while Mr. Kasson's functions as the negotiator of reciprocity treaties under the Dingley tariff act, have likewise brought him into contact with many of the controversies to be submitted to the joint high commission. It is understood that the commissioners will meet and organize about August 1. The Canadian members were selected by the Dominion government a month or two ago.

GERMAN PRESS MORE FRIENDLY

Official of Foreign Office Declares American Suspicions Are Unfounded.

Berlin, July 18.--The recent speech of the United States ambassador, Andrew D. White, is gradually having a good effect. The tone of the German press, with the exception of the rabid anti-American shetts, has distinctly changed. Many of the newspapers that have hitherto been unfriendly are now just the opposite.

Mr. White's Fourth of July oration has also strengthened his position here. It is understood that he withdrawal of some of the German warships from Manila was due to his pointing out that the feeling of the Americans at such a formidable array of German ships in the harbor was one of suspicion as to the intentions of Germany.

An official of the foreign office, explaining the attitude of the German government, said:

"The presence there of our warships was solely due to our desire to protect German interests in the Philippine islands, which are too large for one or two ships to protect in the event of things going wrong, as the presence of ships at various points at the same time might be necessary.

Ship Waterway from Lakes to Hudson.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 18.--Government engineers and surveyors have arrived at Champlain, Clinton county, for the preliminary survey of the proposed great ship waterway between the great lakes and the Hudson by way of the St. Lawrence river and Lake Champlain. Appropriations for this survey have been made by Congress, and it is thought that the report of the engineers will be favorable to this route over either the Erie or Oswego canal routes, there being only five locks and a comparatively short canal mileage between Lake Champlain and the St. Lawrence and between Lake Champlain and the Hudson.

The work now being done by the surveyors consists of estimates on excavations, locks and water supply. The Champlain route is recommended by most of the leading engineers of the country. It is expected that freight rates from Buffalo to New York can be reduced to 25 cents a ton by this route.

Gold from the Klondike.

Victoria, B. C., July 18.--The steamer Cottage City, which touched here on her way to Seattle, from Alaska, had on board twenty miners from Dawson City, with about $750,000 in gold dust and drafts, mostly the latter. They cvame up the Yukon river in a steamer to White Horse Rapids, where they were transferred to a lake steamer. They say that banking accommodations in Dawson are now so good that there is no necessity of men bringing out money in any other form than drafts. The most of the gold will come out by way of St. Michaels.

The steamer City of Seattle arrived here Saturday from Alaska with eighteen miners from Dawson and about $500,000 in gold dust and drafts. She brings news that he town of Skaguay has been placed under martial law.

Car Shops Burned.

Elizabeth, July 18.--The greater part of the large repair shops of the Central railroad of New Jersey at Elizabethport was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. The fire started at 12.40 o'clock in the mill where wood is prepared for repairing passenger cars, and the flames quickly spread to the carpenter shop, passenger car repair shop, blacksmith shop, foundry, freight car repair shop and pattern shop. In half an hour only the round house, the paint shop and the building containing the offices, supply room and upholstering department were intact. The loss will be above $250,000.

Arizona's New Governor.

Washington, July 18.--The president has appointed Nathan O. Murphy to be governor of Arizona, to succeed Myron W. McCord, who resigned to become colonel of a volunteer regiment. Mr. Murphy has held many offices in Arizona, representing it as delegate in the LIVth Congress.

SANTIAGO CITY WAS LOOTED

Toral's Sword Returned fly Gen. Shafter. Raising the Stars and Stripes

Santiago de Cuba, July 18.--General Shafter has just sent this dispatch to Washington:

Adjutant General, U. S. A., Washington:

I have the honor to announce that the American flag has been this instant hoisted over the house of the civil government in the city of Santiago. An immense concourse of people present. A squadron of cavalry and a regiment of infantry presenting arms and band playing national air. Light battery fired salute of 21 guns. Perfect order os being maintained by municipal government. Distress is very great, but little sickness in town. Scarcely any yellow fever. A small gunboat and about 200 seamen left by Cervera, have surrendered to me. Obstructions are being removed from the mouth of harbor. Upon coming into the city I discovered a perfect entanglement of defences.

Fighting as the Spaniards did the first day, it would have cost 5,000 lives to have taken it.

Battelions of Spanish trops have been depositing arms since daylight in armory, over which have guard.

General Toral formally surrendered the plaza and all stores at nine a. m.

W. R. SHAFTER, Major General.

Amid impressive ceremonies the Spanish troops laid down their arms between the lines of the Spanish and American forces at nine o'clock this morning.

General Shafter and the American division and brigade commanders and their staffs were escorted by a troop of cavalry and General Toral and his staff by 100 picked men. Trumpeters on both sides saluted with flourishes.

Gen. Shafter returned to Gen. Toral the defeated leader's sword after it had been handed to the American commander. Our troops, lined up at the trenches, were eye witnesses of the ceremony. Gen. Shafter and his escort, accompanied by General Toral, rode through the city, taking formal possession.

The city had been sacked before our arrival by the Spaniards.

At the Palace elaborate ceremonies took place. Exactly at noon the American flag was raised over the palace and was saluted with 21 guns by Capt. Capron's battery. At the same time all the bands in our line played "The Star Spangled Banner," after which President McKinley's congratulatory telegram was read to each regiment.

As the brilliant folds of the stars and stripes unfurled in a gentle breeze against a fleckless sky, the cavalry band broke into the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner," making the American pulse leap and the American heart thrill with joy. At the same instant the sound of the distant booming of Captain Capron's battery firing a salute of 21 guns drifted in.

When the music ceased from all directions around our line came floating across the plaza the strains of the regimental bands and the hoarse cheers of our troops. The infantry came to order arms a moment later after the flag was up and the bad played "Rally Round the Flag, Boys." Gen. McKibbon called for three cheers for General Shafter which were given with great enthusiasm the band playing "The Stars and Stripes FCorever."

The ceremony over Gen. Shafter and staff returned to the American lines, leaving the city in the possession of the municipal authorities subject to the control of Gen. McKibbin.

Since 4 o'clock a stream of refugees has been pouring into the city. The tow nof Santiago presents a dismal sight. Most of the houses have been sacked and the stores looted.

Among the arrivals to-day were the German, Japanese andPortuguese consuls and their families. General Pando was never here, but 3,500 men from Manzanillo arrived on July 3. The conact mines in the harbor were removed the day Admiral Cervera left, but two chains of electric mines, one from Espella Point and the other from Socapa are still down.

The armament of tha shore batteries of Santiago consists of five brass six-inch muzzle loaders in the Morro fortifications; two six-inch Hontorias from the cruiser Reina Mercedes and three 11-centimetre mortars, in the Socapa upper battery; two useless 21-centimetre mortars.

Four Spanish merchant steamers, the Mortera, the Reina de los Angeles, the Thomas Brooks and the Mexico, and the gunboat Alvarado are now in the harbor.

Rear Admiral Sampson's last bombardment of Santiago wrecked fifty-seven houses i nthe city, causing heavy damage.

Washington, July 18.--At 11.05 o'clock last night Adjutant General Corbin made public the following from Shafter:

My ordnance officers report about 7,000 rifles turned in to-day and 600,000 cartridges. List of prisoners not yet taken.

SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

MUST GIVE UP THEIR ARMS.

Rifles Taken from Toral's Soldiers Will Not Be Returned.

Washington, July 18.--The arms surrendered by the Spanish soldiers at Santiago to General Shafter will be kept by the United States government. This conclusion reached by the president and Secretary Alger, was made public by the latter, as he left his office after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, for his home. "All those who have arms will turn them over to this government. This is final."

These were the secretary's words when asked for information on the subject. "And," he added, in response to further inquiries, and to clear any doubt that might exist on the subject, "the rifles will not be returned to Spain."

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. JUST HOW IT WAS DONE

Full Particulars of the Meeting of the Commissioners.

UNCLE SAM'S TERMS WIN

The Signing of the Articles. A Hitch in the Proceedings at First. Toral Very Careful About "Honor" and Desires Many Changes. Our Commissioners Unyielding and Firm. Plans for Deporting Prisoners Are Being Made.

Before Santiago, July 18.--The preliminary basis for the capitulation of the Spanish forces in eastern Cuba was agreed to and signed under a picturesque cedar tree, half way between the lines, shortly after midnight. Our commissioners were invited to enter the city by those representing General Toral, but the invitation was declined.

At the very outset a hitch occurred, owing to a misunderstanding of what was said at a personal interview between General Shafter and General Toral at noon. At that time our interpreter, translating the language of General Toral, had given Generals Shafter, Miles and Wheeler distinctly to understand that Captain General Blanco had consented that he commissioners should have plenary powers to negotiate the terms of surrender, such terms as they agreed upto to be binding upon both parties. Something was said about a notification to the Madrid government, but General Shafter insisted that the capitulation had been actually agreed to, and that no further consent of the Madrid government was required.

The commissioners met at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Those in behalf of General Toral, General Escario, Lieutenant Colonel Fortan and Albert Mason, the British vice consul, combatted at once the idea that the capitulation had in fact actually taken place. The consent of Madrid, they insisted, was still necessary, but would be forthcoming, as Captain General Blanco had authorized it, and the home government would do the same.

General Toral, who was present, said he had never been overruled by the captain general.

This was unsatisfactory to our commissioners, who clung tenaciously to the understanding General Shafter had received earlier in the day.

With the question of whether or not the Spanish forces had actually surrendered still open, the commissioners proceeded to the consideration of the preliminaries.

Captain Miley had drawn up thirteen articles of a general nature and these were submitted to General Toral personally. He made a strong appeal that the word "capitulation" be used instead of the harsher term "surrender," and that his army be allowed to march out, the officers with their side arms and the men with their small arms. He said the arms could afterward be sent to Spain, either on the same ships with the troops or on some other ships.

General Toral remarked that he expected our commissioners, as representatives of a brave and chivalrous people, would not seek to humiliate his army or make it appear that he was vanquished. As brave men, his soldiers desired to go home with honor. They had simply yielded to superior force and they would prefer dying to going home without their honor.

Our commissioners said this proposition lay beyond the terms laid down by our government and they could only reccommend the matter to Washington.

At 4 o'clock General Toral returned to the city to consult with Gen. Linares, who had been erroneously reported to be dead.

General Toral and his commissioners returned at 6.30, saying they desired a still further change in the phraseology of the articles, and suggested a postponement of the negotiations until the morning. This General Wheeler firmly declined. Thereupon a recess was taken until 9.30. At that time the articles were again gone over. Various changes of verbiage, which tended only to soften the sound of the terms without affecting their sense, were proposed by the Spaniards, and our commissioners accepted practically all of them.

At midnight Wheeler suggested that the good faith of the Spanish commissioners be tested. All the articles were reread and each in turn was asked if they were satisfactory. When they replied in the affirmative General Wheeler asked them to affix their signatures. This they appeared reluctant to do, but they could not refuse. When all had signed, the commissioners separated to meet again at 9.30 in the morning.

The present municipal authorities are to continue in control of the city until the Spanish troops are embarked.

The Spanish troops from other points are to be embarked at the nearest ports.

Refugees are to return to their homes, but not until the sanction of Madrid is received, and the same applies to the removal of the obstructions at the entrance to the harbor.

Pending this, Miss Clara Barton and the Red Cross agents, with supplies, are to be allowed to enter the city over the line of the Juragua railrod.

The water main which was cut is to be repaired at once.

No Cubans are to be allowed to enter the city.

All the artillery and the batteries at the harbor entrance are to be left intact, and we are to obtain possession of the gunboat in the harbor.

Shafter's headquarters are to be moved to the high ground north of the city, where the whole of our army will be encamped after Santiago is evacuated, pending the possibility of its embarkation for Porto Rico.

The troops which were landed at Siboney, but which did not get to the front, are to be sent back on board the transports immediately.

Which American troops will remain here as a garrison, and their number, has not yet been decided. There is some talk of garrisoning Santiago with several regiments from the southern states, which are understood to be at sea at present.

The condition of the city of Santiago is said to be dreadful, with filth and stench everywhere. There is much sickness among the Spanish soldiers,

THE OLIVETTE ARRIVES.

Wounded from Cuba Brought North for Care.

New York, July 18.--With nearly three hundred wounded soldiers aboard her, the hospital ship Olivette arrived at this port Saturday night. She was due to reach here about 2 p. m., but owing to the foulness of her bottom she was unable to make much more than ten knots an hour. It had been arranged that one hundred of the men should be taken to the marine hospital at Stapleton, Staten Island, and the remainder distributed in hospitals in Brooklyn. In the hope of an early arrival of the Olivette a crowd of at least 300 people, many of whom had either relatives or friends aboard, gathered at the entrance to the Stapleton landing and although it was midnight before the soldiers were landed there was no perceptible decrease in the crowd.

At the quarantine station Dr. Doty, the health officer, was prepared to board the Olivette immediately she came to anchor. While waiting for the hospital ship he stated that it was his purpose if there were any cases of infectious diseases aboard to remove the men so afflicted to Swinburne island. As it happened, however, there were no contagious cases to deal with.

The scene that met the eye on board the ship was pathetic indeed. The men were clad in all sorts of clothing, some of it improvised. There was hardly one who was fortunate enough to possess a whole uniform. They had all thrown their kits away while marching under the tropical sun of Cuba, and had been unable to replenish them. There were several men who were clad only in underclothes, while there were others who were obliged to cover themselves with blankets. There was not one who was not bandaged either in limb or body. Lots of them were unable to stand and were lying upon mattresses laid on the deck. Fully a third of the men had been wounded in the arm. The worst cases were to be found in the berth rooms and here in many cases the sight was touching. There were soldiers stretched in bunks whose bodies were almost wholly swathed in bandages, and who it was obvious, were still suffering great agony from their wounds. Among the worst instances was Edward Marshall, the New York Journal correspondent, who was shot in the stomach and in the groin. His brother, I. D. Marshall, was at quarantine to meet him and when he was taken to the state room on the upper deck where his brother was lying the wounded man fainted twice from the excitement of the meeting. He will be removed to his home and the surgeon in whose care he was, said that he thought Mr. Marshall would recover.

TO STAMP OUT YELLOW FEVER.

The Surgeon-Gen. to Send Doctors, Nurses and Supplies.

Washington, July 18.--War department officials are paying great attention to the adoption of strict measures for the protection of our troops from yellow fever and from low tropicountry in the rear. Adjutant General ed to remove the troops at Santiago jat the earliest possible moment to the ed to remove the troops at Santiago at Corbin said that within five miles of Santiago proper the conditions were as nearly ideal as obtainable in the tropics for stamping out the fever; high hills insured well drained camps, a most important element in the preservation of health; the water supply coming from the mountains was pure and abundant and fresh sea breezes prevailed.

While the main body of troops is to be transferred back to these hills until they are needed for service elsewhere or are returned to the United States, some troops necessarily will be placed either in the town itself or in camps commanding the place, in order to protect the inhabitants. It is believed that the two regiments of immunes already on their way to Santiago will be issigned to that duty. This will be a severe test of the principle involved in the formation of the immune regiments, for it is suspected that many of the alleged immunes are merely persons who have spent only a few weeks in the tropics under conditions that never brought them into direct exposure to yellow fever.

A French War Ship Held Up.

Key West, Fla., July 18.--The transport Niagara, which arrived off the bar at daylight yesterday morning, was towed into the harbor and is now anchored off Fort Taylor. She comes for a supply of coal and provisions, having sailed from Guantanamo last Thursday. She reports that a French warship attempted to enter Guantanamo without revealing her identity, but was brought to by blank cartridges by the Marblehead.

England as a Peacemaker.

Paris, July 18.--The correspondent of the Temps, at Madrid, says:

"The British ambassador daily presses the government to accept the good offices of the English cabinet, representing that it can alone obtain honorable conditions for Spain."

The correspondent sarcastically says: "The ambassador points out that England will only ask a slight extension of Gibraltar or the little island of Tarifa as a fee."

Won't Believe the Irene Incident.

Berlin, July 18.--In spite of Admiral Dewey's dispatch confirming the exclusive news of the Associated Press regarding the conduct of the German warship Irene at Subig bay, Philippine islands, a section of the German press still professes to disbelieve the Irene incident. The Cologne Gazette says:

"The story was got up by the Associated Press with the deliberate purpose of producing enmity between Germany and America."

Classifying the Bond Issue.

Washington, July 18.--The work of classifying the new bond issue has progressed sufficiently to enable the treasury department to announce that all subscriptions for $4,980 and less will be awarded. A considerable balance will be pro-rated among the $5,000 subscribers.

Sending the Prisoners Home.

Washington, July 18.--It was announced at the war department that the Spanish prisoners at Santiago will sail for Spain not later than July 25.

THE GREAT VICTORY

Old Glory Now Floats Proudly Over Santiago.

OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE

The Terms of Surrender Are Finally Consummated. All Forces and War Material in Eastern Cuba Are Included. General Toral at Last Yields Every Point and Signs the Agreement. The Nation's Thanks.

Washington, July 18.--After many vexatious delays and much haggling over terms and technicalities on the part of the Spanish General Toral, the capitulation has been consummated. The terms of surrender were signed on Saturday, and yesterday, at 9 a. m., the Spanish flag was hauled down and the Stars and Stripes set waving over the city of Santiago and its surrounding fortresses.

The victory is indeed a glorious one and none the less so because it is bloodless. The Spanish general surrenders an army of 12,000 men against whom a shot has not been fired. In addition to this there are from twelve to fifteen thousand troops in outlying garrisons which are also included in the surrender. The following official correspondence has been received and fully explains the great and significant event:

At nine o'clock Saturday evening the following message, announcing definitely the surrender of Santiago, was made public at the White House. It was received by Adjutant General Corbin:

Camp near Santiago, July 16.

The surrender has been definitely settled, and the city will be turned over to-morrow morning, and the troops will be marched out as prisoners of war.

The Spanish colors will be hauled down at nine o'clock and the American flag hoisted. SHAFTER,
Major General.

A dispatch received from General Shafter earlier in the day gave the following conditions:

Headquarters near Santiago, July 16.

Adjutant General U. S. Army, Washington:

The conditions of capitulation include all forces and war material in described territory. The United States agrees, with as little delay as possible to transport troops in district to Kingdom of Spain, the troops, as far as possible, to embark near to the garrison they now occupy. Officers to retain their side arms and officers and men to retain their personal property. Spanish authorized to take military archives belonging to surrendered district. All Spanish forces known as volunteers Moirilizadves and guerillas who wish to remain in Cuba may do so under parole during present war, giving up their arms. Spanish forces march out of Santiago with honors of war, depositing their arms at a point mutually agreed upon, to await disposition of the United States government, it being understood United States commissioners will recommend that the Spanish soldiers return to Spain with arms so bravely defended. This leaves the question of return of arms entirely in the hands of the government. I invite attention to the fact that several thousand surrendered, said by General Toral to be about 12,000, against whom a shot has not been fired. The return to Spain of the troops in this district amounts to above 24,000, according to Gen. Toral.

W. R. SHAFTER,

In the following letter General Toral informed General Shafter that he had been authorized to surrender:

Santiago de Cuba, July 16.

To His Excellency, Commander-in-Chief of the American Forces:

Excellent Sir: I am now authorized by my government to capitulate. I have the honor to apprize you, and requesting that you design the hour and place where my representatives shall appear, to compare with those of your excellency to effect the articles of capitulation, on the basis of what has been agreed upon to this date in due time. I wish to manifest my desire to know the resolutions of the United States government respecting the return of army, so as to note on the capitulations, also the great courtesy of your great graces and return for the great generosity and impulse for the Spanish soldiers, and allow them to return to the peninsula with the honors the American army do them the honor to acknowledge as dutifully descended.

JOSE TORAL,

The Nation's Thanks.

The following congratulatory messages were sent to General Shafter by President McKinley and Secretary Alger:

To General Shafter, Commanding, Front, near Santiago, Playa.

The president of the United States sends to you and your brave army the profound thanks of the American people for the brilliant achievements at Santiago, resulting in the surrender of the city and all of the Spanish troops, and territory under General Toral. Your splendid command has endured not only the hardships and sacrifices incident to the campaign and battle, but in stress of heat and weather has triumphed over obstacles which would have overcome men less brave and determined. One and all have displayed the most conspicuous gallantry and earned the gratitude of the nation. The hearts of the people turn with tender sympathy to the sick and the wounded. May the Father of Mercies protect and comfort them.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

To Major General Shafter, Front, near Santiago, Playa:

I cannot express in words my gratitude to you and your heroic men. Your work has been well done. God bless you all. R. A. ALGER,
Secretary of War.

The following acknowledgement was received from General Shafter at 9.15 Saturday evening:

Camp near Santiago, July 16.

To the President:

I thank you and my army thanks you for your congratulatory telegram of to-day. I am proud to say every one in it performed his duty gallantly. Your message will be read to every regiment in the army at noon to-morrow. SHAFTER,

Take a Vacation.

Vacation time is here and rapidly passing. No matter how busy a man you are, how much responsibility devolves upon your individual attention to your affairs, try and snatch a period of rest and recreation from the hurly-burly world.

Every man deserves a vacation and no matter how brief it is he feels the better for it. But there is one very important thing to do when you take a vacation. Forget all about your business; just throw your whole energies to enjoying yourself. There are innumerable ways of doing this—every man to his own bent of mind.

But take a vacation by all means.

No Use for the Public to Worry.

Because one street has been closed to the trolley magnates it is no sign that the street railway will not go east towards Scotch Plains. The owning and operation of a street railway is a gilt-edged investment in this city and the Plainfield Street Railway Company can be depended upon to work out the solution of a practical route. Then the public can step in and share in the general profit that will come to the community by the consummation of the enterprise.

About Being Resigned.

There are those who call by the name of Christian resignation what is in reality a most unchristian mental laziness. We are not creatures of a blind, cruel fate that is whirling and hurling us like footballs here and there. Thousands of persons sit down in the ashes and let their neighbors or public charity feed and clothe them and theirs when they ought to bestir themselves and get food and raiment for themselves.

It is not the will of any providence of any kind that human beings should suffer and starve and be lumps of inertness. At the very time the resigned paupers are being fed by charity, public and private, the price of cotton for clothing was never so low, while America's chief bread grain, corn, is almost equally cheap.

It is well to put up with, for the time, that cheerfully, too, evil conditions and situations that we cannot immediately get out of, all the while steadfastly resolving that we will find a way out of them sooner or later. That state of mind, however, is altogether different from being willing to sit stupidly down and accept as permanent the unpleasant situation. Poverty in particular is something that no human being should be resigned to. There is plenty for all of us, and there is no virtue, neither religion, in being resigned to do without our just share of things.

A political crank has already come to the front with a nomination of Admiral Dewey as candidate for the next presidency. We can fancy the gallant old sea dog hearing of this with a burst of laughter. He is the last kind of man to have such a bee buzzing in his cocked hat. It would be a little odd if such a promotion should occur. For the first time a president would have been shot out of a ship's gun into the White House.

There is a decided advantage to the victims of legal discipline on being made peers. An English creditor recently tried to obtain an order for imprisonment against a recalcitrant judgment debtor, and the magistrate refused on the ground that the party had been raised to the peerage since judgment had been given.

Queen Christina.

The most pathetic figure in the Spanish tragedy now playing before the world is that of the queen regent. She is rather the helpless victim than the agent of the tremendous forces which are rending her adopted country. She became the consort of Alfonso XII with some reluctance, but has filled the role of royal wife and mother admirably. In every sense this Austrian lady commanded the esteem of the world as a high minded and noble woman. Since necessity made her queen regent her political tact in dealing with the difficulties of government, so far as they were presented to her, in reconciling the almost irreconcilable difficulties of factions, has been no less notable. It is now well known that, so far as Queen Christina dared at the opening of the Spanish-American difficulty, she favored peace even at a sacrifice. Yet patriotism and prudence combined to make her accord with the passionate pride of the Spanish people. Again and again since the situation assumed a more desperate phase this royal lady has declared herself willing to retire from the regency, to do anything short of sacrificing the rights and interests of her son, if thereby she could remove an obstacle which would lead to peace. Hopeless of Spanish success, all her predilections have been for a prompt and prudent settlement before American arms should make the ultimate price that fatal "pound of flesh" cut from over the heart. She is the puppet and plaything of destiny, with but little if any control over the factors of the situation. Yet her position makes her the innocent scapegoat of misfortune, though she has had no hereditary responsibility for the blunders and sins of centuries now culminating to their penalty.

The Austrian part in the ruling activities of other lands has been peculiarly unfortunate. Marie Antoinette perished on the scaffold under the knife of Sanson. Maximilian expiated his rash ambition before a firing squad at Queretaro. The last Hapsburg contribution to international tragedy is not likely to meet such a fate even at the worst to be expected. But should she retain the throne as trustee for her son it will be over a humiliated nation, which will have lost its most precious possessions, a decadent power reduced to the position of a Portugal or a Greece. However innocent she may have been in her share in these woes, she will suffer more in heart and happiness than any one in Spain. Jubilant over our victories present and to come, we may well accord a generous portion of commiseration for Queen Maria Christina.

It is difficult to say whether the volunteers or the regulars have carried off the honors of the desperate fighting at Santiago. They all fought like heroes in the teeth of an intrenched and desperate foe, for Spanish courage, too, has shown its gameness as it had done before on a thousand stricken fields. The tremendous ratio of losses among officers and enlisted men alike in the Seventy-first New York and the rough riders surpassed even that of the regulars. Perhaps the reason is that the latter troops, with their experience of the west and Indian fighting, knew better how to take advantage of the ground. But with all alike there shone the spirit of dashing, dauntless intrepidity. Military critics abroad praise enthusiastically the gallantry and elan of our fellows, while they take exception to the plan of battle which permitted the attack to be made with an insufficient siege train and a badly arranged cooperation of our fleet. Aftersight, however, is always shrewder than foresight. It is easy now for the military critic to pick flaws in the tactics or the strategy of Napoleon's most splendid operations. The genius of the battle chess game is merely he who makes the fewer mistakes.

Kaiser Wilhelm is so determined to have a finger in everything that he won't even let the dead alone in their coffins. The citizens of Dusseldorf had raised a large sum to erect a statue of the great poet, Heine. It was enough that Heine was the poet of the revolution, so the young emperor put his veto on it. It is a pity that there could not be a second Heine with such a subject for satire. It would give William a chance for immortality.

Dr. Chauncey Depew is not the president of a system of railroads for nothing. He knows how to keep the steam whistles tooting and how "to get there." His last role is that of political missionary to benighted France. He would be a successor to Henry Ward Beecher, who did so much by his tour as a lecturer in England in 1863 to turn the current of English opinion in our favor.

The French and German technical organs growl not a little over the success of American manufactures, especially of railway supplies, in China and the far east. Our foreign friends fancied that their treaties and concessions gave them the right of way, but Celestial eyes are wide open for excellence and cheapness.

If one or more of Cervera's shattered ships can be raised and effectually renovated for our own navy, it will be some small help in paying the expenses of the war. If even a steel shell is reasonably sound, American ingenuity will do the rest.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

In reading over the list furnished by "The Fredonian" of the needs of New Brunswick to make it a live city the suggestion is forced that instead of attempting to patch it out it would be cheaper to burn the place and build a new city.—Camden Telegram.

These are the times that show how many of the ante-bellum offers to volunteer were genuine and how many were bluffs intended to gain notoriety or inflame public feeling. Plainfield, N. J., is having some fine illustrations of bluff volunteering. The societies that were for the old flag and a war now say that they didn't think they would be called upon and are not prepared to carry out their patriotic offers.—Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

If some people have an idea that the public do not appreciate the favor done them by the Town Improvement Association in fitting up the city park as a nice cool resort on hot days, let them take a walk there Sundays and evenings. The benches which were recently added seem to be just what was lacking to make this park as much frequented as one would want.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 18—The work of repairing the Lincoln and Whittier public schools will be started very soon so that they will be ready for occupancy by the time school opens. A number of improvements will be made at both schools.

It is confidently believed that before the last of this week the trolley tracks will be laid through the borough and connected with the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway. Considering the number of men employed excellent progress has been made. The work of erecting poles and stringing wires will be started this week.

It is quite probable that the electric light system will be extended in the near future toward New Market in the borough line. Such a request was made at the meeting of the Borough Council last week, and the matter is to be attended to.

This week The Dunellen Call will appear with an interesting sketch of the town written by Mr. Douglass, who is associated with the paper.

Adam Deslaman, of Washington avenue, will take his vacation next month, when he will probably go to the mountains.

Morris Barick has returned to his position as conductor on the Central Railroad, after enjoying his vacation.

Mrs. W. H. Terry, of Church street, left today for Asbury Park, where she will spend two weeks with her son.

Ormond VanNest, son of Mr. and Mrs. George VanNest, has entirely recovered from his recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Laing, have returned from Red Bank, where they have been visiting relatives.

Alex. Frazee, of North Plainfield, is stopping at Greenbrook with his brother, Ludlow Frazee.

Rockview Council, Daughters of Liberty, will hold their first regular meeting this evening.

The Misses Jamison, of Church street, have been entertaining friends from out of town.

Mrs. John Terry, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a short visit with relatives in town.

William Jennings, who has been visiting out-of-town friends, has returned home.

George VanNest has been visiting his mother, Mrs. VanNest, of Plainfield.

Next week there will be bowling on the green at the home of Mr. Schepflin.

Postmaster Coriell has returned from a business trip out of town.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 18—Yesterday's services at the Church of the Holy Innocents were the last to be held until next fall. The rector, Rev. Mr. Phelps, will leave this week to spend his annual vacation in the mountains, and while he is away the church will be closed.

The postage on mail matter deposited in the postoffice by Stanley Day during the past twenty-six weeks amounted to $466.24. This is an excellent showing for a small office.

The Misses Cunningham have returned from Yonkers, where they were called to attend the funeral of a relative.

The new addition to the schoolhouse is now enclosed and the other work is being rapidly pushed toward completion.

Wm. Smith and family, of New York, have taken the house recently occupied by C. E. Curtis, for the summer.

Mrs. Frank Fletcher and family have returned from a short pleasure trip out of town.

A new two-story office building is being erected on Main street by C. E. Kelly & Co.

—Loyal Addition, Royal Arcanum, will hold a meeting this evening.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 18—Mrs. Nathan Marsh, one of the oldest residents of the town, celebrated her eighty-third birthday at her home on Westfield avenue last week. Mrs. Marsh, although just recovering from a severe attack of sickness, was able to sit up part of the day and enjoyed the celebration with her relatives and friends who gathered to wish her many happy returns of the day and hoped she would live to see many more. Among those present were Mrs. Marsh's children and grandchildren, all of whom live in town, her nieces, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, of Danvers, Ill., Mrs. Sarah Robinson, of Chicago, Miss Elvina Rhodecap, of Illinois, and others.

John Schmidt, of Co. I, Twenty Second New York, stationed at Fort Slocum, enjoyed a short furlough Saturday and visited old friends in town.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company hold their regular monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

Miss Alida Mooney led the Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon.

Berkley Heights Baseball Club won a game from Stirling, in the Passaic Valley League, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour and family, of Newark, are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Westcott, of Fanwood.

Miss Hattie Wilcox, of Brooklyn, spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother.

Miss Nancy Wade has returned from a visit with relatives at Lyons Farms.

Miss Marion Jardine, of Ridgefield Park, is visiting Miss Lulu Robison.

Miss Winckler, of Newark, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reynolds.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 18—William B. Stiles, of Springfield, the commissioner appointed by the borough of Mountainside, and Thomas J. Nichols, of Fanwood, appointed by Westfield township to look over the accounts of the township from September 24, 1894, when the borough withdrew from the township, up to the present time, met in the township rooms on Saturday afternoon and after going over the books of the township decided that the township owed the borough $787.94. The borough is now holding back $800 of last year's school funds so the township really owes them less than $15. This settlement should, according to law, have taken place within twenty days after the borough had been formed.

The Westfield baseball team went to Elizabeth Saturday to play the Elizabeth Athletic Club and were about as badly used as though they had gone to Spain without one of our battleships to convoy them. A Mr. Dobiner umpired the game, and was so open in his efforts to please his home team that in the sixth inning Lee, of Scotch Plains, who was covering third base for Westfield, refused to play unless another umpire was substituted for Dobiner. This the E. A. C. could not do, and the Westfielders left the grounds loudly applauded by those in the grand stand both from Elizabeth and Westfield. McLarty, of Plainfield, pitched for Westfield and Rushmore for Elizabeth. When the game broke up the score stood 4 to 0 in favor of the home team, but the Westfield boys had commenced to play ball and would have made it close as they had two men on bases with no men out when the umpire called two rank strikes on Lee and he left the field followed by the rest of the team. Manager Livengood refused to pay the Westfield manager the guarantee, claiming that no game had been played, although they had played six innings and Manager Downes was perfectly willing that the E. A. C. should claim the game, for he saw that the visiting team had no chance with such an umpire.

The Township Committee met Saturday and completed the inspection of Assessor J. M. C. Marsh's assessment book. The total amount taxed this year is $1,650,000, which is about $200,000 increase over last year. Mr. Marsh is in Elizabeth today attending the meeting of the County Board of Assessors.

Twenty members from Westfield Lodge, No. 159, I. O. O. F., will go to Plainfield this evening to pay a visit to Queen City Lodge, No. 226, at which time the recently-elected officers of the latter lodge will be installed with appropriate exercises.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 18—The New York and New Jersey Telephone Co. have erected a number of new poles through the town which are much straighter than any we have formerly had, and they having received a coat of paint make quite a nice appearance on the avenues.

G. W. Hunt and men are painting the new foundry this week, and it begins to have a more finished appearance.

Winfred Smalley is quite busy at present hauling bricks from Bound Brook for the factory south of the railroad.

Mrs. Athmer, of New York city, sister of Fritz Brugger, is visiting her brother on the east boulevard.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. Edward White.

BLACK BETTY IN CLOVER.

Edwin Booth's Courtesy and Kindness to an Old Servant.

A little incident will sometimes show the character of a man more clearly than a great act. Mr. Laurence Hutton tells a story of Edwin Booth that reveals the kindly heart of the man whom the world knew as a famous actor.

Mr. Hutton called upon Mr. Booth one afternoon at the Albemarle Hotel, in New York, and found him in an easy chair, with a pipe in his mouth. The long chat which ensued was not undisturbed. Mr. Booth was in great request, and before long a waiter entered and put a card into his hand.

"Tell the lady that Mr. Booth is engaged," was the quiet answer, and an influential leader in New York society went away disappointed.

A few minutes later a second caller—a man honorably known throughout the country—turned away without seeing Mr. Booth. Yet another card was sent down with the statement that "Mr. Booth was engaged," and a gentleman and his wife, whom few people would have refused to receive, became convinced that the actor was an exception to the rule; but at last came a name that met with a different fate.

"Show the lady up," said the now interested actor, and Mr. Hutton put on his overcoat to leave the room. He was not allowed to depart. The lady was a friend of his, and would be glad to see him, he was assured.

Thereupon he waited, curious to discover the identity of the person who could obtain an audience with the man who had been too tired to see the daughter of one of the most distinguished men of science in the country, or a Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, or a bishop and his wife.

The door opened, and in walked Black Betty, the old negro servant who had nursed Mr. Booth's daughter when she was a baby, had taken the most tender care of his wife when she was slowly dying, and had been a life long friend to them all.

She kissed "Massa Edwin's" hand, shook hands cordially with Mr. Hutton, and let herself be placed in the most comfortable rocking chair. Then she began to talk familiarly about her own affairs and Mr. Booth's. She could not afford to go to the theatre "no mo'," she said, but she wanted her husband to see "Massa Edwin play." Could she have a pass for two for that night?

He wrote the pass at once, and put it into her hand. She read it and returned it with a shake of her head. "They was only niggers," she said. "The do'keeper wouldn't let no niggers into the orchestra seats; a pass to the gallery was good enough for them."

A second paper she received silently, but with another and still more decided shake of her head. Glancing over her shoulder, Mr. Hutton read: "Pass my friend, Betty Blank, and party to my box this evening. Edwin Booth." And Betty occupied the box.—Harper's Magazine.

A STORY ABOUT THE QUEEN.

How She Saved a Deliquent Husband from Disgracing His Family.

About twenty years ago a certain Royal Highness, a near relative of her Majesty, who was married to a Serene Highness, came to the Queen and told her that her lord and master had actually eloped. At the moment nobody save the discarded wife knew of the state of affairs. When the Queen heard the news she remarked, "This is a scandal which in twenty-four hours will be talked of all over Europe. If you will tell me the exact place where your husband has gone, I will follow him and try to bring him back." The Princess knew precisely where her husband was located. The Queen found the renegade Prince at a country inn. She asked for the Prince under his assumed name, and in ten minutes had explained to him the situation and the position in which he was placing the Court of England, and the Queen then spoke of the feelings of his wife, who was at home in a state wellnigh bordering on frenzy. His Highness promised to return at once to his spouse. It was here the difficulty arose. How was "the other person" to be disposed of? The Queen offered to pay £1,000 down from her own purse, and she did. Thus His Highness was restored to the arms of his disconsolate wife. They lived happily afterward, and the world has been of opinion that they were the most ideal couple that existed, while the sons and daughters of the marriage hold high places in society.—Whitehall Review.

A Substitute for Rice.

There is a Chinese of Japanese substitute for rice as a salutatory to a newly married couple which was used at a recent wedding with most excellent effect. The oriental articles consist of tiny little circular bits of paper, perhaps two thicknesses in each, and all of different colors. The little circles have body enough to make them reach their destination most effectively when thrown, and at the same time they seem to resist the powers of gravitation. Wherever they lodge there they stay. A grain of rice will lodge for a while in the hair, in a veil or in a hat, but the moment it has a chance it makes its way to the ground. Not so with the thin little bits of paper.

Where they lodge there they remain, until they are picked off one by one. They are pretty and becoming in a luxuriant head of dark hair, but the tattood effect of the different bright colors give the bride does not fill her with joy when it is observed by strangers.—New York Times.

Blue Taffeta Gown.

Many lovely evening and reception gowns are seen, the models composed of taffeta in delicate pinks, blues and yellows proving the most popular. The new taffeta is much lighter in weight than formerly and is therefore more appropriate for summer wear.

A charming confection in Sevres blue taffeta has the skirt exquisitely embroidered with appliques. The bodice is made surplice fashion, and is caught up at the left side with a rosette. The tiny revers open over a vest of white mousselaine de soie, while the sleeves are handsomely embroidered.

Stopping a Leak.

A mechanical genius has devised a method of indicating and stopping a leak by the use of compressed air. He divides a ship into air-tight compartments, fitted with doors provided with packing material and connected by tubes with a room on deck called the "switch-room." In this room is a junction chest supplied with compressed air from fixed or portable compressors, and so arranged that the air can be delivered to any of the compartments. Other tubes lead from the compartment from which water can be forced out when required, and electric indicators are also connected with the switch room to indicate the accumulation of water in any of the compartments. Should the vessel "spring a leak," the indicator will show which compartment is affected, so that the compressed air may be forced in to drive the water out.

The Newest Corset.

French women are always complimented by foreign visitors for the easy grace with which they move It is asserted by the Parisians themselves that the secret lies in the fact that they never wear anything that is really tight. The waist-line is snugly fitted, but for the rest entire freedom is allowed. This, of course, applies strictly to the corset, which is cut low at the top, the hip-line reaching only a little below the waist, and the front cut quite long, which preserves a firm outline. American women have always admired the Parisian figure, and accordingly, their preference and wish being the main guide of importers, the corsets for the coming season are a reproduction or modification of this shape.

Dotted Swiss Waist.

Separate waists continue to grow in favor and in the hot summer months are especially desirable. Many women, however, do not like the stiff, tailor-made looking shirt waists and they have many other varieties of a daintier sort to choose from.

White dotted swiss makes a pretty model. This is made with a round yoke decorated with three rows of insertion. The material composing the lower part of blouses is attached to the yoke in groups of three tiny tucks. The sleeves are quite full and are shirred in at the wrist.

The Ivory Eye.

Paris, which is always doing something extraordinary, has devised the ivory eye as a love token. The emblem of the engagement ring as a pledge of love is sinking into oblivion in favor of the exchange of eyes. The engagement eye must be an exact reproduction of the individual eye. Every model must give his or her artist at least three sittings to get the right shade and the perfect expression. Then the lover carries his sweetheart's eye about with him as a watchful guard against evil.

Gorgeous Feather Boas.

Among the improvements of other fashionable articles of wear, the ostrich-feather boas have undergone considerable change. Besides the combination of neutral colors, such as we are more or less familiar with, are now more pronounced mixtures, mauve and green, violet and white, green and rose. These will be worn in beach driving, on hotel piazzas, and on cool evenings, and many will match the color-blendings on the gown or hat.

Fancy Straw Hats.

The majority of the fancy straw hats are so laden with trimming that they look burdensome and topheavy, and are unfit entirely for hot-weather wear. The plainest and prettiest styles are the dainty, pliable Neapolitans, the ever-popular Leghorns, and the zephyr braids, trimmed with orchids and green tulle, lace, velvet ribbon, and lilacs, heliotrope, mignonette, and pink roses, and so on.

CHINESE BABIES.

From the Day of Birth They Are Dressed in Coat and Trousers.

Babies are made much of all the world over, but in China especially they are surrounded with a host of mysterious superstitions and practices.

They are very comical to look at, these children of the Celestials; from the day they are born they are put into a little coat and trousers, with a wee cap to keep the head warm, and little shoes on their feet. In fact, they are the exact counterpart of their parents in miniature.

A child is not bathed till the third day; it is not considered lucky to do so before. When this has been done charms, consisting of lucky cash (smallest coin) and small silver toys, are attached by red cord to the child's wrists and worn for many months. This is to keep away all evil spirits.

Red strips of paper, with certain characters written on them, are also nailed up outside the door of baby's room, to ward off all evil influences.

These strips are kept up until after the eleventh day, and it is usual for no stranger to enter until they have been removed.

The child generally leaves the room at the end of the month, and on that day the head is shaved for the first time.

Very often a small patch is left at the crown of the head and the hair plaited into a stiff little queue, which stands out straight from the head through a little hole in the cap.

If it is a little girl, her head is often not shaved, but her hair plaited into two plaits above her ears. Red cord is plaited in with the hair as a charm for spirits cannot face red—hence baby's red clothes.—Ladies' Pictorial.

Natural Envy.

"It makes me indignant," said one Madrid citizen, "every time I think of that free silver discussion in the United States."

"But it didn't affect you in any way," replied another.

"I know it. But think of a country's being rich enough to worry over what particular kind of money it shall use."—Washington Star.

Cheap Ministers.

Aunt Derby—I do declare, the folks in this congregation ought to be ashamed of themselves.

Aunt Hannah—Yes, indeed. I'm as economizin' as anybody in some things, but I don't think churches ought to go around shoppin' to get cheap ministers.—New York World.

Unappreciated.

"Our nation," the orator rehearsed befort the mirror, "went forth with bread in one hand and the sword in the other"—

"Isn't that just like a man?" his wife interrupted him to ask; "a woman would have taken a breadknife."—Indianapolis Journal.

Hardships of a Toiler.

Allyn Wraggs—Wot is it? A dollar bill? That's the easiest money ever you got, an' I'll bet on it. The wind blew it right to yer feet.

Tuffold Knutt—Easy? Didn't I have to git down an' pick it up, b'gosh?—New York World.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Miss Lillian Small, though not yet 21 years old, holds the post of government marine observer on a promontory of Cape Cod. Her duty is to watch the passing ships through a telescope and take notes of their flags and names. The information thus gained has to be telegraphed every half hour to the Chamber of Commerce in Boston. Miss Small began her work as her father's assistant.

Miss Helen Gould was asked to join the Daughters of the Revolution, being eligible on her mother's side. She declined on the ground that she was already connected with a vast number of clubs and guilds. She said: "I must try to show my patriotism in some other way." One of her other ways has been distributing 50,000 copies of our national hymn, "America," among school children, each copy engraved with a picture of the author of the song, Dr. Samuel F. Smith.

Miss Clara J. Fisher is said to be the first woman ever chosen to act as an arbitrator in a labor dispute in this country by a regularly constituted state board of arbitration. Miss Fisher was employed as overseer for nine years with the B. H. Spaulding Company at Milford, Mass. Two years ago she left them, but when a strike broke out recently over the question what number of yards of straw sewed should constitute the unit of payment, Miss Fisher was chosen by her former fellow employes as their representative. Together with a man chosen by the state board to represent the Spaulding company, she visited similar mills in the neighborhood, and in two weeks the report was ready, which furnished the basis of a satisfactory agreement.

Two flags mark the grave of Miss Dorothea Dix in the Mt. Auburn cemetery near Boston. A writer in the Boston Transcript recalls that at the close of the civil war, when all through its four years she had faithfully served as superintendent of women nurses, Miss Dix accepted from the Government "a stand of arms of the United States colors." When Mr. Stanton asked her how it would be most agreeable to her to have her services officially recognized, by a great public meeting or a vote of money from Congress, she declined to have either, and expressed a desire for "the flag of my country," thinking no notice would be taken of the request; but a beautiful pair of the national colors were specially made for her. She bequeathed them to Harvard College and they now hang in Memorial Hall.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Hier tagte der zur Zeit aus 297 Mitgliedern bestehende Süddeutsche Buchhändlerverein. Nach dem Jahresbericht kann das letzte Geschäftsjahr nicht als ein allgemein befriedigendes bezeichnet werden. Der Buchhandel hatte wieder viel unter Ueberproduktion und der großen Konkurrenz zu leiden. Die Gesammtausfuhr ab Stuttgart bezifferte sich 1897 auf 4,330,000 Kilogramm gegenüber 4,390,000 Kilogramm im Jahre 1896. Nach Leipzig hat die Ausfuhr um rund 100,000 Kilogramm abgenommen; der Versandt nach Elsaß-Lothringen ist in stetem Rückgang begriffen; er ging im letzten Jahr um 25 Prozent zurück. Dagegen ist die Ausfuhr nach der Schweiz um 10 Prozent gestiegen. Der Versandt nach Oesterreich hat sich gleichfalls etwas gehoben, bleibt aber immer noch hinter 1895 zurück.

Breithülen. Das neuerbaute, besteingerichtete Remontedepot Breithülen, das erste in Württemberg, wurde dieser Tage von den ersten Remonten bezogen. Die Thiere wurden theils in Oberschwaben, theils in Norddeutschland aufgekauft. Das Depot liegt in der Südostecke des Truppenübungsplatzes Münsingen.

Sindelfingen. Das Bienenhaus des Schuhfabrikanten Dinkelacker bei der Burghalde ist von bübischer Hand angezündet worden und brannte vollständig nieder. Etwa 12 Bienenvölker und der Honig von der letzten Zeit sind dabei zu Grunde gegangen.

Steinheim. Der hiesige Sandbruchbesitzer Falkenstein fand beim Sandgraben einen Mammuthzahn, der drei Meter lang und 24 Centimeter dick ist. Er wurde in drei Theilen ausgegraben. Die einzelnen Theile können aber wieder sehr leicht zusammengesetzt werden. Zehn Meter davon entfernt wurde im vorigen Jahre ebenfalls ein solcher Zahn, aber etwas kleiner, gefunden. Er ging um den Preis von 100 Mark in das Eigenthum des „Historischen Vereins" in Heilbronn über.

Ulm. Der Abschluß der Verhandlungen über die Niederlegung der inneren Festungsumwallung zu Gunsten der Stadterweiterung ist in der Höhe der Entschädigungssumme noch auf Schwierigkeiten gestoßen. Die vom deutschen Reiche geforderte Summe von 4,500,000 Mark ist der Stadt Ulm, die für das 90 Hektar umfassende Festungsgelände 3,000,000 Mark geben will, zu hoch. Doch werden die Verhandlungen fortgesetzt.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Premierlieutenant Knoll vom Rastatter Regiment Nr. 111, der hier im Hotel „Karpfen" während des vorjährigen Manövers einen Tobsuchtsanfall bekam und gefesselt in das Lazareth gebracht werden mußte, hat sich in der Wohnung seines Vaters, eines pensionirten Majors in Baden-Baden, erschossen. Er galt als tüchtiger Offizier und war der einzige Sohn seines Vaters.

Bruchsal. Oberbürgermeister Gautier hat sein Amt, das er über ein Jahrzehnt verwaltete, niedergelegt, und wird wieder in den Justizdienst eintreten.

Kandern. Hier wurde der Holzhändler Deißlinger unter dem Verdacht des Giftmordversuchs verhaftet; er soll die That an seiner Ehefrau begangen haben, mit der er in Scheidung lebt.

Konstanz. Die schweizerische Grenzwache in Kreuzlingen ist einem großen Leinwandschmuggel des hiesigen Hausirers Biedermann auf die Spur gekommen. Sie hat vorerst dem hiesigen Droschkenkutscher Brütsch, der den Transport vermittelte, den Wagen konfiszirt. Es sollen mehrere Personen betheiligt sein.

Mannheim. Die Strafkammer verurtheilte den Buchhalter Vincenz Jung der Zellstofffabrik Waldhof wegen Unterschlagung von 148,000 Mark zu vier Jahren Gefängniß sowie zu fünf Jahren Ehrverlust

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Der Gemeinderath beschloß die Errichtung eines städtischen Bureaus für unentgeltlichen Wohnungsnachweis für Wohnungen, deren Miethswerth höchstens 600 Mark jährlich beträgt. Die Einrichtung tritt schon am 1. August in's Leben.

Diedenhofen. Die Thomasschlackenmühle ist ganz niedergebrannt. Der Schaden ist sehr beträchtlich.

Blasheim. Vom Blitze erschlagen wurde während eines heftigen Gewitters der Gänsehirt Lutz mitten auf der Dorfstraße.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between Mary E. Embury, complainant, and Clarence J. Rice, et al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias, to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and state of New Jersey:

Beginning at a point in the northwesterly side line of East Second street in line of property belonging to Rockwell; thence running southwesterly along the said northwesterly side line of East Second street a distance of two hundred (200) feet, more or less to the northeasterly side line of Church street; thence along the northeasterly side line of Church street northwesterly a distance of three hundred and fifty (350) feet more or less to the southeasterly side line of East Front street; thence along the southeasterly side line of East Front street northeasterly a distance of one hundred and twenty (120) feet more or less to property now or formerly belonging to Manning; thence with that line southeasterly a distance of one hundred and sixty (160) feet more or less to the south corner of said Manning's lot; thence still with said Manning's property and properties now or formerly of Job Meeker and Mary Wilson a distance northeasterly of one hundred feet more or less to Rockwell's line; thence with that line southeasterly a distance of two hundred (200) feet more or less to the beginning. Together with the land in front of said premises to the centres of East Second street, Front street and Church street, subject to the easement of the public therein as public highways forever. Excepting therefrom the following described two tracts of land, viz: The first tract: Beginning at a point in the northeasterly side fence line of Church street, said point being distant northwesterly one hundred and twenty-five feet from the intersection of the northwesterly side fence line of East Second street with the northeasterly side fence line of Church street; thence in a northeasterly direction at right angles to said Church street and parallel with East Second street one hundred and twenty-five feet to a point; thence northwesterly parallel with said Church street fifty feet to a point; thence in a southwesterly direction parallel with East Second Street one hundred and twenty-five feet to the northeasterly side fence line of Church street; thence southeasterly with said fence line of Church street fifty feet to the point or place of beginning.

The Second Tract. Beginning at a point in the northerly side line of East Second street and in line of land belonging to Rockwell; thence with Rockwell's line northwesterly two hundred feet more or less to property now or formerly of Mrs. Manning; thence southwesterly parallel with said East Second street a distance of fifty feet; thence southeasterly parallel with the first course herein two hundred feet more or less to the westerly side line of East Second street; thence along said line of East Second street northeasterly fifty feet to the beginning.

OFFICE OF THE Street Commissioner.

City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

To unknown owner of No. 924 to No. 928 South Avenue:

Pursuant to the requirements of Sections 3 and 5 of the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks," approved November 10th, 1894, amended by ordinances approved June 3d, 1896, April 10th, 1897, and May 17th, 1897.

You are hereby notified and required, on or before August 31st, 1898, to construct a sidewalk abutting on the premises owned by you, situate Number 924 to Number 928 South Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, Union County, and State of New Jersey, which sidewalk shall be constructed of bluestone flagging, smooth and even on the surface and properly laid in one course under the direction of and on such lines as shall be given by the Street Commissioner, the flags to be not less than four feet long, and not less than two feet wide, and not less than one and one-half inches thick in the thinest part.

In default of compliance herewith, the Common Council are authorized by law to order the required work to be done and paid for: to make the amount of the expense and costs with interest at 10 per cent., a lien on the land; to place the same in your annual tax bills; or to enforce payment by action of any court of competent jurisdiction.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., June 20, 1898.

ANDREW J. GAVETT,
Street Commissioner of the City of Plainfield.

BRITISH SMUGGLERS.

CAVES ON THE COAST WHERE CONTRABAND GOODS WERE STORED.

The Goods Were Stowed Away in the Caverns and Removed Under Cover of the Night—Their Pretended Consideration for the Donkeys.

A very curious feature of the coasts of England, where rocky or wild, is the trenched and banked up paths from the caves along the coast. These are noticeable in Devon and Cornwall and along the Bristol channel. That terrible sea front consists of precipitous walls of rock, with only here and there a dip, where a brawling stream has sawed its course down to the sea, and here there is, perhaps, a sandy shore of diminutive proportions and the rocks around are pierced in all directions with caverns. The smugglers formerly ran their goods into these caves, when the weather permitted, or the preventive men were not on the lookout. They stowed away their goods in the caves and gave notice to the farmers and gentry of the neighborhood, all of whom were provided with numerous donkeys, which were henceforth sent down to the caches, and the kegs and bales were removed under cover of the night or of storm. As an excuse for keeping droves of donkeys it was pretended that the sea sand and the kelp served as admirable dressing for the land, and no doubt so they did. The trains of asses sometimes came up laden with sacks of sand, but not infrequently with kegs of brandy.

Now a wary preventive man might watch too narrowly the proceedings of these trains of asses. Accordingly squires, yeomen and farmers alike set to work to cut deep ways in the face of the downs, along the slopes of the hills, and bank them up so that the whole caravans of laden beasts might travel up and down absolutely unseen from the sea and greatly screened from the land side. Unquestionably the sunken ways and high banks are a great protection against the weather. So they were represented to be, and no doubt greatly were the good folks commended for their consideration for the beasts and their drivers in thus at great cost shutting them off from the violence of the gale. Nevertheless, it can hardly be doubted that concealment from the eyes of the coast guard was sought by this means quite as much, if not more, than the sheltering of the beasts of burden from the weather.

in Belmont, Mass. He was caught in a trap set by Mr. Harbison, a poulterer, whose small chickens had been disappearing at a rate depressing to his thrift.

Instead of walking about in proper four-legged way, the rat hopped from place to place. Investigation showed that its two front legs were missing, and a post-mortem showed that the rat had been born minus forelegs and had to hop his way through all his chicken-eating life.

How the Chinese Do Things.

The Chinese do everything backward. They exactly reverse the usual order of civilization, says the Richmond Christian Advocate.

Note, first, that the Chinese compass points to the south instead of the north.

Men wear skirts, the women trousers.

The men wear their hair long, and the women wear it short.

The men carry on dressmaking, and the women carry burdens.

The spoken language is not written, and the written language is not spoken.

Books are read backward. What we call foot-notes are inserted at the top of the page.

The Chinese dress in white at funerals, and in mourning at weddings, while old women always serve as bridesmaids.

The Chinese launch their vessels sideways, and mount their horses from the off side.

In China the hands of the clocks are immovable; it is the dial that revolves.

Tattooed Royalty.

Foreign gossip says that Queen Olga of Greece has an anchor tattooed on her shoulder as a token of her affection for her father, the late Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, and that Princess Waldmar of Denmark, wife of the sailor son of King Christian, is also marked in like fashion, with the addition of a crown.

Memorial tablets have been placed to mark the headquarters of Prescott and Rochambeau at Newport.

PHRASEOLOGY OF THE SEA.

Some of the Most Familiar Titles and Their Origin.

In the early days of the English naval organizations vessels of war had double crews, a military one for fighting purposes and another of mariners for navigating duties. In consequence, a large number of English sea terms have a military origin.

At that time the rank of admiral was unknown, and the chief officer of the squadron was called a constable, or justice. The term admiral as now used is derived from the Arabic "amir" or "emir," a commander (as in "Amir-al-Bahr," commander of the sea). The early English form was "amiral," and is still preserved as such by the French.

The title of captain is not a naval, but a military one. Originally, the real captain of a ship was a "master." A military officer was placed on board, though he knew nothing of nautical matters. Gradually his importance increased, while that of the master diminished proportionately till at the present day the master's office is gradually becoming obsolete. Commodore comes from the Spanish "comendador."

The title of lieutenant is borrowed directly from the French, and is meant as a place holder, or one who took the place of the captain when absent. In former days there were no cadets but volunteeers, but with the gradual advance of politeness, the term cadet was appropriated from the French.

"Boatswain" is derived from the Saxon "swein," a servant. The term quartermaster, as used in both the army and navy, appears to be confusing and anomalous. In the army it is the title of a commissioned officer who performs important and responsible duties. In the navy he is simply a warrant officer directing subordinate duties. In the old ships and in olden times his position was a more important one; so much so that he was considered to be the fourth part of the master—hence the term quartermaster.

The ship's cook was once a great man and there are instances on record of his being promoted for efficient preparation of food. The ship's steward was originally the caterer.

The terms larboard and starboard come from the Italian "questra borda" and "quelia borda," which by rapid delivery became starboard and larboard; but owing to the strong similarity of sound they were changed into starboard and port (Latin porto, to carry), the use of the terms in the original form having been the cause of many accidents.

Gangway has been handed down from the days of the ancient galley of the Phoenicians, Carthaginians and Romans, it having been a board which ran along the whole length serving as a passage for the rowers to and from their seats. It was also used as a resting place for the mast and sail when not in use.

The cockpit, in the lowest part of the vessel below the water used during an action for the treatment of the wounded, is derived from the old days of the English sport of cock fighting; but this has been modernized and is now known as the "flats"—why, no one can explain.

Lubber is from the Dutch, meaning a lazy, cowardly fellow.

Anchor came from the Latin "anchora," or "ancora," which up to 600 B. C. consisted simply of a large stone with a hole through it.

The peculiarity of so many portions of a ship's rigging bearing names derived from the trappings of a horse can only be accounted for from the fact that the early warships were manned by soldiers as well as sailors, the natural consequence being that they, the sailors, adapted some of their terms to meet their fancy, among these being bridles, whips, bits, stirrups, and the like.

Palm Trees of Cuba.

The little island of Cuba has nearly thirty different varieties of palm trees. Chief among them is the royal palm, a majestic tree with a straight trunk and a bunch of plumelike leaves growing out of the top, the lower ones drooping toward the ground. It is the most common as well as the most beautiful tree in Cuba. It has been called the blessed tree for its every part is useful. Its roots are made into medicines; its trunk is easily split into boards for building. The trunk has no bark and the inside is porous, the outer portion being hard and nearly as brittle as glass.

The center bud at the top of the royal palm tree, from which all the leaves grow, is a tender substance and is a very pleasant food, whether eaten raw, cooked as a vegetable or preserved with sugar. The stems on the long leaves are odd. They are semicircular and embrace the trunk of the tree. The stem is called the yagua and looks like a thin board, is often five or six feet long and the natives make it serve various purposes. Sections cut off serve as plates, or if soaked in warm water it becomes pliable and may be bent in any shape, afterward hardening. Sometimes when thus softened it is folded at the ends like a baker's paper hat, fastened with wooden pins and serves the Cuban farmer as a water bucket, basin or pan. Sometimes the insurgents use one of these improvised dishes as a kettle in which to cook their beef and yams. The water in the dish keeps the wood from burning.

In times of peace the yagua or stem of the palm leaf is used to cover bales of tobacco. Set on a frame it may form a very good bed; again, the yagua is used as a tarpaulin or mackintosh. The Cuban soldiers with a few leaves can build tents for themselves.

AN ELECTRIC CHAPEL.

A VILLAGE CHAPEL LIGHTED WHOLLY BY VACUUM TUBES.

It Was the Star Exhibit at the Recent Electrical Exposition in New York City —The Beauty and Purity of the Light and Perfect Lighting System.

One of the most attractive exhibits at the recent New York electrical exhibition was a chapel lighted entirely by the vacuum tube invented by D. McFarlan Moore. The visitor was introduced into a passageway leading to the chapel, along which Mr. Moore sought to give the pilgrim a five-minute practical course in the applications of electricity. Emerging from a bend in the passage the front of the chapel suddenly loomed up a perfect reproduction of a stone village church, steeple, clock and all. Within was seen the vaulted roof ribbed with veritable arches of light consisting of long curved tubes of glass about two inches in diameter and glowing their entire length with a pure white light. The harmony of the surroundings was everywhere observed. The ear was gratified with melodious strains from a magnificent pipe organ, which filled the far end of the chapel behind the altar fully equipped, even to the lectern. The tube arches sprang from pilasters, each capped with a highly polished, specially designed brass fixture. They took the form of a crown, while at the apex of the chapel ceiling, where the tube arches met, they were joined by a highly decorated brass cylinder bent at its center. These were the first vacuum tube lighting fixtures ever designed, and are a striking example of the manner in which Mr. Moore has worked out the thousand and one details of his lighting system. In this connection it should be mentioned that the chapel was wired completely with iron armored conduits. Over the rear door in colored vacuum tubes was the inscription: "Let There Be Light." The photograph which served as the original for the accompanying illustration was taken entirely by the light from the vacuum tubes.

THE LIGHTED CHAPEL.

The Very Oddest Hobby.

Probably the strangest hobby in the world is that of Henry Woolridge of Mayfield, Ky., who devotes all his money and time to developing his plot in the local cemetery in a way which is as grotesque as it is, happily, original. His first modest and laudable effort was to erect a plain monument to mark the family resting place. Not satisfied with this, however, he added to it a white marble shaft bearing on its face a relief presentment of himself on horseback.

Having thus struck the personal note, "Uncle Henry," as he is familiarly called, had a life-sized statue of himself erected at a cost of $1,000. He then introduced statues of his mother and eldest brother, to be followed shortly by similar statues in Indiana limestone of a favorite niece and of a young girl who had brought him flowers during an illness.

His next ambition was to see himself on horseback, and the family gathering was augmented by a life-size statue of "Uncle Henry" on his favorite horse. Then followed presentments in stone of his favorite deerhound, "Tow Head," chasing a deer; another of a fox pursued by his foxhound, "Bob," and a marble sarcophagus with a carved representation of his favorite gun.

The latest additions have been statues of three of his brotuers in the stiffest poses and the most prosaic of dress. As "Uncle Henry," although 75 years old, is still hale and more enthusiastic than ever, it is certain that this strange menagerie will receive many more additions before he sleeps in the oddest environment with which eccentricity ever surrounded a dead man.

Where Wives Are in Demand.

Wives are wanted in Rhodesia. The British South Africa Company is anxious for active colonization. For many years the Chartered Company has discountenanced marriage among the mounted police, civil servants and other employes, a measure for which Cecil Rhodes, whose misogynist views are well known, has been held responsible. But this policy has been entirely reversed, and an edict has gone forth among the Chartered Company's officials promising that preference in promotion will be given to married men and advising all who can do so to enter forthwith into the bonds of matrimony.

Wonder of a Volcanic Isle.

One of the greatest wonders of Java, "the fire island," a large lake of boiling mud, is situated almost in the plains of Grobogana, some distance to the northeast of Solo. It is nearly two miles in circumference, and in the center immense columns of soft, hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling, like great black timbers thrust forth and then suddenly withdrawn by a giant's hand. Besides the phenomena of the columns, there are two gigantic bubbles near the western edge, which fill up like huge balloons and explode on an average three times per minute.

SOME WAR STORIES.

To Fire Hearts With Ardor of Patriotism and the Love of Country.

Nothing so fires the youthful heart with the ardor of patriotism and the love of country as stories of adventure by flood and field in defense of the fatherland.

The "piping times of peace," which this nation has enjoyed during a third of a century, made the American people almost forget the gallant deeds of their brave sailor boys in the days when only wooden walls were between them and the death-dealing missiles of the enemy. Now that the lowering brow of grim-visaged war once more threatens the land, the petty struggles of political strife are cast aside and the country again turns to its navy to protect its shores from invasion and its honor from insult.

When the frigate United States was lying in the harbor of Norfolk, some time anterior to the war of 1812, a little boy in petticoats was in the habit of accompanying his mother, a poor woman, who frequently visited the ship to wash for some of the crew. The lad, whose name was John Kreamer, soon became a favorite with the sailors and it was determined by them, if his mother would consent, to adopt him as the ship's mascot. War was subsequently declared against Great Britain and the frigate sailed upon a cruise, in which she captured the Macedonian. As the two vessels were approaching each other, Commodore Decatur noticed that little Jack appeared anxious to speak to him. "What do you want?" said Decatur. Jack coolly answered that "he had come to ask that his name might be enrolled on the ship's books." "For what purpose?" said the Commodore. "Because," replied Jack, "I want to draw my share of the prize-money." Decatur was pleased with the boy's confident expectation of victory, and immediately gave orders to have Jack's name registered; and when the prize-money allowed by Congress was distributed the youngster received his share. After that he was an object of special interest to the Commodore, and as soon as his age justified his application for a midshipman's warrant it was made and promptly complied with. Little Jack was with Decatur in the President when she was captured, and in the Guerriere in the expedition to Algiers. He afterward sailed in the Franklin with Commodore Stewart to the Pacific Ocean. That was his last cruise, as he was upset from one of the ship's boats by a sudden squall in the harbor of Valparaiso and sunk to the bottom before any assistance could be afforded.

During the bombardment of Tripoli Capt. Stephen Decatur boarded a Tripolitan gunboat to avenge the death of his brother, Lieut. James Decatur, who had been treacherously shot by a Tripolitan commander. On boarding the enemy's vessel Decatur attacked the Tripolitan, who was armed with spear and cutlass. In the contest, which for a time appeared doubtful, an American sailor named Reuben James saw a Tripolitan officer aim a blow at Decatur's head while the latter was struggling with his opponent. The blow would have proved fatal had not the generous and fearless James, who had been deprived of the use of both his hands by severe wounds, rushed between the sabre and his commander and received the blow on his own head, by which his skull was badly fractured. In the meantime Decatur, whose sword had broken at the hilt, seized his enemy's spear, and after a violent struggle succeeded in throwing him to the deck. The Turk now drew a dirk, and when in the act of striking Decatur caught his arm, drew a pistol from his pocket and shot him through the head.

Immediately after the declaration of the last war with England Elbert Anderson, of Troy, where he purchased a large quantity of provisions. The inspectors for the Government were Ebenezer and Samuel Wilson. The latter was more familiarly known as "Uncle Sam," and he superintended the work in person. On this occasion a large number of workmen were employed in overhauling the provisions purchased by the contractor for the army. The casks were marked E. A., U. S. This work fell to the lot of a facetious fellow in the employ of the Messrs. Wilson, who, on being asked by some of his fellow-workmen the meaning of the mark (for the letters "U. S." for United States were then almost entirely new to them), said "Uncle Sam" Wilson. The joke took among the workmen, and "Uncle Sam" himself being present, he was occasionally rallied by them on the increasing extent of his possessions. Many of the workmen soon followed the recruiting drum to the war, and their old joke on "Uncle Sam" Wilson accompanied them and gained favor rapidly until "Uncle Sam" was finally recognized as the materialization, in name at least, of the American Government. It was regarded, even in those days, as very odd that this silly joke, which originated in the midst of beef, pork, pickle, salt and other edibles, should be the foundation of what eventually became the national sognomen.

Was About Time.

"Now, my son," began the father, the next morning.

"Never mind the lecture, pop; didn't you ever paint the town?"

"Well, my boy, it's a great many years ago; at least fifty."

"Fifty years, pop! Don't you think the town needed another coat?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Average Height.

The average height of the French woman is 5ft. 1in. The American women are nearly 2in. taller, and the women of Great Britain ½in. taller than their American sisters.

SPORTING.

Little Michael is to visit France at the close of the present season in this country, according to a French cycle paper.

Cycling, in moderation, will not have a bad effect on a weak heart, but violent riding will often produce heart disease.

A Wisconsin paper describes a five-mile cycle path that was built for $50 a mile. It is six feet wide and said to be never muddy.

There are about 650 cycle manufacturers in England, and it is computed that they are turning out no less than 2,050 different brands of wheels.

If your foot slips on your pedals try a little powdered resin on the sole of the shoe. Better still, endeavor to improve your ankle action in pedalling.

The new High School building in Detroit has been fitted with a regular cycle room large enough to contain 300 wheels. Many of the pupils ride a considerable distance to their lessons.

"There will be so much cycle racing, and it will be so expensive to carry on this year," says an old hand at the game, "that it is probable none of the racing associations will make money."

A squad of young people from New Brunswick rode here yesterday and took dinner at McVey's. They went on to Elizabeth after dinner and returned home by way of Rahway.

Ray Poole, who won the road race Thursday night, has proved himself a careful young rider. He showed a pretty burst of speed and held his own well, showing good judgment through the race. He has the making of a fast road rider and, if he keeps up as well as he has done so far, he will make a good record for himself.

There was a great deal of talking done before Lister's road race Thursday evening as regards who was going to win, and the final result was considerably off from that previously announced by many of those who were claiming to be so well posted. It was only another evidence of the advisability of waiting until after the race to do much talking.

Tonight, if the weather is fair, the bicycle squad of the Park Avenue Baptist church will take a ride to Metuchen. The squad will meet in front of the church at 8 o'clock, and will be in charge of the captain, Frank Clarkson. This is the first ride of the cycling squad, and a large attendance at the starting place is desired—only those with an intention of riding, however.

Fred Letson, the young New Brunswick rider, who took part in Thursday's race, was considered one the fastest men in the entry list. He did not ride up to his usual form, however, but laid back with Peter Simmonds, Plainfield's fast colored rider, and consequently lost all show for the time prize. All the scratch men seemed to forget that they had a big field to catch, but simply watched each other and thus lost what show they had to get well up in the finish.

CENTRAL'S LOSS $200,000.

Arrangements Made to Provide Work for 400 Men.

The big fire Saturday at the Central Railroad shops, Elizabethport, will prove more serious than at first supposed. With the exception of the round-house, the vital part of the plant is destroyed.

Division Master Mechanic Hoffacker said yesterday that of the 550 men employed, probably 400 would be put to work today. All the buildings left will be used.

The company owns a large tract of land west of the Newark Bay bridge at Elizabethport, and on this it is thought the new shops will be built.

The loss by Saturday's fire will amount to $200,000.

Did Not Ill Treat His Wife.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nolan, of 907 West Third street, desire to contradict a rumor that Mr. Nolan was ill-treating his wife last Saturday afternoon. The facts are that Mrs. Nolan has and is very ill, and Saturday afternoon she was taken with hysteria and she screamed considerable. This attracted the attention of people in the vicinity, and a report was circulated that Mr. Nolan was abusing his wife. As a result Mr. Nolan has been laid off the street railway pending an investigation. Dr. Zeglio is attending Mrs. Nolan.

TRAP SHOOTING LEAGUE.

MEN OF SURE AIM AND STEADY NERVE ORGANIZE.

Result of the Meeting Held at George Thatcher's Road House—Events are Arranged for Months of July and August.

"The Maples," George Thatcher's popular road house at Fanwood, was thronged Saturday by a crowd of sporting men from all over the State. The occasion was the opening shoot of the Climax Gun Club, and the organization of a league composed of trap shooting clubs in the central part of the State.

The sporting men first had a lunch served at the hotel by Mine Host Thatcher, after which the time until 6 o'clock was spent at the traps. Sweepstake shooting, doubles, a club shoot and a team race for twenty targets between seven men representing the Climax Club and the Dunellen Club took up all the time.

Some good records were made, but as most of the men were out of practice a few very poor scores were shown. Captain Money, from South Jersey, who has a reputation for trap shooting all over the State, put up some good scores, getting 17 out of 20 targets in the team race, and 22 out of 25 in the club shoot.

In the contest for doubles, when two birds were released at once, Captain Money twice in succession pulled down eight birds out of a possible ten. Tom Keller and "Dutchy" Smith were in pretty good trim. Lindzey and Neaf Apgar, the former from Dunellen, made good records.

The meeting for the organization of a shooting league was an impromptu affair. It was unanimously agreed to organize, and the name of the Central New Jersey Trap Shooting League was adopted, with J J. Lindzey, of Dunellen, president; Thomas Keller, of this city, vice-president; and Eugene Tingley, of Bound Brook, secretary and treasurer.

So far the only clubs in the league are the Dunellen, Bound Brook and Climax, but more are expected to join, and in this way the interest in trap shooting, which has been gradually dying out, will be revived again A schedule of shoots are arranged as follows: July 30 there will be a shoot at Dunellen; August 13 at Bound Brook, and August 27 at Thatcher's. There will be a shoot every other Saturday through the warm weather, and a new schedule will probably be drawn later in the season. There will be trophies put up, and an effort made to bring the sport up to its former high standard.

The scores are as follows:

Team race, 20 targets, between the Climax Gun Club and Dunellen.

GLASER ACQUITTED.

He Did Not Throw a Bottle, But it Fell Off the Table.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 18—Theodore Glaser, who was arrested last week upon complaint of William Eastman, his hired man, who charged him with assault and battery, had a hearing this morning before Justice Storms, and was acquitted. Glaser was represented by William G. De Meza, of Plainfield.

Eastman, who was Glaser's hired man, claims that Glaser found fault with him last Saturday because he was out such a long time with the wagon gathering fat and hides for Glaser. It was shown at the hearing that a bottle, with which Eastman said Glaser struck him, was knocked off the table by accident. Tonight at 7 o'clock Eastman, who was arrested later upon complaint of Glaser, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, will have a hearing before Justice Mosher, of Plainfield.

Woman Sixty Years Old was Drunk.

An old woman, who appeared to be about 60 years of age, was ejected from a Front street saloon this morning, and seating herself an the curbstone began to lament her wrong in pathetic wails. She was intoxicated, and was soon run in by Officer McCue. She will have trial tomorrow morning.

At the Adventist's Tent.

A large audience attended the Adventist tent on Somerset street and Linden avenue and heard a discourse on the subject of the "Home of the Saved." The speaker showed from the Bible that we as Christians were to be partakers of the promises to Abraham through Christ. These promises involved possession of the earth made new and were in harmony with the Sermon on the Mount, Matt. 5:5, and with Peter's and John's writings, 2 Peter, 3:10 13; Rev. 21:1-4. During this week these subjects will be presented. Tuesday, "The United States as noticed in Prophecy." The rest of the week the Sabbath question will be considered, and Sunday night "Who Changed the Sabbath."

CHANDLER'S MISTAKE.

He Displayed a Corkscrew Among Garfield's Constituents.

Senator Zach Chandler, of Michigan, was found dead in his room at the Grand Pacific Hotel, in Chicago, on November 2, 1879. That year was the the first time that Charles Foster ran for Governor in Ohio, and Chandler made a series of speeches throughout the State during the campaign.

Just a month prior to the day he died he spoke in the little town of Chardon, in the northeastern part of the State. Judge Edmunds, of Vermont, then a United States Senator, was announced to speak with Chandler, but he did not put in an appearance, so Chandler and General Garfield—it was in Garfield's district—addressed the meeting, which was a big one.

There was no building in the town large enough to hold the crowd that gathered, so a rough platform was built on the east side of the Court House in the public square. In the course of his speaking Chandler brought out his jack-knife, opened it and placed it across his notes on the table to prevent a brisk October wind from blowing them away.

He was followed by Garfield, and at the close of the meeting a crowd of the country folk called at the hotel to meet the distinguished guest. Garfield knew them all, and introduced them one by one to Chandler. The Michigan Senator asked numerous questions about the farmers, their social conditions, etc. He learned, among other things, that the people of the county prided themselves on their unrelenting antipathy to intemperance. One man regretted that the Michigan Senator could not be present some time at one of their Sunday evening temperance meetings.

After the crowd had dispersed Chandler turned to Garfield and said:

"Say, Garfield, why didn't you tell me something about your constituents?"

"Didn't I tell you that they were the best people you would find in the country?" Garfield retorted.

"Yes, but you didn't say anything about their being such fierce temperance folk."

"Well, I may have forgotten that, but you have found it out for yourself."

"Yes, and your forgetfulness has ruined my reputation."

"How so?"

"During all the time I was speaking my jack-knife, with the corkscrew opened, was in full sight of the audience, and you never said a word. It's too late now. I shall never dare look your constituents in their faces again."—Philadelphia Ledger.

JOSEPH BONAPARTE'S DAUGHTER.

The Princess Charlot Spent Many Happy Months in America.

Queen Julie never joined her husband, Joseph Bonaparte, the fugitive King of Spain, in this country, but late in 1821 their daughter, the vivacious young Princess Charlotte, determined to console her father in his exile. She arrived at Philadelphia in the ship Ruth and Mary, commanded by Captain Mickle. The ship's wharf was covered with a crowd anxious to see her. Only nineteen years old, of highly animated temperament and delighted at the ending of the forty days' voyage, the young girl was in an ecstacy of pleasure. She waved her fur bonnet at the persons on the wharf with such careless delight that it fell from her hands over the ship's rail and into the river. In her transport of enthusiasm she snatched Captain Mickle's hat fom his head, gayly placed it on her own, and saluted her admirers anew.

Joseph was highly pleased with Charlotte, whom he had not seen since she was thirteen, and tried to give her as much compensation as he could for the pleasures of the continental life she had left behind. He took her to Long Branch and Saratoga, but he soon discovered that her chief taste was for painting. At the old gallery of the Academy of the Fine Arts in Philadelphia were exhibited several studies and landscapes from her brush.—Ladies' Home Journal.

LIABLE TO BE RESTRICTED.

The Privileges that American Wheelmen Have in Europe.

The privileges of American wheelmen in Europe are likely to be considerably curtailed.

It seems that English and American members of the Touring Club de France, who go cycling in Italy, are allowed to take their wheels in free of duty, on presenting their cards of membership.

Each wheelman receives, at the frontier, a pass good for six months, which he is to give up on leaving the country. The Touring Club becomes responsible for each tourist so doing, and if the pass is not turned in within the six months it has to pay about 50 francs duty on the careless member's wheel.

There are 2,000 English members of the club, and so many of them have involved it in expense through simple heedlessness by not returning their passes, that there is danger that the guarantee may be withdrawn altogether.

In that case the many thousands of French members, as well as a considerable number of American ones, will have to pay duty on their wheels when entering Italy, getting it back when leaving the country.

At present members of the L. A. W. are readily admitted to membership in the French Touring Club, and the privilege is a much appreciated convenience so far from home. It would be a pity to lose any of the advantages through insular boorishness.—New York World.

PROPOSALS FOR ERECTING FIRE ENGINE HOUSE.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, adopted July 5, 1898, notice is hereby given that the Committee on Fire and Buildings will meet on Friday, July 29, 1898, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Chief Engineer's Office, Fire Department Headquarters, on East Second Street, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Committee will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the construction of a new fire engine house to be erected on property formerly owned by Elston M. French, on West Fourth Street, opposite Darrow Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, according to the plans and specifications prepared by Edward V. French, Architect, and now on file and open to the inspection of bidders in the office of the City Clerk, No. 109 Park Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., the work to be completed on or before December 1, 1898.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the said committee will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the committee.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $300, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield. Copies of the plans and specifications may be had upon application to Fire Headquarters on East Second street.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the said committee.

All proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for fire engine house."

WRECK OF A WOMAN ASKED TO GO TO JAIL.

White Haired and Past Three Score She is Homeless.

ARRESTED WHILE DRUNK.

REQUESTED JUDGE DEMEZA TO SEND HER TO JAIL FOR A MONTH.

Judge Pitied Her and was Going to Let Her Go When She Made the Strange Request—Her Life Has Been One of Dissipation—The Offender Has Been in Jail Many Times Before.

All sorts of coarse oaths issued from between her toothless gums. Her scanty white locks flowed about her head in unkempt fashion, and she looked what she was, a helpless wreck on the tide of humanity. It was yesterday noon. Twice she had been put out of J. A. Blatz's saloon and told not to return. Then she sat out on the curb and cursed.

It was there that Patrolman McCue found her, and dispersing the crowd that had congregated, attracted by her cries and screams, took her to the lock-up where she spent the night in the damp white-washed cell.

This morning she was the only prisoner to be haled before City Judge DeMeza. The Judge pitied the wreck of womanhood and was inclined to be lenient. Apparently, she was sixty or sixty-five years of age. A hard life, filled with dissipation, showed its traces in the wrinkled face and the sunken eyes. An old shabby calico gown, whose original colored had long since faded into a dingy brown, was half hidden by an old black shawl that she wrapped tightly about her.

She hadn't any excuse, she said. Didn't have any home, just lived out. Had been living in Skillman lately. Yes, she had been in Somerville jail several times, she did not remember how many.

The Judge's questioning elicited the fact that her name was Mrs. Mary Fleming, a widow, and that she had one son living in the west somewhere.

"Don't you think he'd be proud of you?" asked the Judge. She heard the question but made no answer. Apparently, she did not care but gazed about the stuffy little court room.

The Judge did not want to commit such an old grey-haired woman to jail. So he asked "What will you do if I let you go?"

"Judge," began the prisoner, drawing her shawl closer about her withered form, "I've got the rheumatism bad. If you'll send me up for 30 days, your honor, I won't object. I have got the rheumatism so bad." And she reiterated the statement again and again.

"Well, I'll accommodate you," remarked the Judge. "Make it thirty days." And the prisoner hobbled back to her cell.

This afternoon she was escorted to the Elizabeth jail by Chief Grant.

MARRIED TO A MINISTER.

Miss Bertha Rockfellow Becomes the Wife of Rev. W. O. Thomas.

This morning at 10 o'clock Rev. H. W. McKane, pastor of the First Church of Christ, united in matrimony the former pastor of the Christian church, Rev. W. O. Thomas, who is now pastor of a church in Danesville, Ohio, and Miss Bertha Rockfellow, of 195 North avenue.

The wedding was a very quiet one, the ceremony being witnessed by only a few friends and relatives of the couple. The bride was dressed in white, trimmed with long point lace. The couple left soon after the ceremony had been performed for Danesville, where they will reside.

Rev. Mr. Thomas was pastor of the Christian church in this city for about a year, leaving the last of August, '97. While here he made Miss Rockfellow's acquaintance, and become infatuated with her at once. After a year's absence he returned and made her his wife.

Trolley Accidents in Dunellen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 19—The first accident in the borough caused by the laying the trolley tracks occurred last evening, when Councilman Wilcox was riding his wheel over the newly-laid rails at the Washington avenue crossing. The front wheel was turned insideout and was completely wrecked. Mr. Wilcox walked home pushing his wheel with difficulty. Another casualty happened to Edward Taylor, who was overcome by the heat yesterday afternoon while surveying for the trolley. He was taken home and today is doing very well.

EASTON WAS RELEASED.

JUSTICE MOSHER DECIDED THAT THE COMPLAINT WAS DEFCTIVE.

Theodore Glaser Had No Right to Become the Plaintiff—Prosecution Must Remain With Crane & Mundy.

Two dollars and a yard and a half of bologna sausage were too much for William Easton Saturday night, July 9th. He went into Crane & Mundy's butcher shop on West Front street, and drew $2 which was charged to Theodore Glaser, a fat and hide dealer. Easton worked for Glaser, and Mr. Mundy, from whom Easton got the money, thought it was for Glaser, who had an account there and often sent his man there on a similar errand.

It seems that Easton was drunk that night, according to the evidence last night when he was arraigned before Justice Mosher charged by Glaser with obtaining money under false pretenses, and did not fully understand the nature of his action.

After obtaining the $2 he purchased a long piece of bologna sausage, ate that, and spent the rest of the money for rum.

A few days afterwards Glaser went into the butcher shop, and seeing $2 charged up against him, wanted to know what it was for. He said he knew nothing about the matter.

The case came up for a hearing last night. Glaser was present with his witness, and testified to the fact that Easton had falsely represented things when he drew the $2. Easton had retained Counsellor William K. McClue, who was obliged to be present, so William Sweeny, his clerk appeared in behalf of the prisoner, and handled the case so well that the Justice dismissed the complaint against Easton without the defendant's producing any witnesses for himself.

The defendant's counsel demanded the release of his client on the grounds that Glaser was not the proper person to bring the charge, as Crane & Mundy were the party who were out by the transaction, and so the Justice ruled. Easton was released, but it is said that another complaint will be drawn up against the man today, this time by the proper persons.

Easton, on the other hand, threatens to bring an action against Glaser for false imprisonment, and the trouble between these two, employer and employee, seems far from being settled.

WOKE UP TO SEE A BURGLAR.

A. E. Bushnell Saw a Man's Face Peering Through a Transom.

A. E. Bushnell, who lives in one of the flats over Rockfellow's grocery store on Park avenue, was awakened last night about midnight by the turning of the handle to the door to his bedroom. Looking up, his eyes caught sight of a rough face peering in at him through the transom over the door. It was a burglar, and Mr. Bushnell didn't stop to get a better view of him, but running to the window gave the alarm, and in a short time had three policemen rummaging through the rooms in a vain search for the intruder.

Officer Lunger answered the alarm. He was called by John Randolph, who works for A. M. Runyon & Son, across the street. John was sitting on the piazza of the undertaking establishment at the time and heard Mr. Bushnell's shouts. Lunger whistled for help, and Warden Tom Martin answered the call. Soon after Sergeant Kiely came up, and all three made a thorough search of the house and the grounds in the rear without success.

Randolph said that he had heard some one scramble off the rear piazzas of the flat just before Mr. Bushnell called for an officer.

This morning nothing was found missing in the house.

Saved a Boy From Being Killed.

Last Sunday evening at the Netherwood railroad station, Brakeman John VanMiddlesworth, of the local Dunellen train, which was on its way home, saved the life of a small boy. VanMiddlesworth caught the lad just in time to prevent him from going under the wheels. The train was pulling out from the station when the boy tried to jump. He refused to tell his name or anything about himself.

Dispute About a Bill.

An interesting case will be tried in Justice Nash's court next Monday. The parties are A. B. Thorn, of Somerset street, and Dave Miodovnik, of West Front street. The demand is for about $70 which Thorn claims for putting up a heating apparatus and boiler in Dave's barber shop. The case promises to be a lively one because of the intention of both parties to fight the matter out to the end.

The engagement is announced of Miss Oleava Male and Wm. H. Rose, both of this city. The marriage ceremony is to take place Sept. 28th.

TO BOMBARD SAN JUAN.

Sampson's Powerful Fleet to Move at Once.

ADVANCE GUARD SAILS.

MILES HAS INFANTRY AND ARTILLERY ON THE YALE.

Fifteen Thousand Men To Be on the Sea By Nightfall—San Juan Will Be Bombarded During This Week if All Goes Well.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 19, 12:40 p. m.—The administration means to have no delay in the departure of the Porto Rican expedition. Gen. Miles, with the advance guard, has already left the vicinity of Santiago and is lying off Guantanamo in the auxiliary cruiser Yale with ten thousand men and four light batteries.

He would have sailed direct to Porto Rico last night but for the delay in the orders which was due to the fault of the messenger. He will soon be joined by a strong convoy under Admiral Sampson which sailed this morning from Santiago.

Gen. Shafter's protest against sending any of the army at Santiago to Porto Rico has been heeded here. The men now at Santiago will be sent north again to recuperate while fresh troops will compose the expedition.

The army of invasion will be composed of some forty thousand men. Gen. Miles will be in command and will have Gens. Brooke and Coppinger as seconds. Four thousand men on transports at Baiquiri and two regiments of regulars with Miles form the advance guard that has started.

Sixty-two hundred men have already boarded transports at Tampa and are ready to sail. Seven thousand troops, including a lot of light and heavy artillery, infantry and calvary, with several troops of the Rough Riders, are now at Tampa and ready to accompany the second expedition.

The troops of the Rough Riders will join the main body of that regiment which will be the only one now at Santiago to go to Porto Rico.

The Second, also the Sixty-ninth New York Volunteers are scheduled to go to the front. The transports Massachusetts, Michigan and Roumania, now at New York, received orders this afternoon to clear for Newport News.

Tampa is to receive a contingent of troops for the first expedition. Secretary Alger says that more than fifteen thousand troops will be embarked on the sea by nightfall.

By the end of the week, Sampson will have bombarded San Juan, after which he will cover the landing of the army of invasion.

The invasion will be so powerful that Porto Rico will capitulate without making it necessary to strike a blow. The assault, if found necessary by the land forces, will not take place for ten days.

The Prisoners.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 19, 1:45 p. m.—A despatch from Gen. Shafter says that a list of prisoners had been handed in by Gen, Toral yesterday. The prisoners number 22,750.

INCREASED VALUATION.

PLAINFIELD'S TAXABLE PROPERTY IS $8,000,000.

Increase Over Last Year is $35,000—Total Valuation in the County is $39,023,000, an Increase of $1,047,500.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 19—The assessors of the county met in the court room yesterday to fix the valuations and tax assessments in the wards and townships.

All the districts were represented, and there were also in attendance Captain J. Frank Hubbard, of Plainfield, director of the board of Chosen Freeholders; County Collector Wood, Sheriff Kirk, Comptroller Carlton and other officials.

The total valuation in the county is $39,023,000, an increase over last year of $1,047,500. The increased valuation in Elizabeth is about $200,000; in Westfield, $198,000, and in Plainfield, $350,000. The increase in the other cities and towns is slight, some smaller than was anticipated.

PLAINFIELD.

BY TALLY-HO.

Coach "Independent" to Run Between New Brunswick and Plainfield.

Arrangements have been made for the running of a tally-ho coach from New Brunswick to Netherwood and return twice a week. The road coach, "Independent," will be used and the first trip will be made today. The tally-ho route is under the management of Alexander McC. Hardenburgh, of New Brunswick. The coach will start from New Brunswick Tuesday and Friday until further notice, leaving the Mansion House at 9 a. m. The return trip will leave Netherwood at 4:30 p. m., reaching New Brunswick about 6:30 p. m.

Can't Work Together.

Two butchers employed in Fred Endress' meat market on West Front street got into a quarrel yesterday afternoon which resulted in one man getting badly hurt about the head and face. William Stuber was one of the clerks and Charles Muser the other. Muser claims that Stuber assaulted him and had him arrested. Stuber will have a hearing this afternoon before Justice Mosher.

The Debele Creamery.

William Debele, of 113 Somerset street, owing to the large increase in his business has leased the store, 127 B. West Front street, in the new Voehl building, and has opened there under the name of "Debele's Creamery." He has spared no expense in fitting up the interior of the store. Mr. Debele is ready to supply the public with fresh milk and cream, both wholesale and retail. He will continue his place of business on Somerset street and use the Front street store as a branch.

SANTIAGO IS QUIET.

American Transports Enter the Santiago Harbor.

STORES OPEN IN CITY.

STATE OF TEXAS LANDS SUPPLIES UNDER GUARD.

Spanish Army Soon to Start for Spain—Tug to Assist Wreckers—City in Healthy Condition But Very Dirty and Filthy.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, July 18, via Playa del Este, July 19, 1:16 p. m—The quiet continues. The American flag floats over Morro Castle while the Red Cross emblems are displayed promiscuously all over the city.

But few of the citizens are left in the city, but it does not seem to be in a bad plight. Most of the stores are now open but the patrons are few. There are many beggars in evidence. There seems to be considerable suffering among the better classes.

An American guard has been placed over the landing of the supplies from the Red Cross steamer, State of Texas. There is no evidence of gloom. Filth is noticeable every where, nevertheless the city is in a healthy condition.

Yesterday afternoon a number of American transports, fully dressed in bunting and flags, entered the harbor making an imposing appearance. They were greeted by the Spanish inhabitants with laughter and cheering.

The Spanish troops will soon be embarked for transportation home. The government tug Potomac has arrived to assist in raising the wrecks of the Spanish warships. The long bridge at Aquadores has been replaced.

MAUSERS TO BE USED.

Captured Spanish Guns Will Go to Arm American Troops.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Wasington, July 19, 1:22 p. m—The Ordnance Bureau is considering what use to put the large quantity of arms and ammunition, fortification guns and ordnance stores surrendered at Santiago.

The captured Mauser rifles will be put in order for use by the American army. Some twenty thousand old antiquated guns mounted in the forts along the shore are useless and will probably be brought to the United States as souvenirs.

PELAYO DAMAGED.

Disabled by Internal Explosion Off the Coast of Tunis.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Marseilles, France, July 19, 12:05 p. m.—It is reported that Camara's fleet has been sighted off the coast of Tunis. An explosion occurred on the battleship Pelayo there. The ship was so badly damaged that it was necessary to have a cruiser tow her into port.

CAIMANERA SURRENDERED

The Spanish Flag Hauled Down There Yesterday.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Camp McCalla, July 18, via Playa del Este, July 19, 2:30 p. m—A launch from the Marblehead went up the bay this afternoon to Vertcaya del Tora, opposite Caimanera, and gave formal notice to the Spanish Commander of the surrender of Gen. Gen. Toral's troops, together with the conditions

ECHO OF A BIG BURGLARY

DETECTIVE BLACKFORD WANTS $200 FROM MRS. H. W. MARSHALL.

Claims That He Was Employed at $10 a Day for Twenty Days to Trace Out the Robber Who Got Her Jewelry.

Five months have now elapsed since James Duncan Smedberg, the man who stole Mrs. Harry W. Marshall's jewels, was released from the Elizabeth County Jail, having served a sentence of six months, lacking one day for the offense, and Plainfield people have begun to forget the crime and its consequent and dramatic finish.

The famous case is about to be brought again to mind by a suit started by Central Railroad Detective John L. Blackford, who was retained in the case to hunt down the thief, and who sues for $200, the sum claimed by him for his services between July 6th and 26th.

This burglary occurred the latter part of June, 1897. While Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, who reside on East Fifth street, were out wheeling, some one entered their house and rifled it of jewelry to the value of $ 00.

Blackford claims that he was retained on the case at $10 a day. A reward was offered by Mrs. Marshall for the return of the jewels. Blackford does not sue for the reward, but for services rendered for 20 days at $10 a day, which amounts to $200.

It is understood that $27 was paid Blackford for his expenses, etc., and Mrs. Marshall has agreed to pay him a balance of $50. This Blackford refuses and brings suit for the full amount.

In the search for the jewels Mrs. Marshall joined, and it was through her efforts that the charm was found in a sewer trap in a Newark apartment house. Blackford, while not claiming all the credit for the detection of the thief and the recovery of the jewels, says that he first put the Marshalls on track of the man, and it was through his skill that the thief and jewels were recovered.

Blackford is represented by Counselor W. S. Angleman. Friday, July 29th, is the day set for trial, and the case will be heard before Justice Nash at 10 o'clock.

OLD GLORY UNFURLED.

Enthusiastic Flag Raising at Pine Grove Farm.

Despite the oppressive weather last evening there was about one hundred people who gathered on the spacious lawn at Pine Grove Farm, the summer home of Miss Carrie Debele and Mrs. Bailey, of Philadelphia, and watched with interest the exercises attendant to the raising of a handsome American flag, a present to Miss Debele and Mrs. Bailey by William Debele, of Somerset street.

The exercises took place at 7:30 and were of a very interesting character. Rev. Mr. McKane on behalf of Mr. Debele, presented the flag, and Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Retormed church, accepted the flag on behalf of Miss Debele and Mrs. Bailey. Whilliam Debele, the donor, raised the flag on the pole provided for the occasion.

As the flag was raised, Miss Nellie Winkler presiding at the piano started the hymn, "The Star Spangled Banner," and the guests joined in the singing. Then there was the burning of colored fires and the explosion of large firecrackers, all of which gave the event a decided tone of patriotism. Inside of the large flag there were a number of smaller ones, and as the large emblem was unfurled there was a scramble for the small flags.

In the serving of refreshments the hostess was ably assisted by Miss May Hall, Miss Margaret Heritage, Miss Ella Senn, Miss Laura Cook, Miss Minnie Cook, Miss Emma Steel and Miss Nellie Hall, all of Philadelphia, who are guests at the farm.

BELABORED WITH A BED SLAT.

Colored Relatives Air Their Troubles in City Court.

A bed slat, William Ashby and his brother's wife were the principal characters in a little drama that is to be rehashed at the city court Saturday morning. Yesterday afternoon Ashby was arraigned before Judge DeMeza on the charge of beating his sister in-law with a bed slat. He is accused of having thrown her on the bed and belabored her with the slat. They are colored residents of 152 East Front street. He was arrested by Roundsman Frederickson. He was held for trial Saturday morning.

To Enter a New Business.

ACTED AS JUDGE AND AGENT AT SAME TIME.

Justice Storms Pleaded Guilty to Complaint Against Him.

LIABLE TO PAY FINE OF $25.

SEVERAL LEGAL COMPLICATIONS OUT OF SMALL MATTER.

The Justice Went Contrary to the Advice of His Counsel, W. S. Angleman, Who Was Prepared to Fight the Complatnt—Understood Plaintiff Will Not Demand Payment of Fine.

Claims, cross claims, suits and counter suits have made the life of Justice Storms, of New Market, miserable lately, and yesterday the Justice partially settled his difficulties by pleading guilty in New Brunswick to a charge of trying a case in his court while at the same time he was acting as agent in the case for the plaintiff in the action, and thereby made himself liable to a fine of $25. The Justice did this contrary to the advice of his counsel, Lawyer Angleman, who was prepared to defend his client, and was thunderstruck at the action of the Justice.

Justice Storms' troubles began six weeks ago. R. G. Chase & Co., of Philadelphia, nurserymen, sold Colonel William B. Hayes, of Dunellen, a quantity of fruit trees amounting to about $15.75. The sale was made in April, and in June suit was brought against Hayes by Chase & Company for the payment of the money. June 18th the case was tried before Justice Storms, who rendered judgment for the plaintiff, who was represented by Counsellor Angleman. Harry Cook, of New Brunswick, represented the defendant.

Hayes appealed the case to the Common Pleas, at New Brunswick, and the case will come up again for trial during the next term of court.

This was only the beginning of the legal squabble. Hayes then sued Luther Mundy and L. Pierce, constables, for $50, in tort, for trespassing on his land. This case was tried before Justice Charles W. Sedan, of New Brunswick, June 25th. The suit was dismissed against Perce, and Mundy was ordered to pay Hayes one dollar damages. Lawyer Angleman represented the two defendants, and straightway appealed this case to the Common Pleas, and this, too, will be tried this fall.

Lastly Hayes brought suit against Justice Storms for trying the first case of Chase & Co. against Hayes, while he (Storms) was the company's agent. According to a recent statute a justice is liable to qui damages of $25 for trying a case under those circumstances, the penalty going to the plaintiff.

Justice Storms prepared to fight this case, and retained Lawyer Angleman to defend him. The Justice and his counsel were present in Justice Sedam's court June 27th, when Mr. Angleman made some objections and succeeded in having the case adjourned for two weeks. July 11th it was adjourned to yesterday.

Yesterday Mr. Angleman met Justice Storms outside of the courtroom, found out that his client was ready to proceed, entered the courtroom, and then listened to the Justice plead guilty to the allegation.

It is understood that the Justice and Col. Hayes got together Sunday and decided to patch up the difficulties, the Judge agreeing to plead guilty to the charge if the other would not insist upon the penalty being paid.

The matter is not at rest yet because, after the settlement of the matter just referred to, Col. Hayes made known his intention of suing Mr. Miller, of Newburg, the salesman for Chase & Co., for rent of his ground where the trees, which are the root of the litigation, are planted. He wants $50 a month rent. Thus three cases have been tried already for the paltry sum of $15, and the end is not yet.

Justice Storms' action in the matter, where he is charged with being the agent for Chase & Co., is said to amount to very little. The Justice sent Col. Hayes a note in which he told him that the claim of $15.75 had been put in his hands for collection.

A Bicycle Party.

Mrs. James E. Kimball, of Park avenue, gave a bicycle party Saturday evening to a number of her friends. There were thirty in the party. After a spin out Mountain avenue the guests spent the remainder of the evening at Mrs. Kimball's home playing games. Refreshments were served.

CUBAN PROCLAMATION

President McKinley Issues a Message for their Guidance.

A GUARANTEE OF LIBERTY

Instructions to General Shafter How to Govern the Surrendered Territory

Washington, July 19.--A state paper that will mark an epoch in American history was issued last night by direction of President McKinley.

It provides, in general terms, for the government of the surrendered part of the province of Santiago de Cuba, and is the first document of exactly the same kind ever prepared by a president of the United States.

The President's Message.

Executive Mansion,
Washington, July 18.

To the Secretary of War:

Sir: The capitulation of the Spanish forces in Santiago de Cuba, and in the eastern part of the provinct of Santiago and the occupation of the territory by the forces of the United States, render it necessary to instruct the military commander of the United States as to the conduct which he is to observe during the military occupation.

The first effect of the military occupation of the enemy's territory is the severance of the former political relations of the inhabitants, and the establishment of a new political power. Under this changed condition of things, the inhabitants, so long as they perform their duties, are entitled to security in their persons and properties, and in all their private rights and relations.

It is my desire that the inhabitants of Cuba should be acquainted with the purpose of the United States to discharge to the fullest extent its obligations in this regard. It will, therefore, be the duty of the commander of the army of occupation to announce and proclaim in the most public manner that we come not to make war upon the inhabitants of Cuba, nor upon any party or faction among them, but to protect them in their homes, in their employments and in their personal and religious rights.

All persons who, either by active aid or by honest submission, co-operate with the United States in its efforts to give effect to this beneficent purpose, will receive the reward of its support and protection. Our occupation should be as free from severity as possible.

The judges and the other officials connected with the administration of justice, may, if they accept the supremacy of the United States, continue to administer the ordinary law of the land, as between man and man, under the supervision of the American commander-in-chief.

The native constabulary will, so far as may be practicable, be preserved.

The frtedom of the people to pursue their accustomed occupations will be abridged only when it may be necessar yto do so.

While the rule of conduct of the American commander-in-chief will be such as has just been defined, it will be his duty to adopt measures of a different kind, if, unfortunately, the course of the people should render such measures indispensable to the maintenance of law and order. He will then possess the power to replace or expel the native officials in part or altogether, to substitute new courts for those that now exist, or to create such new or supplementary tribunals as may be necessary. In the exercise of these high powers the commander must be guided by his judgment and his experience and a high sense of justice.

One of the most important and most practical problems with which it will be necessary to deal, is that of the treatment of property and the collection and administration of the revenues. It is conceded that all public funds and securities belonging to the government of the country in its own right, and all arms and supplies and other movable property of such government, may be seized by the military occupant and converted to his own use. The real property of the state he may hold and administer, at the same time enjoying the revenues thereof, but he is not to destroy it save in case of military necessity.

All public means of transportation, such as telegraph lines, cables, railways and boats belonging to the state may be appropriated to his use, but unless in case of military necessity, they are not to be destroyed.

All churches and buildings devoted to religious worship and to the arts and sciences, all school houses are, so far as possible, to be protected, and all destruction or intentional defacement of such places, of historical monuments or archives, or of works of science or art, is prohibited, save when required by urgent military necessity.

Private property, whether belonging to individuals or corporations, is to be respected, and can be confiscated only as hereafter indivated. Means of transportation, such as telegraph lines and cables, railways and boats, may, although they belong to private individuals, or corporations, be seized by the military occupants, but, unless destroyed under military necessity, are not to be retained.

While it is held to be the right of the conqueror to levy contributions upon the enemy in their sea ports, towns or provinces which may be in his military possession by conquest, and to apply the proceeds to defray the expenses of the war, this right is to be exercised within such limitations that it may not savor of confiscation. As the result of military occupation, the taxes and duties payable by the inhabitants te the former government become payable to the military occupant, unless he sees fit to substitute for them other rates or fodes of contribution to the expenses of the government. The moneys so collected are to be used for the purpose of paying the expenses of the government under the military occupation, such as the salaries of the judges and the police and for the payment of the expenses of the army.

All ports and places in Cuba which may be in the actual possession of our land and naval forces will be opened to the commerce of all neutral nations, as well as our own, in articles not contraband of war, upon payment of the prescribed rates of duty which may be in force at the time of the importation.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

By order of the Secretary of War.
To H. C. Corbin, Adjutant General.

SPANISH MAUSER RIFLES.

If Superior to Springfields They Will Be Used by Our Men.

Washington, D. C., July 19.--The war department has not yet officially decided what is to be done with the 7,000 Mauser rifles that were given up by the Spaniards at Santiago. General Flagler, chief of the bureau of ordnance has been trying to get a report from his ordnance officer in Santiago, but up to this time has been unable to locate him.

"I fear," said General Flagler, "that it will be found that a large number of the rifles are unfit for service. I have sent orders for my ordnance officer in Cuba to make a thorough examination of the rifles surrendered to us and to report as soon as possible on their condition. We will then determine what to do with them. If it is found that they are superior to the Springfields now in the hands of the volunteers they will take the place of the latter arms."

THE ST. LOUIS IN PORT.

Returns for Coal and Provisions, After Landing Spanish Prisoners.

New York, July 19.--The auxiliary cruiser St. Louis, which carried the Spanish naval prisoners to Portsmouth, N. H., from Santiago, and afterward landed Admiral Cervera and the officers of the Spanish vessels at Annapolis, arrived at this port yesterday and was docked at the American line pier on the North river. The St. Louis will take on coal, provisions, ammunition and ship's stores and will be ready for sea by Friday.

As yet Captain Jasper Goodrich has received no orders, but it is expected that the cruiser will go with the expedition to San Juan, Porto Rico.

At the adjoining pier the cruiser Resolute formerly the passenger steamer Yorktown, is taking on a big supply of ammunition. The Resolute, which will take a number of nurses to Santiago, sailed south in the evening.

THE KLONDIKE OUTPUT.

Placed at $10,000,000 by Returning Miners Who Have Reached Here.

San Francisco, July 19.--The Klondike miners who have returned to civilization on the steamer St. Paul place the total output of the district surrounding Dawson City at about $10,000,000 a season. This is considerably less than previous estimates.

Prospecting is being extended in many directions from Dawson, and there are indications of rich developments along the Indian river. There are about 26,000 people in Dawson City and nearly 3,000 on Eldorado creek.

The steamers Roanoke and Weare soon to come down from St. Michaels, are expected to bring about $2,000,000 in gold. Eldorado creek yielded more than half of the winter's gold, and nearly all the remainder came from Bonanza creek. The output of the Minook district does not exceed $100,000.

THE HAWAIIAN COMMISSION.

Expected to Stay at the Island Until Congress Meets.

Washington, July 19.--Senator Cullom, chairman of the Hawaiian commission, left Washington yesterday with his family for Chicago, from which place he expects to make a short tour of the state before going to Hawaii. The appointments to the staff of the commission have been made, and it is composed largely of employes of the Senate and House of Representatives. The purpose of this was to reduce expenditures, none of those accompanying the party receiving any compensation except the official stenographer.

The senator will sail from San Francisco about August 10, and it is expected that the party will remain in Hawaii until about the time Congress convenes.

DIXIE CAPTURES A PRIZE.

Fired Fifteen Shots at a Blockade Runner.

Key West, July 19.--Another small English vessel arrived here shortly after noon yesterday as a naval prize. She was captured by the converted cruiser Dixie off Cayo Cruz, on the south side of Cuba.

This time it is the sloop Pilgrim, from Jamaica, loaded with provisions, which were intended to run the blockade into Manzanillo.

The Dixie fired fifteen shots at the sloop before she would heave to. A prize master was placed aboard and the sloop was sent here.

The Dixie, after the successful expedition off Santiago province, has continued to cruise to the westward. Another prize vessel is reported coming in from the gulf.

Fire in a Mine.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.--An old fire which has been smoldering from time to time and breaking out at intervals for the past 26 years in the Pennyroyal mine of the Marietta and Stillwagon Coal Company at Connellsville, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, broke out at a brattice wall yesterday and is now raging.

The north end of the town is enveloped in black smoke, which is rolling out of the air shaft and two cave ins in a column fifty feet in diameter and a mile high. Flames at intervals leap up through the black pall.

Deer More Plentiful.

Malone, N. Y., July 19.--Reports received from different sections of the Adirondacks show that the anti-deer hounding law is bringing about most gratifying results. The deer are growing more plentiful, are now often seen on the outskirts of the forest feeding, and are much more easily approached than when hounding was in vogue.

Big War Expenditures.

Washington, July 19.--The bureau of construction and repair is expending a million and a quarter of dollars a month upon repairing and refitting vessels for the war with Spain.

Gen. Duffield Has the Fever.

Washington, July 19.--Brigadier General Duffield, commanding the brigade at Santiago consisting of the Sixth Massachusetts and the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Michigan, is in the hospital at Siboney, sick with yellow fever.

Official information has been received to this effect.

General Duffield is from Detroit, Mich., and is a personal friend of Secretary Alger.

The following telegram was received from Dr. Lagarde regarding the case of General Duffield. It was dated yesterday, but did not come to hand until to-day:

"General Duffield has yellow fover; is at division hospital, but is doing nicely; much better to-day."

General Duffield is a man of vigorous constitution and no doubt is felt that he will be able to recover from the disease.

New Jersey Troops Sworn in.

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, July 19.--The twelve companies of the Fourth New Jersey volunteers have been mustered in, the last to take the oath being Companies G and C.

Lieutenant Colonel Quincy O. M. Gilmore of the regiment will go to Washington this week to urge that the Fourth be sent South without unnecessary delay. The men think they will form part of the Porto Rico army of invasion.

Lorillard Wins Again.

London, July 19.--At the first day's racing of the Leicester summer meeting yesterday, the Lorillard-Beresford stable's chestnut filly, Lakota, won the Wigston two-year-old selling plate. This race is of 150 sovereigns, the winner to be sold by auction for 100 sovereigns. The second to receive three sovereigns out of the plate; entrance three sovereigns. Eleven horses ran over the course, distance five furlongs straight.

American Bombard Manzanillo.

London, July 19.--A special dispatch from Havana, dated Monday, says:

"Seven American warships heavily bombarded Manzanillo this morning. Three steamers of the Menedez line were set on fire. Several gunboats that were in the harbor issued for the defence of the town, but were stranded. The result of the bombardment is not yet known here."

The First Captured Flag.

Washington, July 19.--The first Spanish battle flag captured in Cuba by the American army has reached the war department. It was consigned to Gen. Corbin. The flag is a small one, measuring only about two by four feet, and is poorly constructed of cheap material. It was captured by Company B, First United States infantry, regulars, at Juraguacito, June 23.

Spain's Idea of Our Terms.

Madrid, July 19.--The newspapers here assert that the United States intends to demand an enormous indemnity "in order to have the pretext to seize the Philippine islands as a guarantee."

The proposed American peace terms are greatly exciting the public, and the opinion is expressed among the people that war to the death would be preferable to the ruin of Spain.

Getting Ready for Watson.

Tangier, July 19.--The sultan of Morocco is concentrating considerable forces in the vicinity of Ceuta and Melila, in order to guard the frontier and preserve neutrality.

The Spanish authorities in the Bealearic islands have extinguished until further orders all the coast lights there.

Bryan's Regiment Moves.

Omaha, Neb., July 19.--Colonel W. J. Bryan and the Third Nebraska volunteer infantry started for Jacksonville yesterday at 3 o'clock. The regiment will go over three roads. Colonel Bryan and his staff reached Chicago last night.

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

IN SANTIAGO HARBOR

Commodore Schley Takes a Look at Forts and Batteries.

MORRO CASTLE NO DEFENSE

Lieutenants Hobson and Palmer first to Enter After the Spanish Flag Was Hauled Down. A Half Dozen Prizes in the Harbor. Commodore Schley Thinks the American Fleet Might Have Entered Without the Loss of a Single Ship.

Under Morro Castle, Harbor of Santiago de Cuba, July 18.--At exactly nine o'clock yesterday morning the Spanish flag was lowered from the staff crowning the heights upon which stands battered Morro Castle. The ceremony was witnessed by a few Spanish and American troops on shore, and by the Brooklyn, New York, Vixen and Vesuvius, lying within a few hundred yards of the harbor entrance.

Almost immediately after the flag was hauled down, steam launches, commanded by Lieutenants Hobson and Palmer, entered tht harbor, penetrating as far as the firing station of the submarine mines. These mines were judged to be not as formidable as expected, and, later in the afternoon, they were all exploded under the supervision of the Vixen.

It was seen that two mines had been exploded at the time of the entrance of the Merrimac into the channel of Santiago harbor, but it is not thought probable that either of them had anything to do with the sinking of the craft.

Six or seven fine steamers in the harbor fall as prizes to the army and navy. The Spanish gunboat Alvarez had already been taken possession of by a prize crew from the New York. The other vessels lie at the other end of the harbor, at Santiago proper.

Soon after noon, Commodore Schley, with Captain Cook of the Brooklyn, Lieutenant J. H. Sears., the flag lieutenant, Lieutenant B. W. Wells, the flag secretary, and three newspaper men, went into the harbor on a steam launch, which moved slowly, in order to make close observation of the Spanish forts and batteries. Every one expressed satisfaction at the fact that Morro Castle was not demolished by the bombardment, Captain Cook saying: "We need El Morro as an object lesson, and America is rather shy on ruins, anyhow."

The old fort stands on the bluff, terrace fashion. From the water's edge to the brow of the cliff there are huge caves formed by the action of the waves, and round the base and in the superstructure are not a few caves made by the navy's projectiles. It would appear, however, that only one bastion was knocked to pieces, while the queer little sentry boxes, dating back to the sixteenth century, escaped almost intact. Morro Castle is the only imposing fortification in the harbor, and it is only so in appearance, since not a gun is mounted within or on the crumbled walls. In fact, all the batteries, masked and open, dwindled in their terror-inspiring qualities as the inspection grew closer.

Crowning the hill on the west side of the entrance were the famous six-inch rapid fire guns from the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes. These were ugly looking and dangerous, while below, on brick foundations on the western shore of the entrance, were some revolving guns. These were the ones which poured such a bitter fire into the Merrimac. Directly east of Morro Castle, on the crest of the plateau-like cliff, were six big guns, one or two of which were dismounted. The Estrella battery and a small battery further in showed no guns.

All the houses near the harbor were deserted, and, strange to say, not one, apparently, had been touched by a hostile projectile.

On the inside of the slope and hill to the westward some hastily constructed casemates were seen, into which the Spanish gunners were wont to retire when our ships opened fire. When the firing ceased the gunners only had a few steps to climb to their six-inch rapid fire guns, which almost always fired a few farewell shots.

At Punta Gorda there were two four-inch guns, one above the other, and neither protected by even sand or earth. These commanded the harbor entrance pretty well, but they could have been silenced by one well directed heavy shell.

Commodore Schley has over and over again expressed the belief that our fleet could probably have entered the harbor without the loss of a single ship. The mines might have stopped ingress by sinking the leading ship, but this is a chance of war, and not so grave as many taken during the civil war, nor as serious as would have been the situation had there been good batteries, properly managed, in the harbor.

A PRISON FOR ZOLA.

He and Editor Perreux Sentenced to One Year Each and to Pay Heavy Fines.

Paris, July 19.--The second trial of M. Emile Zola and M. Perreaux, manager of the Aurore, upon charges of defaming the army, was concluded yesterday in the Versailles assizes. M. Labori, counsel for M. Zola, protested against the officers of the Dreyfus court martial being allowed to prosecute in a civil capacity, but the court overruled the protest. The defendants were found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment each. They were also condemned to pay a fine of 3,000 francs each, together with the costs.

Turbulence in Spain.

Madrid, July 19.--The increase in the octroi rates, or duties on produce taken into the towns, is causing turbulence in the rural districts of Spain.

The populace of the province of Huelva has rebelled against the imports of corn and flour, and attacked and set fire to a number of public buildings.

The troops had to be called on to repress the disorder.

The Pais, organ of the Republicans, advocates a military dictatorship, and the Republicans are endeavoring to secure the support of the army and navy for this purpose.

REVENUE AT SANTIAGO.

Government Will Open an Office at Once for the Receipt of Customs.

Washington, D. C., July 19.--The United States will take immediate steps to collect the customs revenues at Santiago as a war contribution, and it is not improbable that a government customs office will be opened there and be ready for business to-day.

This action will be taken pending the final settlement of the question of the status of Cuba after the close of the war. Secretary Gage and Assistant Secretary Howell are busily engaged on going over the customs schedules which have been in force under Spanish rule, and it is expected that a telegram embodying the principal features of the new schedules will be sent to General Shafter. The new rates will follow more or less closely those hitherto in force in Cuba, and will make no discriminations in favor of or against citizens of any foreign power, including the United States. Any inconsistencies and excessive levies, however, will be corrected as soon as possible.

Within a day or two a customs expert will be designated to take charge of the details of the work under the general direction of the military governor of the surrendered territory, as has been done in the Philippines, and as rapidly as possible printed forms schedules and record books will be sent forward.

With the Santiago campaign successfully closed, there is a lull in the activity of the war and navy departments and the official express the belief that the stirring developments of the last two weeks would now give way to the details of occupying Santiago, the shipping of Spanish prisoners to Spain, coping with the yellow fever situation and preparation for the next aggressive campaign.

The Articles of Capitulation at Santiago.

Washington, July 19.--The agreement for capitulation at Santiago signed by the commissioners consists of nine articles, as follows:

The first declares that all hostilities shall cease, pending the agreement of final capitulation.

2. That the capitulation includes all the Spanish forces and the surrender of all war material within the prescribed limits.

3. The transportation of the troops to Spain at the earliest possible moment, each force to be embarked at the nearest port.

4. That the Spanish officers shall retain their side arms and the enlisted men their personal property.

5. That after the final capitulation the Spanish forces shall assist in the removal of all obstructions to navigation in Santiago harbor.

6. That after the final capitulation the commanding officers shall furnish a complete inventory of all arms and munitions of war and a roster of all the soldiers in the district.

7. That the Spanish general shall be permitted to take the military archives and records with him.

8. That all guerillas and Spanish irregulars shall be permitted to remain in Cuba if they so elect, giving a parole that they will not again take up arms against the United States unless properly released from parole.

9. That the Spanish forces shall be permitted to march out with all the honors of war, depositing their arms, to be disposed of by the United States in the future, the American commissioners to recommend to their government that the arms of the soldiers be returned to those "who so bravely defended them."

All Quiet at Manila.

Hong Kong, July 19.--The German cruiser Coroman, from Manila on July 15, has arrived here. She reports that all was quiet when she left Manila. The insurgents had not advanced, the second American contingent had not arrived, and all the ships of the American fleet were at Cavite.

It was reported at Manila, previous to the departure of the Cormoran, that General Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, had been accorded an interview with Captain General Augustin at Manila, the result of which was not known.

Croker Outbids the Prince.

London, July 19.--Richard Croker purchased on Saturday at the Sandown Park track the two year old filly Little Saint, the winner of a selling race. The filly is now at his stud at Wantage. The Prince of Wales bid against Mr. Croker. The filly was entered at $750, but Mr. Croker paid $8,000 for her. The filly's owner dropped out as soon as he learned who the real bidder was, leaving the competition between Mr. Croker and the Prince of Wales.

A Gift from New Jersey.

Chicago, July 19.--Carroll College of Waukesha, Wis., has received from Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Voorhees of New Jersey a donation of $50,000 on condition that $50,000 more be secured by October 1, and that $70,000 of the total sum be set apart as endowment, the remainder to be expended for buildings and equipment. President Walter L. Rankin has received pledges of $6,000 toward the remaining $50,000.

The Yankee Goes South.

Norfolk, Va., July 19.--The auxiliary cruiser Yankee sailed from the Norfolk navy yard at 3.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and passed the capes, outward bound, two hours later. Her destination is Santiago. The steamship Buena Ventura, the first Spanish ship captured in the present war, left Norfolk yesterday morning for Cuba. She took about 100 colored laborers.

Volunteer Signal Corps Complete.

Washington, July 19.--The seventeen companies of the volunteer signal corps have now been recruited to their full strength.

Each company consists of sixty-three persons, including officers and men, and a company is to be assigned to each division of the army.

Chinese Rebels Defeated.

London, July 19.--In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Curzon, under foreign secretary, announced that the British consul at Shanghai had telegraphed to the foreign office that the Chinese Imperial troops had defeated a force of 6,000 rebels. The rebellion, however, is not yet quelled.

PORTO RICO INVASION

Gen. Miles Leading the Expedition Embarked Yesterday.

OTHER TROOPS READY TO GO

The First Embarkation Has Left Siboney. It Consisted of Four Batteries and a Few Troops. Two Brigades at Charleston Are Ready to Start. About 25,000 In All Will Be Sent to Porto Rico as Soon as Transports Can Be Secured.

Washington, D. C., July 19.--At three o'clock yesterday afternoon it was announced that the Porto Rican expedition had started on its mission to capture that island.

General Miles, leading the Porto Rican expedition, left Siboney, Cuba, yesterday on the Yale, with four batteries of artillery and a few seasoned troops. Two brigades now at Charleston embarked yesterday on transports to take them to Porto Rico.

All the force at Tampa, 13,000 strong, embracing artillery, will be put aboard ships as rapidly as transports can be gotten there and sent to reinforce our other troops.

General Brooke will take the first and second divisions of his corps from Chickamauga to Porto Rico. General Brooke left here yesterday afternoon for Chickamauga to get his troops started. It is said that the whole expedition will be under way within the next four days. It has been decided to retain General Shafter's brigade at Santiago for an indefinite period.

Washington, July 19.--The discussion of plans for the Porto Rican expedition engaged the attention of the war department officials yesterday.

An unofficial list of the troops to be sent on this expedition has been compiled.

It includes the following regulars, the Fifth cavalry, eight heavy batteries and two light batteries of General Snyder's division.

These troops are at Tampa waiting for transports. It is possible that additional regiments from General Snyder's division may be included in the force to be sent to San Juan and an effort is being made to have the Second New York volunteers now at Tampa detailed for this duty.

General Rogers of General Miles's staff is organizing the artillery troops at Ybor City, Fla. He will direct the operations of the field and siege guns that will be brought into use at San Juan. He is regarded as one of the finest artillery experts in the army and was personally chosen by General Miles to be a member of the latter's staff.

GEN. NELSON A. MILES.

All of the New York regiment of volunteers are anxious to be called on for service at Porto Rico, and yesterday morning a strong petition was received by the war department from the Sixty-ninth regiment at Tampa, the Irish regiment, asking that it be included in the next invading army.

While a positive selection has not yet been made, it is understood that Newport News will be the port of departure of the larger part of the expedition.

The army of occupation is expected to consist of an adequate force, as it has been decided to take no chances of repeating the mistake made at Santiago of landing with an insufficient force and then being obliged to lie idle at a critical moment awaiting reinforcements. It is thought that at least 25,000 men will be sent forward as rapidly as necessary transports can be procured.

In order that there may be no delay in supplying subsistence stores for the Porto Rico campaign, Commissary General Eagan is having prepared advertisements inviting proposals from the largest beef concerns for supplying stated quantities of this article of diet at a certain place in the island subject to the order of the general commanding. Very recently General Eagan awarded contracts for supplying the army at Santiago with refrigerated beef, and it is expected that the advertisements for Porto Rico will follow the same general lines. The contract will be a big one, as it is the policy of the department to keep the army as well supplied as practicable with refrigerated beef.

Fever Cases Do Not Exceed 300.

Washington, July 19.--A dispatch has been received stating that the entire number of fever cases up to the time of sending the dispatch, did not exceed 300. This lowers the estimate by one-half from that given in press dispatches, and was a source of satisfaction to the authorities. Colonel Alden, acting surgeon general, says the situation is much less serious than would appear at first glance, for while the aggregate of 300 seems large, it is relatively small when it is remembered there are 25,000 troops at the front.

No Report from Sampson.

Washington, D. C., July 19.--Admiral Sampson's report on the destruction of the Cervera squadron has not reached the navy department, although it is now more than two weeks since that famous naval fight occurred. The report is on its way, however, by one of the auxiliary craft, and will be on hand within the next few days.

Sporting Interest Wanes.

Plainfield seems to have lost all interest in sports that a few years ago held popular sway here. This is notably so of baseball and bicycling.

For several years Plainfield was one of the most enthusiastic baseball towns in the eastern States, her team being among the best semi-professional aggregations on the diamond. No better evidence of this is needed than the recitation of the fact that several players who became celebrated in the National League begun their careers as members of the old Crescents. In the days of the old Crescents everybody in town attended the games and were rooters in all that the word implies. The popular hero of the hour in Plainfield at that time was the player whose actions on the diamond won the game for the home team.

But how time has changed things, and what ill-luck has followed in the wake of the successors of the one-time invincible Crescents. The team which represented Plainfield on the diamond this year, and which suffered defeat but once in several weeks of playing with the best teams in the metropolitan district, seemed utterably unable to stir popular enthusiam for the National game. True, a few of the old "cranks" remained steadfast, but without the support of the general public the team was doomed to an inglorious ending. Interest in the game has unquestionably waned to the extent of ever again preventing the return of the halycon days of the old Crescents. It seems strange, but it is so.

Though in a private way bicycling is all the go now, and probably will be for a long time, it has failed like baseball so far as the public cares for racing events. The oval racing track and its appurtenances for handling the crowds and the racers stands as a silent and lonesome monument to the popularity of bicycle racing in Plainfield a few years ago. Up to this season Plainfield has seen some of the best bicycle racing in the country, but with each succeeding season for the last three years the interest in the events held at the oval have lessened until now they are no more. The lethargic interest that prevails in relation to cycling seems unaccountable when one sees the increasing number of individual riders year after year.

Baseball and bicycling are undoubtedly the popular sport and exercise of the American people, yet they fail to thrive in Plainfield where every condition seems favorable for hearty support from the public at large.

Plainfield Leads All.

One after another the facts pile up to show that Plainfield is the most flourishing town in Union county.

At the meeting of the assessors of the county in Elizabeth, Plainfield was reported as having the largest increase of taxable valuations in the county during the past year—the increase amounting to $350,000. Elizabeth, with three times the population of Plainfield, reports an increase of $200,000. Another interesting comparison is that the total taxable valuation of property in Plainfield is $8,000,000, while that of Elizabeth is just slightly double that—or, in figures, $17,151,100.

While Elizabeth, with three times the population of Plainfield, has only double the assessed valuation of Plainfield, Rahway, which is about twenty-five per cent. smaller than Plainfield, records just a trifle over one-third the valuation of this city.

Which ever way you look at the figures Plainfield looms up as the banner town of Union county in prosperity.

Reason to Be Proud.

The first Spanish battle flag captured in Cuba by the American army was secured by Company B of the 1st U. S. Infantry. Company B is the company which Gen. Wm. H. Sterling, of this city, captained in the Civil War, and which he led through many daring and thrilling engagements. General Sterling is justly proud of the distinguished conduct which his old command is showing in the present conflict.

The flag has been received at the War Department in Washington. It is a small one, measuring only about 2x4 feet, and is poorly constructed of cheap material.

Company B, which captured the flag, is part of the First Brigade, Second Division, Fifth Army Corps. The flag was captured at Juraguacita, June 23, 1898, by the following detail: Corporals Newman and Boyle; Privates Keyser, Cooley and Houghtaling.

Destruction of Cervera's Fleet.

No more striking proof of the supreme importance of coaling stations when naval war is conducted at a distance from the home base can be cited than the fate which dogged the finest of the Spanish fleets from the time of its departure from the Cape Verde islands to its final annihilation under Admiral Sampson's guns off Santiago. This superb squadron of four armored cruisers with attendant destroyers was for its size unsurpassed by any similar group of warships in the world. But it was driven straight to its death by lack of coal. Had it not been for this it never would have been "bottled up" in Santiago harbor. Had Cervera not been misinformed as to the conveniences of recoaling there it is doubtful if he would have sailed into that trap.

It is quite true that the protection of the harbor would have seriously embarrassed an American naval attack had not the imminent capture of Santiago by Shafter's land investment driven the Spanish admiral to a choice of evils. There was a bare chance of cutting his way through the American fleet, at least with one or two of his ships. But the terrific odds and the deadly service of the American guns sealed the fate of Cervera and his fine cruisers. All this would have been probably avoided had there been coaling facilities within easy reach. In any event, the radius of operation for the Spanish fleet would have been much greater and its threat of damage to us far more serious. Nobly as Sampson's fleet, under Commodore Schley in temporary command, vindicated American naval prowess on that fateful 3d of July, let us not grudge some tribute of admiration to Spanish gallantry. Like Montijo at Manila, Cervera and his captains fought their ships as long as a gun could be fired and finally beached them in flames. He only yielded to the inevitable. Spain, like China, sometimes rewards its unsuccessful commanders with death, and sullen threats of this kind have been heard from time to time during the present war. It is to be hoped that Cervera, when he is released from American captivity, will be accepted by his people at his genuine worth, even as Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley will be recognized by their people, as true heroes of the sea. Lieutenant Wainwright, who was also one of the heroes of the battle, not only illustrated American chivalry, but paid a just tribute in congratulating Admiral Cervera when he surrendered on his splendid and dashing, though futile, attempt.

Dr. George Shrady, in an article in the New York Sun, has called attention to the danger of ptomaines in food. The ptomaine, it is scarcely necessary to explain, is a poisonous product of decomposition, which may come in almost any kind of nitrogenous food when it has been kept too long. During the summer season, among the poorer classes, who do not have a sufficiency of ice, the danger is one to be seriously considered. It is not in every case that odor reveals the mischievous agent. Strange to say, too, articles of food, like poultry and game, which have been kept in cold storage, are particularly prolific of the poison. As these forms of food are rarely eviscerated before going into the refrigerating room, the soft parts decay quickly when they are thawed and the ptomaines find their way into the hard flesh. Oysters and shellfish in general, unless quite fresh and good, are very apt to develop very poisonous elements, even more fatal than meat and ordinary fish. While due care is exercised by the proper officials in the larger cities to inspect the markets and condemn suspicious food, the peddlers and street market men often evade scrutiny. As this is the class which the poor are very apt to patronize for the sake of economy, the threat becomes a dangerous one. Physicians and health officials are disposed to think that many unnecessary deaths are to be traced to this cause. In hot weather particularly great care should be exercised, for many tricky dealers have a way of deodorizing meat, or even the more perishable fish, so as to neutralize the smell of decay.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

So the field seems clear for Howell in the Republican camp. But he wil have a popular candidate against him if former Congressman J. A. Geissenhainer should become the Democratic nominee. He is said to be seeking it. A few years ago the IIId District, as well as the VIIIth, was normally Democratic, but nowadays it cannot be safely described as such.—Plainfield Press.

Mr. Geissenhainer's "popularity" was wholly with the politicians and heelers, who found him liberal with his cash. He is not a Jerseyman and has only a nominal connection with the State. As a matter of fact, there are reasons for believing that he is not half as anxious to run as the "boys" are to have him do so. At any rate, he can't beat Congressman Howell.—Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The conductors on the trolley line running between Bound Brook and New Brunswick are a little nervous now about walking along the side platforms of the cars. The other day a conductor, while standing on one of the platforms, was struck by a tree close to the track, and killed. Care should be exercised that no tree or post is close enough to the car to strike either conductor or passengers.

Two little colored boys, urged on by a crowd of big boys and young men, were engaged in a bitter battle in front of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday morning. The lads were so small that they resembled two immense bees more than anything else, but fought with the ferocity of full-grown men. This sport was enjoyed by the big boys until the parents of the little darkies came and took them away, leading them by the ears.

A story is told of a party of Plainfield young people who went boating on the Raritan river several days ago. The boat they had was a leaky one and began to fill. Then the oarsman, startled by plunging his foot in a pool of water in the bottom, allowed one of his oars to float away. After half an hour's hunt the missing oar was found and the party reached the shore. The water was up to their ankles by the time they returned from their eventful cruise.

Last Saturday evening the following item appeared in the New York Mail and Express, and will be of interest to Plainfielders, as Dr. Cox is well-known in this city:

"Change the name and not the letter, change for worse instead of better." That is an old saw, and it would be folly to believe it would hold good in the case of tho engagement of Miss Elizabeth Colgate, daughter of the late Clinton Colgate, and Dr. Rowland Cox, Jr., or indeed, in the case of the recent wedding of Miss Helen Saunders and Mr. Hugh Scott, of Philadelphia.

Any one knowing either of these couples would realize how easy it is to smash this venerable statement to smithereens.

Plainfield has not yet been enabled to enjoy real suburban trolley-riding, but the time promises to come soon. Meantime the good folk of Bound Brook have discovered its pleasures on the line connecting that borough with New Brunswick. The route is a pretty one and the cars fairly fly along, down grade, up grade and around curves until the car rocks in a most exciting manner. Stops are seldom, except on the outskirts of the two places, and no time is lost. The Bound Brookites find the trip a pleasant one, especially on a warm day.

Up to Sunday evening Marshal John Schenck, of the borough, was sure that he could tell a cat when he saw one, but now he thinks differently. His experience while on duty in the east end of the borough Sunday evening has taught him a lesson. The small, black feline-appearing animal attracted his attention and, as John does not like cats he attempted to chase her away. If the officer had passed on and left the animal alone it would have been all right, but a sad ending was the result. He left a note at the borough lockup, when he went off duty, asking Acting-Chief Wise to get his winter uniform out so that he could put it on last evening. His other suit is practically ruined and will be of no use to him.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 19—Considerable excitement was caused Friday evening at the cafe kept by G. W. Hunt on the west boulevard. It seems Mrs. Hunt had gone upstairs carrying a lighted lamp and in some unaccountable manner it caught on fire. With a scream she threw the lamp on the floor and scattering its fragments and oil over the hallway, the woodwork ignited. To save herself she leaped from a second story window and came in contact with a door which was ajar. She received quite serious injury to one of her limbs and arm. The fire company responded very promptly, but before water could be turned on one of Mrs. Hunt's boarders had quenched the fire with two pails of water.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

—Hugh McDonald's new house on Park avenue is rapidly nearing completion.

—A special meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education to receive bids will be held this evening.

—Special Marshal Baglin, of the borough, is now doing night duty in place of Marshal Wise, who is acting-chief.

—This evening a missionary meeting will be held at Warren chapel. It is earnestly hoped there will be a large attendance.

—Hugh McDonald, of Park avenue, is having his house on the corner of West Sixth street and Arlington avenue painted.

—The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held tomorrow evening in the Board rooms in the Stillman building.

—A new plate glass window has been put in the store of Charles M. Raybert, of North avenue, to take the place of the large pane that was broken some time ago.

—At 12 o'clock last night 1,300 soldiers from Connecticut passed through Plainfield on their way south. As the hour was untimely there were no demonstrations of any kind.

—Col. Pattie Watkins Lindsay and her husband, Col. Fred Lindsay, will speak and sing at the Volunteers' tent, corner of Second and Church streets, tomorrow evening.

—Don't forget that next Thursday the people of the city will be given another opportunity to spend the day at Asbury Park. A number of the local churches will unite in the trip and a pleasant time is promised to all.

—A. E. Hoagland, the expressman, has replaced the iron lamp-post in front of McVey's restaurant which his team broke off a week ago in a runaway. Mr. McVey will have another globe put on. The new post has been set up a little further towards Park avenue than the first one.

—One of A. Kane's wagons was carting a heavy load of stone along West Fourth street, near Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, when the horse slipped and fell cutting his knees very badly. The horse was only purchased the day before. It may be ruined for life. William Bowers was driving.

—Real estate values in Clark township have been advanced 6 per cent. by the assessor. This, however, will not be burdensome to taxpayers, as the township has no debt, no sidewalks, no fire department, no street lights and no poor. The only purposes for which they raise money are county tax, school and road tax.

Rahway River Polluted

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 19—An inspector went along the Rahway river yesterday searching for the sourch of pollution in the river. He stated that he was satisfied that the source of pollution was above the dam at Meeker's mill at Milltown. The pollution of the stream is a serious matter, as it the source of the Rahway water supply.

Burglars at Peapack.

Burglars have again visited the village, this time entering the Gladstone Railroad station and Benbrook's store at Peapack. At the station they got nothing, the agent having removed the valuables to his home. At Benbrook's store they succeeded in securing a large lot of merchandise and a small sum of money. Constable Todd and a posse of citizens scoured the country, but did not succeed in capturing the thieves.

A GENEROUS MAN'S FAD

He Has His Own Method for Distributing Charity.

Into the New York office of a certain wealthy business man all day long a motley procession streams. Men and women and children, pinched and ragged and unkempt, one by one push open the door to the private office. No matter what important interview is going on, the millionaire glances up, then puts a thumb and finger into a coat pocket and brings out a little envelope which, with eyes averted, he hands to the intruder. There is a grateful mumble, and, as the door closes again, a smile of satisfaction spreads over his face.

He is enjoying what is to him cocktail and cigar, cards and races, and all the other ways of squandering wealth. For in each little envelope is a sum of money, ranging from a penny to a quarter, and all the poor of the district know that they have but to ask and it will be given them. He keeps track of every one that comes, and the one who takes advantage of it too often finds himself dropped to pennies; but no one is ever turned away.

About fifteen dollars is distributed daily in this fashion. "It's my way of taking my fun," this big brother to the poor explains. As for pauperizing and degrading and all the other catch words of organized charity, he does not bother his head about them. In this personal giving he finds a delight which would be entirely missing in the making out of a big impersonal check once a year, and he gratifies himself and his neighbors without regard to theories. Perhaps he remembers days in his own young life when one of those little envelopes would have meant more to him than thousands could now. At all events, whatever the motive, whatever the results, he is followed by more murmured blessings than any man in New York City.—Puritan.

GAVE UP HUSBAND FOR POLITICS.

He Was a 16 to 1, and She Wanted His Job Besides.

"Away out in the southwest corner of Missouri," said an old Post Office Inspector, "is a town in which a woman is Postmistress, and underneath her commission there hangs her divorce. It depends on her health as to which pleases her most. It came about through politics. Her husband was appointed under the Harrison Administration. In the campaign next following he espoused Cleveland and held on under the last Cleveland Administration until old Dick Bland spent a night in the Postmaster's house, and when he left the Postmaster was inoculated with the 16 to 1 heresy. But the man's wife remained a goldbug and asserted herself in a manner that made the returns in the town a day late, after the election, and when they came in McKinley and Hobart were in the lead. The Postmaster was guyed so unmercifully that he sent in his resignation before McKinley's inauguration. Frank Jones, who was the axeman of the last Cleveland Administration, heard of the situation, of course, and I was sent out there on the quiet. The first thing I learned was that the woman was suing for a divorce. As everybody in the town was with her she soon obtained what she went for and then she took charge of the Post Office. It is not my business to tell department secrets, but she is one of the hold-overs who will remain as long as she is honest.

"Her former husband gets his mail from the general delivery and she has her divorce hung on a line with the opening of the general delivery, and I think whenever he asks for his mail he must see it. It is a quiet reminder of the day when he made a fool of himself."—New York Sun.

One on Charlee Dudley Warner.

This good story is told of Charles Dudley Warner, who hasn't yet denied it: When he was a guest some time ago at an oldtime Southern home near Nashville he expressed a desire to see a real, typical negro. So the most loquacious old "aunty" was brought in. To the surprise of every one she would not say a word beyond "Yes, sah" or "No, sah." After the departure of the distinguished guest she was asked the reason of her silence. With as much dignity and scorn as a grande dame "Aunty" replied: "Ugh! I wa'nt gwine talk to dat Yankee. I knowed him soon as I seed him. He's de very one dat stole mistiss's silver durin' the wah."

At the Rate of 160 Tons an Hour.

The rate at which British battle ships of war take in coal nowadays is simply marvelous. Recently one of first class battle ships in the Mediterranean, the Magnificent, averaged over 160 tons an hour—that is at the rate of nearly three tons a minute! Officers turn to and work, as well as the men, and they certainly look like them when the job is over.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Desirable Qualities.

"I hope you appreciate the fact, sir, that in marrying my daughter you marry a large-hearted, generous girl?"

"I do, sir"—with emotion—"and I hope she inherits those qualities from her father."

In These Times.

Johnny—Pa, why is the pen mightier than the sword?

Fond Father—Because, my son, it enables the Spanish to report an occasional victory.—Jeweler's Weekly.

It was the first time Johnny had ever heard a guinea hen. "Oh, ma," he shouted, "come and hear the chicken a-windin' itself up."—Montreal Herald.

Children's Pets.

One of the best ways of training children into kindly and thoughtful habits is to bring them up with a love of animals, and, wherever possible, let them have one of their own, for whose welfare they are responsible.

In small town houses it is not always possible to give each young member of the family a pet on his own account; but even in very limited quarters a bird or a cat, or both, are possible, and the children should be expected to tend and feed them. Of course, pussy requires the minimum of attention; still, her saucer of milk, scraps of fish, etc., if given to her regularly by the juvenile owner, teach the lesson of regularity. A little one over eight years old can well look after a bird, clean out its cage, fill the vessels with seed and water, see to the bath, and so forth, these little duties making a pleasant occupation. Should there be any chance of the child forgetting its responsibilities, it is important that materfamilias or some "grown-up" should keep an observant eye, that the pet may not languish from inattention; but thoughtlessness in this respect should be reprimanded.

In large houses, or residences with big gardens, the choice of animals is more varied. Poultry alone, though this should be under the management of an adult, is a delightful source of interest; then there are white mice, dormice, rabbits, guinea-pigs, pigeons, dogs, and fancy birds amongst many others to choose from. Let the boy or girl who possesses a pet have at least one volume which will give all the necessary information for the care of the animal. Probably he will soon be desirous of having more pets, and gathering round him more literature on the subject, and in this way he will receive a valuable education, going direct to things rather than to books to obtain his learning. By the care of animals he will get a love of Nature, his tenderness and protective qualities will be developed, his interest aroused in the life and habits of dumb things, as well as becoming trained in methodical, regular habits.

Extraordinary Drinks.

Of the many extraordinary drinks regularly consumed, the blood of live horses may perhaps be considered the most so. Marco Polo and Carpini were the first to tell the world of the practice of the Tartars and Mongols opening the vein in their horses' necks, taking a drink, and closing the wound again. As far as can be seen, this has been the practice from time immemorial.

There is a wine habitually consumed in China which is made from the flesh of lambs reduced to paste with milk, or bruised into a pulp with rice, and then fermented. It is extremely strong and nutritious, and powerfully stimulating to the physical organism.

The Laplanders drink a great deal of smoked snow water, and one of the national drinks of the Tonquinese is arrack flavored with chickens' blood. The list would scarcely be complete without mention of absinthe, which may be called the national spirituous drink of France. It is a horrible compound of alchohol, anise, coriander, fennel, wormwood, indigo, and sulphate of copper. It is strong, nasty, and a moral and physical poison.

Odd English Dishes.

A visit to an English silversmith is always interesting to the American housekeeper, and she is wise to bring away for the use at her home board some of the useful dishes not often seen here. Among these is the jam-pot, a low, circular bowl of glass usually fitted with a silver-plated lid through whose spoon-hole a deep-bowl oval spoon is thrust. Another pretty dish common to the English tables, and possibly to be had of our own silversmiths, is what is called a mince-dish, the English objecting to the word hash. This stands on a silver standard that elevates it a few inches above the table and has a spirit-lamp beneath to keep the contents warm. It is provided with a silver-plated cover, and it is both useful and exceedingly ornamental. Something much less needed is often seen on English dressing-tables, and that is the silver twine-ball. This is about the size of an orange, and is made of two equal parts put together at the centre after the ball is enclosed, the end of the twine coming through a hole in the top. The silver ball rests on little feet.

Jaunty Short Jacket.

Short reefer jackets in blue or red serge, trimmed with brass buttons, will be very popular this season for bicycling, golfing and many other sports. These garments are made quite short and have either sailor collars, round or square, or simply small revers.

An attractive model in military blue serge is made double breasted, fastening with large brass buttons. The round collar forming revers in front, is trimmed with white braid. The sleeves are a modified leg-o'-mutton and are finished with small turned up cuffs.

Patiste Frock.

Guimpe and yoke effects increase daily and each new summer gown that appears discloses something novel, dainty, and charming in these accessories of the bodice.

A lovely gown of cream colored batiste is prettily trimmed with insertion. The bodice is slightly bloused in front and is worn over a guimp of finely tucked pale blue lawn. Insertion outlines the yoke, forms the band down the front and five rows of it comprise the ornamentation on the sleeves. The sash and collar are of pale blue taffeta.

"Do you ride a bicycle?" she asked.

"Well, I don't know that I would be exactly justified in claiming that," he replied, "but now and then I have a wrestling match with one of them."

Facts About Japanese Babies.

A Japanese baby is not offered its natural nourishment for three days. During this time the liquor of boiled rice is given to it.

And it is not tucked daintily up in soft white blankets, but set up in a tub and covered with coarse, dark rugs. The only relief it has during its infancy from its uncomfortable position is when it is put on its mother's or someone else's back inside their clothes, and taken out for an airing.

It is claimed by the more enlightened that this constant sitting position, or being crowded against someone, with shoulders thrown forward and chest pressed in, is one reason why Japanese are so extremely narrow-chested, says a writer.

It is anything but pleasant to see a two-year-old strapped on the back of a four-year-old, with head (shaven, of course), thrown over to one side, the unhappy little victim fast asleep with the hot sun streaming on it, and flies feasting on the dirt which is almost invariably part of a Japanese baby's face.

A boy baby is the thing, and girls are regarded with decided disfavor. All preparations are much more elaborate if the child is a boy. At this seven-day feast, fish, fruit, flowers, etc., are also presented.

For seventy-five days the mother's food is very simple, principally rice, very softly boiled. For twenty-one days no fatty fish is eaten. After the seventy-five days the food is the same as usual.

At the expiration of twenty-one days the bed (thick rugs on the floor) is removed, and again a feast is given.

Mother and baby enjoy their first outing at thirty-three days, when a visit is made to some temple. In some parts of the country a cross is painted on the infant's forehead at the time to ward off evil spirits. The hair is shaven at seven days, and in olden times was kept so three years, but now it is allowed to grow sooner.

How the Cannibals Were Controlled.

Paul du Chaillu, the African explorer, tells how he once controlled a race of savage cannibals while he was on the Dark Continent.

He had a number of watches whose ticking completely nonplussed the savages and caused them to regard him as a spirit. He had a practice of leaving one of these watches in a village where he had stayed. After a while, the watch, of course, ran down and stopped, and the cannibals said the spirit had gone to overtake their master.

When Du Chaillu returned to these villages he always got the watch that he had left behind, and, unobserved, wound it up again. The natives heard the ticking continued, declared again that the explorer was a spirit, and did their utmost to please him.

A Dainty Baby Blanket.

A unique baby blanket is made of white broadcloth embroidered in white silk, in conventional designs. It is lined with white surah and the edge finished in exquisite white ribbon. Three baby afghans seen recently were made of white eiderdown flannel. The size was thirty-two inches by thirty-eight. One was lined with pink, another with light blue, and the third with lemon-colored silk. A row of ribbon embroidery (done in narrow baby ribbon) to match the lining made a pretty finish about two inches from the edge; a large bow of broad satin ribbon to match the lining was placed near one corner.

Iced Chocolate.

Iced chocolate is sometimes served at hot weather luncheons instead of iced tea or coffee. A formula for it is to make the cocoa in the proportion of a heaping teaspoonful to each half pint of boiling water. This is mixed and cooked in a double boiler for five minutes, and sweetened as it is taken from the fire. When it is cold, about a half cup of cream is added. The whole is then beaten with a Dover beater until very light. It should be served in tall thin glasses half filled with powdered ice.

Serving Radishes.

There is a reason, as there is for most things, for leaving the two or three centre or heart leaves on a radish when it is served. This is usually done at all high-class restaurants where a French chef or steward presumably supervises, and it is because the French think the green adds very much to the ease with which radishes are digested. The average general housework girl cuts off a radish as close as if it were a potato, and it will need more than one suggestion to get her to leave the green ends on.

Girl's Dressing Gown.

A garment which every woman and girl should possess is a dressing gown. They not only give one a neat appearance but are useful to slip on at night in case of fire or accident. Some light woolen material make the most serviceable garments.

For a young girl a pretty model is of dark red challie dotted with white. It falls in gathers from the neck where a small ruffle of the material is edged with a deep flounce of lace. The sleeves which are quite full have a frill of lace at the elbows.

Round Sandwiches.

Round sandwiches seem to be more in vogue at the moment than the oblong or diamond shape. An ordinary biscuit-cutter shapes them. An appetizing filling for these made of brown bread is cucumber or water-cresses dipped in mayonnaise. A [illegible] salad to alternate with [illegible] appetizing first course [illegible] a light [illegible] of [illegible]

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Hier hat sich der Oberbeamte der Firma Siemens u. Halske in Wien; Ullrich, der Staatsanwaltschaft mit der Selbstanklage gestellt, der Firma in den letzten Jahren eine auf viele Tausende sich belaufende Summe unterschlagen zu haben. Erst vor einigen Monaten hatte er sein zehnjähriges Beamtenjubiläum gefeiert und bei diesem Anlasse mannigfache Ovationen erfahren. Ullrich hatte flotte Neigungen, zu deren Befriedigung sein jährliches Einkommen nicht ausreichte. Besonders auf seinen Reisen gab er sich sehr elegant, ebenso verschlang seine Garderobe beträchtliche Summen. Eine Zeit hindurch zeigte er sich von Woche zu Woche in einem neuen Anzug; er rauchte feine Cigarren, traktirte Freunde in splendider Weise und warf mit dem Gelde nur so herum.—Der berühmte Botaniker, Universitätsprofessor Hofrath Kerner von Marilaun, ist gestorben.

Agram. In der Nähe von Sisseck versuchten Bauern, den vollbesetzten Agram-Semlinler Personenzug zum Entgleisen zu bringen. Sie hatten Balken und große Steine auf die Schienen gewälzt. Der Lokomotivführer bemerkte indeß die Manipulationen der Bauern von Weitem, und es gelang ihm, den Zug noch rechtzeitig zum Stehen zu bringen.

Auscha. In der zweiten Hälfte des September wird hier eine Hopfenausstellung stattfinden, die von einem Komite, dem auch der Bürgermeister der Stadt angehört, veranstaltet wird. Es können Hopfen in Ballen von 50 bis 75 Kilo und bei Kollektivausstellungen Bällchen von 5 Kilo ausgestellt werden.

Budapest. In dem ganzen Arader Komitate wütheten große Stürme, durch welche an den Saaten großer Schaden angerichtet wurde.

Gutenstein. Der Hotelier Karl Hubner zog sich durch die Operation eines Hühneraugen eine Blutvergiftung zu und erlag derselben unter den größten Qualen.

Meran. Auf den Muth-Höfen wurden hiesige Turner beim Anbrennen des Sonnwendfeuers von etwa 20 Bauern mit Heugabeln, Sensen, Dreschflegeln, alten Gewehren und Bajonetten überfallen, mißhandelt und zur Flucht gezwungen. Mehreren Herren wurde sogar nachgeschossen; die Weiber schrien, man hätte „die fremden Städter," „die Heiden" ausziehen und mit Brennesseln peitschen sollen!

Oedenburg. Der hiesige Arzt Dr. Rudolph Haubner machte dem evangelischen Kirchendistrikte die Mittheilung, daß er zu Gunsten von 12 Theologen jährlich 2000 Gulden spenden und nach seinem Ableben eine Stiftung von 100,000 Kronen errichten werde, welche den Namen seines Vaters, des ehemaligen Superintendenten Mathäus Haubner, tragen soll.

Zolynia. Hier hat der Gendarmerie-Postenführer Nemecka den aus Lancut eingetroffenen Gendarmerie-Wachtmeister Kowalski wegen einer in einer Dienstsache ausgebrochenen Differenz erschossen und gleich darauf sich selbst durch einen Gewehrschuß getödtet.

Schweiz.

Bern. Der Nationalrath hat die Vorlage betreffend die Vereinheitlichung des Civilrechts mit 88 gegen 16 Stimmen und die Vorlage betreffend die Vereinheitlichung des Strafrechts mit 88 gegen 15 Stimmen angenommen.—Die neue Brücke, welche am Kornhausplatz in Bern über die Aare führt, verbindet das weite Feld, aus dem sich das Schänzli erhebt, mit der Stadt. Die Brücke ist 355 Meter lang und doppelt so hoch als die Kirchenfeldbrücke. Das Totalgewicht der Eisenkonstruktion beträgt 1800 Tonnen. Das Werk hat annähernd 2,000,000 Francs gekostet. Als ein bequemer, imposanter Zugang zum Schänzli dürfte die neue Brücke von allen Fremden, die in Bern verweilen, besucht und bewundert werden.

Zürich. Vor dem Züricher Schwurgerichte stand kürzlich eine italienische Diebsbande, die voriges Jahr einem hiesigen Uhrmacher Uhren und Ketten im Werthe von 28,000 Francs stahl. Einer der Diebe, Gallazzi, der bis zum letzten Augenblick leugnete, sprach seinem Vertheidiger zu, er möchte seine Sache ja recht gut machen, damit er frei käme; er gäbe ihm dann eine goldene Uhr, die noch in seinem Besitze sei! Der Advokat kam um die Uhr, denn der Spitzbube erhielt acht Jahre.

Luzern. Eine geplante Verschmelzung der drei größten Luzerner Hotels ist wieder aufgegeben worden.—In Folge des verbesserten Eisenbahnverkehrs kann man jetzt von Luzern aus in einem Tage nach London gelangen.

Zug. An der Kapelle zu St. Karl bei Zug wurde eine Gedenktafel angebracht zu Ehren Albrik Zwyssigs, des Sängers des „Schweizerpsalms" („Trittst im Morgenroth daher.")

Aargau. Der kantonale Thierschutzverein hatte den Bundesrath aufmerksam darauf gemacht, daß in badischen Grenzorten regelmäßig für die Israeliten in der Schweiz geschächtet werde. Der Bundesrath lehnte es jedoch aus gutem Grunde ab, gegen diese außerhalb unserer Landesgrenze liegende Schächterei einzuschreiten.

Neuenburg. Auf dem Chasseron, einem der schönsten Punkte des Neuenburger Juras, ist ein kleines Hotel errichtet worden.

Wallis. Der Hotelierverein des Rhone- und Chamounix-Thales beschloß einstimmig, den Pensionspreis in den Hotels pro Tag auf 5 Francs festzusetzen, Zimmer nicht inbegriffen. Jeder Zuwiderhandelnde wird mit 100 Francs Buße und im Rückfall mit Ausschluß und Boykott bestraft.

A Fellow Feeling.

Makes Plainfield People as 'Wondrous Kind' as Elsewhere.

A fellow feeling prompts it.
We all have troubles of our own.
We appreciate assistance.
Relief from trouble promotes gratitude.
Gratitude promotes publicity,
Publicity promotes the public good.
A man with a bad back,
The kind that aches all day, and doesn't cease at night,
Is a grateful man when his back is cured.
He wants to tell his friends about it.
Let them know relief can be had.
Lots of fellow feeling in Plainfield.
Doan's Kidney Pills have cured so many backs.

Read what this Plainfield citizen says:

Mr. George S. McGinnis, of 212 Somerset street, Foreman at R. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Mfg., says: "I never was sick a day in my life before last winter when from some cause or other I began having pain across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first thinking it would soon go away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved and continued the treatment and by the time I had finished the third box the pain in my back and the lameness had disappeared. The bladder difficulty was relieved completely and I am thankful to say that I am feeling like my old self again. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and I gladly recommend them as such whenever I have a chance."

They Wouldn't Sing "A Spanish Hymn.

During the excitement over the explosion of the Maine an incident occurred at the University of Pennsylvania which demonstrated the patriotism of the students. At the usual chapel exercises one morning the opening hymn was given out, and the huge pipe organ swelled out the prelude. Usually the six hundred or eight hundred students sing out the hymn with great fervor, but this morning the first line or two were sung faintly, and then the organ alone carried on the tune. The organist gazed around in amazement, the dean wore a puzzled expression, and members of the faculty present were mystified. The second stanza was but a repetition of the first, and when it came to the "Amen," which every student, whether musically inclined or not, always swells upon with all his vocal might, the same silence prevailed. The explanation of it all was that the name of the hymn was "A Spanish Hymn," and the word had been passed around not to sing, and they didn't.—Philadelphia Record.

A Story of the Kaffir King.

Once, and only once, is the colossal intellect of Barney Barnato known to have unbent over light literature. As a rule the great man did not waste his time in reading. But once when he was very much worried over finance and complained that he could not "forget his work," Mr. Raymond lent him "The Story of the Gadsbys" and got him to read it, and Barney found forgetfulness, and thus he spoke unto his friend:

"Do you know, I put it in my pocket when I went down to the office, and, looking at it again, I sat there till I had finished it. I did what I do not ever remember to have done before, and clean, forgot a board meeting. C— reminded me of the meeting, but I sat to finish."

But Mr. Raymond could not get him to read anything else.—Golden Days.

Wants to be up with the Times.

In Nebraska there is a man aged fifty-two who is going to school with his younger children. He is not by any means illiterate, having a fair education gained in his youth, but he says that he desires to be up with the times, so has entered school again. It is a humorous sight to a stranger, but the teacher and the other small pupils take it with perfect gravity.

California Mustard Crop.

"This country is now growing a larger part of the mustard put up in England as well as in this country," said a commercial man, "and California is raising the larger part of it. The mustard seed has just been harvested in California, and probably will run up to 16,000,000 pounds, or 1,000,000 pounds more than the crop of 1895. The seed is kept six months before being ground. The brown seed has the best flavor and greatest pungency, while the yellow produces the most oil. The English mustard-packers have made the yellow the most fashionable, however, and as a result there are ten pounds of yellow produced for every pound of the brown, though the brown is stronger and better in every respect. Probably one-half of the English mustard that is used in this country grew in California, though it was ground and packed in England. French mustard is the same as other mustard, the seed being soaked in vinegar, properly spiced, for twenty-four hours before it is ground."

THE FOG DISPELLER.

AN INVENTION WHICH IT IS CLAIMED WILL DISPEL FOGS.

A Stream of Air is Forced Out of a Tube in Such a Way as to Bore a Hole Through the Fog—By the Use of it Pilots Can Pick Up Buoys in Foggy Weather.

The latest invention is a fog dispeller. The apparatus consists of a horizontal out-look pipe eight feet in length and eight inches in diameter. At the mouth of the tube is a wide flange; the rear end is covered with a thick disc of glass. About two feet from the rear end a pipe enters the tube from below, at an obtuse angle with the forward section.

This connection is made through a sort of turntable, which permits the outlook tube to be pointed in any direction desired, up or down, from one side to the other. The pipe below connects with a blower down in the vessel.

When the dispeller is in use, the blower sends a powerful stream of air up through the pipe into the tube, and the current hurtles into the fog, boring a hole through it, as it were.

The action of the suspended moisture is twofold. The fog is rolled back in every direction, the high pressure of the blast produces a cooling influence, the moisture in suspension condenses and falls in rain. A great cone of clear atmosphere, with its apex at the mouth of the tube, results.

The eye of the pilot is at the glass at the rear of the tube, and he gazes into the bowels of the fog. With its aid a pilot can readily pick up his buoys in a fog, and keep an eye out for vessels ahead.

With a powerful blower, the inventor hopes to make the fog-dispeller useful at 1,000 feet.

No claims is made that the dispeller would be practical except when the vessel is going at a slow rate of speed, which is customary when there is foggy weather.

How a Peasant Washed the Tiger.

A story is told, in La France du Nord, about a Cossack, ignorant of the French language and equally ignorant of fear, who was hired, at Moscow, by the lion-tamer, Pezon, to clean the cages of his wild beasts, says Emily Mayer Higgins, in Lippincott's Magazine. Their understanding, or misunderstanding, was arranged by means of gestures and dumb show, as that unfortunate Tower of Babel hindered intelligible speech, and Pezon thought that the man thoroughly understood what he had to do. The next morning the Tartar began his new duties by entering, with bucket, sponge and broom, not the cage of a tame beast, as his master had done, but of a splendid, untamed tiger. The fierce animal fixed his eyes upon the man, who calmly proceeded to wet his large sponge, and to approach the tiger.

At this moment Pezon appeared upon the scene, and was struck with horror. Any sound or motion upon his part would intensify the danger by rousing the beast to fury; so he quietly waited till the need should arise to rush to the man's assistance.

The moujik, sponge in hand, approached the animal, and, perfectly fearless, proceeded to rub him down, as if he had been a horse or dog; while the tiger, apparently delighted by the application of cold water, rolled over on his back, stretched out its paws, and, purring, offered every part of his body to the Cossack, who washed him as complacently as a mother bathes her infant. Then he left the cage, and would have repeated the hazardous experiment upon another savage from the desert had not Pezon drawn him off, with difficulty.

The Hudson's Smokestack.

This is how the smokestack of the Hudson looked when that battered gunboat returned to Key West after the fight at Cardenas. This was the engagement during which the Winslow was crippled and Ensign Bagley killed. During its progress Lieut. Scott, who was directing the fire from the Hudson, sat calmly smoking a cigarette while superintending the manipulation of the guns.

THE RIDDLED SMOKESTACK.

A Typographical Error.

Through the addition of a single letter to a word by a typographical error a Missouri paper was led to make the following grave announcement the other day: "Sedalia's mayor, having plenty of time on his hands, has decided to begin a war against immortality."

A Military Swimming School.

The German army has a swimming school for troops, where every one must learn to swim. The best swimmers are able to cross a stream of several hundred yards' width, even when carrying their clothing, rifle and ammunition.

THE SHORT LIFE OF A GUN.

Number of Times it May be Fired and the Enormous Cost of it.

"The life of a gun is one of the most unsatisfactory things about it," remarked an ordnance officer in discussing the war question with a Washington Star reporter, "and though a number of experiments have been made in connection therewith, there is no absolute certainty as to results. A general rule has been arrived at which is thought to be on the safe side of the matter, and that is that the modern steel gun should not be fired more than 100 times. After that, it matters not what the emergency may be, it is safer to dismantle the gun and send it back to the shop than to risk firing it, for the explosion of a gun is a decidedly and extensively dangerous occurrence to all in its immediate locality. The firing of a gun causes the steel to crystalize and thereby become as brittle as a file. So far as has yet been discovered, there is no remedy for it. It is not exactly a total loss after the gun has become dead, for the steel can be used for thousands of things in the way of bolts, braces and the like for new work and for repairs. As is generally known, a modern gun is an expensive affair, running from $75,000 way up. It is equally expensive to keep it in operation, the cost for each cartridge sent from it being over $1,000, which does not include the putting of the gun on its emplacement or taking it down, nor the thousands of dollars necessarily expended in paying salaries and subsistence of the officers and men who operate it. This crystalization of the metal is one of the mysteries of the science of ordnance. The gun could be revivified to some extent by heating it to a white heat and allowing it to cool off slowly, but the treatment is not exactly satisfactory or even approximately certain as to results. It has been said of us, as of other nations, that if we kept every gun we own in actual firing operation for even twenty-four hours the powder and shell bill would bankrupt us, and there is some truth in it. This crystalization of the metal is not confined to guns, however. The same thing occurs in the journals or axles used on the railroad cars. It is for that reason that careful railroads put on new axles every five or six years. In Europe there are laws upon the subject, thought it is custom with us. In Germany it is unlawful to use an axle on passenger cars more than four years, though the limitation on freight cars is not so rigid. As with the oft-fired gun, the steel in the journal becomes so brittle by the crystalization in consequence of its use that it is liable to snap into a dozen pieces any time after its life is ended."

Oldest Observatory.

The oldest observatory in the world is in China. Centuries and centuries before Europeans constructed astronomical instruments of metal this observatory had metal instruments of the highest value, and they were known to be hundreds of years old in 1279.

The instruments in the Chinese observatory are marvelous works of art and their beauty and boldness of design could not be duplicated today. The observatory itself stands higher than the city wall, and is square in shape, the beautiful astronomical instruments standing on platforms with no shelter, true to the Chinese idea of doing things by contraries. Entrance to the observatory from the front gate leads to a hall of rare proportions. Then comes a yard surrounded on three sides by one-storied buildings and shaded by enormous trees. Here are two massive and valuable bronze instruments, exposed for centuries, but without a flaw or sign of wear.

In the Chinese observatory is a huge celestial globe, seven feet six inches in diameter, having the planets and principal constellations shown by raised stars in yellow bronze and fixed in their proper places on the chocolate-brown body of the globe. There are eight instruments in all in the observatory, each worthy of special study.

Effect of Music on Hair.

An English statistician has recently been engaged in an original task, that of studying the influence of music on the hair. The investigator establishes, in the first place, that the proportion of bald persons is 11 per cent. for the liberal professions in general, with the exception of physicians, who appear to hold the record for baldness, which is 30 per cent. Musical composers do not form an exception to the rule and baldness is as frequent among them as in the other professions. The cornet-a-piston and the French horn act with surprising surety and rapidity; but the trombone is the depilatory instrument par excellence. It will clear the hair from one's head in five years. This is what the author calls "baldness of the fanfares," which rages with special violence among regimental bands.

A MAGIC PERFORMANCE.

How a Coin Placed in a Handkerchief May be Made to Disappear.

You take any handkerchief and put a quarter or a dime into it. You fold it up, laying the four corners over it so that it is entirely hidden by the last one. You ask the audience to touch and feel the coin inside. You then unfold it, and the coin has disappeared without anybody seeing it removed. The method is as follows:

Take a dime, and privately put a piece of wax on one side of it; place it in the center of the handkerchief, with the waxed side up; at the same time bring the corner of the handkerchief marked A (as represented in Fig. 1), and completely hide the coin; this must be carefully done, or the company will discover the wax on the coin.

Now press the coin very hard, so that by means of the wax it sticks to the handkerchief; then fold the corners, B, C, and D, (see Fig. 1), and it will resemble Fig. 2.

Then fold the corners, B, C, and D (see Fig. 2), leaving A open. Having done this, take hold of the handkerchief with both hands, as represented in Fig. 3 at the opening, A, and sliding along your fingers at the edge of the same, the handkerchief becomes unfolded, the coin adheres to it, coming into your right hand. Detach it, shake the handkerchief out, and the coin will have disappeared. To convince the audience the coin is in the handkerchief, drop it on the table, and it will sound against the wood. This is an easy trick.

THE MAGIC HANDKERCHIEF.

Chemical Experiments.

"It is a great wonder to me," said an old chemist in his laboratory the other day, to a Denver Republican reporter, "why more boys do not take up chemical experiments as an amusement. Why, I can do things with the common materials of ordinary life which really seem to be more magical to the uninitiated than any of the wonders performed by magicians on the public stage.

"Now, there are those curious little bubbles of glass, known variously as 'Prince Rupert's drops' and as 'Dutch tears.' Apparently they are merely little globules of glass, with elongated tails, made by heating a small glass rod in a flame and allowing the molten drops to fall into water.

"After they have cooled you may pound the thick part with a hammer or mallet, yet you cannot break them. On the other hand, if you break a little piece off their tails, or touch any part of them with a quartz crystal, they will disappear into the surrounding atmosphere quicker than snow will melt on a hot fire. To the person who does not know the reason the performance is most astonishing.

"And yet it is all very simple. It is due to what is known as surface cohesion. Glass, when heated to a molten state, has naturally reached a very high temperature, and when the drops of melted glass are allowed to fall into cold water the sudden change produces a stress all over the surface of the drop which is really terrific. This stress, however, must be considered as a whole. It is very strong when taken all together, but it is exactly as though a piece of very thin rubber was stretched over the surface of the glass. If you puncture the rubber, its haste to resume its normal condition would pull it off the glass.

"So when you break off the tail of the drop, or cut through the film of very hard glass with a crystal, its endeavor to suddenly resume its normal condition results in its own destruction, and it breaks up into particles, which are really finer than the finest sand. It seems like a wonderful performance, but it is no more wonderful than many another which any youngster could perform if he would study even the simplest forms of chemical action."

A Lullaby.

(By Anna R. Brady, Age 15.)

Crooning a song so soft and low,
Little Lou sits in her easy shair,
Bathed in the sunset's parting glow,
With its mellow light on her golden hair.

"Hushaby! Lullaby! Sleep, thee, my pretty one,"
And over the dolly she tenderly stoops—
"The birdies are sleeping, the long day is done,"
While lower and lower the golden head droops.

"In yonder west the sun is descending;
May angels safe watch o'er my little one keep."
In a soft, sleepy sigh has the little song ending,
For baby and dolly are both fast asleep!

A HORROR OF THE HAPSBURGS.

How the Fairest of Austria's Women Did Penance in a Dungeon.

The house of Hapsburg seems to be as peculiarly unfortunate now as it was once successful in those intrigues whereby the Counts of Hapsburg became the Dukes and later the Emperors of Austria.

It was by murder, treason, treachery and perfidy of every known kind, that the Dukes of Austria took on the title of kings, and finally became the inheritors and the representatives of the Roman Empire. And in this record the women of the Hapsburg family played a romantic part and not unfrequently that of a Jezebel or a Messalina. We need not go further back than the time of Maria Theresa. Her character as a Queen-Empress is well known, but her character as a mother is not, yet it was indicated from the following cruel incident. Her daughters were as unfortunate as they were fair, and that they were fair to the point of enchantment goes without saying. Burke has left on record in immortal words the impressions which one glance at the divine face of Maria Antoinette left upon his mind. But more fair and more beautiful still was Maria Antoinette's sister, the Arch Duchess Maria Josepha. The Emperor idolized her and the imperious Empress-Queen herself who had little time or inclination for lavishing caresses upon the six fair daughters which she had borne to Francis of Lorraine, regarded Maria Josepha with a sweet and peculiar indulgence. At sixteen this ill-fated princess was a girl of ravishing beauty, with hair of golden auburn, with the face of a Psyche, with a sinewy form, a peculiar, even angelic sweetness of disposition and exquisite manners. Just as she had turned her sixteenth year the Emperor Francis died, and while she was engaged to Ferdinand II. of Naples.

The engagement was one that brought pride and joy to Maria-Theresa's heart. It was an alliance which extended the influence of the Hapsburgs in that southerly direction which has been the perpetual dream of the house. The marriage treaty was signed and the betrothal of this bewitching bride took place August 8, 1767. The Court of the Hapsburgs put aside the mourning that it had assumed because of the Emperor's death. The Empress herself was radiant with smiles. Fetes and balls and a series of the most brilliant entertainments followed in rapid succession, in which the Empress widow herself freely participated. But suddenly the Arch-festivities. Day by day that face, the duchess in whose honor all these fetes were held began to grow sad and melancholy. She was the one person who shrank from the gayety of the court beauty of which had formerly lighted up the court became more gloomy and depressed. From the air of sadness it Finally Maria-Theresa seemed to take offense at her daughter's despondency. She did not press the Archduchess to her heart nor look into her once fair but now lifeless eyes the sweet and kindly smile of a mother. But on the contrary, the royal mother ordered the Archduchess to repair alone to the vault in which her dead father lay, and there kneeling by his coffin to pray for the repose of his soul. The Archduchess regarded this as the last and most dreadful blow. She entreated her mother to save her such an ordeal. Maria-Theresa, however, was little moved to pity and as little used to brook opposition in anything; and least of all would she tolerate it in a matter where she appeared to have a mysterious personal interest. She, therefore, refused to listen to her daughter's pleading and insisted upon her orders being obeyed to the letter. The Archduchess was not ignorant of the motive which actuated her mother but she dared not disobey.

"I am going down to my tomb," whispered the Archduchess in the ear of one of her maids of honor, as she proceeded to carry out the injunction laid upon her. The Archduchess now descended unattended and alone into the vault, where shortly before the remains of one of the princesses of the House of Hapsburg, Maria Josephine, wife of the King of Saxony, had been interred beside that of Francis of Lorraine. The Queen of Saxony had died of smallpox. To send the Archduchess to pray in such a place was virtually to pass sentence of death upon her. Accordingly upon the day following the Archduchess herself took ill of smallpox. Maria-Theresa ordered masses to be celebrated in all the churches of Vienna for the recovery of the Archduchess. But as the coffin that contained the remains of the Queen of Saxony had been pried partially open there was no chance for Josepha to escape the catching and terrible disease. She died upon the very day fixed for herself and King Ferdinand to leave Vienna for Naples. There was weeping at the Court of Vienna in consequence but the eyes of the empress-queen were dry. No motherly instinct of grief overcame the fierce fires of jealousy that blazed in her queenly heart. Maria-Theresa never gave the slightest proof of remorse, and after the court of the Hapsburgs had solemnly gone into mourning for the young Penelope whom the head of the House of Hapsburg had placed in the path of death, Maria-Theresa secured the Neapolitan alliance for her next daughter, the Archduchess Caroline. Not a breath of suspicion was aroused. Not a murmur of protest arose. Not one cringing courtier dared to give utterance to the stifled feelings which he entertained.

But one sad and stricken soul sighed and sobbed in the secrecy of her chamber amid all the sins and revelry of that putrescent Court. One breaking heart was ready to burst. It was that of the faithful maid of honor into whose ear the Archduchess had whispered "I am going down to my tomb."

SPORTING.

Henry E. Ducker, manager of the Charles River Track, Boston, says he will spend $26,000 for racing talent this year. He intends to maintain thirty-six pacing machines on the Grand Circuit.

Beware of "bargains" in bicycles. Often has an ignorant would-be cyclist purchased a worthless machine at a low figure without ascertaining its merits, chiefly because it "looked all right."

It looks as though the mile record will go under this year. A number of riders have announced their determination to attempt to lower it, among the number being Bald, Cooper, Michael, Gardiner, McDuffie and Maj. Taylor.

Charles Daubert is a Western wheelman who has a long record of century rides. He says his sole motive in making these is for the century bars. The bars already won he has made into a bracelet for his sweetheart, and he is now riding to obtain bars to make her a belt.

Indianapolis has settled the track question for the national meet by planning for an oval less than three miles from the center of the city, and accessible by four car lines. The track will be a third of a mile, with seating capacity for 20,000 persons. The stock company is capitalized at $20,000.

Without doubt, Peter Simmonds, the colored rider, of this city, has a great number of friends. He has made a good showing in several meets and is making a strong fight for local honors. By many he was considered a sure winner in Thursday evening's road race. Had he and Poole started from the same mark, there would have undoubtedly been a race from start to finish. The rivalry between the two is great, and it is to be hoped that they will soon meet on equal terms and decide the question of superiority if it is possible.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Harry McDonald has brought his bay pacer, "Dewey," back from the farm in New Market where he has had him out to grass, and will begin to train him for the fall trotting. The horse can pace fast.

J. W. VanSickle, of North avenue, recently purchased "Belle Hayes," the famous trotter owned by Isaac Randolph, of Elizabeth. The mare appeared on the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association recently and made a fine showing.

GOLF.

A meeting of the house committee of the Park Golf Club was held Saturday evening. It was then decided to postpone the formal opening of the links until fall. Meantime, however, the members will play on the grounds and learn their peculiarities. The membership is now nearly filled, and a number of applications will be considered at the next meeting. According to the rules of the club, associate members are admitted without any fees or dues.

Teeth Broken in a Fall.

Mrs. Elvaine VanName, of Elmwood place, fell Saturday while about her work in the house and broke off the tips of three of her front teeth. Although there were no serious results from the fall, the escape was lucky.

The Dunellen team found the Y. M. C. A. boys an easy mark Saturday afternoon. The game was played at Dunellen. The home team took the lead in the first inning and won by a score of 16 to 4. The many errors of the Y. M. C. A. boys were largely accountable for many of the runs. As a result of the game the Clinton Avenue Club is anxious to meet the Y. M. C. A. team as they are confident of beating them.

Borough School Bonds Sold.

A special meeting of the Borough Board of Education was held last evening to open the bids for the issuance of $20,000 worth of 4 per cent. bonds for the erection of a new schoolhouse in the borough. There were only three or four bids and Rallings & Co. were the successful bidders. They gave a premium of $200 to secure the bonds, which were awarded them. In a few weeks the bids for the construction of the new building will be received and opened.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Little five-year-old Freddie VanDeveer, colored, fell in the race back of French's mill this morning and narrowly escaped drowning. The little fellow lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus VanDeveer, in Fairchild's alley, and was playing near the water when he slipped and fell. Some one pulled him out and he is no worse for the experience.

Mrs. Judd, of Washington avenue, Brooklyn, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. F. Hazard, of East Sixth street, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cochran and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin, of 659 East Sixth street.

MET A HORRIBLE DEATH

CHARRED REMAINS OF FARM HAND FOUND IN RUINS OF BARN.

It is Supposed That he Had Tried to Light a Pipe While Lying in the Hay in a Drunken Stupor.

Nels Jessen, a Swede, in the employ of John Fenner at Pluckamin, met with a horrible death early Sunday morning, when Mr. Fenner's barn and wagon house were burned.

The fire broke out about 5 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Fenner and his neighbors succeeded in getting out all the cattle and many of the farm utensils, but the building and most of the contents were destroyed.

Jessen had left the Fenner place on Saturday night, and was still missing when the fire occurred. Suspicions seemed to implicate him, as there was no other way to account for the fire at that time. When the ruins were examined later in the day his charred remains were found.

County Physician Wagoner was summoned and upon making an investigation found that Jessen had been at the house at Peter Moore, at Far Hills, on the previous evening, and the two men were drinking together, Jessen left there at 2 o'clock in the morning, taking a bottle of whiskey with him.

It is supposed that he arrived at the Fenner place and struck matches in the wagon-house, causing the fire, and afterward climbed into the hay mow, as he was accustomed to do when he came home drunk. Jessen was a married man and hailed from Amboy, where he had a family. Mr. Fenner's loss will amount to about $1,200, partially insured.

The flames also extended to the barn and undertaker shop of B. C. Ammerman, and consumed them with several other outbuildings. Mr. Fenner's house was on fire several times, but was saved by hard work.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Genevieve Hazard, of East Sixth street, is spending her vacation with her aunt on Washington avenue, Brooklyn.

Walter Piobasco and Arthur Crane, of the Delaware Volunteers, are spending a few hours home with their parents having been granted a twenty-four hours furlough.

Michael Keefe, of West Sixth street, received a letter today from his brother, John Keefe, of New York, informing him that he has enlisted in Co. E, 201st N. Y. Vols.

R. A. Osmun, of New York, has rented H. E. Cramer's house, 1007 Watchung avenue, through E. C. Mulford & Son agency and will take possession September 1st.

"Jack" Gaffney, the very obliging night operator at the North avenue station, has been transferred to the train despatcher's office at Jersey City and his place in this city will be taken by Mr. Sullivan, of Glen Gardner.

COMFORTS FOR BADGER BOYS.

Two Large Boxes Shipped to the Brave Fellows This Afternoon.

Smalley Brothers' meat market on North avenue was the scene of bustle and activity this afternoon when the boxes of delicacies, etc., were packed and sent to the Plainfield boys who are on board the Badger off Havana harbor. The quantity of provisions and reading matter, delicacies and comforts sent to the market during the last few days prove conclusively that the friends and relatives at home are anxious for the welfare of the brave boys at the front.

It was supposed that one box would hold all that would be sent, but when it came time to pack the goods, it was found that there was enough to fill three good-sized boxes. The stores comprise canned meats, canned fruit, boxes of chocolate, tobacco, cigars, crackers, soap, etc., besides reading matter, in the shape of religious tracts, magazines, papers and books. A fancy pillow sent to Frank Smalley by Mrs. S. Robinson, is for use when any of the boys are ill. There is no doubt but that it will be appreciated.

The boxes will be sent to Dr. M. S. Simpson, who will see that they are distributed to the boys according to directions.

Survivor of the Burgogne.

Mr. Miller, of New York, a passenger on the ill-fated ship, the Burgogne, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Ulrich, of East Fifth street. Mr. Miller was rescued after three hours of drifting, and owed his life to a floating timber. He is a buyer for a New York firm and sails for Europe this week.

Lightning Struck.

During the storm this afternoon lightning struck the flagstaff on the Thorn building on Somerset street and shattered it to pieces. There was no other serious damage. Allen Laing, who was lying on a couch in the building, was slightly stunned by the bolt striking.

—The members of the W. C. T. U. have shipped a barrel of good literature to the sailors of the Badger, a number of whom are Plainfield boys.

of the capitulation of Santiago.

A limited time was fixed for hauling down the Spanish flag over Caimanera. The flag was hauled down this afternoon.

From Spanish sources it is learned that the total force in Guantanamo and Caimanera is about 5,000, of which number, however, only about 3,000 are fit for service, the others being disabled by sickness or wounds

Tomorrow steps will be taken for a formal surrender. What disposition will be made of the prisoners has not yet been determined, because of the presence of yellow fever among them.

Washington, July 19, 12 m.—A cipher cablegram has been received at the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Dewey, the contents of which will be made public this afternoon.

ISHMAEL'S MANGROVE TREE.

A Facile Horticulturist from India Works Wonders in a Maine Prison.

Chief Gilman of the Bangor police force has a curiosity up at his residence on the west side, which, if it continues to thrive, will be likely to prove more of a sensation to people of this vicinity than anything which may result from the continued fall in the price of lard. This is a pretty little plant, about a foot in height, which Ishmael, the great circus Hindoo now in the county jail here, tricked out of a pile of wet dirt at the prison the other night. He did it the other night up in the jail when Sheriff Brown gave him a chance to use his apparatus, and Chief Gilman has the plant as proof.

Ishmael took a little pile of sand and mud which had been brought for him in the jail yard underneath the window where he looks out and thinks up new tricks every day, and placed it in the middle of the floor on a cloth. Then he took what he said was a seed, and showed it to his small audience. The seed was the same thing from which he had produced a dollar bill a few minutes before by simply squeezing it, but that didn't make any difference to him, but he put it in the dirt and got ready to grow his bush. Nobody thought he was really going to do it. He swore that he would produce a mangrove tree.

Ishmael first took a cloth and placed it over the earth; then he began to say off some kind of a heathenish incantation, and in the course of a half minute, when he removed the covering, there was a little sprout starting up about an inch above the pile. That's pretty good. Ishmael smiled demurely and winked the other eye.

Again Ishmael put the cloth on the dirt, and again rattled off his rubbish in choicest Hindoo. Something suddenly stuck itself up inside the cloth, which peaked up and wrinkled as it did so, and then off came the cover with a swish and exposed a very healthy young bush standing there in the dirt.

Of course, everybody wil say that the bush was made of paper, but it wasn't. It was a real thing, and it was moist and soft and pithy, just as if it had been newly plucked from the ground outside. At its bottom was a full set of little roots which were covered with the clinging earth in which it had—well, grown.

Chief Gilman, who was present, took the bush home with him, and set it out in his garden. He said on Saturday that it was getting on well, and that it looked as if it had come to stay. He can't understand how Ishmael did it. Neither can anybody else. Some of the men in the jail declare that the youngster is a devil in disguise, but most of them consider him a mighty smart lad.

But he is a great vegetation starter, he beats super-phosphates at their own game.

The bush is worth seeing. It is composed of close-growing green leaves on a straight stalk, and little red blossoms are beginning to grow on the top of it. It is a curiosity.

Ishmael says it's easy as rolling off a log.

Adornment of the Sword.

The glorious epoch of the sword was reached in the sixteenth century. Great manual skill and a thorough training in all the arts were united in a marked degree in the artisans of this period, and gave to the products of the industrial arts a permanent value and beauty. In the shops of the metal workers this proficiency reached a rare excellence. War was the main occupation of kings, and civil and military pageants were the favorite pastime of royalty. The armorers, therefore, were in constant demand, and were untiring in their efforts to produce costly, brilliant arms and coats of mail. Great artists devoted all the resources of their genius to the enrichment of the sword. No metal was too precious, no jewel too rare, no fancy too ingenious for its decoration. Hilts were encrusted with gems, set with medallions, carved, embossed, inlaid; scabbards of Spanish leather or Genoese velvet were ornamented with gold and silver embroidery; blades of the finest steel were polished to a dazzling lustre and engraved with inscriptions and arabesques. Every artifice that a fertile imagination could devise and a cunning skill carry out was lavished upon the decoration of the beloved weapon

Feeding an Army.

Uncle Sam's bill for his 186,000 soldiers is over $30,000 a day, and if the war keeps up for a year it will reach the fine figure of $15,000,000. The old fellow is feeding more soldiers than there are people in Jersey City or Newark; more than the total population of Colorado or West Virginia. This, of course, doesn't take into account the thousands of men employed as civilians by the War Department, or utilized by it in transporting and issuing the food. Many of these men, too, are fed by the Government.

By buying in large quantities, the cost of the army ration is brought down to eighteen cents a day, which is about as cheap in price and a great deal better in quality than the ration of the Bowery lodging house. Then, to the eighteen cents is to be added four cents for the transportation and issuing of the food. This, of itself, for a year, would cost $2,715,600.

The army rations for one day for this vast body of soldiers amounts to 605,895 pounds, or nearly 303 tons. For a year the enormous total would be required of 221,151,675 pounds, or over 110,575 tons, which means that a ton of rations costs $135. In the army ration are a dozen constituents—bacon, hard bread (which is hard tack, or crackers, six inches in diameter), beans, potatoes, coffee, sugar, molasses, vinegar, salt, soap, candles and black pepper. This ration is about a third less in quantity than that served by the State of New York to its soldiers. Notwithstanding, there is such an excess in the quantity of the Government ration that by drawing a commutation of rations in money, other kinds of food can be bought according to the needs or the taste of the individual companies.

A regiment, including only the soldiers, eats more than a ton and a half of food a day. In measure of weight this seems a good deal, but when the cost is considered, it is ridiculously small—six cents a meal for three square meals a day, or about $180 for an entire regiment.

Every day the army consumes 69 tons of bacon, and in a year, 25,458 tons. Any butcher can tell how many hogs it takes to turn out this item in the ration.

A pound of hard bread or hard tack and a pound of potatoes go to each soldier once a day. A year's consumption of potatoes would be 1,131,500 bushels. The whole army eats 93 tons of each a day. Beans are highly nutritious, more so, in fact, than potatoes, and 93 tons, baked and in soup, are consumed by the army every day. Butter is not a part of the ration, but sugar is, and of the sweet seasoning as much is supplied as of beans.

The army recognizes but two stimulants—coffee and tobacco. Tobacco is not a part of the ration, but the Government supplies it at cost. The coffee, if well made and served hot, will go as far as any article of food toward cheering up the soldier in the early morning, and before going on guard at night, as well as when coming off his post. Each day the army uses 7 tons of coffee, and in the course of a year, 2,715 tons. Sugar, but no milk, goes with the coffee, though milk, like butter, and other articles called luxuries, can be had through the process of commutation of rations.

He Was His Own Recommendation.

When a merchant had hired an office boy, one out of fifty applicants who answered his advertisement, a friend asked: "How did you come to select that fellow, who didn't have a single recommendation?"

"He had a great many," replied the merchant. "He wiped his feet when he came in, and closed the door after him, showing that he is careful; gave up his seat to that lame old man, showing that he is kind and thoughtful; he took off his cap when he came in, answering my questions promptly and respectfully, showing that he is polite and gentlemanly; he picked up a book which I had purposely laid on the floor, and replaced it on the table, while all the rest stepped over it or shoved it aside; and he waited quietly for his turn, instead of pushing or crowding. When I talked to him I noticed that his clothes were carefully brushed, his hair in nice order, and his teeth as white as milk; and, when he wrote his name, I noticed that his finger nails were clean, instead of being tipped with jet, like those of that handsome little fellow in the blue jacket. Don't you call these things letters of recommendation? I do, and I would give more for what I can tell about a boy by using my eyes ten minutes than for all the letters of recommendation he can give me."

The selection proved a wise one. The incident shows that a mother who is teaching her boy good manners and habits of self-respect may be providing him with a capital more substantial than a bank account.—Success.

A Remarkable Case.

The aloe, which is used so largely for pills, &c., comes from quite a different plant to that which is famed as blossoming once in a hundred years or so. The latter is the American aloe, while the aloe of medicine is the Aloe Socotrina, so called from the island of Socotra, of which place it is a native.

Every ton of Atlantic water when evaporated yields 81lb. of salt, a ton of Pacific water 79lb., Arctic and Antarctic waters yield 85lb. to the ton, and Dead Sea water 187lb.

From investigations into the effects of tobacco it is stated that there were no live microbes after twenty-four hours in the cigars made up with water containing 1,500,000 cholera microbes to the cubic centimetre.

Corporation Notice.

PROPOSALS FOR ERECTING FIRE ENGINE HOUSE.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, adopted July 5, 1898, notice is hereby given that the Committee on Fire and Buildings will meet on Friday, July 29, 1898, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Chief Engineer's Office, Fire Department Headquarters, on East Second Street, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Committee will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the construction of a new fire engine house to be erected on property formerly owned by Elston M. French on West Fourth Street, opposite Darrow Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, according to the plans and specifications prepared by Edward V. French, Architect, and now on file and open to the inspection of bidders in the office of the City Clerk, No. 109 Park Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., the work to be completed on or before December 1, 1898.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the said committee will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the committee.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $300, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield. Copies of the plans and specifications may be had upon application to Fire Headquarters on East Second street.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the said committee.

All proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for fire engine house."

PROPOSALS

To construct, maintain and operate a Street Railroad in North Avenue from Orchard Street in the City of Elizabeth, to Richmond Street in the City of Plainfield, etc.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., at a meeting on Thursday, July 14th, 1898, viz:

RESOLVED, That it is the intention of this Board to widen, straighten and change the grade and otherwise improve Westfield or North Avenue between Orchard Street in the City of Elizabeth and Richmond Street in the City of Plainfield, in order to provide for the construction and convenient operation of a street railroad thereon; said proposed widening, straightening and change of location being shown on a map, consisting of fifteen sheets, this day adopted and filed in the office of the Clerk of the County, and be it further

RESOLVED, That propositions to construct, maintain and operate a street railroad on North Avenue from Orchard street in the City of Elizabeth to Richmond Street in the City of Plainfield, and on Orchard Street in the City of Elizabeth from Westfield or North Avenue to Morris Avenue, and in Plainfield on Richmond Street from North Avenue to Third Street and thence on Third Street to Watchung Avenue, and on West Jersey Street and Bayway in the City of Elizabeth from the present terminus of the street railroad on West Jersey Street to Westfield Avenue, will be received and considered by this Board on the Fourth day of August, 1898, at the hour of half past two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., in pursuance of an act of the last legislature entitled "An act to authorize boards of chosen freeholders to widen, straighten, grade and otherwise improve highways under control, and to provide for the construction of street railroads thereon," and that at said time and place all parties interested in said matter may be heard; and be it further—

RESOLVED, That this resolution shall be published in the Elizabeth Daily Journal and the Daily Leader, published in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., the Cranford Citizen, published in Cranford, N. J., the Union County Standard, published in Westfield, N. J., the Courier-News and Daily Press, published in Plainfield, N. J., once in each week until said Fourth day of August.

LIGHTNING STRUCK TOOL IN HIS HAND.

Michael Higgins Shocked During Yesterday's Storm.

FELL DOWN UNCONSCIOUS.

WAS WORKING IN THE BASEMENT OF THE INDUSTRIAL HOME.

Higgins Was Using a Calking Iron When the Bolt Came—His Left Arm Was Paralyzed and Marked by the Lightning—He is Feeling Better Now and No Serious Results are Anticipated.

Michael Higgins looked through the open window to the basement of the Industrial Home yesterday afternoon, and saw the long ridge of mountains, half hidden by the driving rain that was falling in sheets from the ominous clouds above. Then there came a blinding flash, a terrific crash and he was thrown to the floor, stunned by the awful force of the electricity. The steel "corking iron" with which he was working, was thrown from his grasp and his left arm, the hand to which had held the instrument, was left stiffened and without feeling.

Michael Higgins lives on Plainfield avenue. He is one of the plumbers in the employ of George J. Tobin, the North avenue plumber. Yesterday afternoon he went to the Industrial Home to put in a soil pipe in the basement. He drove there in one of Tobin's wagons.

As the sky grew darker and more threatening, Higgins hurried his work as much as possible to complete it before the storm began. It was warm working there in the basement and he left the window close by his side open so that he might enjoy what breeze there was. The storm began.

It was about 2:30 o'clock, Higgins does not know the exact time when the bolt came. At the time, he was using a "corking iron" to cork the joints in the pipe. The instrument was in his left hand.

In describing the sensation to a Press reporter later in the afternoon, Higgins said that the first he knew what looked like a big ball of fire, two feet across, entered the window and struck the metal in his hand. There seemed to be a great concussion and thousands of stars seemed to shoot in every direction. The force of it hurled him backward to the floor where he lay for ten minutes before he recovered sufficiently to look for aid.

At last he crawled to the door and, at his request, one of the feeble occupants of the city's home for the poor brought him a glass of water. He found that his left arm was apparently paralyzed. He was unable to bend it except at the finger joints, and there was no feeling in it. Along the arm ran a wide red stripe, somewhat swollen.

Higgins' strength returned after a few moments. He gathered up his tools, all but the "corking iron," which could not be found, and drove back to the shop. He could only use the right arm.

Higgins believes that he and the Industrial Home were not built for each other. The last time he was there the horse ran away and one of his fellow-workmen was nearly killed.

BIG TEMPERANCE MAN COMING.

Rev. Albert Lawson to Address the Sons of Temperance Next Wednesday.

Next Wednesday the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, will hold an all-day convention in this city, consisting of morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

The morning and afternoon sessions will be held in the lodge hall, where dinner and supper will be served to the delegates. The evening session will be held in Reform Hall and will take the form of a temperance rally. Rev. Albert Lawson, of New Jersey, Most Worthy Patriot of the order, will address the meeting. Rev. Mr. Lawson holds the highest office that it is in the power of the association to give, being head of the Sons of Temperance in Great Britain, Canada, Australia and this country.

Modern Drinking Fountains in Public School Buildings.

DRINK DIRECT FROM FLOW.

CALCULATED THAT CONTAGIOUS DISEASE WILL BE LESSENED.

Stillman, Franklin and Bryant Buildings to be Equipped With the Idea—D. W. Littell Awarded the Contract—High Board Fence May Not Come Down on East Fifth Street Side.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night for the purpose of opening bids for putting new drinking fountains in the Stillman, Bryant and Franklin schools. There were only two bidders, D. W. Littell and D. J. Galbraith. Mr. Littell was $53 lower on the entire job, and after publicly opening and reading the bids the Board went into executive session to consider them.

The plan is to place five drinking fountains in the Stillman, Bryant and Franklin buildings, so as to do away with the necessity of using cups. At the last Board meeting the medical examiners suggested that this be done, and the suggestion was immediately acted upon.

These fountains are ornamental and eject a small stream of water vertically, so that to drink one has only to place his mouth over the opening, his lips touching nothing but the water.

Mr. Littell offered to place the fountains in the Stillman building for $193; in the Franklin for $243; in the Bryant for $218; total, $654. Mr. Galbraith's bids were: Bryant, $250; Stillman, $213; Franklin, $244; total, $707. Mr. Galbraith agreed, if he received the contract, to have the work done in ten days after receving it. A bond is required for one half the amount of the contract.

Messrs. Lovell, Lounsbury, Abbott and Jenkins were present at the meeting. Dr. J. B. Probasco being detained, Mr. Lovell was made president pro tem. During the two weeks that have elapsed since the last meeting, Messrs. Abbott and Lounsbury have visited the Bryant School, in accordance with a suggestion made at the last meeting, to see how the school property would look minus a front fence. The property-holders on East Sixth street in that neighborhood have taken down their front fences, and have petitioned the Board to have the school fence also taken down. Although no vote was taken at last night's meeting, it seemed to be the sentiment of two of the members present that the fence should not come down, as it is in good condition, and for fear that the children in the neighborhood would make the yard a playground. The others didn't commit themselves. The matter will probably come up for further consideration at the next meeting.

MUST KEEP THE PEACE.

William Stuber Held in $250 Bonds to Behave Himself for Six Months.

William Stuber, a tall, athletic looking butcher, and Charles Muser, short and thin, presented a striking contrast yesterday afternoon as they stood up before Justice Mosher and told their wrongs. Stuber, the big man, assaulted Muser Monday, and with his big fist bruised the little man's face terribly.

It was hard to find out what the trouble started about. Fred Endress, for whom both men work, saw a little of the fracas, and was the only witness outside of the two parties. It is said that jealousy is at the bottom of the fuss, but Stuber gave as his excuse for striking the other that Muser had called him a name.

Muser's counsel was William Sweeney, a law student. Stuber looked after his own interests. After hearing the two stories Justice Mosher held Stuber under $250 bonds to keep the peace for six months. Fred Endress went on the man's bond.

Saw a Ball of Fire.

Half a dozen workmen on the tower of the new Hygeia ice-house near Berkman street, were given a scare yesterday afternoon during the shower. A ball of fire cut up queer antics, and seemed to run around the tower. A sheet of iron, just below the tower, is supposed to have attracted the lightning.

Americans and Cubans Not On Good Terms

TO CONFER WITH GOMEZ.

GEN. GARCIA ISN'T PLEASED WITH SHAFTER'S ORDERS.

Alger Makes Light of the Trouble—Cuban Junta Directs Garcia Not to Offend Americans—The Republic Ignored.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, July 19, via Playa del este, July 20, 12:55 p. m.—Gen. Garcia has left the Cuban camp with a body of picked men and has started westward to meet and confer with General Gomez, the Cuban commander-in chief, relative to the grievances against the Americans.

He makes no secret of his resentment against Gen. Shafter for the latter course of action pursued since the surrender of the city. This coming conference with the Cuban commander-in-chief is regarded with the utmost importance as Gen. Garcia is especially dissatisfied over the fact that the American General will not permit the Cuban soldiers to enter the city until it is evacuated by the Spanish.

The reason for this action is that Gen. Shafter thinks the danger of a clash between Cubans and Spaniards is too great, and so he insists that they shall remain outside entirely.

A thorough system of patrolling has been established by the Americans in the city under charge of Colonel McKibben.

A number of insurgents have already been arrested and turned over to the military authorities, having entered the city disguised as refugees and there attempted to provoke the Spaniards to take part in street riots.

This action has intensified the feeling among the insurgents that the Americans will ignore them in arranging the future form of government.

The Spanish volunteers who formed a part of General Toral's army are growing restless at the rumor that they are to be sent away from the island. As a result, they may prove troublesome. The archbishop of Santiogo received a letter from a volunteer yesterday demanding that he show less friendship to the Americans.

Washington, July 20, 12:40 p. m.—Some apprehension is felt at the outcome of the present strained relations between the Americans and Cubans at Santiago. Secretary Alger makes light of the alleged friction and says that if there is any trouble it will be quickly met.

Very conviently, the representatives of the Cuban Junta here are not in sympathy with the desire of the Cubans to sack the city. They have cabled Gen. Garcia to restrain his men and to permit no actions that will compel the United States to suppress them as menaces to the public safety.

There is a general feeling in official circles here that the Cuban Republic will be ignored for the present at least, and that the Americans will go on controlling what they have won without any union with the insurgents.

TOO MUCH RED TAPE IN CITY GOVERNMENT

There is a Movement on Foot For a Radical Change.

BOARD OF HEALTH IN FOR IT.

VOTERS SAY THEY ARE DISGUSTED WITH THE WAY THEY ACT.

A Large Petition is in Circulation to Pledge People to Support a Mayor Who Will Change Things During His Term—Republican Leaders Associated With the New Movement.

It is a little early to discuss politics, but nevertheless there is a political scheme on foot that is growing daily. In this scheme there is an effort being made to make a change in the mode of procedure in the doings of the Board of Health. That is going to be the main point to be fought for. The people back of this movement say that they are simply sick and tired of the red tape displayed in the management of affairs in that department. To this end an effort will be made to nominate and elect a Mayor who will pledge his word to follow a different policy in his appointment of members of the Board of Health, than prevails at present.

There are now several petitions being circulated and between five and six hundred voters have already been seen. Most of these have signed the petition and have promised to vote for a nominee for the Mayoralty who will make some decided changes in the municipal government.

It is no secret that much quiet work is now being done in the city and some surprises are looked for at the next election. Several prominent Republican leaders have signified their desire to associate themselves with a new movement and some have gone so far as to say that they will support and work for a change in some of the departments of the city government.

A UNION AGRICULTURIST SUFFERS A LOSS OF $5,000.

Origin of the Blaze Supposed to Have Been From Combustion in Green Hay—Valuable Horses Were Cremated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 20—The large barns on the farm of Frank Cooper, of Union, were destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. Adjoining the barns were the carriage shed and several barrarks of grain, which all fell victims to the flames. The barns contained 100 tons of hay, which burned fiercely for several hours.

In the stables were two matched teams. Despite the efforts of Cooper and his men the horses could not be driven out and were burned. The cattle were saved. A bucket brigade was formed and the house saved.

The fire started at 2 o'clock and burned until daylight The loss is estimated at $5,000, which was partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire remains a mystery. It is supposed to have started from combustion in the green hay stored in the barns.

DOWN CAME POLE AND LINEMAN.

Crossarm Struck the Ground First and Probably Saved the Man's Life.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 20—Soon after 6 o'clock last evening, while T. J. Sweeney, a lineman in the employ of the Somerset Telephone Company, was repairing a break in the line, the pole, on which he was working fell, carrying Sweeney with it. He was working at the very top, and the spectators expected to see him crushed to death. As luck would have it the crossarm struck the hard macadam first and Sweeney escaped with a severe shaking up, landing on one shoulder. He managed to extricate himself from the live wires all about him and was taken home.

This morning he is reported as doing well and the chances are that he will suffer no serious injury from his fall. The pole which was nearly forty feet high had become rotten at the base.

Dead Line Established.

SPANISH COMMANDER REPORTED KILLED IN COMBAT.

German Admiral Credited With Saying He Will Stop Bombardment—More Troops to Sail from Pacific Coast—People for Peace.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Vancouver, British Columbia, July 20, 1:29 p. m—According to despatches that have been brought on the steamer Empress of China, which has just arrived from Hong Kong, Manila is ready to surrender to the Americans.

The archbishop and captain general will not voluntarily capitulate before they are compelled to by a show of force, but the backbone of the resistance is broken.

Upon a real show of force and an intention to bombard, the Spaniards will haul down the flag themselves if the officials do not give in. Intimations to this effect have already been received from many sources.

The newspapers here credit Admiral Detrich, the German commander of the fleet at Manila, with the statement that he will prevent the Americans from bombarding the city.

Victoria, British Columbia, July 20, 12:34 p. m.—The steamer Empress of China has arrived here from Hong Kong having on board Captain Hodgson, the commander of the revenue cutter McCullough, during the battle of Manila.

It is reported at Hong Kong that an engagement took place between the Spaniards and insurgents in which both sides suffered heavily.

Previous to the engagement the Spanish commander challenged the insurgent leader, Aguinaldo, to mortal combat. The challenge was accepted and resulted in the death of the Spanish officer.

The steamer also brings the news that the black flag of rebellion in China is increasing.

APPEAL TO COUNCIL TO STOP NEWSBOYS.

They Make Life Miserable for Business Men.

A PETITION IS DRAWN UP.

THEY YELL AND FIGHT IN ENTRYWAYS ON FRONT STREET.

Since the Arrival of the War Specials From New York They Congregate—The Common Council is Asked to Abate the Nuisance—The Plainfield Merchants are Also Affected by Them.

It is war on the newsboys this time. Not on those who are working hard to earn a few pennies by hustling about the city, selling Presses and the New York evening papers, but those who spend their afternoons on the streets in the vicinity of Front street and Park avenue in yelling, hooting and fighting, and incidentally sell a few papers.

Ever since the war, with the extra-specials arriving all day from New York, there have been great times for the newsboys. They are a noisy set, most of them, and they are inclined to look more at the fun of the thing rather than the revenue derived therefrom. The Board of Education saw the situation, but it was rather beyond their jurisdiction. Now the Common Council is to be called upon to take a hand and see if the small boys cannot be put under some restraint, so that those who do business in the neighborhood will be able to enjoy a little peace and quietude.

Early in the afternoon the boys begin to congregate. The corner of Front street and Park avenue is a favorite rendezvous. Sometimes there are two score of them. Each one has a paper or two and importunes the passersby in high shrill tones to purchase it. There are by no means enough people to give them all something to do so they gather and talk and then to quarrel. One small boy gets another's papers. Words pass, then they retire to the entry-way leading to some of the stores and offices and settle the dispute with fisticuffs. Meanwhile the business men in offices and stores have to listen to the yells and howls. Customers and clients are disturbed and go elsewhere.

Chief Grant comes to the rescue. The boys are told to behave themselves. The Chief waits a few minutes while they disappear, but only is his back turned when they all troop back again.

A petition has now been drawn up and is being signed by all the business men and merchants in the vicinity asking the Common Council to do something for their relief. Nothing is suggested. The Council is left to use its own means. The petition will be presented at the next meeting of the Council. The business men feel that they are now called on to suffer an unnecessary evil. It did not used to be so; it is only within the last few months that the small newsboys have grown to be such a nuisance.

The petitioners don't ask that any privileges be taken from the small boys. It is only that they be prevented from disturbing everyone around with their shouts and their fights in the entry-ways.

NO RIGHT TO SELL A PASS.

A Plainfield Man Has a New York Scalper Arrested.

The following item appeared in The Evening Sun of yesterday:

"Timothy G. Cagney was arraigned in the Toombs Police Court today charged with violation of section 6, 1-5 of the Penal Codes which refers to the selling of non-transferable passes on railroad and steamship lines. J. S. Hobbs, the complainant, a lumber dealer of Plainfield, asserts that in the early part of February he purchased from Cagney at his office, 301 Broadway, a pass made out to E. J. Lawler and wife, from New York to Buffalo and return, for the sum of $25.

"P. J. Connolly, of the District Attorney's office, says the case is important as a test case. Cagney was held in $200 to await examination."

Mr. Hobbs conducts a lumber business in Newark, and resides on Pearl street, in the borough. He was married several months ago to a Miss Emma Gamberton, and it was while on his wedding trip that the passes mentioned were used.

HARD WORDS FOR A LOAN ASSOCIATION.

Excited Meeting of Shareholders in Board of Trade Rooms.

MEMBERS HAVE LOST FAITH

SECRETARY LITCHMAN INTIMATED THAT SOME ONE WAS LYING.

The New Jersey Central Building and Loan Association Under Criticism by Prominent Plainfield Business Men—Say the Methods of the Company are Not the Same as Promised.

A special meeting of the local members of the New Jersey Central Building and Loan Association was held last evening in the Board of Trade rooms for the purpose of meeting a representative of the association from Newark, who was to explain the workings of the organization and to give the members some additional information.

Charles H. Litchman, secretary of the New Jersey association, who resides in Newark, came to Plainfield and met with the members. In all there were about sixty members of the local branch and among those present at the meeting were W. R. Codington, E. M. Laing, Garret Dunham, F. S. Runyon, L. E. Barkalew, George Hartfelder, Henry Liefke, Dr. J. T. Fritts and many others.

It was evident at the start that many of the members had lost faith in the association and had come prepared to get what information they desired or get out. Some got the information, while others quit. The representative from Newark was subjected to constant cross examination and at times the discussion became animated.

Garret Dunham, president of the local branch, presided at the meeting, and E. M. Laing read the call of the meeting. Mr. Laing stated that he had paid into the association about $80 and all that he could get in return when he withdrew was $40. He said that he had visited the office of the association and found that a rental of $900 a year was paid, and he found the officers living in luxurious style.

According to Mr. Litchman, the association has not made a loan in two months, and during that time nearly $6,000 had been received. Yet with this amount the members withdrawing have not been able to get their money, Mr. Laing stated. Mr. Laing has acted as collector in this city and he had a number of complaints made to him by members who were fined for not paying dues promptly, yet Mr. Laing said that the association had instructed him to send the dues to them not later than the twentieth of the month. This he did regularly, he says, except during the past month, and then he would not do it when he found out how the association was run. When the discussion grew animated between Mr. Laing and Mr. Litchman, the latter inferred that someone was a liar, and added that it was not himself that was doing the lying.

W. R. Codington asked Mr. Litchman what the association had done with their receipts, but the answer was not satisfactory to the questioner.

It is said that the agent, Mr. Rambo, who instituted the local branch a year ago last January, told the members that they could get their money back after a year with 6 per cent. interest. But Mr. Litchman stated last evening that this would not be done. It was also stated last evening that half of the money received was used for general expenses of the association. As a result of the meeting many refused to continue their payments, while a few others said that they would remain in the association.

Bourgogne Survivor Is Anxious to Visit His Parents in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. LaCasse, of Craig place, the later the only woman survivor of the ill-fated Bourgogne are still in receipt of a large number of letters every day from persons living all over the country, seeking information of the last moments of the passengers who went down to watery graves from the Bourgogne. All sorts of requests and enquiries are made of them.

Though at first, after his rescue, both Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse firmly decided never to again attempt the ocean voyage, the former has now changed his mind and is seriously contemplating going to Paris in a short time to visit his parents.

Mrs. LaCasse, however, has a horror of a trip across the Atlantic, and is quite positive that she will never try it again.

They have not yet effected a settlement with the French line.

THE SPOILS OF WAR

Number of Prisoners Exceeds the Strength of Shafter's Army.

QUANTITY OF AMMUNITION

Ten Million Rounds of Ammunition Were Seized at Santiago. Shafter Asks War Department to Hurry Departure of Immune Regiments. Believed That Military Administration at Santiago Will Soon Give Way.

Washington, D. C., July 20.--The war department received a dispatch from General Shafter saying that the roster of prisoners was handed in yesterday afternoon by General Toral and that the total is 22,789 men.

General Shafter's dispatch added that the prisoners turned over to him far exceeded in numbers the strength of his own army.

General Shafter has asked the war department to hurry forward the regiments of immunes for service at Santiago city and vicinity in order that there may be a minimum of danger of further infection of our troops from the fever which prevails at Santiago.

Secretary Alger deems it probable that the total number of Spanish soldiers who will have to be transported to Spain will reach 25,000, estimated by General Shafter as General Toral's reports did not cover quite all the soldiers who would be turned over.

The secretary says the military governor of Santiago has not been definitely selected.

Our army captured 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition at Santiago, so that it will not need such supplies for some time.

General Shafter in a dispatch to the war department says he will send officers and men to receive the surrender of garrisons in the interior amounting to about 2,000 Spanish soldiers. He will also send forces to receive the surrender of the coast towns of Guantanamo, Boison, Sagua and Pancinit. Ten thousand stands of arms, he says, were taken at Santiago.

Some apprehension is expressed here that the assumption by the United States government of the control of affairs at Santiago may lead to trouble with the Cubans. A few days before the surrender of the city General Garcia sent a committeee to General Shafter informing him that the Cubans had selected a Cuban named Castillo for governor of that city.

It is plain, however, from the reading of the president's order to Shafter that it will be a long time before this Cuban officer is allowed to exercise the functions of governor and it is believed it is the president's purpose when the military government he has just erected gives way to replace it with a popular government, meaning thereby a government for Santiago chosen by the free vote of the people of Santiago.

Some doubt is expressed as to whether this programme will be entirely acceptable to that element of the Cuban party which demands immediate possession of captured territory, but as the administration is convinced that this element is neither the most numerous nor respectable in the Cuban cause, it is believed their dissatisfaction will take no more dangerous form than protests and growls.

It has been suggested that the president's action in the case of Santiago might be construed by European nations as indicating an intent to disregard the terms of the congressional resolution which precipitated the war, and to mean a permanent seizure of the islands in behalf of the United States. This view, however, will not, it is believed, obtain to any extent among the representatives of the European nations in the United States, who are aware of the necessity of some such action as that adopted by the president in order to prevent excesses and lawless extravagance at Santiago.

The ordnance department of the war department is considering what to do with the large quantity of arms, ammunition, fortification guns and ordnance stores which have come into the possession of this government through the surrender of Santiago.

General Shafter reports that about 7,000 Mauser rifles were turned over the first day and the number will reach probably 20,000 when the troops at other points in the surrendered zone turn in their guns. The reports made before the surrender indicated that the Mausers handled by the Spanish troops were not in very good condition. The guns were all right when furnished, but the poor care they received, principally from the volunteers, left many of them rusty and defective. Ordnance officials believe, however, that the greater part of the guns can be put in first class order.

The Mauser has a calibre of seven millimeters, or .2 7-8 of an inch, while the American gun has a calibre of .3 of an inch. This difference in calibre makes it impossible to use American ammunition in the captured guns. The surrender also covers a large stock of ammunition, rifle balls, etc., of the caliber suitable for the Mausers, so that when the guns are repaired there will be an ample stock of cartridges to use in them. The ordnance bureau is considering only what shall be done with the guns if they are utilized by this government, as it has nothing to do with the larger question concerning the ultimate return of the guns to the Spanish troops. This is a general question of governmental policy, but it appears to be pretty well settled that the guns will not be returned to the Spaniards, at least until the war is over.

Paymasters Off for Santiago.

Washington, July 20.--Nineteen paymasters, under the command of Major Sniffen, have sailed for Santiago to pay the troops under General Shafter's command. Four paymasters sail on the Resolute, from New York, and will have charge of the funds which will be transported on this cruiser. The others will sail from Tampa. After paying off at Santiago, the paymasters will proceed to Porto Rico to pay the troops sent there.

AFTER THE SURRENDER.

Starving Refugees Flock Into the City for Aid.

Santiago de Cuba, via Playa del Este, July 20.--Refugees in armies are flocking into the city. The Red Cross will feed 40,000 to-night.

A strong guard has trouble in keeping the starving citizens from the stores which are being landed. The 1,400 tons on the State of Texas have been distributed by water.

Miss Barton reports that Robert Douglas of Kingston, a wealthy citizen, has given his home at Santiago to the Red Cross for a headquarters. One thousand tons of provisions additional are expected to arrive in a few days.

We expect to ship the Spanish army before the 24th of July. The Spanish ships now available for transports in the harbor are the Mexico, with accommodations for 1,000 men, the Reina Isle, Los Angeles Mortera, and San Juan, which are small, and can take only 600 each. American transports probably will be necessary. Admiral Sampson on the Vixen entered Santiago harbor yesterday for a conference with General Shafter concerning the transportation of the Spanish troops.

The correspondent Scovel was taken yesterday from Carcel Real, where he was confined for striking General Shafter, to Siboney under a small guard in the tug Colon. He may be tried here or taken a prisoner to the United States.

The contact torpedoes now have all been lifted, but the cable torpedoes are still in the harbor.

General Shafter stopped the press Santiago wire yesterday until further orders. The city has a holiday appearance. The famished Spanish welcome the Americans. Only the captain of the port, Miller, has disproved the friendly manifestations. He wildly declares that General Toral will be punished by Spain.

Mr. Ramsden, the British consul, in an interview says the Americans will be forced to keep a big army here until the Cubans have demonstrated their ability to rule themselves.

There is no fever in the city, but there are ten or fifteen deaths every day from starvation. The Spanish arms from the front have been stored in the middle of a park of artillery.

MILES WAS DELAYED.

Secretary Alger Expects the Expedition to Start at Once.

Washington, July 20.--At the cabinet meeting yesterday a cablegram was read from General Miles dated Monday night, regarding the Porto Rico expedition. Secretary Alger, who left considerably in advance of the remainder of the cabinet, said General Miles wired he doubtless would get off today. The secretary announced to the cabinet that the landing of the first force would be effected under cover of the big guns of the navy and that reinforcements would follow the first landing and make up a fully adequate force for the assault.

The secretary would not go into details concerning the Porto Rican expedition, but said he fully expected it would start at once on its mission.

Secretary Long announced that he had no important dispatches, but that general instructions had been issued to the fleet to render the fullest co-operation with the army in attacking Porto Rico.

Secretary Alger said that the plans for the departure of the Porto Rican expedition were being executed without the slightest hitch. General Miles's failure to get away on the Yale Monday was brought about through some confusion in the telegraphic orders.

It is expected that he has already sailed from Siboney for Porto Rico. He has with him Captain Fred Alger, son of the secretary, who has been transferred to General Miles's staff from the staff of General Duffield.

Secretary Alger declined to publish the list of troops that comprise the Porto Rican expedition. He said that it was still subject to change and that this information will be withheld for a few days.

The First Illinois is the only regiment known here to have actually gone to Porto Rico with General Miles.

The Resolute Sails.

New York, July 20.--The armed supply vessel Resolute, heavily ladened, left this port direct for Santiago last evening. The vessel has on board a large supply of the necessities and many of the luxuries of life. Captain Eaton is in charge. Captain Kimball of the quartermaster's department has placed on board many thousand suits of underclothing, 10,000 pairs of socks, 2,000 pairs of shoes and 2,000 blankets, among other things.

Lieutenant Aristides Agramonte of this city is in charge of the medical supplies and will establish the first bacteriological laboratory on the island of Cuba.

Major Sommers, with twenty-five immunes, from the Second Tennessee regiment, will have control of the work of fighting the fever in Cuba. There were about one hundred nurses on board.

The Pelayo in Tow.

Marseilles, July 20.--A steamer which has just arrived here reports having sighted on July 16, off the coast of Tunis, the Spanish fleet commanded by Admiral Camara.

As the steamer passed the battleship Pelayo a column of smoke suddenly issued from her and from the fact that a cruiser had to take the Pelayo in tow it is evident that the most powerful warship of Spain has been damaged.

Bonds at a Premium.

New York, July 20.--The price of the new government war bonds has advanced slightly. One prominent Wall street house is bidding 102 3-4 for them and selling at 103. The latest information from Washington is to the effect that none of the bids for $5,000 or over will get awards. The bids for $500 and less have passed the $100,000,000 mark.

Ships for Cuban Ports.

Washington, July 20.--Acting Secretary Spaulding has telegraphed instructions to collectors on the Atlantic coast allowing them to clear American or neutral vessels with supplies and provisions for Guantanamo or other ports in Spanish territory in possession of the military or naval forces of the United States.

CAIMANERA GIVES UP

The Formal Transfer Took Place Yesterday.

SPANISH FLAG LOWERED

About 6000 Troops Made Prisoners of War. Yellow Fever Among Them and About Two Thirds Only Are Fit for Service. The Cubans Get Only Contempt from Our Soldiers.

Camp McCalla, July 20.--A launch from the Marblehead went up the bay yesterday afternoon to Vertcaya del Tora, opposite Caimanera, and gave formal notice to the Spanish commander of the surrender of General Toral's troops, together with the conditions of the capitulation of Santiago. A limited time was fixed for hauling down the Spanish flag over Caimanera. The American officer also gave notice that if the Spanish gunboat Sandoval was disabled in any way, or if any arms, ammunition, public buildings, or barracks at Caimanera or Guantanamo were destroyed, the Spaniards would not be treated as prisoners of war. The flag was hauled down later in the day.

From Spanish sources it is learned that the total force in Guantanamo and Caimanera is about 5,000 of which number, however, only about 3,000 are fit for service, the others being disabled by sickness or wounds.

To-day a formal surrender has taken place. What disposition will be made of the prisoners has not yet been determined, because of the presence of yellow fever among them. A rigid quarantine will be maintained, and it is probable that transports for the removal of the prisoners will be sent up the bay and loaded there, instead of having the prisoners marched down here.

Strained Relations With Cuban Army.

A fact which is impressed more and more every day upon the American officers and men is the increasing strained relations between the Americans and General Garcia's Cuban soldiers. Indeed the situation has now reached a point where there is practically no communication at all between the two armies and the relations border on those of hostility rather than the relations one would suppose would exist between allies.

So soon as General Shafter announced his decision not to let the Cuban junta enter the city of Santiago de Cuba deep mutterings were heard among General Garcia's men. It was evident the Cubans were greatly disappointed at the step taken by the American commander, for they had confidently counted on having Santiago turned over to them to loot and plunder as they had, in succession, sacked Daiquiri, Siboney and El Caney. Consequently their disappointment was keen when they ascertained that they were not to be permitted to take possession of the city upon General Toral's surrender. On Friday last a brother of General Demetrius Castillo went to General Shafter's headquarters in order to ascertain the cause of this order.

No Cuban or American Soldiers Allowed to Enter the City.

"Why is Santiago to remain in the hands of our enemies?" he asked.

"The Spaniards are not our enemies," replied General Shafter. "We are fighting the soldiers of Spain, but we have no desire to despoil her citizens. No Cuban will be allowed to enter the city nor will any American soldier. The government of the city is a matter for the people to decide. When the American army leaves it I presume it will be turned over to you, but not until then."

The correspondent of the Associated Press saw a group of Cubans refuse point blank to aid in building roads and, during the two days' heavy fighting, while they were loitering in the rear, our surgeons sought in vain to secure assistance from them, even to cut poles for improvised litters for our wounded.

Hundreds of such instances are being told about the camp fires, until the name of Cuban is usually wreathed with camp profanity and very rarely is a kind word spoken of them.

MADRID HEARS THE NEWS

Official Notification from Blanco Reaches Spain's War Department.

Madrid, July 20.--General Correa, minister of war, has received a dispatch from Captain General Blanco at Havana saying that General Toral had telegraphed from Santiago on Saturday that the surrender of the city involved all of the troops and war material of the Santiago division.

The officers were to retain their arms and the men and officers their personal property. General Toral further said that he was permitted to remove the official documents and military archives of the city. The Spanish were to evacuate with honors of war after laying down their arms. The sailors were to be treated in the same manner as the soldiers.

MANY SOLDIERS POISONED.

Ate Hash Cooked in Tins and Ptomaine Poisoning Ensues.

Washington, July 20.--Fifty-five men belonging to Company A, Twenty-second Kansas volunteers, at Camp Alger, were poisoned yesterday by eating hash which had been cooked in a tin vessel that had become corroded. Fifteen of the men are seriously ill and are not expected to recover.

The hash was eaten at breakfast yesterday morning and those who partook of it became ill shortly afterward. The hospital doctors pronounce it to be ptomaine poisoning.

The names of the men have not been ascertained.

Removing the Mines.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 20.--The work of removing the submarine mines that, since the middle of April, have formed an important feature of the defences of the Delaware river and bay, was begun yesterday. The mines will not be exploded, but will be taken up, tested and stored away for future use.

SPAIN FAVORABLE TO PEACE

Decision of the Cabinet Was Reached Late Last Night

A Unanimous Decision

The New York Sun's cable dispatch this morning says under date of Madrid, July 20, 2 a. m.:

"The council has unanimously agreed to seek peace. The responsibility for capitulation is left to Captain General Blanco and General Toral solely.

"It is significant that the censorship raised no objection to the dispatch announcing that the cabinet had decided to seek peace."

SANTO DOMINGO'S DESTRUCTION.

How the Little Eagle Annihilated the Big Liner.

Key West, Fla., July 20.--Confirmation of the report that the Spanish transatlantic liner Santo Domingo, of 5,500 tons, was totally destroyed by the little auxiliary gunboat Eagle on July 12, off Cape Francis, was received here yesterday. This intelligence was brought here by the Nashville, which came up after the attack and found the Spanish ship burned and smashed on the reefs.

The affair offers a striking commentary on the difference between American and Spanish spirit. The Santo Domingo had two 5-inch guns mounted and loaded; her magizenes were open and it only remained to train her guns and fire them to blow the little Eagle out of the seas. But the latter ship, with her comparatively feeble battery of six-pounders, steamed to within two miles of the enemy and pounded shot after shot into her hull until she turned and in a desperate attempt to get into the narrow channel grounded on the reef, without having tried to return the American fire.

Seventy shots were fired by the Eagle, and nearly all took effect. When the Spanish ship went ashore a river steamer came out and took off her officers and crew. Then the Eagle sent a crew to board her and there were shouts of surprise when the big guns were discovered. She also carried in her hold two 12-inch guns.

The cargo was largely of grain and food supplies. Fifty head of cattle were penned on the deck. She had been drawing twenty-four feet of water and went aground in twenty. The Eagle's men decided that she was too far gone to be floated and, after shooting the cattle, they set fire to her and watched her destruction.

She burned for three days and was lefta charred wreck. She was one of the best steamers of the enemy and had been used as an auxiliary cruiser.

A DISPUTE OVER PRIZES.

Gen. Shafter's Refusal to Surrender Captured Ships to the Navy.

Santiago de Cuba, July 20.--The question has arisen between the army and navy officers as to the disposition to be made of the half dozen large Spanish merchant steamers which were in the harbor of Santiago at the time of the surrender.

Rear Admiral Sampson arrived in the city yesterday on the Vixen, and claimed that the steamers were prizes of the navy. He also was desirous of placing prize crews on board of them.

General Shafter, however, refused to recognize Admiral Sampson's claims. He declared that the steamers, with everything else in Santiago had surrendered to him. The question, apparently is still undecided. The rear admiral returned to his flagship without having distributed prize crews among the merchantmen, and the latter are still in possession of the army.

Will Not Be Returned.

Washington, July 20.--It is authoritatively stated that the surrendered Spanish arms will not be sent back to Spain.

NEWS FROM CHICKAMAUGA.

Two Divisions Ready to Leave Camp Thomas for Charleston.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 20.--Preparations are going on unabated to move troops from Chickamauga. General Brooke arrived from Washington yesterday and it is generally understood at headquarters that he will immediately issue orders for the removal of two divisions of his First Corps to Charleston.

The wagon trains and stock of General Hains, Second brigade, have all gone to Charleston, and this brigade will doubtless follow to-day or to-morrow.

Colonel Rockwell, chief ordnance officer, says that he has received ordnancestores sufficient to complete equipping the First Corps, and that by noon to-day these stores will be duly distributed.

Five carloads of ordnance stores arrived yesterday, including one car of rifles and revolvers from the Columbia arsenal, two cars of general equippage from the Rock Island arsenal and two cars of ammunition, a total of 1,000,000 rounds from the Frankland arsenal of Philadelphia.

By the last of this week the entire two divisions of General Brooke's corps will be on their way to the front. In all probability General Wade will remain in command of the Camp Thomas army and General Brooke will devote himself to seeing that the army moves away promptly. Railroad cars have been placed in position and there will be no delay in moving troops when the order is given.

Arrangements are being perfected for a banquet and smoker to be given soon by the members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at the park. Adjutant T. M. Cobb of the Fifth Missouri began the movement yesterday, and he will be assisted by Lieutenant William J. Nixon of the Third Tennessee, who is another enthusiastic fraternity man. Nearly every regiment in the park will be represented at the banquet.

Troops to Embark at New York.

New York, July 20.--Orders from Washington were received at the Army building yesterday directing that the three transports, Massachusetts, Michigan and Roumania, which are to take the troops to Porto Rico, shall not be sent to Newport News and Tampa, where it was intended to embark the troops. The orders directed that the vessels should be kept here and said that the troops would be sent here at an early date for embarkation.

GERMANY NOT HOSTILE.

Dewey's Dispatch Saying No Change Had Occurred.

Washington, July 20.--At yesterday's cabinet meeting a dispatch from Admiral Dewey was read, stating that there was no change in the situation at Manila.

It was the opinion of the members of the cabinet that he report of strained relations between Admiral Dewey and the German admiral is without any foundation, in fact. This is indicated by the fact that Admiral Dewey's dispatch was taken to Hong Kong by a German warship.

Both the president and Secretary Day are said to have assured the cabinet members that nothing of an aggravating nature had occurred at Manila between the Americans and Germans.

It is not stated officially, but there is good reason to believe that either through Ambassador White at Berlin or the representative of the German government here, the state department has received assurancs as to the attitude of Germany toward the Philippines that have removed the grave apprehension heretofore entarteined that Germany would offer obstacles to the execution of our plans.

It may be that they are based upon facts communicated by Admiral Dewey as to messages between himself and the German admiral in the Philippines, for it is known that for politic reasons the navy department withheld from publication a large and important section of Dewey's last cablegram received several days ago.

The reported negotiations between the insurgent leader, Aquinaldo, and the Spanish captain general, Augustin, have not yet been reported officially to our government.

Plans at Santiago.

Washington, July 20.--A general outline of the future work of the Santiago forces has been semi-officially stated at the war department.

The plan contemplates having General Shafter remain at Santiago until the Spanish forces have withdrawn from the surrendered territory and embarked for Spain. This will about complete the work assigned to the general, and he will be allowed to return to the United States. Who will succeed him in command is yet a matter of speculation, all of the senior officers being favorably spoken of for the cammand. General Shafter, it is thought, can complete his work in about a month.

The work of the Santiago army, however, is not finished. If present arrangements are carried out, the army will, for a time, encamp on the high hills in the vicinity of Santiago. After a complete rest, operations will be resumed. This contemplates the occupation of any important Spanish posts in the vicinity, the examination of the roads, repairing and extension of railroads and the establishment of bases of supplies.

The movement, it is understood, will be made in the direction of Havana, all possible measures being taken to isolate that city. From the outlook at present, however, it seems that this army will see much more important service.

The occupation of Santiago proper it is generally believed, will be assigned to two regiments of immunes.

Big Contract for Hay.

St. Louis, July 20.--A St. Louis firm has secured the largest contract for hay ever let by the United States government. The contract calls for nine million pounds, to be delivered at Chickamauga.

Blew Up Six Men.

Oakland, July 20.--The California Fuse Works was blown up by a Chinaman fleeing from arrest yesterday.

Six deputy sheriffs who were trying to arrest the alleged murderer, were killed.

THE FEVER AT TAMPA

Camp to Be Removed at once to Fernandina,

BROUGHT FROM SANTIAGO

It is Believed That the Soldiers to Be Moved to Fernandina Will Be Placed in Quarantine There. War Department Officials Generally Regard the Situation as Grave.

Washington, D. C., July 20.--The authorities at Washington are alarmed at the prospect of a yellow fever scourge.

Despite the best endeavors of the marine hospital service the disease has worked its way into this country and according to reports received here has a strong foothold at Tampa. Yellow fever has been discovered among the troops at that place or in such close proximity to them that it is believed some of the men are infected.

So serious is the situation at Tampa regarded that the department has issued orders to abandon the camp at that place. As soon as the troops that have been selected for Santiago leave Tampa the balance of the regiments there will be rushed to Fernandina.

The fact that the government is to locate these men at Fernandina leads to the belief that they are to be permanently quarantined there. That port was some weeks ago decided to be unsuited for a general rendezvous, because of the poor facilities for embarking troops. The channel is very uncertain, owing to a shifting sand bar, and the special board appointed to examine Fernandina reported that it would be unwise to quarter the men there.

It has always been admitted, however ,that Fernandina is specially well adapted for quarantining troops owing to the fact that it is located on a strip of projecting land which is connected with the main coast by a single railroad. All communication can thus easily be cut off. It is therefore believed that the men who are to be taken to Fernandina are to be quarantined on account of yellow fever among them.

The officials have all along contended that the officers of the marine hospital service would be able to prevent yellow fever from getting into the country, but they reluctantly admit that once it gets into the interior the situation would be very serious.

Yellow fever stations have been established at Egmond Bay, near Tampa, and at an island near Key West, where it was the intention to confine all persons infected with the dreaded disease. It is now said that the precautions against the spread of the fever have not been stringent enough.

Officers and men who have seen service at Santiago have been arriving in this city every day for the past week. Some have come direct from hospitals at Key West, while others have been in the hospitals and sick camps at Santiago. If any of these men have been infected by the germs of the fever abundant opportunities have been afforded for the spread of the disease. The matter has been called to the attention of the officers of the marine hospital service and it is thought that some very stringent rules will soon be enforced in regard to the admission of soldiers returning from Santiago.

The statement that yellow fever cannot be carried into northern climates is ridiculed by prominent medical men here. They have records of cases where men have died away up in the mountains of Pennsylvania from sleeping on the cots used by yellow fever patients, and they say that once the fever is introduced here it will be hard to check its progress, as the soldiers from the infected districts are now pretty well scattered throughout the country.

COAST DEFENSES.

Are More Effective as Means of Protection Than Warships.

Washington, July 20.--The military and naval experts say that several important lessons in ordnance and fortifications are furnished by the campaign against Santiago. It ispointed out that the long contentions between the relative merits of land fortifications and naval ships as a means of coast defence have received much light by recent operations.

When Admiral Sampson was chief of the ordnance bureau of the navy department he held that the most effective means of defending coasts was by means of warships rather than coast defences. It is said, however, that the Spanish defence of Santiago harbor has demonstrated that coast defences are even more effective than warships.

The batteries of Morro Castle, Socapa and others, aided by the mining and torpedoing of the harbor, were effective in preventing the American fleet from entering the harbor, and this despite the fact that the Spanish guns were in no sense fortification armament. It is said by some of the experts that if Morro had possessed the large modern fortification guns such as those protecting New York or Boston, it would have been able not only to have defended Santiago, but to have done serious damage to the attacking fleet.

Tax Law Ruling.

Washington, July 20.--The commissioner of internal revenue yesterday with the approval of the attorney general, promulgated a ruling to the effect that all documents, certificates, checks, etc., of whatever nature, otherwise taxable, drawn in the transaction of official business, need not be stamped. Certificates and other papers prepared for the use of or at the request of private persons should be stamped.

Yankees in Corea.

Yokohama, July 20.--Advices from Seoul say that the American minister there has arranged with the Corean government that American experts shall survey the country, with a view of building roads, bridges, etc.

Stronger Men Wanted.

Washington, July 20.--A general order has been issued from the Adjutant General's office requiring closer attention to the physical condition of men examined and accepted for service.

Fact Difficult to Decide.

In all the history of the New Jersey courts it is not likely that a harder time to decide a matter of fact has been brought up than in a case developing out of the disaster to the Bourgogne steamship.

Among the passengers who lost their lives were Captain William V. Clark and wife, of Hackensack. The couple were on their wedding tour, but before leaving home the Captain bequeathed his property, worth $30,000, to his wife in the event of his death.

Their unexpected fate, however, puts the will in a new light before the Chancery Court. If Mr. Clark died first all his property goes to the heirs of Mrs. Clark, but if the wife died first then Mr. Clark's heirs take the property. The Clarks were first-class passengers, and not one in that cabin was saved, according to common report, but there is a remote possibility that they were picked up, and may appear alive at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse, of Plainfield, two of the survivors of the collision, have been subpœnaed, but as they were second-class passengers it is not likely that they knew Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

Take Down the Fence.

A high board fence is not a very nice ornament to a residential section such as East Fifth street, and if the majority of property owners along that thoroughfare want the fence in front of the Bryant School building removed the Board of Education ought to comply with their request.

The purpose of the board fence is to keep the scholars within the school grounds and prevent them from trespassing upon private property. But if the householders in that immediate vicinity are willing to take the risk of destruction of lawns and the consequent aggravation of mind if the fence is removed, the Board of Education would seem to be exercising too fine a point to leave it standing for fear it might result in a condition of things that the petitioners are willing to assume all the trouble of.

What Assessments Show.

In nearly every town and city of Union county the assessors show increased valuation this year, the aggregate amount of all being $1,047,700. Plainfield leads every other place in the increased valuation, the exact amount being $303,000—almost one-third of the total sum. In a list of sixteen municipalities this shows convincingly the important factor Plainfield is in one of the principal counties of New Jersey. In Plainfield there are 3,315 voters. Elizabeth has 10,574.

The County Board of Assessors has fixed the county tax rate at .51 1 4, and the State school rate was .27 1 3 Plainfield apportionment under these rates will be: County, $41,601.11; school, $21,844.81.

A Temperance Lesson.

When a white-haired woman, bowed down with three-score of years, is haled before the city cadi on a disreputable charge and begs to be sent to the county jail for thirty days, is there any better temperance lesson to be secured from the mirror of our daily life? The case of old Mrs. Fleming, witnessed in the police court yesterday morning, was one of the most forlorn and pitiable seen there in many a day.

BEHIND BARBED WIRE.

This picture, made from a photograph, shows a Spanish battery in front of Santiago. With a blockhouse to protect the rear and a barbed wire fence in front the position is an unusually strong one, but Uncle Sam's boys in blue succeeded in routing every such battery that they ran across.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Unless the Elizabeth-Plainfield trolley franchise brings in the open market enough money to pay all the costs of widening the roadway the whole scheme may be indefinitely postponed, and that would be a pity. When the agitation of this question was at its height last winter Frank Bergen, the originator of the plan, declared that he could form a local company operating with home capital to take over the franchise at the cost of the necessary improvements.

Nothing has been said on this point for a good while, and there is nothing to show whether the idea has been dropped, or whether it is intended to take potluck with the bids from existing trolley companies, which have no reason to look with favor on the plan of leasing or selling franchises.—Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Whenever the Alert hose carriage attends a fire, "Spot," the big coach dog, always accompanies her. There are two of the dogs that live at the quarters on West Second street, "Spot" and "Toots." Monday night there was great rejoicing among the many frequenters of the Alert house, for "Toots" was the mother of seven little puppies. Everybody is anxious to have one, so there will be no trouble in disposing of them all.

* * * * *

The good Plainfielders who retire to their downy couches at 10 o'clock and arise in the morning at 6 or 7, have no idea what a lively time there is on the Jersey Central railroad during the hours around midnight. During the day the commuter and other passenger traffic monopolizes most of the attention of the railroad authorities. Passenger trains follow each other with great frequency while few freight or coal trains are noticed. At night, however, there is a steady roar and rumble of passing coal trains. They start up in the coal regions late in the afternoon and reach Jersey City at an early hour next morning. The trains are composed of 170 small "jimmies" or their equivalent in the large gondolas. Looking after them and the big milk trade of the Central makes things lively for the night gang.

* * * * *

It was a few minutes after 10 o'clock the other morning when the telephone bell rang vigorously in Roberts' livery stable office.

"Hello," complacently said Uncle Dan as he took down the receiver and held it to his ear.

"Hello there! hello! hello! Say, now, now say, is this Roberts' livery stable?" stuttered the voice from the other end in an excited manner.

"Yes, this is Roberts'! What can I do for you?" asked Uncle Dan.

"Well, say, there's a man down here—this is Pond's—lying under a tree, who's broke his leg. It's Johnnie Smith, you know. Hurry up and send the ambulance down here. He's suffering something awful."

It wasn't but two or three minutes after that when the sombre-hued, rubber-tire rapid transit hospital was rolling down West Second street at a 2:20 gait, the bell clanging at steady intervals to warn other vehicles to give the right of way.

A couple minutes later the ambulance drew up near the Pond Tool Works and under the shade of an apple tree could be seen the prostrated form of a man. The individual was lying on the flat of his back, his eyes rolling, his arms doing gymnastic stunts in the air, and his throat exploding sundry grunts as though he was in terrible agony.

"Oh, oh, wow, wow, oh, oh," grunted the man as he punctuated his agonizing expressions with solar plexis blows into midair.

"Pretty bad case, I tell you," remarked Harry Roberts, the driver of the ambulance. "Hurry up boys, get him on the stretcher and we'll get him over to the hospital as quick as we can."

Harry's two assistants acted quickly and efficiently and a moment after Johnnie Smith was inside the ambulance and being driven rapidly towards Muhlenberg Hospital. The horse drew up in front of the hospital, the house physician came out and Johnnie was hauled forth for inspection. The latter touched the patient's body.

"Oh, oh, ouch, oh, oh," grunted Johnnie as the doctor stirred him up to see what was the matter.

"What's the matter," asked the doctor.

"I fell off a forty foot ladder and hurt myself here," said Johnnie, pointing towards his ribs. "Oh, oh, ouch."

The doctor stooped over and as he did so he detected a smell—just a faint one, but enough to arouse his suspicions.

"What did you say was the matter with you?" asked the doctor again, touching him in the ribs at the same moment.

"I fell off a ladder twenty feet high," answered Johnnie, reducing by one-half the height of his fall.

"I guess you're not much hurt, are you?" interrogated the physician.

"Oh, oh, ouch, oh, oh, I'm hurt, I'm dying, take me in, give me something quick, I fell off a ladder twelve feet high and stove in my ribs. Don't you see 'em sticking out, Doc?"

And Johnnie realistically pointed his index finger to where his ribs were. The doctor did not see them sticking out, however.

"You're drunk, man, there's nothing the matter with you," said the doctor severely. "You can't come in here."

By this time Johnnie evidently concluded that falling off a ladder was not among the casualties in the Muhlenberg catalogue of accidents, and he changed his cause of injury to someone hitting him with a brick. But it was no use; the doctor had diagnised his case as a plain drunk, and Johnnie was absolutely refused admittance to the hospital.

"What'll I do with him?" asked Harry Roberts of the doctor, as he gazed at his valuable passenger.

"Take him to the police station," advised the doctor.

After several minutes of counsel with his assistants, during which Johnnie bemoaned the cruelty of fate that wouldn't let him in the hospital, Harry concluded that rather than to subject unfortunate Johnnie to the disposition of the city court they would drive him to the orchard along Green brook and there lay him in repose under a crab apple tree till he could recuperate sufficiently to care for himself.

And that was what was done.

It was the oddest experience the ambulance has ever gone through.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 20—Edward Prentice, of Camp Black, was in town yesterday visiting his friends. He is now waiting orders to join the 71st N. Y. Regiment. When he returns he will take his dog with him for a mascot.

In a short time tax warrants will be issued by the Council at the request of the collector of taxes so that property on which the tax has not been paid can be sold. This refers to the 1896 taxes.

Work on the trolley was deferred yesterday afternoon on account of the storm. The rails will be laid to the Plainfield Street Railway tracks by the latter part of the week.

What has become of the Dunellen Gun Club? There used to be such an organization, but of late no news has been received that such a society is in existence.

Rockview Council, Daughters of Liberty, held its first meeting under the new officers last Monday evening. The new council is started off with success.

Next Thursday evening Rev. E. S. Jamison, of the M. E. church, will deliver his interesting lecture on "The Parsonage Door-Bell."

Mrs. Johnson, of South avenue, who has been seriously ill for a long time, is gradually failing, and hopes of her recovery are given up.

Mrs. C. D. Taylor, who has been confined to the house with rheumatism, is now able to go about.

The Misses Gaston, of Newark, have returned home after a short visit with borough friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, of Church street, are entertaining their cousin, Miss Austin.

Miss Dealaman, of Washington avenue, called on Plainfield friends yesterday.

Miss Starker, who has been visiting friends at High Bridge, has returned home.

Miss Dinneen, of Junction, Hunterdon county, is visiting relatives in town.

Joseph Maier, of North avenue, has been the guest of friends in Plainfield.

Miss Bessie Milliken is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Orr, of Summit.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 20—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fletcher are entertaining their son from Boston.

Last evening a number of the members of Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, went to Plainfield and paid a visit to Old Glory Council. A general good time was had by all.

Harry Cathers, of Lahaska, Pa., who has been stopping in town for a short time, has returned home. He will return to New Market in the fall to teach school.

All of the scarlet fever cases in town are improved and it will not be long before the sick ones will be out again.

Mrs. Nelson and the Misses Nelson, of Brooklyn, have returned home, after a visit at the Nelson House.

F. H. Lewis, who has been ill for the past ten days, is much improved.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 20—Miss Hoyt, of Westfield, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haberle, Sunday.

Old Glory, which has been flying from the liberty pole for some time, seems to be in trouble again, and has not been flung to the breeze for several days.

A great deal of rivalry exists among the local wheelmen, and a series of races may be arranged in the near future to determine who is the best rider.

A large number of wheelmen from Plainfield, journey every Sunday afternoon to the Back pond to enjoy a cool plunge.

J. E. Flannery and mother, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with Mr. Flannery's daughter, Mrs. George H. Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam, of Plainfield spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz, Mrs. Putnam's parents.

Charles Hanfelt and sister, of New York, were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Frank Hosinger.

Charles Langdon, who has been visiting his uncle, has returned to his home.

Miss Lottie Lyons, of Plainfield, visited old friends in town Sunday.

Frederick Schiemer, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his parents.

Phillip Radin spent Sunday with his daughter in Plainfield.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 20—The Cranford Township Committee will meet tomorrow evening and it is expected that the trolley franchise will then be given to the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railroad Company.

The people of Westfield are up in arms over the action of the Board of Freeholders in leaving Westfield out of the proposed widening of North avenue. The Township Committee has said that it would not grant any trolley company a franchise unless the avenue was widened through here and, according to the law under which the boulevard act was passed, the Freeholders are powerless to sell the franchise unless all the townships and boroughs along the line give their consents.

There is talk of organizing a vigilance committee in town to put a check to the frequent fires which have taken place lately. There have been five fires and three attempts to burn other buildings.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 20—The Central Railroad Company are about to erect safety gates at the crossing here, which this paper called their attention to a short time ago.

The baseball club would like to arrange games with any nine in or out of this county. While not prepared to pay high prices for games they believe they could make it interesting for any team that would come here.

Miss Etta Naylor arrived home today after a three weeks' visit with friends in Homestead.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Manager Maze Edwards is on deck again in an amusement sense and next week will see the opening of Music Hall for the season of 1898 and 1899. For the opening of the theatre, he has engaged the "Sullivan's Troubadours," a new idea in repertoire, with the following named list of all-star artists:

The California Comedy Couple, Charles B. Nelson and Mamie Milledge, producers of comedies, farces and dramas. Also the well known romantic actor, E. P. Sullivan, and a carefully selected company, presenting scenes from standard and classic plays; Emily Lascelles, the pretty and talented leading lady; "Flora," the queen of all transformation dancers, in a bewildering vision of light and motion; Leah Starr, the fascinating dancing and singing soubrette; Joe A. Hardman, the eccentric comedian; Master C. Whitely, New York's phenomenal boy singer; The Glees, America's most wonderfully talented musical artists, in their musical melange, consisting of operatic and popular gems and refined comedy; C. E. MacKenzie, introducing Edison's waragraph, showing all of the latest war pictures, up to date and true to life; C. L. Hamer, the talented composer of music. This clever organization is under the management of H. Brooks Hopper.

CHICKERING PIANOS

An English authority, John H. Gower, (Doctor of Music in the University of Oxford, etc.), has this to say of the Chickering.

"Without any hesitation I say it is one of the most perfect instruments I have ever seen, either in America or Europe. In every respect it is an ideal Piano.

This unsolicited opinion may be of interest to you when I say that I have spent much time and study on the various qualities of tone produced by the different Piano-forte manufacturers, experimenting and lecturing on the many phases of the phenomenon."

THE COSTER'S WEDDING.

How "'Enry 'Awkins and His Liza" Celebrate Their Nuptials.

Touring in the eastern districts on my bicycle last Sunday took me, perforce, through the regions of Whitechapel, where I overtook a coster's wedding procession, says a correspondent of the New York Mail and Express.

A coster's wedding is a species of social function familiar enough to those whose lot is cast in the highways and byways of the east end of London. The typical coster is not the sort of a person to hide his light under a bushel on such occasions. He is careful to see that the fact of his nuptials shall be made known to the biggest possible section of the community at large, consistent with a due regard to the laws of economy. To do him justice, his efforts, ably seconded as they are by the feminine contingent, usually result in a striking success. The whole function is expressly designed to create a maximum amount of sensation with a minimum regard for the conventional rules of behavior at such events.

Sunday is the usual day fixed for the ceremony. The motley party assembled in the church maintains under the watchful eye of the person a subdued demeanor as a rule, though cases have been known when certain recognized items of the programme, such as old-shoe throwing, clapping on the back and universal embracing of the bride, were taken a little too previously. No greater extravagance in the way of carriages is ever thought of than the "donkey shay," possibly renovated and repainted for the occasion and reserved for the exclusive use of bride and groom. But more often the presence of a conveyance is entirely dispensed with, and a sort of scratch procession is organized to the home of the bride's mother. Here the first item is a feast, followed by a carousal of unlimited dimensions and indefinite length, to which a large and varied assortment of friends and relatives are duly invited. It occasionally happens that a few turn up without the formality of an invitation. Such a proceeding is risky, even in these free-and-easy circles, but should the unbidden guest succeed in timing his or her appearance to the proper psychological moment, when good wishes and good beer have worked their meximum of genial effect, probably no serious consequence to the harmony of the gathering would result.

All this, however, constitutes the family side of the affair. The public festivities are usually fixed for the following day. The piece de resistance consists almost invariably of a tour of the saloon bars of the neighborhood.

The first intimation given to the casual pedestrian that anything special is in progress is usually the emergence from a saloon of a party of gorgeously attired women and men, all in a state of extreme hilarity, who link arms promiscuously and commence a noisy, zig-zag march in the direction of the next saloon. The bride and bridegroom usually head this motley procession, with arms around each other's waist and leaning shoulder to shoulder in the most approved "'Awkins and 'Liza" form. This sort of thing continues for the greater part of the day, the party becoming gradually more and more demonstrative until exhaustion or the energetic interference of the police puts an end to the proceedings.

Woman on a War Vessel.

There is one instance, and one only, on record since the days of Artemisia, the friend and ally of Alexander, concerning whose naval prowess Herodotus tells such wonderful stories, of a woman who has fought on board a man-of-war.

She was the wife of one of the gunners on Admiral Rodney's flagship and plied the trade of a bumboat woman.

It was during the war between France and England and their colonies, which in American history is known as the French and Indian war, and Rodney had charge of the fleet in defense of the English Channel.

During a hot engagement the Admiral noticed, to his great astonishment, that a woman was serving one of the guns and doing it well.

The fight was too severe to interfere at the moment, so that, the story goes, in spite of the flagrant breach of discipline the Admiral let her alone.

When the enemy had struck his colors he went to the woman and demanded:—

"What are you doing here?"

"Fighting the French, your honor. My husband is wounded and down in the cock-pit, and so I took his place. And why not, your honor? Do you think I'm afraid of the French?"

She was reprimanded very gently and sent ashore with ten guineas as a reward for her bravery.

The Parisian Cabby.

The Paris cabby is not merely an institution, he is a social treasure. He can be as drunk as a lord, as witty as the boulevardier, the worst scamp in Christendom, and in all capacities he is the stranger's best guide, philosopher and friend. Get on the right side of a cabby and he'll tell his passenger anything from a state secret to the latest Parisian scandal. As a cicerone he is invaluable, because, having a fund of "fairy tales" at command, he is never at a loss to answer any question the stranger asks. The other day a fiacre stopped in front of the Column Vendome, and a certain Bostonian put his head out of the door to inquire of his jehu what the column might be. Cabby, perched on the box, calmly replied: "Oh, that? That is the Column Vendome, which the communards pulled down to make into cannons!" an answer that so tickled Yankee humor cabby got an extra pour boire for his "bull' or his impudence.

HOW FELT HATS ARE MADE.

Thousands of Men, Women and Boys Employed in the Industry.

One of the leading industries of this country is the manufacture of hats. At the present time fur-felt hats are made in eleven states—namely, Connecticut, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island, says the New York Commercial. There are in all more than 200 manufacturing plants producing hats for men's, boys', women's and children's wear, composed of the fur of the rabbit, beaver, nutria and other animals. The industry employs upward of 25,000 men, women and boys, and the approximate value of the output is said to be $20,000,000 annually. Speaking of men's hats and their manufacture, a representative of one of the largest firms in this city said:

"Felt hats include the popular derby and the various other styles of soft hats, all of which are made from animal furs, the natural coats of the coney, hare, nutria, muskrat and beaver. To manipulate the skins of these animals so as to properly prepare the fur for felting purposes is an expert chemical operation; in fact, a trade in itself, entirely distinct from that of hat-making, and is carried on by 'hatters'' fur-cutters in London, the world's great center for that work. The art of the hat maker includes a knowledge of the particular fur or combination of furs for making a given quality of hats. The proportioning of the different furs requires the utmost exactness. The quality of product having been decided upon, the fur is then cleaned and separated from stray hairs and all unfeltable substances. This initial process is accomplished by a windy machine called 'the devil.'

"The next process, 'forming,' consists of distributing by means of air currents a light coating of fur upon the outer surface of a revolving perpendicular cone, perforated with small holes. When fur covers the cone sufficent for one hat, it is wrapped in wet cloths and given a brief hot bath, then stripped from the cone, and, after the 'stopping' process of adding a little fur to weak spots, is wrapped with other cloths inside a woolen cloth to 'harden' it for handling. By a process called 'sizing,' which consists of repeated immersions in hot water, together with rolling and unrolling, folding and unfolding, the cone-shaped mass is reduced to one-third its original size. It is wonderful how each fiber will twist and intertwine, basket-fashion, with the other, until the product is a closely woven mass.

"The 'body' is then 'shaved' to remove stray hairs in the fur, and then it is stiffened with a coating of shellac, thoroughly dried and then subjected to steam, which softens the shellac and draws it into the fabric. When dried it is immersed in a hot alkaline solution to free the surface from shellac, and then in cold water to remove the alkali.

"'Blocking' succeeds stiffening. The fabric is dipped in boiling water and placed on a block patterned for the final shape of the hat. After the dyeing process comes that of finishing, which consists of steaming, blocking to shape the crown, drying, coating with a stiffening solution, drying again, ironing out wrinkles, after which it is pounced with emery paper and singed to remove the long nap, and oil applied to smooth the surface. The 'curling' department cuts the brim to the desired width, rolls up the sides and pitches the front and rear as the style demands.. With the process of trimming, consisting of sewing on the binding and band and cementing the lining, the derby is finished. If a soft hat is desired the stiffening process is omitted."

A Horse That Snores.

Snoring men are as plentiful as whiskey in Kentucky; they are nearly as numerous as women with cold feet. However, while these two evils are predominant with the human race, yet it is indeed seldom that a member of the animal kingdom becomes afflicted with the snoring habit. There is just one case of the kind known to exist, in Kansas City, Kan., and while there is no question about the existence of this one case the afflicted animal contracted the habit from man.

Prince, the oldest horse on the Kansas City, Kan., Fire Department, has the snoring habit, and he's got it bad. All of the "laddies" at Fire Headquarters have good records as snorers, but Prince can allow them all a bad cold and then beat them out, pulled up. Snoring Prince, or the prince snorer, is the horse driven by Assistant Chief William McConnell. He generally minces away at his food until after 12 o'clock each night, providing there are no alarms.

At about this hour he lies down in his stall and in a few minutes his eyes close and soon thereafter the snoring begins. The noise produced by the sleeping horse is similar to that of a snoring man. Before it became known that Prince actually snored several of the firemen, who take turn about watching at night, were accused of going to sleep on duty. The only foundation for the accusation was the snoring. In order to prove their innocence it became necessary for them to peach on Prince.

How Ibsen Looks.

Ibsen, the Norwegian dramatist, is an extraordinary looking man. Almost a dwarf in height, the upper part of the body is immense, compared with his lower limbs. He has a huge head, covered with bushy white hair, and his keen blue eyes glare at his interlocutor with a piercing glance.

It is impossible to run at an altitude of 17,000 feet above the sea.

WAY OF WASHING THE HAIR.

Doing It Too Frequently a Mistake Not Easily Remedied.

It is as great a mistake to wash the hair too frequently as to wash it too seldom. In the former case, the constant use of water is apt to wash away the natural oil of the skin, without which the hair not only loses its glossy look of health, but is apt to turn prematurely gray and grow thin and scanty. In the latter case the mouths of the oil vessels at the roots of the hair become clogged, dandruff forms, and the growth of the hair is impeded, and the hairs themselves become matted and dusty-looking.

To keep the hair in perfect health it should be washed at regular stated intervals. If you are strong and well, and free from a cold of any kind, once in every three weeks or a month is the proper limit of time to allow between each washing. If you are in delicate health it should be washed every six weeks.

On no account should the hair be washed if you are suffering from a cold in the head or from influenza, as serious trouble may be the result. And in winter time it is best to have the hair shampooed at home, instead of going to the hairdresser's, and it should also always be done in a room with a fire. It is a bad plan to wash the hair just before going to bed, as the hair has not time to dry properly, and is apt to remain damp till morning, which is very injurious to its growth. The best times to wash the hair are the morning, the afternoon, or between 6 and 7 at night.

In the latter case the hair will have plenty of time to dry before you have to go to bed. In the former case, if you have it washed in the daytime, be careful not to go out of doors till it is quite dry, or you will run a very great risk of taking cold.

Getting Rid of Ants.

In ridding the house of ants, the first step, if possible, is to locate the nest by following the workers back to their point of entrance and there destroying the colony. This may be done if the nest is in the wall by injecting bisulphide of carbon or a little kerosene. If the species has its colonies under the flagging in the yard, the nests may be drenched with boiling water or saturated with kerosene and thus easily destroyed; but if it is the kind that builds a system of underground galleries, bisulphide of carbon must then be poured into each of a number of holes made in the nest with a stick, and then promptly close the holes with the foot. In this case the bisulphide will penetrate the tunnels underground and kill the ants in enormous quantities. If it is impossible to locate the nests, there is no resource but to destroy the ants whenever found in the house. The best means to do this, according to the testimony of Governmental experts, is to attract the ants to small bits of sponge moistened with sweetened water and placed in the situations where they are most numerous. These sponges may be collected several times daily and scalded. It is also reported that a syrup made by dissolving borax and sugar in boiling water will effect their destruction.

Household Hints.

Milk which is turned or changed may be sweetened and rendered fit for use again by stirring in a little soda.

A tablespoonful of turpentine boiled with white clothes will aid in the whitening process.

Ripe tomatoes will remove ink and other stains from white cloth, also from the hands.

Fresh meat, after beginning to sour, will sweeten if placed out of doors in the cool of night.

Salt will curdle new milk; hence in preparing milk porridge, gravies, etc., the salt should not be added until the dish is nearly prepared.

To soften hard water for toilet purposes take of orange-flower water half a pint, of best spirits of wine a pint and of soap three-quarters of a pound. Shave the soap into the orange water, heat over a fire until the soap dissolves, and then, the vessel being removed from the fire, add the spirits of wine. A large tablespoonful of this preparation added to a basin of washing water will completely soften it and render it delightful in use. A simpler method is to put borax in the water.

A New Occupation for Girls.

Some American girls have found it possible to earn pocket money in a very pleasant fashion by taking up the profession of entertainer at children's parties and picnics. They go early to assist in preparing the tables and arranging the menus, and during the party they act as elder sister to the little ones and right hand to the hostess. Of course, they must have a repertoire of tales and riddles, and a genius for inventing and arranging games. A love for children and an unfeigned interest in their enjoyment are equally indispensable.

A Perfect Food.

Milk is a perfect food, but in no sense a beverage, and should never be used as such. For the invalid it supplies all that is necessary for sustenance, and in this respect differs from beef tea, which does not nourish, but only stimulates (although many people still foster the delusion that it affords both nutriment and strength). A very little milk, if it agrees with the individual, is of more real value than a large quantty of beef tea. Again, cocoa and chocolate, made with milk, form a rich, heavy food, but certainly not a drink.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Preußen.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Nach dem dieser Tage erschienenen Jahresbericht der städtischen Sparkasse betrug das Guthaben der Interessenten am Jahresschlusse (31. März d. J.) 210,250,000 Mark. Die Zahl der Buchungen überschritt im Rechnungsjahre eine Million, so daß auf jeden der 282 Geschäftstage durchschnittlich 3611, das ist 180 Buchungen mehr als im Vorjahre kamen. An Sparkassenbüchern befanden sich in den Händen des Publikums 577,064, neu ausgegeben wurden 101,660, zurückgegeben bei Abholung der Sparbeträge 69,836. — In geistiger Umnachtung hat sich Professor Wilhelm Eber von der Thierärztlichen Hochschule mit einer Sublimatlösung vergiftet und ist nach mehrtägigem qualvollen Leiden gestorben.—Im Begriff, im Bureau eines Advokaten eine Vollmacht zu unterzeichnen, wurde der 57 Jahre alte Kaufmann Julius Jury vom Schlag getroffen und verschied kurze Zeit darauf.

Charlottenburg. Die hiesigen Stadtverordneten beschlossen die Einrichtung eines städtischen Arbeitsnachweises.

Spandau. Die Musikautomaten in den hiesigen Restaurationslokalen sollten auf Grund des bestehenden Regulativs über die Lustbarkeitsabgabe mit 2 Mark pro Tag besteuert werden. Da aber wohl nur wenige Musikwerke überhaupt so viel einbringen, so protestirten die Wirthe gegen diese vom Magistrat festgesetzte Besteuerung. Der Streit ist nun dahin beigelegt worden, daß für jeden solchen Automaten eine Jahresabgabe von 9 Mark an die Stadt gezahlt wird.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Der in einem hiesigen Goldwaarengeschäft beschäftigt gewesene Komptoirist Thiemig hatte sich aus Unvorsichtigkeit an der Hand mit der Schreibfeder verletzt. Die Hand schwoll bedenklich an, da Blutvergiftung eingetreten war. Thiemig wurde operirt, ist aber bald darauf gestorben.

Buer. Die älteste Person der Gemeinde, die Armenhäuslerin Katharina Normann, ist gestorben. Sie hat das hohe Alter von 99 Jahren erreicht. Bis wenige Tage vor ihrem Tode rauchte die Frau ihre Pfeife, da die Gemeindevertretung ihr den Tabak, an den sie gewöhnt war, in zuvorkommender Weise zuerkannte. Die Verstorbene erinnerte sich noch lebhaft der Zeit der Freiheitskriege.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Schmalkalden. Nach Abgabe seines Wahlzettels betritt ein hiesiger Metzgermeister das nahe Gasthaus, wo ihn ein Freund erwartet, um eine Gewichtsnota von fünf fetten Schweinen von ihm in Empfang zu nehmen. Aber o weh! So viel der Brave sucht, der Gewichtszettel ist verschwunden und statt seiner steckt in der Westentasche ein—Wahlzettel. Mit sehr betretenem Gesicht ruft der Biedere aus: „Krommenoth, hun i doch min Säuzettel in die Urne geschmesse!"

Wiesbaden. Der hier stattgehabte 26. deutsche Aerztetag sprach sich einstimmig gegen die Zulassung von Frauen zum medizinischen Studium aus.—Das hiesige Schwurgericht verurtheilte den Postassistenten Heinrich Hedrich wegen Veruntreuung eines Einschreibebriefes mit 10,000 Mark zu drei Jahren Gefängniß und fünf Jahren Ehrverlust.

Provinz Pommern.

Heringsdorf. Unter großer Theilnahme fand die feierliche Einweihung des neuerbauten Strandkasinos statt.

Simmatzig. Auf dem Kannenberg'schen Gute hauste jüngst eine verheerende Feuersbrunst, der vier Scheunen zum Opfer fielen.

Wusseken. Gelegentlich eines Gewitters schlug der Blitz in das Schulhaus ein. Lehrer Klemm und sein Sohn, welche am Schreibtische saßen, bekamen einen kräftigen Schlag, ohne jedoch Schaden zu nehmen; die am Ofen spielende Tochter wurde vollständig betäubt. Erst nach langer Zeit gelang es, das Kind in's Leben zurückzurufen.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. Aus vielen Theilen der Provinz kommen Meldungen über große Schäden, die durch Unwetter angerichtet worden sind. Durch wolkenbruchartigen Regen wurden Straßen und Wege überschwemmt. In Jänisch bei Punitz wurde eine Arbeitersfrau und deren Sohn, in Mlodziekowo ein 18jähriges Mädchen vom Blitz getödtet.

Inowrazlaw. Das Reichsgericht verwarf die Revision des Polizeisergeanten Ruchaj, der von der hiesigen Strafkammer zu zwei Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilt wurde, weil er drei Knaben so lange mißhandelt hatte, bis sie einen Diebstahl gestanden, den sie überhaupt nicht begangen hatten.

LIGHTS IN THE PYRAMIDS.

Tomb of the Pharaohs to Be Illuminated by Electricity.

The ancient institutions of Egypt are rapidly giving way to the new order of things. For centuries old methods of transportation have been in vogue unaffected by the rapid strides in other parts of the globe, the camel being the only means of conveyance of freight and passengers, and crude agricultural implements of Biblical times have only recently been laid aside for newer machines. Idle waterfalls have been recently made to turn mill wheels, and where no falls existed the Nile's waters are being impounded for power purposes as well as for irrigation. There are immense stretches of country, until recently unproductive, now covered with cotton plantations, and their product has become of the greatest importance to Egypt. English capital is now building a great storage reserevoir near Assouan, in the Upper Nile region, in which will be caught the water of the river during the freshet season, to be released in the dry times. This will feed a great irrigation system, which, it is hoped, will reclaim vast stretches of desert land and what was once a barren waste of sand will be transformed into blooming plantations, growing wheat and cotton. Thus will be restored to the ancient country its old reputation and standing as the "granary of Europe."

The latest and not the least novel of these innovations is the illumination of the pyramids by electric light. Already the trolley car has invaded the ancient precincts ,and it is possible to ride to these old structures from several points by electric vehicles. Wires will soon be laid from the Assouan cataract, where a modern power plant will be constructed, to the pyramids, and the interior rooms and passageways as well as the exterior will be ablaze with electric light. Many timid persons have heretofore been deterred from making this trip because of the gloomy interior. The tour was formerly made with the assistance of several natives, who acted as guides and torch-bearers, their flaming lights serving only to enhance the darkness of the passageways.

Novel Automobile.

A particularly novel type of automobile, advertised in an English journal as light and gracefully constructed, is shown in the illustration, which represents a combination coupe and motor tricycle. The motor cycle is detachable from the carriage and can be ridden by itself, but when attached as shown it serves the purpose of a horse. The groom or footman is supposed to sit in the motor-tricycle saddle and to start the combination by two or three turns of the pedals, after which the petroleum-driven motor attached to the rear of the tricycles develops sufficient power to propel the cab without any further assistance. The oil reservoir will hold a sufficient quantity of oil to carry the cab between fifty and sixty miles. The cab is said to hold two persons comfortably.

The Mouse and the Banknote.

A country vicar tells a curious story about a mouse and a banknote. The note, which was left on a shelf in a store-room, always kept locked up, suddenly vanished. The servants were quite above suspicion. The fact that the note had been laid in that particular place and had disappeared, admitted of no doubt whatever. After some search it was noticed that there was a mouse-hole in a corner of the floor. A carpenter was sent for, and a board taken up. A large quantity of minute bits of paper were drawn out the accumulation, probably, of very many years. Strange to say, in one corner of the heap, a nest of young mice was discovered lying on a banknote! It was uninjured, no portion had been nibbled away, and was the only piece of paper left entire in all the heap. It happened, then, that the mouse had carried the note, folded up as it was, through its hole, and then unfolded and spread it out as a lining to its nest, and had used it as a blanket, evidently conscious of its softness and flexibility. The wonderful part of the story is the leaving of this one piece of paper entire, apparently because it was of a different texture from the rest.

New Industry in Virginia.

A new industry in this country is to be established near Norfolk, Va. It is an institution for extracting the oil from peanuts. The prospectus of the company announces that the product from five tons of peanuts will be 225 gallons of oil, worth 50 cents a gallon; 3, 680 pounds of peanut flour, worth 2 cents a pound, and 3,680 pounds of meal for stock feed, worth 60 cents per 100 pounds, which will make the value of the product $450 for each day's operations.

The peanut flour is used for making bread cakes, etc., which are used in some of the hospitals in Europe. It is claimed that much of the castile soap of commerce is made from the oil of the peanut, and to that purpose the product of the Virginia mill will be devoted.

No fewer than 1173 persons have been buried in Westminster Abbey.

WAR WITH FRANCE.

OUR GREAT NAVAL ENCOUNTERS WITH THE FRENCH.

The United States Fitted Out Privateers and Authorized American Officers to Capture French Cruisers Wherever Found.

It was Lord Wolseley who said recently that the United States being unprepared for war might be congratulated upon not having tackled any first class European power. There are so many people in this country of the same opinion as the Commander-in-Chief of the British Army, that it seems worth while to show that our prowess as a naval power does not rest exclusively upon our having whipped the decayed monarchy of Spain. We whipped Great Britain much against our will in the war of 1812; but do those faint-hearted few whose hearts sink into their boots at the name of war, not know that we crushed France also in 1798-9? England and France were and still are each first class European powers. And as there is now as there was also a century ago, some prospects of trouble with France, the results of the Naval war and the circumstances which led up to it are of timely interest, particularly as they recall a phase of American history utterly unconsidered in its bearing upon present events.

The cause of the trouble with France arose out of the inability of the hot-head members of the French Directory to appreciate such a constitutional revolutionist as John Adams, who was not without some leanings in the direction of a monarchy. Adams, accordingly hated the authors of the French revolution, and all its sympathizers, including Jefferson, had little love for the views of John Adams, who held "levees" once a week in the White House and advocated the use of plush breeches and of curled hair and similar frivolities in the attendants on the Executive. Though treated with studied insolence himself by the English court circle while he was Minister to England, Adams was unnecessarily anxious to see friendship restored between the United States and England. Though England would yield nothing to obtain it Adams still indulged the foolish hope that England would accept the situation of the loss of her colonies; and so if England condoned a successful rebellion Adams was anxious to have this country forget the years of oppression and all the bitter past. As friends and allies commercially at least he thought the two nations might go on in peace; and as he says in his diary "together they might gather and divide the world." In short there was a situation and a reciprocity of feeling one hundred years ago in certain Anglican quarters very similar to the present, and which went even to the extent of having a faction in this country desirous of precipitating a war with France. This faction was successful in securing the ratification of the Jay treaty through Alexander Hamilton and two "Anglicists," Secretaries John Pickering and Oliver Wolcott. Upon the ratification of this treaty the French directory were so angry after the assistance that Lafayette had given the colonists in securing their liberty, that they immediately recalled their minister and sent home ours.

French cruisers therefore attacked our merchant vessels. This country was then too weak for a naval war and Adams sent envoys to the irate members of the Directory to set matters right. There was much ill feeling entertained towards Adams personally by the leading members of the Directory, who were furious that Jefferson was not elected president, and a demand was made upon Adams' envoys for a sum of money to enable France to carry on her wars and also propitiate the directory. It was then that arose the famous cry of defiance—"Millions for defence but not one cent for tribute," the justification for which was the unusual demand of France which it is believed, however, now was most deliberately colored by the Anti-French and Pro-Anglican faction who hated equally the two Republics and were anxious to antagonize them in order to restore English supremacy in America.

Congress thus aroused by the one sided report of the Adams envoys organized an army. Soon also a state of war existed on the sea, where Commodore Truxton defeated and captured two French frigates. These two splendid victories however sobered the belligerent members of the Directory and they constituted such interesting naval engagements that European first class powers might study them with advantage now. War it is true was not formally declared, but the depredations stirred up the patriotic feelings of the American people who were thus profoundly convinced that Europe whether royalists or republican, was equally quite unable to appreciate or to understand them. The United States fitted out privateers and authorized American officers to capture French cruisers wherever found. The Constellation was the name of the first American frigate that thus tested our navy against that of a first class European power. While cruising in the vicinity of St. Christopher one hundred years ago Commodore Truxton one day discovered a sail ahead. He immediately ran before the wind so as to cross the stranger's course. Before coming into closer quarters it was found that she was resolved upon changing her course and she then hoisted an American flag. Truxton now showed his colors and gave the private signal of the day. As the stranger did not respond he drew down upon her and immediately the strange craft hoisted the French colors and fired a gun to leeward. The Constellation started in hot pursuit and after a six hours' chase gained a position off the enemy's port quarters. She now poured a full broadside into the Frenchman which promptly returned the fire which thus became rapid and constant upon both sides. After a few minutes of firing the enemy, according to Froudes "Batailles Navales de la France," luffed up to run aboard; but owing to the loss of her main topmast was not successful, thus enabling the Constellation to run athwart her course, forge ahead, and still pour in a withering fire. Truxton so splendidly manoeuvred his ship that he kept her just off the enemy's starboard bow where the Frenchman was weakest, maintaining this position for a whole hour, pouring in broadside after broadside and receiving a heavy fire occasionally in return. At this stage an eighteen pound ball struck the Constellation's foretop mast just above the cap, and she now drew out of the smoke that had collected around the two fighting ships. But espying the shadow of the enemy again—and which enveloped in smoke was unable to see the Constellation, but which kept firing away in the direction in which the Constellation was last seen—the American vessel now opened a heavy fire upon her starboard battery which soon dismounted every gun upon the Frenchman's deck. About 4:30 in the afternoon of the day—the engagement beginning at nine in the morning—the Constellation dropped astern, crossed the enemy's wake and was about to sink the stranger with all on board when she surrendered and was immediately secured as a prize. She was found to be the French 36-gun frigate L'Insurgente.

Both the Constellation and the L'Insurgente were rated as 36-gun frigates, though in estimating their equality the French pound was eight per cent. heavier than the English pound. Thus a French 12-pound shot weighed 13 English pounds and a French 24-pound shot was the equivalent in destructive effect to 26 English pounds. After a similar encounter on the morning of Feb. 1, 1800, between the Constellation and the 40-gun-frigate La Vengeance and after the superiority of American to European ships had been established, the hostile attitude of the French Directory was changed and no further interference was attempted by France.

After these brushes between the American and French fleets Napoleon replaced the feeble and incompetent members of the Directory, President Adams again sent his envoys to Paris and things were made so permanently satisfactory that Napoleon sold all the French possessions to this country, saying—"I have now given to the United States something that sooner or later shall make them a formidable rival to the commercial and maritime supremacy of England." The accuracy of this prediction was not so apparent then as it is to-day, nor did Napoleon ever imagine that the future held in it a possible Anglo-American alliance.

Ice in Sickness.

Ice is employed in various ways in illness as a remedy. The ice-bag is applied to the head in cases where there is severe pain, and to various parts of the body to reduce inflammation. If a proper bag is not at hand, a common bladder from the butched may be used filled with ice broken up into small pieces, so as to lie on the part more comfortably; if a cork is placed in the center it may be tied more securely. The ice-bag should be slung over the place so that the weight of the bag does not rest on the part, but just be in contact with it; a piece of folded flannel or lint should be placed under it so that the bag does not rest on the bare skin; it might cause gangrene without this precaution.

Ice is given to stop sickness, or in cases of hemorrhage from the lungs, a small piece is placed on the tongue frequently. Ice should be kept in large lumps if possible, and these ought to be wrapped in a flannel or blanket. When required to be kept by the bedside a piece of flannel is tied over a cup or basin, the ice resting in the centre, the water then runs, when melted, into a cup, and prevents the ice from melting too quickly. A darning needle or bonnet pin is the best thing to break up the ice with, if a proper ice pick is not at hand.

Trades Followed by Ants.

Bees are geometricians. The cells are so constructed as, with the least quantity of material, to have the largest spaces and the least possible loss to interstice. The mole is a meteorologist. The torpedo, the ray, and the electric eel are electricians. The nautilus is a navigator; he raises and lowers his sails, and casts and weighs anchor, and performs other nautical feats.

Whole tribes of birds are musicians.

Caterpillars are silk-spinners. The squirrel is a ferryman; with a chip or piece of bark for a beat, and his tail for a sail, he crosses the stream.

The beaver is an architect, builder, and wood-cutter; he cuts down trees and erects houses and dams. The marmot is a civil engineer; he not only builds houses, but constructs acqueducts and drains to keep them dry.

The white ants maintain a regular army of soldiers.

"I guess," said Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "dat I warn't built foh soldierin'." "But you's done jine de comp'ny," said Miss Miami Brown. "Yas, but dem off'cers is li'ble ter git pow'ful smaht. I kin step off ter de music as fine as anybody. But dey won't lemme staht. De man he say: 'Private Pinkley, de right foot is de wrong foot.' Den I got kinder confuse an' I says, 'Which am my right foot?' An' den he says, 'Yo' left foot, ob cohse.' I reckons de fus' ting I knows I gwinter git ketched fo' mutiny."—Washington Star.

TYPICAL AMERICAN.

A SKETCH OF THE BRAVE LEADER OF THE COWBOY REGIMENT.

Roosevelt is a Man with a Future Who Learned Human Nature on the Prairies and Who Can Turn His Knowledge to Account Upon the Tented Fields.

Theodore Roosevelt has so much endeared himself to the American people by his cheerful optimism that the president of his alma mater once saw fit to make apology for it. The subsequent events have shown that the student was the master of the sage, the scholar the head of the school. This notable circumstance probably had more effect in shaping Roosevelt's public career than all he learned within its walls, and will certainly do him a vastly greater service than any parchment diploma which that ancient institution could offer. For had President Eliot seen fit to laud Roosevelt's course on the Monroe doctrine instead of to deprecate it, that plucky young American might well have asked with Daniel O'Connell, "What have I done wrong now?"

Since leaving Harvard Roosevelt has been more familiar with the herd book than with Horace, yet he has found time while administering law to the ranchers and rough riders of the West, to make more notable contributions to American literature than any public man of to-day. But he is no mere dilletante maker of books and fine phrases.

Whether as a rancher on the banks of Bitter Creek, or as chief of that department at Washington which aims to purify the spoils system, and to reform the public service, Colonel Roosevelt has invariably proved himself to be a man of fixed convictions and of rare courage. "I would rather see this Administration turned out because it enforced the laws, than to see it succeed in violating them," is a characteristic phrase of the man, and which gives his character in a nutshell. Phrases like this might be culled from his sayings, but it would be only a rosary of Roosevelt's manly straightforward qualities. He speaks as straight as he shoots, and Roosevelt's record as a cowboy is 23 bulls eyes out of a possible 25, while astride a mustang in full gallop.

His first step after leaving Harvard with the blessings of the faculty, was to mend New York politics. For two hundred and fifty years the name of Roosevelt has been connected with the business interests of the metropolis. It is a name associated with one of the oldest of New York's streets, and with one of the most serviceable of the city's hospitals. Colonel Roosevelt's debut in public life was conceived with the view of making manifest the influence of the scholar in city politics; and in this purpose he succeeded sufficiently to give increased power to the Mayor of New York and to take away from the aldermen the power of confirming appointments. He was also the candidate of the Republican party for Mayor of New York in 1886, his opponents being the late Henry George and Abram S. Hewitt.

Col. Roosevelt, however, was destined to be identified with New York politics later on. But meantime he was making the most of his opportunities to shape his own and the country's future. Two years after leaving Harvard Roosevelt wrote a history of the Naval War of 1812. The book took high literary rank and paved the way for his entrance into public service, as assistant Secretary of the Navy. The vigorous style of this initial work did much to arouse the country to the necessity for an enlarged navy, and to quicken the patriotic sentiment of the country, which was then beginning to be tinged all over with burnished hue of gold. A year afterwards he gave the public some glimpses of his studies of pioneer life in a work on ranches in the West, and of the "Hunting Trips of a Ranchman," which are filled with delightful reminiscences of western life; and in which much that was worth knowing has been rescued from forefathers or from mere hearsay and tradition. His experience hunting the bison or the buffalo, and the physical wiriness then developed will prove as useful to him now in Cuba as his knowledge as a student of naval history made him an invaluable aid in the Navy Department in preparing for the present war with Spain. He brought to the navy the experience and researches of a scholar, and he now brings to the Roosevelt rangers the skill, endurance and exploits of a horsemen who is as happy in the saddle as other men are while in bed.

That Colonel Roosevelt understands the west and its matters, and appreciates them, is proven by the hearty manner in which he has elucidated its phases in his many works. And in nothing is this broad and American view so well borne out as in considering the number of those works which treat of the noble examples of the west, and of the bounding nature of the backwoodsman that Roosevelt has given to the reading communities of the East. In the view of this descendant of the early Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam, the winning of that vast Empire nursed by strong men, and taught by fate to know Ichoval's plan "That man's devices can't make a man" ought to be the great theme of our statesmen. For it is upon the character and prosperity of the west that much of our future as a nation depends. Colonel Roosevelt, therefore, is never weary of telling in the eight volumes of his entitled "The Winning of the West," of the part which the frontiersman has played, and of the part which his descendants will play all through the coming years in shaping our national future. Having thus thoroughly familiarized himself with the West and having absorbed of its large sympathies and of its buoyancy and dash, Roosevelt was no less successful at the National Capital. There the scenes were changed but not the man. He was as popular in Washington as he was in Dakota, and when he bade good-bye to his colleagues recently, to actively enter into the Cuban campaign, his office at Washington was strewn with flowers, and there was scarcely a dry eye among those various officials who called to say farewell.

It is Frederic Harrison who says that "the man of culture in politics is one of the poorest mortals alive." But Col. Roosevelt has shown that the man of culture can wield great influence in political life; and that men of culture have as great opportunities before them in American as in European life. It is the lot of too many men of so-called culture that they really are not men of culture at all, but that they belong to the affected class of men whom Matthew Arnold called "our barbarians." And if this lackadaisical, jejune class, who are steeped with an insousiance proportionate to their desire to patronize the plain people, only learnt the wisdom that Roosevelt could teach them it would not be so difficult to reconcile politics and the scholar, in this country.

When Colonel Roosevelt was asked one day what he would do with the city young men if he had the power, "I'd order them to work," said he as quick as the snap of a gunlock. "I have tried to do this by example," continued he, "and it is what I have preached; for myself I'd work as quick beside Pat Duggan as with the last descendant of a patroom; it literally makes no difference to me as long as the work is good and the man is in earnest." No such wisdom as this was learned at Harvard. And it is no small tribute to the confidence which this man is capable of inspiring even in men who never saw him—and most of whom were also aware that he had never been in action—that volunteers from every part of the Union more freely staked their lives upon Colonel Roosevelt's judgment and were less afraid to die if necessary in his company, than if he were a West Point graduate and a full-fledged military commander.

Roosevelt is a man with a future who has learned human nature on the prairies, and who can turn his knowledge to account upon the tented fields. If the war progresses he is also morally certain to make a creditable record there. He is no mere canting theorist, but a broad guage practical man whose education in the world begets the highest confidence in his capacity to face the future—a future that is quite likely to have no room for mere men of leisure, but which may be depended upon even to put itself to some inconvenience in order to make room for men of the stamp of Theodore Roosevelt.

Spanish Cruelties.

John Gilmer Speed discussing the Spaniard says of them: "Still, after all that can be said for them, it must be confessed that the Spaniards as a whole are cruel and bloody minded judged by our standards. They may not be unkind parents, or, among the peasantry, unkind husbands. But what no English speaking people can stomach is the national passion for the bull fight. No passion or sentiment anywhere in the world is so comprehensively and intensely national as the passion for "tauromachia" is to-day in Spain. There was a time when bull fighting had a comparatively slight hold on the northern provinces, but that time is past. Just as the broad "faja," or girdle, is the one article of dress which is worn by all the common people of Spain, otherwise as various in costume as all the rural populations of France and Germany put together, so are they all united in their love for this amusement. The man who will not save up all his pennies to pay for admission to a grand Sunday or Corpus Christi "corrida de toros" is either an inveterate spendthrift or no Spaniard; and if he leaves his wife at home he is a bad husband. What we Americans cannot and never will understand about bull fighting, even when we have managed to master all the intricacies of the game itself, is how a gathering of both men and women can laugh and cheer, and clap hands, and throw their hats into the ring when a living disembowelled horse is making his screams heard above all the uproar. On the whole, we would rather not understand it. There is one Spanish woman for whose memory all Americans feel some reverence—Isabella the Catholic, who pawned her jewels to fit out Cristobal Colon—and it is pleasant for us to remember that Isabella the Catholic set her face sternly against bull fighting, and would have abolished it in her dominions if she could, but even Isabella was not strong enough for that."

Equal to the Occasion.

Ex-Secretary William M. Evarts was for a long time the most skilful of all public men in polite and pointed repartee, says the Ladies' Home Journal. At a reception in Wasnington he was once drawn into a discussion between two women.

"Mr. Evarts," said one, "do you not think I am right in saying that a woman is always the best judge of another woman's character?"

"Madam," replied Mr. Evarts, "she is not only the best judge, but also the best executioner."

CYCLING COMMENT.

Alonzo Hill, the North avenue tonsorial artist, has purchased a bicycle and has learned to master it.

Miss Florence Serrell, of Myrtle avenue, gave a small bicycle party Monday evening in honor of visiting friends.

Charles Zimmer, the able young assistant in The Press composing room, is riding a new Keating wheel. Last Saturday evening he attempted to lean his chin against the hot lantern to the wheel while blowing out the light. He now wears the mark of his little indiscretion.

Harry K. Lister was greatly satisfied with the success of his road race last week. So satisfactory was it that he is now planning to hold two others, one the first week in August and the other in September. They will both be handicap and open to all. He is considering the advisability of making the race a longer one than the first.

The Park Avenue Baptist Endeavor bicycle squad did not go on their bicycle run Monday night, but postponed it for one week, unless the Captain desires to arrange for another run within the next few days. Next Monday night the squad will go to Westfield, where the Park Endeavorers will have charge of the meeting at the Fresh Air Camp. Some of the Endeavorers will go by train, but the most of them by wheel.

The side path between Dunellen and Bound Brook is famous among all the wheelmen of this section. To a novice, it was nothing but pleasureable riding, but to the experienced cyclist, its narrow and winding way was indeed enjoyable. With the advent of the trolley in that section, however, a long section of that famous path will be washed into oblivion. The trolley line will follow the old turnpike for two miles west of Dunellen before turning to the south and toward Lincoln. The track will be on the south side of the road where runs the side path. Now the turnpike is by no means level, while the trolley tracks are as much so as possible. The work of grading and laying tracks there has been almost completed. In some places the side path was cut away entirely. In others the sand embankment for the rails was piled high on one side and only needed yesterday's rain to wash the sand all over the path and make it well-nigh impassable for wheelmen. If the wheel travel continues over the road it is probable that a new path may be worn if a place can be found. Many wheelmen are taking the shorter road now on the south side of the tracks of the Jersey Central and thence to Lincoln, crossing to Harris lane and down to Bound Brook.

GOLF.

A telephone is to be placed in the new clubhouse of the Park Golf Club.

DAMAGE BY THE STORM.

Lightning Did Small Damage in Several Places.

An electrical storm of unusual severity swept over this section yesterday afternoon. The lightning was sharp and frequent and made itself evident in different parts of the city. It was accompanied by a very heavy rainfall.

A large cedar tree that stands near the house of Joel Manning on Plainfield avenue, near New Brooklyn, was completely shattered by a bolt of lightning during the storm of yesterday afternoon. The tree was torn and twisted and most of the trunk converted into splinters. The bolt struck the shrubbery opposite, in front of the home of Mrs. Johnson, and burned the bushes. Mrs. Johnson was prostrated by the shock. She was made partially unconscious at the time by the force of the shock.

The storm sewer on East Second street was slightly damaged by the heavy rainfall, as the water backed up and caused cave-ins at several places. The damage was repaired this morning.

GROCERS MEET HERE.

Semi-Annual Convention Attended by Seventy Delegates.

The Grocers' Association of New Jersey are holding their semi-anuual convention today at the Mountain Park Inn. Delegates are present from all over the State to the number of 70. At noon they sat down to dinner. The afternoon session was opened at 2 o'clock, and will be devoted to the transaction of business.

The officers present are President, P. S. VanAnglen, of New Brunswick; first vice-president, M. Leyaroot, of Boonton; second vice-president, J. A. Smith, of Plainfield; recording and financial secretary, J. C. Hendrie, of Paterson, and treasurer, P. S. Atkinson, of New Brunswick.

Mr. Randolph Improved.

The many friends of former Freeholder George W. F. Randolph, of West Front street, will be pleased to learn that he is holding his own, and the attending physician, Dr. Endicott, gives hope of his recovery.

VICTIMS OF HARD TIMES.

SIX STRANGERS TOLD WIERD STORIES IN THE CITY COURT.

They Were Found Asleep in a Box Car Where They Had Gone to Escape the Rain—Sentences Suspended.

An empty box car stood on the siding last evening down beyond the Scott Press Works. As the rain fell unceasingly, a weary wanderer approached. The door stood temptingly open and in he crawled. Others came until there were six of them, water-soaked and weary.

Then came an interruption. The stentorian voice of Sergeant Kiely ordered them to come out. Patrolman Myers was with him.

Six bedraggled men huddled close to the car and were marched down to the lockup. There they were locked up for the night. This morning they were all arraigned before City Judge DeMeza

They were all above the usual tramp in appearance. Several, in fact, looked quite respectable. Their little tales, as related in court, reminded one of a modern Arabian Nights, for the stories were all filled with adventure and told of long wanderings.

John H. Phillips, the first man in the line, explained that he was a newspaper man. He had worked under Editor Hearst on the San Francisco Examiner and also had been employed by the Associated Press. Afterwards he went on a Denver paper and then had become press agent for a theatrical company. Stranded at Detroit, he had made his way east with the intention of trying to get a position with Hearst on the Journal. He was now endeavoring to earn a little money to purchase suitable clothes in which he could present himself when Hearst returns from Cuba.

He thought one night in "a cell literally alive with vermin" was sufficient punishment for the offence he had committed, and the Judge thought so, too.

Fred E Coleman, a friend from the Pacific coast, was a coffee man. He, too, was out of a position. Frank Crawford was a weaver looking for a position. Charles Reed was a worker in metals and looking for work. Frank O'Brien had seen all of America he cared for. He was hurrying to Philadelphia to work his way back to the British Isles. James Torence was a union moulder in good standing.

In excellent language Coleman expressed his great regret that anything of the kind had happened. The Judge was equally sorry and suspended sentence on them all, whereat there was general rejoicing. Coleman extended a cordial invitation to the Judge to break bread with him when he was in better circumstances than at present.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

W. E. MacClymont and family, of Washington avenue, left today for Farmers, N. Y., where they will remain for the rest of the summer.

Miss Sadie and Miss Carrie Patterson, of Jersey City Heights, who were the guests of Miss Ada May Tallamy, of West Front street, have returned home.

Miss Carrie A. Heidt arrived at the home of her sister. Mrs. W. J. Luckey, of West Second street, Saturday, after having spent six weeks among the mountains of Sullivan county, New York State.

B. I. Drake and wife, of New York, have leased Mrs. Ware's house on Second place and will take possession the middle of August. The business was transacted through the agency of E. C. Mulford & Son.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—James Flynn is flagging and curbing his Plainfield avenue property.

—Curbing and flagging have been laid in front of the Mt. Olive church and parsonage on Liberty street.

—M. E. Stephenson, the North avenue caterer, is able to furnish all kinds of fruited ices, lemon, apricot, orange, raspberry and pineapple.

Reporter Thomas Hurt.

H. S. Thomas, of the News, fell off of his wheel early this morning at the corner of Craig place and Grove street, and struck his head on the sharp point of his saddle. A severe and painful wound was inflicted in the back of his head, and Dr. Mattison was obliged to take several stitches in the cut. The accident happened while Mr. Thomas was trying to ride up a small embankment which was slippery and muddy. He is, however, able to attend to business.

Death of L. R. Finch.

Lucius R. Finch, a retired banker, well-known in New York, died this morning at the home of his son, Edward L. Finch, 1106 Park avenue. He was eighty-five years of age and for many years lived in New Haven, Conn. He has been in feeble health for some time. His remains will be interred at New Haven.

How to Write to the Pope.

Are you intending to write to the Pope? If you are, get out your Latin grammar and buy some carta palomba, which is an especially prepared paper used only to write to His Holiness.

Begin your communication "Beatissime Peter;" enclose it in an envelope directed in Latin to "His Holiness, Pope Leo XIII., Reigning Happily." If the letter then be handed to a diplomat accredited to the Papal Court or to a gentleman of the Pope's household it may possible reach him.

If, however, it is directed to "His Holiness, the Pope, Prefect of the Holy Roman and General Inquisition," it must be delivered to him under pain of excommunication. Not many people take advantage of this, however.—New York Journal.

For Cleaning Lenses.

For cleaning optical lenses a German technical journal recommends vegetable pith. For this purpose the medulla of rushes, elders or sunflowers is cut out, the pieces dried and pasted singly alongside of one another upon a piece of cork, whereby a brush-like apparatus is obtained which is passed over the surface of the lens. For very small lenses pointed pieces of elder pith are employed.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Dixie's Magnanimous Suggestion.

"Dixie," a monthly magazine issued at Atlanta, proposes that, in the interest of friendship and good feeling, the cannon and flags captured in the Mexican War by the United States, be returned to Mexico. Says the magazine named:

"The spirit of true Americanism is abroad on this continent, and it is the earnest desire of every worthy citizen that this spirit be fostered and encouraged. Its development should take practical form. To be worthy of this feeling of independence must be based upon something more substantial than mere sentiment; there must be deeds as well as words.

"Our citizens are constantly visiting Mexico and the republics of South America. They are received with uniform courtesy, and many of them have been lavishly entertained. This is particularly true of Mexico. So anbious has the country been to prove her good will that many of our private citizens have been publicly received and entertained by President Diaz. He has taken occasion time and again, to indicate his earnest belief in the spirit and practice of Americanism in its broadest sense.

"To make the matter quite plain Dixie' suggests that the Mexican cannon and battle flags now displayed at the West Point Military Academy and at the Naval Academy at Annapolis as trophies of war be returned in good will and generous spirit to the people of Mexico. There is no disposition in the hearts of our people to maintain a spirit of braggadocio regarding the result of a past unpleasantness with Mexico, and the display of these trophies is out of harmony with the spirit and purpose of the continental Americanism."

The Mouth of the Yukon River.

The mouth of the Yukon is about a hundred miles broad—that is, from one side to the other side; but there is nothing to suggest a river about it—nothing but small streams, sloughs, islands, innumerable and disconcerting. It is like being brought face to face with a hundred gates, only one of which opens the way which you are seeking, while the others lead to destruction. This is the difficulty in navigation at the starting point, and the sort of thing encountered all the way to Circle City. It is touch and go, or touch and not go; and you may get through, or may stick on a bar and not budge an inch for many weary days or weeks. Eighteen hundred and fifty miles of river are before you on your way up to Dawson; and it takes about fifteen days, if you meet with no accidents—days of vast, wonderful and ever-changing scenery; nights of solemn grandeur, when you seem to be all alone, surrounded by an untrodden wilderness, silent, awesome, mysterious.—Century.

Horace Greeley's Handwriting.

His handwriting I early learned the alphabet of, giving him in reply—as some who thought they knew said—as good as he sent. His chirography was phenomenally and preternaturally atrocious; but when you once get the trick of the hieroglyphics, it was not so very difficult to read. The stories about it number the fables of Aesop. It is claimed that the presidents and secretaries of some lyceums would occasionally get a letter from him announcing that he could not come, which they read affirmatively and to which they would reply that the date named and the price mentioned were entirely satisfactory, and then proceed to make public an announcement of his lecture.—Harper's Magazine.

PROPOSALS FOR ERECTING FIRE ENGINE HOUSE.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, adopted July 5, 1898, notice is hereby given that the Committee on Fire and Buildings will meet on Friday, July 29, 1898, at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Chief Engineer's Office, Fire Department Headquarters, on East Second Street, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Committee will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the construction of a new fire engine house to be erected on property formerly owned by Elston M. French, on West Fourth Street, opposite Darrow Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, according to the plans and specifications prepared by Edward V. French, Architect, and now on file and open to the inspection of bidders in the office of the City Clerk, No. 109 Park Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., the work to be completed on or before December 1, 1898.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the said committee will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the committee.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $300, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield. Copies of the plans and specifications may be had upon application to Fire Headquarters on East Second street.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the said committee.

All proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for fire engine house."

MAD BULL MADE THEM RUN FOR DEAR LIFE.

Bridgewater Officials Were the Pursued Ones.

INVADED BEAST'S DOMAIN.

VAULTED A FENCE JUST IN TIME TO ESCAPE THE ANIMAL.

Thrilling Incident Occurred on the Poor Farm, Where the Bull is One of the Wards—Officials Thought They Would Save Considerable Walking, but Later They Were Sorry for It.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 21—The dignity of the three members of the Township Committee of Bridgewater was rudely disturbed yesterday afternoon by the sudden determination of a powerful brindle bull, kept on the poor farm a short distance from Somerville, to gore them to death.

The Township Committee, composed of James Q. Ten Eyck, Peter Gulick and W. H. Bartle, were making a tour of investigation of the farm when they came in contact with the vicious brute, which is one of the wards of the township. The bull was standing lazily under the shade of some trees in one end of the pasture lot when the officials climbed the fence from another lot and started across the field so as to save considerable walking which they would have had to do if they had gone by the long farm lane.

The Committee was walking slowly along in the scorching sun when one of them noticed the bull suddenly become active and come bellowing toward them. At first they entertained no fear that the animal was bent on mischief, and paid but little heed to him. They had not proceeded far, however, before the actions of the bull convinced them that safty did not lay in their plodding, leisurely gait.

Then the members, led by Committeeman Bartle, started as fast as they could run for the fence some distance away. The sight of the fleeing men seemed to encourage the bull in the idea that he was not making as great an effort as possible to get in their immediate proximity and he made a spurt that for a few moments looked as though it might result disastrously for the men. Meantime the bull was bellowing and shaking his head in a ferocious manner.

The race was being witnessed by the inmates of the poor farm, and a few of the stronger ones hurried towards the fence in the hope of being able to give the officials some assistance when they arrived there. But the pursued men finally reached the fence and vaulted in a sprightly manner when the bull was close behind. The exertion had completely exhausted the officials and it was some time before they recovered from their fright and weakness.

Evergreen Cemetery Graves are Stripped of Flowers by Vandals.

Abram Henry, one of the grave diggers in Evergreen Cemetery, on Plainfield avenue, is having much trouble with flower thieves. All the graves in the cemetery, which are carefully cared for and planted with flowers and plants, are sought out by these vandals and stripped of all ornaments in the floral line.

Although Henry is in charge of the cemetery, he cannot be in all parts of it at once, and while his back is turned the boys and girls get in and proceed to help themselves to all the flowers in sight. If this continues the graves will be neglected after a while because it will be known that none are sacred from spoilation.

FIERCE LIGHTNING IN RAHWAY.

Five Whip-Like Reports With Vivid Flashes Made Everyone Quake.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 21—A terrific electrical storm last night was the most severe that ever occurred in this region. Five successive thunder claps shook every house in the city, and the vivid flashes and whip-like reports that followed them made every one quake. On West Milton avenue the Ideran Outing clubhouse was struck and the residence of Francis W. Langstroth, a New York business man, was on fire. The arc system of street lights was put out, and the Fire Department had a run in the darkness. A ball of fire was seen on one of the rails of the Pennsylvania Railroad, moving toward New Brunswick.

Roundsman Flynn Went in By a Window.

PLAYERS FINED IN COURT.

GAME WAS GOING ON IN THE HOUSE OF ALBERT CHAMPION.

A Hurried Scattering of the Gamblers When the Cop Appeared—One Hid Under a Bed and Another Jumped Into a Lot of Paper Under the Stairway—It Was a Very Clever Capture.

It was just before 2 o'clock this morning. Sergeant Kiely, Roundsman Flynn and Patrolman Vanderweg picked their way cautiously along Madison avenue between Front and Second streets. They halted in front of the story and a half building occupied by Albert Champion as a barber shop. From one of the upper windows, setting snugly under the eaves, the faintest glimmer of light fought its way into the outer darkness. The officers halted. When they spoke it was in whispers. For a minute they stood quietly. And then through the air came floating the faint sound of ivory disks beating a merry tattoo against the inside of a leather cup.

"Hist, be quiet, men," cautioned the corpulent sergeant.

"We've got 'em dead to rights, boys," ventured the roundsman in a familiar manner. "It's craps, sure enough."

"Penned, yes, but not pinched," added the patrolman.

"Yes, but we'll get 'em," the sergeant replied. "Come on around this way"

And then three officers disappeared through the narrow alley between Champion's little domicle and the building on the corner of Second street and Madison avenue. If any one had been near they would have seen Roundsman Flynn lay hold of the roof and his two brother officers give him a lift. A moment later the Roundsman was tip-toeing up the slanting roof to a window which invited a favorable entrance for the officer. Meantime the two officers were effecting an entrance through a door on the first floor.

"Come seben, come eleben, bully boy, ah h-h-h."

That from the interior of the house. It was the opportune time.

With one bound Roundsman Flynn went through the window. His appearance was not expected. But Champion was ready for it. The lamp, made especially for midnight sessions of this sort, was snuffed in a twinkling. And all was darkness. There was the sound of shuffling feet and hurried movements, denoting a sudden desire to evacuate the house on the part of those who had been deeply engaged but a moment before in speculating on the number of spots the little disks would turn up.

"No use to run, boys, we've got you," advised Flynn.

He struck a match and lit the lamp again. Lo and behold there was but Champion standing alone. The others had fled in terror. A hunt was instituted for them. Joe Carter was nearly suffocated under a bed. He was hauled out, grinning ferociously. Albert Butler was found secreted in a pile of paper under the stairway, puffing hard.

This morning they were lined up in front of Judge DeMeza in the rookery. They all admitted the corn. Champion was fined $15 and warned that if he ever came before the court again on the same charge he would be sent to the county jail. Butler was fined $8, and Carter $5.

Another crap shooter, who was not caught in the act of playing, but who was seen to leave Champion's place a short time before the raid was made, was Charlie Ward. Charlie was arrested, too, and admitted that he made "a couple of passes." He has been before the court before on the same charge, and as a result he is $8 poorer today.

Grocery Clerks Have a Vacation.

John Stryker, of Rockfellow's grocery store, will begin his vacation Monday. All of Mr. Rockfellow's clerks are given a short vacation, which is something unusual in a grocery store. The other clerks will go after Mr. Stryker's return.

Quarterly Meeting Sunday.

Sunday the quarterly meeting of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church will be held. The sessions will last all day, and among the speakers will be Rev. L. Sturgis, presiding elder of the Newark District.

GARCIA TO THE HILLS.

He Will No Longer Co-operate With the Americans.

A LETTER TO SHAFTER.

CITES MANY GRIEVANCES AGAINST OUR COMMANDER.

Garcia Was Not Notified of the Surrender, Nor Was He Invited to Be Present at the Formal Surrender—Other Complaints.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, July 20, via Playa del Este, July 21, 12:30 p. m—The long expected break between the Americans and Cubans at Santiago has taken place and the Cubans have retired into the hills to continue their war against Spain independent of the Americans.

Gen Garcia has written a letter to Gen. Shafter declaring his disgust at the treatment that the Cubans have received at the hands of the Americans. He announced that they would consequently withdraw their forces to the hills, being no longer willing to submit to the indignities to which they have been subjected.

Among the things of which Gen. Garcia complains is the failure of Gen. Shafter to officially notify him of the surrender of Santiago. He is also incensed over the fact that no invitation was sent him to attend the ceremonies of the formal surrender of the city.

Another grievance of the Cuban commander is the action of Gen. Shafter in retaining the Spanish civil authorities in administration of the city's affairs.

In his letter, Gen. Garcia declared that for these reasons he and his men will no longer co-operate with the American forces under Gen. Shafter, but will act independently as they did before the advent of the American army in Cuba.

ANOTHER CAPTURE.

Mayflower Stopped a Blockade Runner Near Cienfuegos After a Chase.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Key West, July 21st, 12:35 p. m.—The gunboat Mayflower arrived this morning from its position with the blockading fleet off the southern coast of Cuba. She reports having captured the British steamer Newfoundland, bound from Nova Scotia to Havana.

She had a large cargo of munitions and supplies for Gen. Blanco's army and the Havana merchants, which is considered quite a valuable one. The steamer is a fast boat.

The Newfoundland was first sighted by the Mayflower off Cienfuegos, night before last. The chase lasted for over an hour and the British steamer refused to come to until the Mayflower sent a solid shot right across her bows.

A prize crew was then put in charge of the captured vessel and she was sent to Charleston. The Mayflower brought in a number of Spanish deserters from the gunboat Aquilla.

Cholera Morbus Causes a Death.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 21.—Cholera morbus proved a fatal malady for Mrs. Loftus Hollingsworth this morning. She had been sick only three days. She leaves a husband and eight children. Mrs. Hollingsworth was a prominent worker in the Methodist church.

Louis Apgar, of Watchung avenue, is spending the day visiting in Newark, Elizabeth and Rahway.

LOT OF BUNCOME NEWS.

BRUNSWICK AND PLAINFIELD TROLLEY COMPANIES NOT AT ODDS.

A System of Transfers Will Undoubtedly be Arranged by the Two Companies for Benefit of Dunellen People.

The story published in the News of Tuesday evening concerning the differences that might occur between the Plainfield Street Railway and the New Brunswick Traction Company over the transfer of people between this city and Dunellen is the worst sort of buncome.

A Daily Press representative interviewed Superintendent Adlemann, and learned that the system of transfer would undoubtedly be used. The two companies are on the best of terms and no trouble is likely to arise from that source.

If the writer of the story would study the ordinance that gave the Brunswick Traction Company their franchise through Dunellen he would soon learn that the company is obliged to see that the residents of that borough are carried to Plainfield for the price of 5 cents from any part of the borough. This practically means that the Brunswick Traction Company must carry Dunellen people a certain distance free. It is simply absurb for anyone to imagine that the Central Railroad Company would enter into an agreement to carry people to Plainfield from Dunellen for 5 cents. The company may of its own accord do so, but not through an agreement with a trolley company.

The Plainfield company naturally does not feel kindly disposed toward the people of Dunellen, because the people of the borough refused to grant them a franchise, and it is not likely that they will put themselves out to accommodate them now. There is no reason to suppose, however, that an agreement cannot be made between the two electric companies, and this is almost assured.

GROCERS ARE ACTIVE.

STATE ASSOCIATION MET AT MOUNTAIN PARK INN.

New Associations to be Organized Throughout the State — Proprietary Brands to be Controlled by Association.

The semi-annual meeting of the New Jersey Grocers' Association was held at Mountain Park Inn yesterday. There were about seventy delegates present. The session commenced at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and continued until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At noon Manager Moulton provided one of his extra fine dinners for the delegates. Some were so well pleased that they remained at the Inn over night and returned today. In spite of the warm weather there was a cool breeze on the mountain and the heat was not oppressive.

It was decided by the delegates that a special committee be appointed by the president to organize new associations in the towns and cities where there are none at present. The committee on insurance made a very satisfactory report, stating that at present there is about one million and a half insurance being carried by the company in the association.

The reports of the president, secretary and treasurer, were highly gratifying and showed a prosperous condition of the association. In the treasury there is a good balance, and a report of increase in membership was also made.

The trade interest committee reported that during the coming six months several new proprietary brands would be placed under the control of the association. At present there are a large number of brands of goods that are directly under the control of the organization. All of the other committees made excellent reports. Before the association adjourned a vote of thanks was extended to Manager Moulton, of the Inn, for his hospitality. The next meeting of the association will be held at Paterson.

Lightning Struck a Trolley Wire.

Early last evening a sharp flash of lightning struck the trolley wire, near the corner of Plainfield avenue and West Front street, just as car No. 13 came along. The fuse was burned out in the car, and the rest of the distance had to be run without lights in the car. There was no damage to the passengers.

Transom Rope Broke.

Patrolman Myers heard a heavy crash of glass last evening in the vicinity of East Fourth and Washington streets, and an investigation proved that a rope attached to a large transom, in which there were eight panes of glass, had broken, allowing the transom to fall, thus breaking the glass.

NO VISIT TO SPAIN.

Watson's Eastern Squadron Has Been Disbanded.

ACTION TAKEN TODAY.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST SPANISH COAST DROPPED.

Official Announcement Made Today—Some Ships Will Come North and Others Go to Porto Rico—War Board Has Met.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 21, 1:55 p. m—The Eastern or raiding squadron of the United States Navy, under the command of Commodore Watson, which has caused such general consternation through Spain, has been disbanded.

Some of the war vessels of the intended invading fleet will come north to be docked, or join the expedition against Porto Rico.

This action was the result of this morning's meeting of the War Board. All idea of sending an American fleet across the water to meet Camara's fleet or attack the coast of Spain has been definitely abandoned.

Official announcement has been made of the same. It is hoped to remove a serious obstacle in the path of peace. The administration prefers to give Spain an opportunity to seek an honorable settlement.

WILL FLY OLD GLORY.

Two Spanish Cruisers Will be Raised and Put Into Service.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 21, 2 p. m.—Rear Admiral Sampson has cabled the navy department that he expects to raise the wrecked Spanish cruiser Maria Teresa by Sunday and also hopes to save the Reine Mercedes which was sunk in the channel.

SHAFTER TO MOVE.

He Will Attack 10,000 Spaniards Under Luque at Holquin.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, via Playa del Este, July 21, 1:43 p. m—Gen. Shafter is preparing to march his troops into the mountains northward. It will include a campaign against the 10,000 troops at Holquin under Gen. Luque.

AID FOR DEWEY.

Second Expedition Under Gen. Greene Arrives Safely at Manila.

OFF FOR PORTO RICO.

More Troops Sail from Charleston to Take Part in the Invasion.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 1, 1:35 p. m.—Gen. Wilson, commanding the first division of the first army corps, wires the announcement to the war department of the departure of himself and also Ernest's Brigade from Charleston.

Their ultimate destination is Porto Rico, the invasion of which they will take part in. They will first go to Guantanamo to meet the rest of the invading army.

He also states that the sailing of the transport was delayed until today on

TWICE HAS LIGHTNING HIT PHOEBUS' HOUSE

Last Experience Occurred During Tuesday's Storm.

SIDE OF HOUSE TORN OFF.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD CHILD PARALYZED BY THE SHOCK.

Lightning Struck a Large Tree and Branched Off to Strike the Dwelling House With Disastrous Results—The Child Has Entirely Recovered—Four Dogs Killed Outright by Shock.

F. C. Phoebus, of Clinton avenue, has had more experiences with lightning within the past few years than he cares for. Twice has his house been struck by lightning, and some member of his household rendered unconscious as the result.

His last experience occurred Tuesday afternoon. During the heavy shower a large tree in front of his house was struck, and the bolt, glancing towards the house, tore off the entire east end and a part of the roof, then ran down and along the cellar ceiling until it reached the dining room, where it tore away part of the floor and paralyzed a four-year-old son of Mr. Phoebus' who was playing with two other children.

The tree was shattered and cut in half. The bolt seemed to follow the trunk from the top down to within several feet of the ground when it shot off in another direction and entered the house.

Mrs. Phoebus and her children were alone in the house at the time, and there was no one to attend to the little fellow except his mother. The shock and paralysis only lasted a short time. No other member of the family was hurt, although Mrs. Phoebus was very nervous and excited when her husband returned. The damage done to the house is very conspicuous, and can be seen very plainly from the outside.

The shock killed a litter of four collies which were in a kennel outside of the house.

Mr. Phoebus' first experience was two years ago. He was living at Greenbrook then, and his house was struck, disabling him and a colored workman just as it did his son, Tuesday. Both recovered. A lot of chickens were killed that time.

TRAMP GOT $4 FOR A WAGON.

But the Vehicle Didn't Belong to Him—Purchaser Had to Give it Up.

An Italian peddler living at Scotch Plains is out $4 and a peddler's wagon by a little transaction which took place in Newark Monday. The man goes by the name of Christopher Columbus and was passing through one of the city streets when a man asked him if he wanted to buy a wagon. As he was in need of just such an article he offered $4 for it, which was accepted, and the new owner brought the wagon to his home.

Yesterday a man giving his name as Louis Pitman, of Newark, visited Westfield looking for a wagon which had been stolen from him. He said he was away on Monday and a tramp came to the house and asked for something to eat. This was given to him and he sat on the stoop eating it when the peddler came along and purchased the wagon. Mr. Pitman was sent to Scotch Plains where he recovered the lost property after a long talk with Columbus.

CLAIM STILL GOOD.

Debtor Was Out of the State so Eight-Year Debt is Now Being Sued For.

Murphy & Blatz, the lawyers, have brought suit against John A. Murphy, a butcher, doing business in the west end, for George W. Eddy, another butcher. The suit is for $500 and is brought in the Circuit Court. The papers have been served.

The $500 claim is on a note which Murphy gave to Eddy in December, 1889. The note was for twelve months, and covered a book account. When the note became due, Murphy did not take it up, and soon afterwards moved out of the State. Since nearly eight years have passed since December 1890, when the note became due, it would ordinarily be outlawed as the statue of limitations in New Jersey runs for six years only. But in the absence of the debtor the statute ceases to run, therefore it is lawful to sue him upon his return. It is on these grounds that Eddy's lawyers bring the suit.

Scarlet Fever Patient.

A case of scarlet fever has been discovered on Richmond street and the house is quarantined. It is said by neighbors that the members of the family do not heed the orders to stay inside, but run around the neighborhood as usual.

LOAD OF HAY ON FIRE FROM NOVEL CAUSE.

Cyclist Collided With It, With Cigarette in His Mouth.

LOAD SOON ALL ABLAZE.

PLAINFIELD RIDER WHO DIDN'T SEE VERY CLEAR

James Patterson Went Pell Mell into the Hay near Rahway and His Cigarette Set Fire to the Agriculturist's Product—Farmer Just Had Time To Save His Valued Team of Horses.

Strange and solemn was the procession that staggered through Westfield avenue, Rahway, yesterday. The advance guard was an elderly farmer, who was leading a pair of horses. The rear guard was a man in knickerbockers, trundling the wreck of a bicycle.

Each man was limping painfully. Each wore gloom in his face. It was evident from their behavior that diplomatic relations between them were strained. The remnants of a whiffletree, which trailed behind the horses, was blackened by fire. Back along the road lay a smouldering heap, all that was left of a fine wagon and a load of hay. From time to time the farmer muttered in his chin whiskers opprobrious remarks about bicyles and the smoking of "gosh dasted cigarettes."

James Patterson's cigarette was, indeed, the cause of all the trouble. Patterson was scorching from Elizabeth to his home in Plainfield, puffing away for dear life. As he turned into Westfield avenue, James Wilkin, of Cranford, drove his wagon out of an adjoining field into the road, and checked his horses in order to breathe them before they should pull his load of hay up the steep hill ahead of him.

It so happened that the smoke Patterson was blowing out of his nostrils obscured his vision. The front post of his bicycle struck the tail of the wagon with great force, and he took a header, cigarette and all, into the nice, fragrant hay.

When the scorcher had wriggled free he stood by the wreck of his machine, pulling wisps of hay from down his back, and said rude things to the farmer. Wilkin was responding in kind, when he noticed a spiral of blue smoke arising from the cavity which Patterson had made in his load. With a great outcry hn whipped up his horses and drove the wagon into the roadside ditch, upsetting it, conceiving this to be the only means of saving his property.

He himself was thrown headlong, spraining his knee, and before he could reach the fire, to pull away the uninjured part of the hay, a breeze had caught it and wreathed hay, wagon and all in flames.

FIRST HORSE, THEN MEN.

Patrolman Myers Thought He Had Caught Sneak Thieves.

For several months past the police have received scores of complaints from various householders, who reported the theft of doormats and small articles left outside of the house during the night.

Just before going off his beat this morning Patrolman Myers noticed a horse and buggy standing suspiciously on Washington street, between Second and Third streets. He waited some time for the owner to appear, but as none came the patrolman concluded that they were not willing to be interviewed by him. He drove the horse to a livery stable.

Then he returned to Washington street and watched for suspicious characters. After a few minutes he noticed two rough looking men loitering around the house of Mr. Silvenstein. He arrested them and they admitted owning the rig. This morning they were arraigned before Judge DeMeza, but as they could talk but little English no tangible story could be secured.

Patrolman Myers did not find any stolen articles in the wagon, and on the promise of one of them never to return to Plainfield, the Judge suspended sentence and gave them ten minutes to leave town. They gave their names as John Feleco and Joe Grano.

In the feed bag which they carried in the rig Patrolman Myers found a revolver and razor.

He Climbed a Pole.

Don Pedro Randolph, the little colored boot black, attracted some attention last night about 12 o'clock by climbing one of the poles to the shed in front of Brown's meat market on the corner of Second street and Park avenue. When questioned closely, Randolph said he had been locked out, and had no other way of getting in the house than through the window.

SANTIAGO IMPROVING

Business Is Being Resumed and a More Hopeful Tone Prevails

A BRIGHT FUTURE ASSURED

American and Spanish Soldiers Fraternize. The Populace Takes Well to the New Condition of Affairs. Starvation Being Relieved, The Yellow Fever is Under Control.

Santiago de Cuba, July 20, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 21.--Hundreds of American and Spanish soldiers, who but a few days ago were shooting at each other, crowd the streets of Santiago to-day, meeting on the most friendly terms. A general feeling of good fellowship is evidenced everywhere, victors and vanquished apparently being equally rejoiced that the strife and bloodshed has been ended and that the horrors of the siege have passed. Quaint stores, with gaudy displays of wares, are opening rapidly, and the storekeepers eagerly accept American money and treat American customers courteously. The narrow, cobble paved streets, grilling in the fierce sunshine, are crowded from morning until night by chattering groups of Spanish soldiers and crowds of laughing, rollicking men belonging to General Shafter's army.

Barge loads of provisions and supplies have been going to the wharves all day from the Red Cross steamship State of Texas, and the United States army supply ships, and there is evidence that privation is rapidly disappearing. Along the water front, under every awning, dozens of women and children may be seen munching American hard tack and food is being distributed very rapidly. About the plaza facing the palace and in the numerous airy cafes the officers of the opposing armies lounged through the day. The Americans are buying swords, medals and buttons from their late foes and all talk cheerily whenever an interpreter can be obtained.

About 4,000 Spanish troops remain in the city, but the majority of them are to be removed as soon as a camping ground beyond the rifle pits can be arranged. The American troops are being removed from their old encampments behind the trenches to cooler and better spots in the hills north of the town. Our officers here appear to be ignorant as to the disposition of the Fifth Corps, but a general impression is that but few of the troops here will be taken to Porto Rico. The harbor is crowded with transports, but no orders for embarking the troops have been received.

The officers say the health of the city is remarkably good. They assert that there is not a case of yellow fever in Santiago, and that there are but few cases of small pox. The streets look fairly clean, and the city shows signs of the care taken by the Spaniards to prevent an epidemic during the siege.

General Shafter has placed a censor in charge of the cable office and only government dispatches are allowed to be sent to-day. It is said, however, that press and commercial dispatches will be received, subject to the censor's blue pencil, soon--probably tomorrow.

Spanish merchants who have been interviewed on the subject, say they expect business to revive at once and hope for large investments of American capital within the next year. There seems to be no race hatred, the bitterness being all directed against the Madrid government, which is charged with gross mismanagement of Cuba and bungling during the conduct of the present war.

The hospital headquarters are located at Juragua. Two deaths from yellow fever were reported there yesterday, but the names of the victims have not been made public. The physicians say that there are but few new cases appearing, and that the epidemic is under control. They also think that the danger to the army is about passed. General Miles is at Guantanamo, on the Yale, and is said to be arranging the details of the Porto Rico campaign. It is reported here that a large army will sail from the United States this week, and that General Miles, with a majority of General Henry's troops, which are not yet disembarked, will go direct to the vicinity of San Juan de Porto Rico within a short time.

Most of the ships of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet are also lying in Guantanamo bay. The New York and the Brooklyn have spent the day almost under the shadow of Morro Castle, lying as close in shore as possible.

Pneumatic Mail Service.

Brooklyn, July 21.--The first practical test of the pneumatic mail tubes crossing the bridge and connecting the postoffice in this city with the postoffice in New York, was made at eleven o'clock yesterday morning, in the presence of a party of interested persons. Postmaster Francis H. Wilson of this city, with several heads of departments and several invited guests, witnessed the experiment at the Brooklyn end of the tubes. It was exactly eleven o'clock when Postmaster Wilson was informed by telephone that the first cartridge, containing the cards of the guests at the other end, was in readiness to be dispatched. Two minutes and twenty-five seconds later a strange hissing noise was heard and the box arrived at the office. It was covered with mud that had accumulated in the tubes but the contents of the box were found to be clean and intact.

The new service will begin operation on July 27, and the tubes will be in use between 5 o'clock in the morning and nine o'clock at night. The company in charge of the tubes has a contract with the government for five years, dating from October 1, at $14,000 a year. Under the new contract $6,000 of the expense for the operation of the tubes will fall upon the Brooklyn postoffice.

Leiter's Big Loan.

Chicago, July 21.--Levi Z. Leiter has now practically closed the contract which he has been negotiating with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company for the loan of $3,000,000 on his real estate. Mr. Leiter has been arranging this matter with the company for some time, in fact, almost since the end of his son's unsuccessful wheat venture.

ROUNDING UP SPANIARDS.

Lieut. Miley Starts to Receive the Surrender of Outlying Posts.

Santiago de Cuba, July 21.--Lieutenant Miley of General Shafter's staff left here yesterday with a troop of the Second cavalry, mounted, under Captain Brett, to make the rounds of the entire military district of Santiago de Cuba, and for the purpose of receiving the formal surrender of the Spanish forces.

He goes first to San Luis, where there are about 4,500 of the enemy's troops. Lieutenant Miley will then receive the surrender, in order, of 800 men at Cobre, 1,200 at Catalina, 2,500 at Guantanamo and 3,500 at Baracoa. A total of 10,000 Spaniards are expected to yield their arms to this one troop of American cavalry.

To reach Baracoa Lieutenant Miley will be compelled to ride straight across the island to the northern coast, led by a Cuban guide. He will ride under a white flag for protection; but General Toral has sent members of his staff ahead to notify the post commanders of the terms of the surrender.

The wound of General Linares is much more serious than reported. His left arm has been amputated and tonight he is in a very serious condition.

THE CANADIAN COMMISSION.

Our Representatives to Hold a Preliminary Meeting on Friday.

Washington, July 21.--The high commissioners recently appointed by the president to represent the United States at the coming Canadian-American commission, which is to meet at Quebec, and endeavor to settle numerous long pending border difficulties, will hold a preliminary meeting at the state department next Friday for the purpose of organizing and outlining the American plan of procedure.

The American commissioners are the Hon. John W. Foster, Reciprocity Commissioner Kasson, Senators Gray and Fairbanks and Representative Dingley.

The commission will open its sessions about August 10.

The Canadian commissioners are Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Louis Davies, sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Charlton, M. P.

MUCH COAL FOR WATSON.

He Will Carry With Him 32,000 Tons of Fuel for Use on His Voyage.

Washington, July 21.--The navy department has increased the number of colliers to be attached to Commodore Watson's fleet. Instead of six coal ships eight are to be sent to Spain. Seven of these ships are now coaled and ready at Hampton Roads and the work of coaling the last vessel was begun Tuesday. Commodore Bradford, chief of the burea uof equipment, stated last night that he expected to receive word that the eighth collier is ready to depart.

This will make a total of 32,000 tons of coal that Commodore Watson will take with him on his cruise. This is sufficient fuel to supply the ships for a voyage of many thousand miles and will obviate the necessity of our ships touching at any point to coal.

Nava[illegible] [illegible]w York.

New York, July 21.--Four large black hulled steamers, prizes taken during the first days of the war, are anchored off Tompkinsville, S. I., having been brought north by the American gunboat Newport.

The vessels are the Spanish passenger liner Buena Ventura, the first vessel to be taken by our warships, captured off Havana, April 22; the Catalina, captured by the Detroit and Newport, April 24; the Miguel Jover, taken by the gunboat Helena the same day, and the Guido, taken off Havana by the monitor Terror, the gunboat Machias and the torpedo boat Foote.

There are about three hundred Spaniards on board all of the ships, including the officers and crews of the four ships and portions of the crews of other prizes subsequently captured. These sailors will be turned over to the custody of the French ambassador as they will be wanted as witnesses.

Smokeless Powder Now.

Washington, July 21.--The manufacture of cartridges, charged with smokeless powder, for the Springfield rifles in the hands of the volunteers, will be begun to-day. Several manufacturers have informed the government to this effect and the cartridges will be shipped as rapidly as they are made.

Efforts were made by the war department to procure smokeless powder for the Santiago expedition, but without avail. The lack of smokeless powder in the battles before Santiago was brought home to the army most sorrowfully. When the volunteers fired at the enemy the discharge of their guns was followed by a cloud of smoke which not only impeded their vision, but disclosed their position to the Spaniards and resulted in fatalities to our men.

Porto Ricans May Join It.

Halifax, N. S., July 21.--In view of the reported disturbance at Mayaguez, Porto Rico, the statement of Captain Matteson of the brigantine Leo, from that port, is of interest. The captain says that the sentiment of the native population of Porto Rico was entirely in favor of the United States and against Spain. The only fortified part is San Juan and not more than 3,000 fighting soldiers are on the island.

The captain believes that the natives will at once join forces with the Americans and that the surrender of the island will be secured with but little fighting.

Gen. Woodford at the White House

Washington, July 21.--General Stewart L. Woodford, minister to Spain when the war broke out, called on the president yesterday. Secretary Day joined the two and they had an informal chat over the general situation. General Woodford said there was absolutely no political significance in his visit here and that his mission was solely a personal one.

He declined to discuss the Spanish situation in any phase and uniformly answered every question as to the peace outlook, the internal crisis in Spain, and war developments generally with the smiling response, "I am a man of no opinions."

THE SPANISH SITUATION

Indications Point to an Early Carlist Uprising.

PEACE RUMORS ARE DENIED

Supporters of the Pretender in England Are Active and Expect Momentous News Hourly. Coalition Against the Government is Being Organized. Peace Movement Losing Ground.

London, July 21.--The English Carlists are most active and are in hourly expectation of momentous news. The leader of the organization here says:

"We are quite ready for active operations. Moreover there is no doubt the authorities at Madrid are aware that a Carlist rising is imminent and that it will be successful.

"We are immensely strong in many parts of Spain and so soon as the truth of the cowardly surrender of Santiago de Cuba becomes generally known our forces will be greatly increased.

"The foreign enlistment act curtails our activity in England and ever since the Madrid government began to get into difficulties we have been shadowed day and night by spies and detectives.

"However, we have money, which is sorely needed in Spain."

Neither the officials of the Spanish embassy, those of the British foreign office, nor the United States ambassador, Colonel John Hay, have any news tending to confirm the report circulated in the United States that he Spanish cabinet has decided to sue for peace. On the other hand, dispatches received here from Madrid late yesterday afternoon make no mention of such a determination on the part of the Spanish ministry. The decline in Spanish fours in Paris and London is another reason for discrediting the report.

A special dispatch from Madrid says: "The powers, including Great Britain, are exchanging notes concerning their attitude in case Commodore Watson comes, and the progress made thus far is satisfactory to Spain."

Asking Spain to Sue for Peace.

A dispatch from Washington received at the United States embassy here, but not from an American source, says the British ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote, is active in the negotiations.

It is also admitted that several of the powers are urging Spain to ask for peace, the main reason being fear that Commodore Watson's appearance will lead to complications.

Alleged Semi-Official Communications.

Paris, July 21.--The Temps says: "Dispatches which we have received late this afternoon lead us to believe semi-official communications have been exchanged between Spain and the United States with the view of sounding the United States on the terms of peace."

The Temps's Madrid correspondent, who is also the correspondent of the London Standard, is unusually well informed. It will be noticed that he said "semi-official" and not "official," which would leave the situation as it has been for several days, for it is generally admitted here that certain powers are already sounding the United States in behalf of Spain.

Coalition Against the Government.

Madrid, July 21.--The newspapers here say that a coalition is being organized between the different parties and against the government, on account of the suspension of the constitution.

The peace movement is losing ground and a newspaper ventures the supposition that a British squadron would prevent the American squadron from passing the Straits, but the suggestion is regarded as improbable.

The minister for war, General Correa, categorically denies that Captain General Blanco has resigned. He adds that there is absolutely no news from Cuba, "as the Americans control the wires and refuse to transmit official dispatches."

General Parreja, the Spanish commander at Guantanamo, refuses to be included in the "capitulation" of Santiago de Cuba. According to Spanish military law a commander can surrender the troops which he personally commands, but he cannot oblige other commanders at distant points, even though under his authority, to follow suit.

Gen. Garcia Reported Dead.

New York, July 21.--The Evening Post has the following special cablegram:

Kingston, Jamaica, July 20.--Refugets from Siboney bring a report of the killing of General Garcia, the insurgent leader.

Spanish refugees here who are officially connected with the government, credit the story.

The refugees make a mystery of the alleged death of Garcia, saying that it should not be known in Cuba yet for reasons of state. He is said to have been shot.

The story receives some credence from the fact that Garcia was not present at the formal surrender of Santiago. It was reported that he was piqued at the refusal of Shafter to permit the Cubans to take possession of the city, and that he had gone to consult with General Gomez.

Must Wait a While.

Washington, July 21.--The plans of the paymaster general for the first payment of the Santiago troops have been upset.

Paymasters were in New York under orders to proceed to Santiago. They had drawn on the treasury for $1,000,000 and had placed the funds on the Resolute.

General Shafter was notified that the payship was coming south. Before a start was made he telegraphed that he thought it inadvisable to pay the troops at present. He intimated that it would be demoralizing to put $1,000,000 into the hands of the 20,000 men at Santiago. Orders to the paymasters were withdrawn, the funds were deposited in the sub-treasury in New York, and the paymasters returned to Washington.

THE SENECA ARRIVES

Wounded Suffered During the Voyage from Siboney.

New York, July 21.--The transport steamship Seneca, Captain Decker, six days from Siboney, with ninety-nine sick and wounded soldiers and forty-eight men and women passengers, arrived here yesterday and dropped anchor at quarantine at 10.20 o'clock. Dr. Doty, the health officer of the port, boarded the Seneca at once, and after a hasty examination of the sick ordered the boat detained, because of the presence on board of seven suspicious cases of fever. None of the cases is pronounced, Dr. Doty said, and in no instance did the patient show any marked symptoms of yellow fever. The nature of the fever could not be determined on board and the seven patients were removed to Swinburne island at once.

Dr. Doty ordered that the Seneca be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected at once. Her passengers will, if necessary, be taken to Hoffman island until the ship has been disinfected, and then will be allowed to proceed on board her to the city unless more fever cases appear.

No one but the health officers was allowed on board the Seneca. Passengers who gathered at the rail reported that the voyage had been made without any exciting incidents, but they complained of the lack of accommodations on board.

When the Seneca went to Siboney the forty-eight passengers boarded her for the trip here. Before she could get under way Captain Decker was ordered to take the wounded also on board.

They were put into the steerage as fast as they could be got on the boat, until those who had cabins gave them up and slept on the decks. The only passengers to refuse to make way for the wounded were H. Enver Pacha, military representative of the Turkish army, and his suite. All through the voyage they stuck to their state rooms while many of the ill lay on the decks outside.

ANOTHER MOVE TO MANILA.

Three Transports With 3,500 Troops Expected to Start by July 25.

Washington, July 21.--Preparations are being made to embark the fifth military expedition to the Philippines within four or five days. Information from San Francisco has been received at the quartermaster general's and the commissary general's office to the effect that the equipment of the expedition is progressing rapidly and that the troops are expected to sail as early as July 25.

The ships which are expected to carry the expedition are the Scandia, the St. Paul and the Arizona. The last named vessel is now on the way to San Francisco from Tacoma.

The Scandia is one of the largest ships yet secured by the government for transport purposes. She is capable of carrying 1,900 soldiers, with all necessary supplies. The other ships have a good capacity, and it is expected that the total force sent in the fifth expedition to Manila will number not less than 3,500 men.

Four Thousand Troops Sail.

Charleston, S. C., July 21.--Four thousand troops, under command of Gen. Wilson, sailed for Porto Rico shortly after six o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Exciting scenes accompanied their departure. The men themselves were wildly enthusiastic at the prospect of seeing immediate service.

It is understood that the command will proceed directly to Porto Rico, connecting with the rest of the invading force under General Miles, at some point that has not been disclosed.

Court Martial for Toral.

Madrid, July 21.--Captain Gen. Blanco has cabled the Spanish government that Santiago was surrendered without his knowledge. General Toral will be tried by court martial.

A WARSHIP IN ACTION.

The Brasswork Turns Green After a Big Gun is Discharged.

People who read about modern warships in action, of the thunder and deafening noise made by the ponderous guns, and the clouds of smoke and steam by which the iron fighting machines are enveloped, have only a faint idea at best of the real state of affairs.

To the novice the discharge of a big gun is a startling thing, and may be followed by unpleasant results unless the usual precautions are taken. The men brace themselves for the shock which follows the discharge of a big gun by holding the arms rigid and the hands well away from the body, to give the lungs free play. They also keep the mouth open, and by that means equalize the pressure on the lungs, head, and eardrums.

The noise made by the discharging of heavy pieces is less painful to the sense of hearing than that produced by smaller arms. The roar seems to envelop one. But the surroundings change as soon as the first shot has been fired. Immediately after the smoke from the first shot has cleared away all the brasswork on board the ship, which a few minutes before was as bright as a new dollar, turns green, and gives the ship a businesslike appearance.

The True Story of Othello.

Rome.—A diary kept in 1542 by the representative in Candia of the republic of Venice has recently been discovered in a Venetian convent. It is stated that the document contains the whole history of Othello, and completely contradicts the version given by Shakespeare. The writer describes Othello's arrival in Venice, his marriage and subsequent career and death, the latter event occurring while Desdemona was still alive. It may be, therefore, that the palace in Venice pointed out to the tourist as that occupied by Desdemona is actually the one. Still, there is a doubt about it.—Pall Mall Gazette.

AWAITING AN ESCORT

Miles Has Ten Transports Ready To Sail,

SAMPSON ASKED TO HASTEN

A Small Force Will Land in Porto Rico Now and Establish a Base of Supplies. No Military Movement Until a Strong Army Arrives. Landing Will Be Made Some Distance from San Juan Under Fleet's Protection.

Washington, July 21.--Late yesterday afternoon Secretary Alger received a dispatch from General Miles stating that the latter had ten transports loaded with troops at Guantanamo bay and only awaited the arrival of a naval escort before proceeding to San Juan.

General Miles stated also that two additional transports had reached Guantanamo, loaded with artillery pieces and a force of engineer troops.

Upon receipt of this dispatch Secretary Alger telegraphed to General Miles requesting him to notify the war department the regiments he had decided to take with him to Porto Rico from Shafter's army.

Additional orders were sent to Sampson to hurry up with the convoys for Miles's troops.

some surprise by stating that there was to be no fighting in Porto Rico for some weeks yet. He said that General Miles is simply going with a small force to establish a base at Porto Rico and that no military movement would be undertaken until he had been reinforced by a strong army. He said that this would doubtless occupy several weeks, as men had to be moved from Chickamauga and other camps.

Miles' Army May Aggregate 40,000 Men.

He intimated that the army to be commanded by Miles and Brooke will be the largest yet put forth into the field, aggregating probably forty thousand men.

From what General Corbin said it is understood to be the intention of General Miles to land at a point some distance from San Juan, where he will be amply protected by the guns of Admiral Sampson's fleet.

His troops will not attempt any offensive operations until the full force of the Porto Rico army has been assembled, when a move on San Juan will be made.

Although the department expects American soldiers to effect a landing in Porto Rico inside of five days, no important developments are looked for from this island for some time.

If the hopes expressed by Major General Wilson in his telegram to the war department from Charleston are realized, three regiments of the Porto Rico expedition left that place last night. These were the regiments composing General Ernst's brigade and are made up of the Second and Third Wisconsin and Sixteenth Pennsylvania.

They are aboard the steamers Grand Duchess, the Obdam and another ship, and will sail for the rendezvousing point of the expedition without delay. A large consignment of wagon transportation also accompanies this expedition. It includes the wagons intended for the brigade of General Hains, which is to embark from Newport News.

This transportation is regarded as a most important feature of the expedition, and its necessity was urgently set forth by General Miles in his telegrams to the department. The latter had noted the tremendous efforts required for shipping the subsistence stores and ammunition overland at Santiago and determined that there should be no lack of facilities for this work in the Porto Rico expedition.

The chief quartermaster at Chickamauga has been informed by the department that transportation for the embarkation of General Hain's brigade at Newport News will be ready Saturday. This being the case, the officials see no reason why the expedition from that place should not be on its way to Porto Rico in a very few days. It will be made up of the Fourth Ohio, Third Illinois and the Fourth Pennsylvania regiments, and several detached companies of artillery, a signal and a hospital corps.

Several Transports Have Left Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., July 21.--There is now being fitted out at Port Tampa an expedition second in size only to that which took General Shafter and his army to Santiago. Its true destination has not been officially revealed, although it is given out that it is to go to Santiago.

The transports at the port are being loaded as fast as an army of men can do it, and the fleet will probably be ready to sail before the end of the week

Several of the vessels belonging to the fleet have already loaded and sailed for Key West, where they will all rendezvous before the final departure.

The troops to go on the expedition are detachments of the Second, Fourth, Sixth and Seventh artillery, including four heavy and two light batteries; the Fifth, Eleventh and Nineteenth regular infantry, four troops of the Roosevelt Rough Riders and detachments from the Third and Fifth Regular cavalry.

The volunteer regiments which are expected to be taken on this expedition are doomed to a fourth disappointment. When arrangements were first begun for the expedition the regiments of General Snyder's division, including the First Ohio, Third Pennsylvania, Second New York, One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Indiana and Fifth Maryland, were scheduled to form a part of it. The inability of the government to secure a sufficient number of troop ships is responsible for the change of programme.

Lightning Kills Six.

Dover, N. J., July 21.--Six people were killed by a bolt of lightning near Boonton Tuesday evening. Four died instantly. They were James Quick, 21 years, married, with two children; J. Clifford Todd, a boy; John Ballantine and John Ryztzynski. Quick lived in Boonton. Ballantine was a resident of Rockaway Valley, the Todd boy lived on a farm back of Boonton, and Ryztzynski worked for his father.

TRANSPORTATION OF SPANIARDS.

Bids for Taking Prisoners from Santiago to Spain.

New York, July 21.--Bids for the transportation of the Spanish soldiers who surrendered to General Shafter at Santiago, to Spain, were opened in the Army building by Colonel Frank Hecker at 11 o'clock yesterday.

There were ten bids by individuals and firms, and one joint bid by a number of navigation companies. Some of the bids were not considered because they failed to come within the provisions asked for in the invitations to bid which were advertised by the government. The bids were as follows:

New England Chemical and Supply Company of Boston, 1,000 officers and 24,000 men, $890,000.

L. A. Thieme and Company of Philadelphia, "25,000 Spaniards on Spanish soil," $285,000.

James W. Elwell of this city, steamship Neuostia, capacity 1,000 men; officers $75, men $35.

G. Osgood Lord of this city: Officers, $72.50, men $37.50. Mr. Lord also made another proposition, which was not considered, as it did not answer the government requirements.

Tweedie Trading Company of this city, three ships, with a capacity of 3,000 men; officers $50; men $29.

Joseph A. L. St. John of this city, officers $37.37, men $24.87.

C. B. Richards and Company of this city, steamships Spartan Prince and Tartar Prince, with room for 40 officers and 800 men and 50 officers and 1,000 men, respectively; officers $55, men $25.

A joint bid by the Anchor line, represented by Henderson Brothers; the Cunard line, represented by Vernon H. Brown; the Hamburg-American line, and Robert M. Slowman and Company of Hamburg, represented by Emil Boas; the Wilson-Furness-Leland line, the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, Fred Leland and Company, Thomas Wilson's Sons Company, represented by Sanderson and Sons, and the North German Lloyd line, represented by Herman Oelrichs; officers $110, men $55; the government to pay regardless of the loss of any of the ships used in transporting the prisoners.

R. A. C. Smith of this city, to transfer officers and men on vessels of the Spanish Transatlantic Steamship Company, under the Spanish flag, charge not to exceed $60 for officers and $30 for men; government to guarantee safe convoy.

William H. Thompson of this city, 150 officers, 1,400 men; officers $90, men $45.

A bid by Davis and Huber was thrown out because it did not come within the provisions.

Colonel Hecker, who opened the bids, said that he would take them to Washington last evening and that the awarding of the contracts would be announced there.

The regular steerage rates for the transatlantic lines plying between this city and Europe range from $35 to $36. The Anchor line charges $23.50 for a regular steerage ticket to Liverpool. The Cunard line asks $25.50 for a steerage passage to the same port, and the American line $26 for a steerage ticket from this city to Southampton.

The North German Lloyd and French line charge $32 and $36 respectively for steerage passages.

Spanish Ships Get the Contract.

Washington, July 21.--The contract for transporting home the Spanish prisoners of Santiago has been awarded to J. M. Ceballos, New York agent for the Spanish Transatlantic Company

A POWERFUL SQUADRON.

Watson's Fleet Will Include All the Battleships and Many Cruisers.

Washington, July 21.--It developed yesterday that the administration has a greater purpose in view in dispatching the eastern squadron to Spain than to make an attack upon the ports of that country.

The real object is to impress Europe with the ability of the United States to form a squadron whose strength will be such as to compel respect and prevent interference with its plans in regard to the demands to be made upon Spain as the price of peace.

The squadron will be the strongest that can be gathered, and will include all of the battleships, a large number of protected and auxiliary cruisers and perhaps the armored cruiser Brooklyn, although this is not definitely stated.

It will be under orders to first proceed to the coast of Spain and destroy Camara's fleet, after which it will bombard Spanish ports and harrass Spanish commerce, and, if need be, part of it will proceed to the far East, should there be any question by a third government of the disposition the United States will make of the Philippine islands.

The state department received a dispatch yesterday from the American consul at Gibraltar announcing that Spanish shipping at Cadiz is seeking refuge at Gibraltar, it being feared that Watson's squadron will bombard the Spanish port.

The third class battleship Numancia has gone to Cartagena for repairs, which will require three months.

TROOPS FOR PORTO RICO.

They Will Begin to Leave Chickamauga To-day.

Chickamauga Park, Ga., July 21.--The movements of troops from Camp Thomas for Porto Rico will begin to-day. The various commands included in the first order to move are busy packing up and loading their effects. Railroads have trains in readiness and have things so arranged that they can put the troops through to Newport News in a very short time.

The commands which go to-day are the Second brigade of the First division, First corps, consisting of the Fourth Pennsylvania, Fourth Ohio and Third Illinois, under command of Brigadier General Hains; Light Battery B of Pennsylvania, A of Illinois and the Twenty-seventh Indiana battery. The Signal Corps, under Major Glassford; the Reserve Hospital Corps, under Major L. S. Smith, and the Reserve Ambulance Corps, with thirty-three ambulances, under Major Frank Boyd.

Major General Brooke was at his headquarters early yesterday. He spent the morning in consultation with his officers arranging plans for the departure to Porto Rico. He declined interviews on the movement of troops or any other subject.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

The Newsboy.

The newsboy is an invincible institution of the United States. Separately he is but a mite, but aggregately he is colossal. The newsboy is too ubiquitous, too ready at the art of grappling with the busy world to permit his being suppressed either in toto or moderately at the behest of business men who work themselves into a state of mind because of the newsboy's effervescent character and his propensity for always carrying a chip on his shoulder—and a ready disposition to accommodate any of his comrades who have the temerity to knock off that chip. Once the chip is laid low the newsboy stands not on the dignity of the occasion, but proceeds immediately to get in his fine pugilistic work upon his opponent—be it either in public street, store vestibule or private hallway.

And thereby comes the rub. The average merchant, when he sees any other boy besides his own, engaged in the act of resenting what he (the boy) thinks is an invasion of his rights, is naturally sedate and easily aggravated. Thus it is that there is a movement on foot for the Common Council to do something that will keep the newsboys more within the bounds of propriety as viewed by their seniors engaged in business.

We fear the men who are agitating this movement are reckoning without their host. The newsboys are a great lot, when taken altogether. The only way that the decorum could be maintained among them is to increase the police force to the exact number of newsboys to be kept under control. One newsboy is always equal to a policeman, and at times the ratio is about ten to one in the newsboy's favor.

Swearing.

The fact that the Municipal Council of Greater New York has seen fit to make the use of profanity on public thoroughfares or in public places of any kind a misdemeanor, reminds us that, if we are not greatly mistaken, there is an old so-called blue law in New Jersey that treats brutality of language in the same manner.

But the disgusting habit of using oaths is so widespread that if the authorities were to attempt to enforce the act designed for the punishment of those addicted to cuss words, all the jails in the world would probably not hold the offenders in the little State of New Jersey alone.

The average policeman may be a good man at heart, but if the new ordinance in New York is enforced there will be plenty of chances for counter charges unless the cops are reformed materially in their use of vigorous language.

The Endless Letter Chain.

Miss Natalie Schenck, of Babylon, L. I., must realize that starting an endless letter chain that appeals to public sympathy is like the beginning of strife and the letting out of water, the consequences become so overwhelming that they grow beyond personal control.

The appeal for dimes for the Red Cross fund, with the request that each donor send out four similar letters, has resulted in swamping the Babylon postoffice, and now a force of paid assistants are opening the letters that arrive by thousands daily. It is estimated that the sum of $10,000 has been received, mostly in dimes.

Those charitably inclined would better give their dimes where they are more needed and their influence and letters where they would be less burdensome.

SPAIN'S COMMANDER AT SANTIAGO.

When General Linares was wounded in the fierce fight at El Caney, General Don Jose Toral y Velasquez succeeded to the command of the Spanish land forces at Santiago. General Toral has a good record as a soldier and is a hard fighter, as you will conclude from a study of the above excellent portrait.

Literary Luck.

The rewards of literary work in its highest examples of success have never been so great as they are at the present time. But the correspondingly large number of persons rushing in to bid for the glittering prizes is proportionate. In no profession is there such intense and eager competition, not even in law or medicine, for in these a long and specialized training is requisite. Mr. William H. Rideing in a article in The North American Review gives an instance of remarkable pecuniary success in case of a recent novel:

The author received $18,000 for its use serially in the United States and about the same sum for its use in an English magazine during the same period—that is, $36,000 in all. When it had run its course through 12 numbers of the magazine, it became his property again to publish in a book. The book was published at 6 shillings a copy there, and here at $1.50 a copy. Altogether fully 150,000 copies of it, probably more, have been sold, and, assuming the royalty to be only 20 per cent, we have $45,000 to add to the previously mentioned $36,000. This gives us a total of $81,000—far more than George Eliot received for her masterpiece or Disraeli in the heyday of his glory as the prodigy of politics and literature for his or Thackeray, the supreme genius of English fiction, for his, yet the earning power of the book is by no means exhausted. Cheaper editions are to appear, adding to the revenue, and royalties for serial use in faroff colonies, the Cape, Australia, New Zealand and Canada, and rights of translation are still to be reckoned, and then the story is to be turned into a play, which is not likely to bring the author less than $50,000 and may bring him twice or thrice $50,000 more.

Such shining incentives tempt hundreds into the field, and, strange to say, these "Klondike" finds, as in the direct hunt for the yellow metal itself, do not always come to the "expert" prospector in the field. The tyro may be the successful gold hunter. It adds greatly to the fascination of fiction writing, for it is this branch of literature to which such comment applies, that the speculative element is so dominant. Every story writer thinks he is a man of genius, though he may scarcely write good English, and the world sometimes indorses the judgment in a very practical way. Success is less dependent here on special training than in any other kind of high class intellectual work. But at the same time true genius is as rare as in any other profession, and we would not advise the aspirant to count too rashly on the luck of a Du Maurier.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

New Brunswick is coming out of its lethargy. The Home News has found an up-to-date citizen who is going to inaugurate tally ho trips along the Raritan to the mountains north of Plainfield, with a little tete-a-tete luncheons at road houses or under the grand oaks in rock glenned Somerset —New York Press.

A New Market Justice of the Peace tried a case in which he was agent for the plaintiff. He decided in favor of his client. The defendant began proceedings against the justice for violating a law expressly prohibiting such conduct as he had been guilty of, and the justice promptly confessed. What the average Justice of the Peace doesn't know about laws or legal principles is on a par with the number of things known by him that are not so.—Tribune.

The Plainfield Press, speaking of the problem with which our Board of Health is wrestling, as to how much of a stench a pig pen must emit to bring it within the category of nuisances, says: "For unique municipal problems New Brunswick certainly takes the cake. Our own idea is that a hog pen has got just about the same right to exist in a city the size of New Brunswick as a Spaniard has to rule over Cuba, which is, in the words of the day, nit." That is sound. The pig pen must go.—New Brunswick Fredonian.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

J. M. Goble, of Somerville, has a relic in the shape of an old brass button which was plowed up near North Branch. On its face are an eagle with a shield across its breast and an olive branch and bunch of arrows in its claws. Around the margin is inscribed the words, "Memorable era, March the fourth, 1789."

A house is being erected on Somerset street opposite Manning avenue for an Italian fruit dealer in this city. The workmen employed on it are all Italians. Where all these Italian mechanics came from it is hard to say, as a skilled mechanic of that nationality is seldom seen here. But they have been collected from all quarters of the State, and are working together in a little colony. It is said that no Italian tinsmiths or plumbers can be secured, so it is likely that a plumber from this city will be given the contract.

There is a subject that calls for the attention of all cigarette smokers. It is in regard to the little tin boxes in which many of them are now being sold. It used to be the custom of smokers to throw away their old paper boxes wherever they happened to be. Many of them landed in the street, and while they were not a very sightly decoration to the roadway, they did no damage. The tin boxes are different, however. They are thrown about with the same disregard as the paper boxes. In the roads, however, they form a serious menace to the wheelmen. The edges of the boxes are sharp and apt to cut the tires of the passing wheels and cause no end of damage. Already several cases of the kind have been reported. It would be a good thing for the community if all the smokers who use the cigarettes that come in these little boxes would only have a little care where they deposit them after they are through with them.

With the war in progress, everybody in this country feels it his or her duty to be as patriotic as possible. Thousands of yards of tri-colored ribbon has been sold, thousands of little metal flags have found ready purchasers, while there have been hosts of other ways in which the people of the country have expressed their patriotism. The stationers, too, have felt the demand. A new trade was developed at once. Little American flags were embossed in the color of the letter paper and it was found to meet a ready sale. Some of the enthusiastic found much satisfaction in using letter paper with "Remember the Maine" or "To Hell with Spain" embossed in one corner with some appropriate design of the arch demon with his trident in his hand going forth presumably in pursuit of the hated Spaniard. The idea was taken from some stationery prepared for Harvard students, who tried to express their intense hatred for Yale by writing on paper bearing a motto consigning the New Haven university to that warm country.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 21—Miss May Apgar, of Front street, is spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

"Duke," the valuable pointer dog owned by W. L. Terry, was severely injured yesterday while jumping over a fence. He did not jump high enough to clear the pickets and in consequence a portion of his flesh was caught in the pickets and badly torn. The dog was taken to a specialist on dogs yesterday and an operation was performed.

By tonight the trolley tracks will be laid to the borough line. It is noticed that the Brunswick Traction Company tracks are laid on the wrong side of the street to connect conveniently with the tracks of the Plainfield road, and how the connection will be made is an open question at present.

Drivers of horses and wheelmen are experiencing some trouble in crossing the trolley tracks in the borough. The company has not covered the tracks as they have been laid, but will wait until the tracks are perfectly straight and laid to grade before this is done. In the meantime the public kicks.

James McElvar and family, of Brooklyn, moved to the borough yesterday and took possession of Mr. Churchill's house for the summer. Mr. McElvar is a manufacture of knives and forks, and thus far he has supplied the government for the soldiers with 500,000 knives and forks.

A large number of the members of the Presbyterian church and their friends went to Asbury Park today on an excursion.

Mrs. Joseph Apgar and Master Russell Runyon have returned from a visit with relatives at Cokesburg, this State.

Mrs. Harry Swackhamer and John Penner spent yesterday at the home of their parents at Pluckamin.

J. B. Terry, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a visit with relatives on Church street.

Employes of the Central Railroad Company have been repairing the tracks in the borough.

Abner Coriell is spending a week at Asbury Park, which will be his summer vacation.

A. A. Titsworth, of New Brunswick, is visiting Thomas Titsworth for a few days.

I. P. Laire and M. F. Marcley, of Plainfield, were in town yesterday on business.

Mr. J. G. Taylor, of Church street, is entertaining company from out of town.

G. W. Churchill, of Asbury Park, was in town yesterday on business.

Lawyer Frecht, of Somerville, was a visitor in the borough yesterday.

John Peters, of North avenue, is visiting friends in New York.

Miss Gypsie Earl is the guest of friends at Bridgeport, Conn.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains, July 21—This place was in total darkness Tuesday evening owing to a break in the electric light circuit.

Edward Verity, while fishing Monday, caught a fifteen-pound snapping turtle. Ed intends to treat his friends to turtle soup in the near future.

Frank Pullman, who has been visiting his friend, George Allen, has returned to his home in Brooklyn.

Charles Haberle rides a new Pennant wheel bought of the Bard Cycle Company, of Plainfield.

The contract case of Allen against Brown, before Judge Clark, has been adjourned to July 27th.

Mrs. F. A. Miller and daughter, Mrs. George L. Dunn, spent Tuesday in New York.

Goodwill Lodge, No. 101, K. of P., meets this evening in its rooms.

Roger Haskard is visiting his brother in Plainfield.

Harry Flannery rides a new Reading wheel.

John B. Stiliger is enjoying a short vacation.

TO SEEK OCEAN BREEZES

FIFTEEN CARS OF EXCURSIONISTS GO TO ASBURY PARK.

Four Church Sunday-schools Go for a Good Time—Various Ways of Spending the Day Planned by Excursionists

With every prospect of a fine day before them and a cool ocean breeze to fan their brows, fifteen cars filled with excursionists left this morning for a day at Ocean Grove and Asbury Park. The excursionists were from the Sunday-schools of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist, Congregational churches and the Church of the Redeemer.

The excursionists all went with the idea of having a good time. Some carried big lunch baskets and boxes, while others trusted to their pocketbooks and a restaurant to stay their appetites. Some took their bicycles along, and are spending the day in wheeling around the vicinity of the Park, while others were provided with fishing lines and poles, and intend to go out in the fishing sloops. Baby carriages occupied a portion of the baggage apartment, which was also invaded by a little pug dog that one of the excursionists took along for company.

The excursion train stood on a side track below Park avenue, and when ready to pull up to the depot it was found that the air brakes were fast and could not be worked. A few minutes' work on them was sufficient, however, to release them, and the fear of being delayed was driven away. They leave for home at 5:45 tonight.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 21—Some of the women in Westfield are very much worked up over the fires which have been happening in the town for the past two weeks and are using every precaution to prevent the fire-bugs from firing their homes. One lady on Prospect street has had a large dog tied to the front doorknob every night, and another one on Mountain avenue has hired a private watchman to watch her house. It was learned today that an attempt was made Tuesday night to break in the barn of Dr. R. R. Sinclair, on Elm street, but the party or parties were frightened away by the ringing of the alarm bell. The door had been pried open with a large bar which was found near the barn yesterday morning, but it can not be identified as belonging to any one living in the town. As yet no clews have been found to the parties who fired the buildings which were burned Sunday night.

Dr. R. R. Sinclair returned to his home last night after having spent a week in the wilds of Maine.

The Westfield Leader came out today with Franklin Reese, formerly of The Press staff, as editor.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 21.—The town council ought to have the flag, which floats from the pole in the park, taken down at night, for in case of a storm it becomes torn.

Mayor Drake has been entertaining quite a number of prospective investors and manufacturers, who wish to locate, during the past few days.

Peter Hansen is at present engaged digging a well on the property of Fritz Burgger.

H. Brooks Hopper, the manager of "Sullivan's Troubadours," will perfume Stillman Music Hall next Monday evening, July 25th, with "white rose." It was proven to be quite a novelty for the past season, and it makes the hall smell like a bed of roses. Reserved seats are now on sale at the box office for Monday night's performance.

Realty Changes.

The following real estate transfers have been recorded in the Somerset County Clerk's office during the past week: Fidelity Trust Co. to Leah M. Marshall, North Plainfield, $750; Elmer J. Dunlap to Charlotte E. Dunlap, North Plainfield, $1; David N. Force et ux to John F. McIntyre, North Plainfield, $1.

Miss. Kline, of Chatham street, who is very ill, is reported today as being much better.

Former Borough Councilman Fred Slater and family, of Long Island, have leased a house on Manning avenue, and will move to the borough this week.

Miss Lizzie Byrnes, of Bridgeport, Conn., is visiting Mrs. S. R Robinson, of West Second street.

The Misses Wagoner, of West Fourth street, are stopping at the Shelbourne, Asbury Park.

Miss Ada VanHorn, of the borough, who has been visiting out-of-town friends, has returned home.

Miss Ella Withal, of East Second street, has been spending a few days at "River Rest," Bound Brook.

Miss Maggie La Rue, of New Brunswick, rode over on her wheel yesterday and visited friends in town.

Miss Henrietta Bonnell, of Manning avenue, who has been visiting friends on Long Island, has returned home.

Mrs. Harris and children, of South Plainfield, spent yesterday with Mrs. Charles Conover, of Elmwood place.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Stillman, of West Seventh street, leave today for the Adirondacks for the summer.

O. T. Waring and family, of Park avenue, who have been in Europe for two months, are expected home tomorrow.

Mr Dalley, of Fort Hancock, is expected to return home Saturday to spend Sunday with his wife on Manning avenue.

Rev. George Angleman, of Junction, is visiting his father-in-law, John Cory, of West Front street. His wife accompanies him.

Miss Ticknor and her mother, Mrs. Page, of East Sixth street, are spending the summer in the mountains in northern New York.

Mrs. Griggs and daughter, of Asbury Park, are guests of Alfred Bonnell, of Manning avenue, who is the father of Mrs. Griggs.

Clifford McGee, of Orchard avenue, Washington Park, is visiting at the summer home of Elizabeth friends at the Thousand Islands.

Mrs. Frank Green, of Somerset street, has returned from Goshen, N. Y., where she has been visiting relatives for a month.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of the Sabbath Recorder, will go to Milton, Wis., next month, to attend a convention of Seventh-Day Baptists.

Miss McAndrews, of White Haven, Pa., who is a guest in town, is recovering slowly from a sprain to her ankle, which she received a few nights ago while riding a wheel.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of Orchard avenue, left today for the Thousand Islands, where they will be the guests of J. W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, at his summer home.

I. B. Hill, of Westervelt avenue is on his vacation. Yesterday he left for Boston, his old home, with his wife. His mother, who has been visiting him, also returned home with him.

Miss Helen A. Brainard, of Central avenue, and Miss Ellen L. Osgood, of Myrtle avenue, gave a picnic at Mrs. F O. Herring's cottage on the mountain Saturday. Thirty were present. During the evening, the picnicers enjoyed a dance at the Mountain Park Inn.

Chief Marshal Wilson and family, of Grove street, who have been visiting relatives at Summit, were obliged to return today on account of the sudden illness of their daughter, Sadie Wilson. She was taken with an acute attack of indigestion. Dr. Buchanan is in attendance.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

The Seven Best.

'New Jersey's Largest Piano House' naturally is the most desirable as a maker's representative, and we're constantly being approached by others than those whose Pianos we handle to have us substitute, or add to our already imposing list.

It is because of this continual striving on the part of all makers, to have us represent them, that we have long had the cream of the manufacturers. The names—CHICKERING, GABLER, HARDMAN, VOSE, STERLING, STANDARD and HUNTINGTON—are beyond all question those of the seven best, in their different grades, that America produces.

THE POPULAR LOAN.

The American Widow's Mite Plays a Very Important Part.

The widow's mite plays an important part in the placing of the popular loan. As in the Scriptural instance, it is a case of choice, not necessity. All over the country, and particularly among all women, the desire to do what the opportunity offers in the way of helping the country is overpowering. No matter how limited may be the means, the enthusiasm is the same. Those who have never before inclined towards investment are inspired to have their little share in the popular loan. The fact that the loan is so absolutely without risk has, of course, much to do with the favor in which it is held, but there is also considerable sentiment about it, and to women sentiment is even more appealing than security. Men are by no means lacking in the response to Uncle Sam's appeal for aid, but in every part of the land it has been a matter for comment how many women of all ages and conditions have come forward and shown their patriotism in this way.

Jots From All Sources.

Several clubs are shortly to be started in Berlin for women only.

On an average every woman carries forty to sixty miles of hair upon her head.

Lace handkerchiefs, with the initials worked in diamonds, are a late freak of costly extravagance.

Out of the enormous number of women in Constantinople not more than 5,000 can read or write.

It is said that there is one medical lady practicing in the west end of London who earns something like £4,000 a year.

In nearly every street in Japanese cities is a public oven, where for a small fee housewives may have their dinners and suppers cooked for them.

In Bucharest, Romania, women perform some of the severest forms of labor. They mix the mortar and carry it, as well as the bricks, to the topmost stories of buildings in course of construction.

In the Island of Java is a small state which is entirely controlled by women, with the single exception that the sovereign is a man. He is, however, entirely dependent on his state council of three women.

Japanese theaters have their boxes so arranged that the ladies can change their dresses, as it is not considered stylish for a lady to appear an entire evening in one dress and with the same ornaments.

A Pretty Waist.

Fine white organdy. Point de Paris, lace insertion and narrow white satin ribbon combined to make this waist one of the most charming seen this season.

To carry out the all white idea now so popular, the full waist is arranged over a pure white taffeta lining, which has a soft and rather subdued finish. The fronts are gathered at the waist and neck lines, where the fashionable pouched effect is given. The closing is in center front, lining and waist closing separately, and invisibly, which is easily arranged by placing the hooks and eyes just where the trimming comes together.

The seamless back is smooth fitting across the shoulders and drawn by gathers in center at the waist line. The trimming is extended across the back to give the yoke effect. The neck is finished with a high standing collar, over which a wrinkled stock of the organdy is arranged, closing under gathered frills in the back, this style having again taken the place of the now passe bow of ribbon.

The two seamed sleeves which only have fulness at the top, are disposed over fitted linings, stylish double epaulettes standing out fashionably at the top.

Triple rows of the frilled ribbon form evenly spaced bands above the elbow to correspond to the waist trimming, and the wrists are finished to match the epaulettes and simulated yoke.

For separate waists of silk or fine woollen, as well as cotton fabrics, this model will be found excellent, it being simple in construction and suited to the applied decorations that abound in an almost endless variety of designs

Tucking can be used in place of the ribbon here shown, if the tucks are made in groups in the material before the pattern is laid on.

To make this waist for a lady of medium size, 1 3-4 yards of material 44 inches wide will be required.

Care of Irons.

Fire irons that have to be laid by during the summer months should be protected from rust by being coated with a mixture of india rubber, dissolved to the consistency of cream in naphtha. This coating can easily be rubbed off the steel when needful.

OLDEST AMERICAN FORT.

Built as a Protection Against the French and Also Hostile Indians.

Standing, sentinel-like, where the Susquehanna splits itself into the north and south branches, is old Fort Augusta, the veteran fighting stronghold of the United States. Beside a modern fort it would look, in size, like a dog alongside of an elephant. It is now the property of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gross of Sunbury, Pa., and is located in a field about 165 feet from the river bank, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It was built in 1756, after plans by Col. Gordon, as a protection against the French and hostile Indians, and was named after the mother of George III. In shape it closely resembles a bakeoven, and its interior is curious and interesting. A small mound of earth marks the spot, with an opening in the ground two and one-half feet wide. Twelve four-inch stone steps lead below. On descending the ground space inside is found to be 10 by 12 feet, and eight feet from the floor to the apex of the arched ceiling. The arch is brick, and commences in an offset purposely made in the wall five feet above the ground floor. The bricks are said to be of English manufacture.

Its location at the forks of the Susquehanna was a strong strategic advantage, as it held the chief passage by waterway from the north of the state. When completed it was regarded as one of the largest, strongest and most important of all the fortifications erected on the frontiers of the provinces. Its original armament consisted of at least twelve cannon and two swivels, and one of these cannon is still in existence in Sunbury. It is of English make, of about three and one-half inch bore, and weighs nearly 1,000 pounds.

Fort Augusta ranks next in importance to Valley Forge as a factor in the achievement of our liberties, and it is to be hoped that some day public spirit will see that steps are taken for its preservation, and a suitable tablet placed upon it to mark its stanch assistance in the early career of this great country.

Italy's Towers.

Travelers all know how celebrated the bell towers of Italy are. Each important church is made more beautiful architecturally by the campanile, or bell tower, which can be seen for miles away, because the church is always built on the highest point of land.

Italy has church towers and civil towers, the first being the handsomest. They are always attached to a house of worship and in mediaeval days were used as watch towers and for forts. In the sixth century bells were introduced in the towers to call the people to prayers. Civil towers arose in the eleventh century, when palaces, with battlemented towers, were built in great numbers. Nearly all the towers in Italy are square; some, however, have six or eight sides and a few are round. The oldest are undecorated and built of massive stone or brick, lighted by mere loopholes of windows. Gradually many changes were made and ornamentation, pillars and large windows were put in the towers.

The leaning tower of Pisa is well known. It was built in the twelfth century and is thirteen feet out of perpendicular. Around a hollow, brick tube are built eight stories of open galleries, supported by slender columns. It is 179 feet high and at its summit is a room where Galileo experimented. There are also six bells, the largest of which weighs 12,000 pounds. One of them, which was tolled when criminals were led to execution, is ornamented with figures of the Virgin and the arms of the city.

The bell tower of Florence is perhaps more beautiful than that of Pisa. Giotto was the architect and no expense was spared. Figures by the greatest sculptors adorn the base and the upper three stories are ornamented with spiral shafts and carved moldings. Black and white marble was the material used and the mellowing hand of time has only added to the beauty of the whole.

Golf Jewelry.

Golf has invaded the realm of jewelry. Some of the presents that would be most acceptable to men and women who play golf have designs of golf clubs upon them. Gold and silver clubs are used as stick-pins, miniature bundles of clubs crossed somewhat after the fashion of rifles on a soldier's cap as brooches, and a small putter clasp pin is just the thing for the white puff tie. Match safes, cigarette cases, link cuff buttons, tankards and loving cups, silver-backed brushes and silver-topped tobacco jars, all with golf designs upon them in relief, are coming more and more to be a part of the gentlemen's outfit. For the women there are dainty silver score-card frames, chain belts, purses, small cups, silk belts with silver buckles ornamented with golfing paraphernalia. As prizes in local and inter-club matches these convenient articles are finding much favor.

Great Men When Annoyed.

The Prince of Wales, when annoyed, winks his left eye rapidly; the Emperor of Austria puffs out his cheeks; the Czar lays his hand flat on the top of his head; Mr. Gladstone turned swiftly on his heels, as if executing a volte face, and the Sultan of Turkey grasps his throat tightly with his hand.

Prevents the Kettle Boiling Dry.

To prevent kettles from boiling dry a water tank is placed in the cover with a float extending into a tube in the kettle below and attached to a pivoted bar which lifts a plug in the cover to allow the water to flow into the kettle when the latter becomes dry.

WHAT A WAR MEANS.

Loss to the Wealth of the World in the Blood and Ashes of Battle.

What has actually been lost to the wealth of the world in the blood and ashes of the war since authentic history began is beyond all estimate. It has been computed that the loss of human life alone in that time from war amounts to fourteen thousand million souls—a number equivalent to the entire population of the globe for the last 330 years, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly. It should be noted here that the class of men who are drafted or accepted for military service are invariably the very class who, by reason of age, health and strength, are the most valuable to the world from the purely economic and material standpoint. They are the stalwart, intelligent, capable men. In this country economists have set the definite value of $5,000 upon the average man, considered as a wealth producer. Taking this figure as the general standard of the value of man, it can be seen what an inconceivable amount of wealth in the shape of men has been destroyed on the battlefields of the world since time began.

The war losses of the United States have not been as great, comparatively, as those of other civilized nations in recent times, but even the totals here are sufficient to show the absurdity of the supposition that either now or at any other time we may reap financial gain by the sickles of battle. The annual expenditure of the United States during the war of the revolution was $20,000,000 in specie. Most of the money was raised by public loans in the form of paper currency. The diminishing value of this slender security inevitably brought about the hoarding of gold. The consequent scarcity of real money, as a matter of course, was followed by suffering widespread and intense.

Our second war with England lasted only two years, but it cost us $72,000,000 to vindicate our cause, just and righteous as it was. And this did not include the losses to our merchant marine from English privateering, a loss beyond computation, even in those times of our comparative commercial poverty.

For the folly of the Mexican war we had to pay dearly in men and treasure, a loss for which our acquisition of territory did not compensate. The lives of more than 5,000 American citizens were a part of the price we paid for that display of power, and something more than $25,000,000 for military disbursements was another part.

For the civil war the figures of loss all around mount up to stupendous totals. The immediate financial losses were $4,500,000,000 to the north and $2,300,000,000 to the south, with such after results as a national debt of $3,000,000,000, a crippled merchant marine, a ruined agricultural community, besides the losses occasioned in other parts of the world, including those consequent upon the cotton famine of Lancashire, and the loss of employment to more than 100,000 European laborers. Such, at least, are the losses computed by Leroy-Beaulieu in his "Les Guerres Contemporains," causing him thus to close his chapter on our civil war: "Such is war. Its nature is so homicidal that it slays thousands of victims even at a distance of thousands of miles from the battlefield."

No Free Press in Japan.

There is practically no such thing as freedom of the press in Japan. Whenever a newspaper publishes something unfriendly to the government it is suppressed and the editor is sent to prison. The real editor is never imprisoned, though. Every newspaper has what the Japanese call a "dummy editor," and his sole duty is to go to jail every time the paper is suppressed for offending the mikado. Then the real editor changes the name of the paper and keeps on publishing it. Dummy editors spend most of their time in prison.

Fire-Worshippers and Kerosene.

A knowledge of the existence of petroleum at Baku is so ancient that we find there the ruins of a temple to Zoroaster. The worship of fire—so easy to obtain that it was only necessary to prod the soil with a stick and set fire to the vapor that issued out of it—was continued until so recent a time as twenty years ago, when several Parsee priests were in Baku for the purpose of worshiping that which we of this iconoclastic time buy in the corner groceries to fill our lamps.

Largest Crater in the World.

The largest crater in the world is that of Haleakala, in the Sandwich islands. The circumference of the crater is about twenty miles, its depth in places being 2,000 feet. If the interior were cleared of its debris New York city could be placed on the black lava floor, and from three to five other big cities put over it before their spires would protrude at the top.

Liberality of the Sultan.

The Sultan of Turkey is more than liberal to his daughters, as the recent marriage of Princess Naime reveals. In addition to about $90,000 a year the princess has a palace decorated in the most lavish style and a retinue of servants, who are all paid by the father.

Cost of Bull-Fighting.

Spain's bull-fighters made money last year. Mazzantini in 66 fights killed 168 bulls and made 396,000 pesetas; Reverte's score was 71 fights, 160 bulls and 276,000 pesetas; while Guerrita, with 76 fights and 147 bulls slaughtered, earned 456,000 pesetas, or $91,000.

To Riddle a Pane of Glass.

A musket ball may be fired through a pane of glass, making a hole the size of the ball without cracking the glass, if the glass be suspended by a thread; it will make no difference and the thread will not even vibrate.

THE VALUE OF URBANITY.

Two Incidents Where It Was the Means of Saving Life.

Many years ago the late Dr. Shippen, of Philadelphia, left his house in early morning and was hurrying down the street when he noticed a singular and ferocious looking man, whose gaze was fastened upon him. With instinctive politeness and bonhommie he smiled, raised his hat and passed on, when suddenly he heard a shot. Turning, he found that the stranger had just left his home with the insane intention of killing the first man he met. He was the first man; but his absolute fearless and constitutional as well as cultivated courtesy had put the man off his guard, and the next passerby had caught the bullet intended for him. That smile and bow had saved his life.

When the country was a century younger and the Indian was yet in the land, a gentleman upon the then frontier was hunting with friends, got separated from them, and completely lost his way. Every effort to retrieve his steps led him still further into the wilderness, and night ovetook him in a dense foest. Overcome with fatigue, he lay down under a tree and slept profoundly. In the morning he awoke with a start, with that indescribable feeling that someone was looking at him, and, glancing up, he saw that he was surrounded by hostile Indians, and that the leader of the band, in war paint and feathers, was bending over him in no amiable mood.

He took in the situation at a glance—knew his immediate danger, and had no means of averting it; neither did he understand a word of their language. But he was self-possessed, knew the universal language of nature, and believed that even under war paint and feathers "a man's a man for a' that." He fixed his clear, bold eye upon the Indian, and—smiled! Gradually the fierceness passed away from the eye above him, and at last an answering smile came over the face. Both were men—both were brothers—and he was saved! The savage took him under his protection, brought him to his wigwam, and after a few days restored him to his friends. Courage, self-command and tact had gained the day.—Lippincott's Magazine.

POPES OF HUMBLE ORIGIN

One the Son of a Swineherd and Another the Son of a Shepherd.

Sixtus V., who was one of the most able and powerful pontiffs that ever reigned and ruled, was the son of a poor swineherd at Montalto. Taken from his position as swine keeper by a Cordelier, who was pleased with his quickness and intelligence, he was placed in a convent. There he made such rapid progress in learning that he was admitted into holy orders, and became doctor and professor of divinity, whereupon he took the name of Montalto. He was made a cardinal in 1570. After the death of Gregory XIII. the cardinals united in electing him to the vacant chair in 1585. He was inflexible in the administration of justice, and built the Vatican library, which alone was sufficient to make his reign a memorable one. Peter Philargi, cashier of Milan and afterward Pope Alexander V., was born of a humble family in Crete. He knew neither father nor mother. As a beggar boy in the street, he was taken and educated by a friar minor. Adrian VI., who was born at Utrecht on March 2, 1459, was the son of a ship carpenter of the name of Floris; Pius IV., the son of a peasant, and Pius V. the son of a shepherd. Gregory VII, surnamed Hildebrand, Pope from 1073 to 1085, was the son of a carpenter of Soano, in Tuscany.—Tit Bits.

CHEERFUL THOUGH BLIND.

One Old Lady Wasn't as Happy After Regaining Sight as When in Darkness.

"Doesn't it seem strange that the average person afflicted with hopeless blindness should have a cheerful disposition?" remarked a philosophic citizen. "You'll generally find the blind good natured." "Did it never occur to you that they're happier that way than they would be if they regained their sight?" asked his companion, a prominent physician. "Let me cite a case in point. Some years ago I was called in to prescribe for an estimable old woman who was suffering from a slight cold. She was utterly blind, and had been so for forty years. I took a look at her eyes, and immediately came to the conclusion that her sight could be restored. Her blindness had come upon her when she was about thirty years old, and at that time the science of ophthalmology was in its infancy.

"She was delighted at the prospect of regaining her vision, and put herself under the care of a specialist. Her sight was soon restored to her, but it made her a changed woman. She had been cheerful and happy before, but now she became misanthropic and peevish. Everything was changed for her. For forty years she had carried in her memory the bright, rosy faces of her children. Now, when she saw them as gray-haired men and women she was disappointed, completely disillusionized. And so it was with many other things. The beautiful dreams of her blindness were better than the visual realities."—Philadelphia Record.

Problematic.

"Say, be you the doctor?" inquired the small boy.

The man of squills admitted the soft impeachment.

"Well, you told dad to cut a V in his ingrowing toenail, and he's stuck; he sent me back to see whether to cut a small v or a capital V."

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Königsberg. Ein Kassenbote der Regierungshauptkasse dahier hat 32,000 Mark unterschlagen. Er hatte bei der Anfertigung von Goldrollen zu 500 beziehungsweise 1000 Mark die 20-Markstücke durch 20-Pfennigstücke ersetzt.

Goldap. Wohl in einem Anfalle von Geistesstörung machte der 78jährige Altsitzer Johann Broßeit aus Czarnowken seinem Leben durch Erschießen ein Ende.

Stallupönen. Die Schneiderin Minna Kaul im benachbarten Lanken hat auf ihre Bitte vom Kaiser eine Nähmaschine als Geschenk erhalten.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Elbing. Die Schifffahrt auf der mit einem Kostenaufwand von mehreren Millionen ausgebauten neuen Wasserstraße der Elbinger Weichsel wurde am 1. Juli eröffnet.

Marienburg. Das hiesige Schöffengericht verhandelte kürzlich gegen den Besitzer eines Weingutes im Elsaß und eines Baarvermögens von etwa 100,000 Mark wegen böswilligen Verlassens seines Dienstes. Der bejahrte Mann war Milchfahrer bei einem Großbauern. Als ihm die große Erbschaft zufiel, fragte ihn sein Brodherr, ob er seinen Dienst weiter versehen wolle, und es kam ein neuer Dienstvertrag zu Stande. Kaum war aber dem Manne das Geld wirklich ausgezahlt worden, so verließ er den Dienst und kaufte sich in der Nachbarschaft an. Das Gericht verurtheilte den Angeklagten zu 5 Mark Geldstrafe. Diesen Betrag wird er verschmerzen können.

Rheinprovinz.

Bonn. In der Stadt herrscht großer Jubel. Beim Oberbürgermeister Spiritus ist die Genehmigung des Kaisers zum Abbruch des alten Sternthores eingetroffen. Nach Einberufung des Stadtraths wurde auch sofort mit dem Abbruch begonnen. Der westliche Thurm soll erhalten bleiben.

Essen. Dieser Tage brach ein Großfeuer in der Aktienbrauerei aus; binnen drei Stunden war die große Mälzerei ausgebrannt. Der Schaden ist sehr beträchtlich, doch durch Versicherung gedeckt. Der Betrieb wird aufrecht erhalten, 50 Telephonleitungen wurden zerstört.

Mehlem. Auf einer Wagendecke des um ½10 Uhr Abends hier eintreffenden Personenzuges fand man neulich den Wagenwärter todt liegen. Er hatte schwere Verletzungen am Kopfe. Es wird angenommen, daß er während der Fahrt ein Licht von der Wagendecke aus anzünden wollte und unterhalb Rolandseck von einer Ueberbrückung erfaßt wurde.

Provinz Sachsen.

Bleicherode. Die Weberbevölkerung unserer vier Webertreise Nordhausen, Mühlhausen, Worbis und Heiligenstadt hat eine Vereinigung gegründet, welche den Zweck hat, die oft recht kümmerlichen Verhältnisse zu bessern. Erzielt soll dies werden durch Verhandlungen mit den Arbeitgebern über angemessenen Lohn, Abhaltung von Versammlungen mit belehrenden Vorträgen sowie mit Diskussionen über Fach- und Arbeiterfragen, Eingaben an die maßgebenden Behörden u. s. w.

Halle. Unter großer Betheiligung von Nah und Fern fand hier die 200jährige Jubelfeier der Francke'schen Stiftungen statt. Dem Hauptfestakt wohnten zwei Minister, die Spitzen der Universität und der Behörden bei. Ehemalige Schüler und die Stadt Halle stifteten Kapitalien zur Gründung neuer Waisen-Freistellen. Eine große Zahl früherer Schüler war zur Feier eingetroffen.

A Fellow Feeling.

Makes Plainfield People as 'Wondrous Kind' as Elsewhere.

A fellow feeling prompts it.
We all have troubles of our own.
We appreciate assistance.
Relief from trouble promotes gratitude.
Gratitude promotes publicity,
Publicity promotes the public good.
A man with a bad back,
The kind that aches all day, and doesn't cease at night,
Is a grateful man when his back is cured.
He wants to tell his friends about it.
Let them know relief can be had.
Lots of fellow feeling in Plainfield.
Doan's Kidney Pills have cured so many backs.
Read what this Plainfield citizen says:

Mr. George S. McGinnis, of 212 Somerset street, Foreman at R. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Mfg., says: "I never was sick a day in my life before last winter when from some cause or other I began having pain across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first thinking it would soon go away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved and continued the treatment and by the time I had finished the third box the pain in my back and the lameness had disappeared. The bladder difficulty was relieved completely and I am thankful to say that I am feeling like my old self again. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and I gladly recommend them as such whenever I have a chance."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the U. S.

MUCH LOVED PRIEST.

CATHOLICS INTERESTED IN BISHOP NEUMANN'S BEATIFICATION.

His Claims to Saintship—Evidence of No Less Than Forty Miraculous Cures Effected by His Prayers and Intercession Forwarded to Rome—A Wonderful Cure.

Catholic circles of Philadelphia and elsewhere are greatly interested in the proceedings of beatification of the late venerable and much beloved Bishop Neumann of Philadelphia, which are being vigorously prosecuted by the prelates in charge of this difficult work, at St. Peter's church, under the leadership of Very Rev. Joseph Wissel, C. SS. R., postulator of the cause, who has forwarded to Rome a report of no less than 40 miraculous cures effected during the lifetime of the venerable bishop, who died in Philadelphia, and whose fervent prayers and intercessions brought about remarkable results.

One is a wonderful eradication of blood poisoning, in the case of a widow 36 years old, in 1872, who, in addition, was bedfast with paralysis and a cancerous affliction, and after unsuccessful treatment at several of the hospitals of Philadelphia was apparently cured through the good offices of Bishop Neumann, this case being a remarkable instance of the power of efficacious prayer, the lady in question being now over 60 years of age.

On the day on which the body of the venerable bishop was interred a remarkable incident occurred, concerning which trustworthy witnesses have testified. A woman whose name could not be ascertained suffered from a lame arm, which she carried in a sling. Hardly had the funeral procession started from the bishop's residence when this woman tried to push through the multitude to get near the bier on which the body was exposed. She had succeeded in getting through the lines of the men that marched on both sides of the bier, but one of the priests who acted as pallbearer (and who has related this incident) prevented her from going nearer.

She repeated the attempt several times during the funeral procession and in St. John's church, but was always checked. Only toward evening, as the body of the bishop was exposed in St. Peter's church for the faithful to view it, while they were passing up the one aisle and down the other, was the woman at last able to touch with her lame arm the body of the bishop. Immediately she recovered the use of her arm, and with deep emotions of heart and with a loud voice she gave vent to her gratitude, so that for the moment there was a great stir among those present. She left the church full of heartfelt gratitude toward God and his saint.

Even abroad many miracles were wrought right after the death of Bishop Neumann and through his intercession. The following case the postulator for the beatification of the servant of God was a witness. Immediately after the death of the venerable servant of God Ph. Z——, who lived in the city of Alleghany, opposite Pittsburg, had a swelling on her hand which caused her much pain.

The cause of the swelling was unknown. In the course of two days a serious inflammation set in, so that she was unable to raise or move her hand in the least and was compelled to keep it bandaged. She spoke about it to an experienced physician, who gave her no hope, but expressed his fears that the arm might have to be amputated in order to prevent further inflammation. In her great distress she sought counsel from her confessor, who tried to encourage her to make a novena to the venerable Bishop Neumann, who had recently died in Philadelphia. He also gave her a few threads of the chasuble in which the dead bishop was laid out and told her to use no medicine during the novena. The chasuble which clothed the corpse of the bishop during the ceremonies was removed before the burial because Bishop Neumann wished to be buried as a simple Redemptorist, in the habit only.

She tied the relic to her hand over the spot where the pain was most acute and said every day three Hail Marys. Her mother, who at that time had become tepid in her religion and had no faith in supernatural means, would not permit her to neglect the poulticing of the arm with flaxseed. For three weeks the patient endured the most excruciating pain. The pain only increased the more during the first few days of the novena, and on the seventh and eighth days it was more intense than ever.

She received holy communion the ninth day of the novena. During mass she felt great relief, and returning home she removed the bandage and found that the swelling had burst in the very spot where she had placed the relic and that the poison had passed out. The inflammation disappeared and in a few days her hand was completely healed. No sign of the trouble has ever reappeared, though 38 years have elapsed. The same Ph. Z. is still living and has enjoyed good health ever since and is now a member of a religious community in Louisville.—Philadelphia Press.

Gift From the Queen of Italy.

The little Catholic church of the Italian settlement in Baldwin county, Ala., near Daphne, is the recipient of a handsome set of vestments, the gift of Queen Marguerita of Italy. The Italian government has shown much interest in the colony, and her people have had several visits from distinguished Italians, who are charmed at their countrymen's great success in agriculture, winemaking and the raising of olives. Of the latter the test requires some years yet to determine, but in the first two they have already succeeded. This colony raised and shipped rice to New Orleans, selling it at a good profit. The rice was the upland kind and high in quality.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE CHURCH IN SPAIN.

A Traveler's Description of the Virgin's Robes and Jewels.

"Religion," remarked the traveler returned not long ago from Spain—and, by the way, he was a good Catholic—"as it is observed in Spain is one of the most interesting studies the modern American traveler finds in that country. The Virgin, for instance, always wears the royal crown and ranks as a queen. She has a household composed of the greatest ladies of the kingdom, who take care of her wardrobe, chapels, etc. She also has landed estates, less now than formerly, which are administered in her name and the revenues invested for her cult. The Saviour is treated as a king, called 'his divine majesty,' and when the host passes by any barrack the guard turns out, presents arms, and the royal anthem, 'La Marcia Real,' is played.

"The wardrobe of the Virgin del Sagrario at Toledo is well worth seeing, for its wealth is unrivaled by the toilet of the most extravagant queens of the world. Her manto for gala days is entirely of silver and gold, 78,000 pearls embroidered on it, while the diamonds, rubies and emeralds scattered all over it are simply countless. Her ordinary robes for everyday wear, so to speak, are quite as splendid, in all sorts of colors, material and decorations of embroidery and fine needlework. They are presents from popes, kings, queens and the mighty of the earth. Her imperial crown, dating from the sixteenth century, cost $25,000 in gold and workmanship, not counting the jewels, which glitter in it like the stars of night. The bracelets, made by Henrado, a famous silversmith of the sixteenth century, also cost $10,000. Nobody knows what was the value of the gold and jewels given to this Virgin by the old Queen Isabella, and she was in addition the Virgin's mistress of the robes.—Washington Star.

CATHEDRAL OF MANILA.

It Took Twelve Years to Complete It at a Cost of $1,000,000.

By the law of the Philippine islands everybody is Catholic. No other church services of any kind are allowed. There are church buildings in every town, and the churches are the finest buildings, as a rule, in the town. The Catholic cathedral is the finest edifice in the city of Manila. It is under the care of the Jesuits, as are many of the churches on the islands. It was 12 years in building and cost $1,000,000. The very finest and hardest woods in the Philippines were used for the finishing, and the structure is of a bluish tint marble. There are exquisite carvings, some of which have recently been made.

The education of the young on the islands is in the care of the Catholic church authorities. There are no endowed schools and no hospitals. The children go to school only one hour per day for two days each week and study almost nothing save church history and a few verbs. Writing is not taught, and reading is taught only to the upper classes. All marriages have to be celebrated by the priests. Some time ago a marriage was performed between British subjects in the British legation, and so much trouble came from it that a battle well nigh ensued.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Lord's Doing.

There is a great deal of cowardice under the words, "It was the Lord's doing." Without meaning to be irreverent, would any one dare blame everything on his fellow man, as the majority of people do on God? If, for instance, I go out into the rain, catch cold, am ill, lose my business and am a care and expense to my friends, have I any right to say to those who sympathize with me that I am submitting patiently to God's will? Had I not better say, "I was imprudent and am taking the consequences." God makes certain rules and leaves it to ourselves to decide whether we will keep them. If he were here ready to contradict us, we would not make so many statements about his will.—Catholic Universe.

Catholic Church Notes.

Ten little working girls have combined to have a mass said every week for the Lawrence soldier boys till their return.

John Morley has been received into the Roman Catholic church at the Brompton oratory, according to the Irish Independent.

Bishop Harkins of Providence sent 500 pairs of beads and 500 scapulars to the Catholic members of the First Rhode Island regiment.

Bishop Healy has given $20 to the John Boyle O'Reilly Reading circle of Boston for the Boston cottage at the Catholic summer school.

Archbishop Chapelle will be invested with the pallium by Cardinal Gibbons during the autumn. Archbishop Ryan will be the orator of the day.

The late Sir Adolphe Chapleau of Canada willed $10,000 to the Roman Catholic archiepiscopal corporation of Montreal, to be applied to charitable works.

VIRGINIA'S PRIDE.

HOW JEFFERSON FOUNDED THE RENOWNED UNIVERSITY.

He Desired the Great Educational Institutions, the Press and the Books to be of American Origin, and Permeat with the Spirit of Her Independence.

The dedication recently of the new buildings of the ancient and renowned University of Virginia, the alma mater of so many distinguished men of the south recalls an historical event as well as that severe Jacksonian simplicity which was so characteristic of the early days of the Republic. On a bright sunny day now about eighty years ago, there was a quaint village meeting in the little town of Charlottesville. The old men of the place had met to consult about the best means of reviving a modest country school where many of those present had received whatever education they possessed. The school itself was an American edition of Dotheboys' Hall without the disagreeable Mr. Squeers, and was ambitiously termed the Albemarle Academy. Those at the village meeting were resolved to provide an institution worthy of the rapidly growing wants of the State of Virginia but were at a loss how to proceed in affecting that purpose.

The meeting was about to adjourn without accomplishing anything when some one present espied, afar off on the mountain slope, the form of a man on horseback. He was rapidly coming towards the village and as he approached proved to be an accomplished rider, mounted on a magnificent thoroughbred, and wearing one of those broad brimmed hats so much worn by country gentlemen of that day, and which used to be in our own day the favorite headgear of the late Carter H. Harrison, of Chicago. The rider was at once recognized as he came within nearer view as the Sage of Monticello. "Let us consult Mr. Jefferson," said one of those present.

Jefferson had now approached those present. He dismounted and tied his horse's reins to the railing with the same easy and uncermonious freedom as he had formerly tied the same to the palisades of the White House on the occasion of his inauguration. The people gathered around their neighbor with much less awe, and with a feeling of equality and fewer marks of demonstration than they would probably exhibit in the case of an ex-President today.

Thomas Jefferson took in the situation in a moment, and unscrewing the top of his cane he opened its three parts which thus formed the legs of a stool, and seating himself upon this ingenious contrivance listened attentively to the various arguments for the renovation of the local Academy. Upon hearing all that had been said and thanking them for the honor done him by consulting his views in the matter, Jefferson at once urged them to discard the idea of reviving the old school, but to at once convert their paltry academy into a college. He urged them to give it such a character as would redound not only to the credit of their own county of Albemarle, but to that of the entire state of Virginia. This unexpected proposal took the entire meeting by surprise. It was far beyond the range of vision of the plain farmers and village people assembled and who with the old College of William and Mary before their mind's eye, hardly saw the necessity of taxing the new commonwealth even for such a worthy purpose. It was a proposal so startling that some at once blamed Jefferson's years of official life at the Capitol for what appeared a novel experiment. But those present had much respect for Jefferson's views and when he subscribed $1,000, suggested that eight of his neighbors would do likewise, they hesitated no longer. In their official capacity as trustees they passed resolutions favoring the project, and the work was successfully launched. A literary fund was now created by the act of the legislature. It consisted of the proceeds from certain escheats, forfeitures and fines and from which source, together with some arrears of public money due from the United States to Virginia and a special fund of $60,000, gave substantial endowment to the University. Jefferson and the early founders of the University were now in a position to go ahead. Accordingly a low ceiled, white-washed room of a modest country inn in Rockford Gap saw Jefferson, Madison and Monroe sitting on split bottom chairs of home make, devising means whereby this university which was intended to promulgate American ideas and to offset Harvard, could proceed successfully upon its mission. Such were the scenes and simplicity, such the purpose and the businesslike character of the early village meeting which called into existence one of the great educational institutions of the country.

It was not initiated like the medieval universities of Europe for the spread of imperial views, nor endowed like many of those of to-day by some rich man. Nor was it erected by another class of men, who having spent their lives in violation of Heaven's decrees think on dying that Divine wrath could be propitiated by making bequests in their will and their own happy entrance into another world facilitated through endowing Universities for the propogation of the twin sisters of literature and religion. It was founded, on the contrary, in this simple way through the longing of the people for higher ideals, better sources of information and greater opportunities for their children than those which they had enjoyed themselves. Its purpose was worthy of the author of the Declaration of Independence and of the statutes of Virginia for religious freedom. And in addition to these two the name of Jefferson to all future generations, he also deserves to be known through the wise counsels and the high minded action of that meeting in Charlottesville as the father also of the University of Virginia.

Every hour which this "departed spirit of the mighty dead" could spare from his farm, or his family, from his almost overwhelming correspondence, or from the boundless demands of that historic and hospitable era, was freely given to rearing this noble institution of learning amid the mountains of Virginia. He had cherished this hope amid the throes of the Revolution. He persevered in it during the first years of the country's independence, because as he said himself the founder of the University, the two presidents, Madison and Monroe, who succeeded Jefferson also lent him all necessary wisdom and assistance. And on the first report of the University there was "danger that through the umbilical ducts which still connect us with Europe there might be pumped into the veins of the nation the poison which would induce the stillness of national decay." He desired the great educational institutions, the press, the universities and the books the people read, to be of American origin, and permeated with the spirit which made America independent, prosperous and free. This was the part of wisdom because a nation that received its jurisprudence, its literature, language and religion from another might, except constant safeguards and national antitidotes were provided, easily take on also the tinge of its national thought. Utterly unselfish in his great scheme to found a University, the sage of Monticello had in his thoughts the national security alone. He did not name the University after himself. He never thought of his own interests or his fame; but with a singleness of purpose blended a rare harmony with marvellous sagacious intention, he merely desired to preface and fortify his countrymen for the novel and important functions to which they were summoned by their newly-born independence. Though Jefferson was thus printed in 1818 the names of all three are mentioned as having met at Monticello the previous year to discuss the details of the University which now celebrates its renovation and extension.

The trustees, true to Jefferson's directions, have raised a monument in the entrance hall, so that the first object which strikes the eye of the visitor, is a life-like and finely chiseled representation of the Sage of Monticello, attired in the toga of the Roman Senator, and with his pleasing and intellectual countenance so seemingly lighted up as to extend a living greeting to all who enter the portals of this University. The statue almost impresses the visitor that the living Jefferson is duly "receiving" him and no visitor who has ever heard of the romantic circumstances of its foundation or has turned homewards after that "reception," whose heart did not beat faster and his Americanism receive newer and loftier inspiration, as he turned and beheld again that historic University; or whose lips did not utter a prayer of thankfulness to Heaven that God in the bright morning of our country's freedom had given life and form to the soul and spirit of Thomas Jefferson.

The Origin of Yankee Doodle.

Despite the contention that in 1755 Dr. Shuckburgh wrote "Yankee Doodle," the best authorities are now agreed that in its original form the air of the great American national song was composed to deride the Cromwellians in England.

This is probably news to a great many people, who will find it hard to think that anything so thoroughly American could have been born in a foreign land. That "Yankee Doodle" was originally a cavalier ditty, possibly whistled by London street gamins of Royalist sympathies, with the object of irritating the Roundheads, does not seem right, but we have the authority of a writer in the London Telegraph for the statement.

It was "Nankee Doodle" then, however; an unmeaning appellation applied to Oliver Cromwell, who rode into Oxford with a single feather in his hat, fastened in a knot, called, during the period, a "macaroni."

"Nankee Doodle" crossed the Atlantic at a convenient time for adoption. Then the term Yankee, applied originally strictly to New Englanders, was beginning to be used colloquially, having been derived from "Yenghee," the Indian pronounciation of "English." The initial "N" in "Nankee" was discontinued, and "Y" substituted.

The tune was adopted by the Revolutionary colonists more in the spirit of retaliation than anything else. When Lord Percy's brigade marched out of Boston the bands played "Yankee Doodle" as a mark of contempt for the inhabitants of the city. Then the colonists uttered a threat that before the war ended Percy's brigade would be made to dance to the despised tune, and it did.

Swiss Funeral Customs.

Swiss funeral customs are most peculiar. At the death of a person the family inserts a formal, black-edged announcement in the papers asking for sympathy, and stating that "the mourning urn" will be exhibited during certain hours on a special day. In front of the house where the person died there is placed a little black table, covered with a black cloth, on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends and acquaintances of the family drop little, black-margined visiting-cards, sometimes with a few words of sympathy on them. The urn is put on the table on the day of the funeral. Only men ever go to the churchyard, and they generally follow the hearse on foot.

WENT HUNTING IN OFFICE HOURS.

The Easy-going Rules in the Departments Fifty Years Ago.

"The rules regulating the hours of work of the government employes in the departments," says one who formerly served his country in the capacity of a clerk, "are quite different from those in vogue half a century ago. What would you think if I were to tell you that under the old regime I have known clerks to take their fowling pieces to their offices and after perusing the old Intelligencer, or some other paper, ascertaining the show for work coming to their desks and walking over to the 'pint,' near where the monument is now, or south of the President's mansion, and shooting a few birds. I have known clerks to go gunning in office hours, but usually those who thus acted were fine shots and successful in bringing down the birds. Poor sportsmen seldom took this privilege, but it was understood all round that all that was necessary was that the work should be kept up. I have on many occasions strolled along the avenue or worked about my home for hours when my office work was well up, and nothing was said. There were even messengers who occasionally took French leave.

"On one occasion one of this class joined in a procession, and the following day he apologized to his chief, remarking: 'I waited to as kpermission for absenting myself yesterday, but you had not arrived when my company was about to form, so I took leave and now come to ask for it."

"'That was right,' said the chief, 'always take holiday when you want to, unless you see a rush of business coming, and you will be sure to have it. Only ask for the leave afterward to make it all right. But do not be extravagant. Spend your leaves for some good purpose.'

"This was when the entire force in the executive departments was not as large as some of the present bureaus, when the business of the government was a mere fraction of the present output. There was no need then of red-tape rules, and so you kept your work well up there was no complaint."—Washington Star.

BRITISH DIPLOMATS CARED FOR.

They Are Treated Far More Generously Than Are Our Representatives.

The British Government owns the finest residence in Pekin. It is occupied by its minister to China and his staff, which consists of eighteen or twenty persons, including three or four "commercial attaches," as they are called, whose business is to study the commercial possibilities of the empire and make reports to the foreign office in London for the benefit of the British manufacturers and merchants. There are also several "student interpreters," young men who are placed there for the purpose of acquiring the Chinese language and a knowledge of the customs of country prior to their appointment in the consular service in any country unless he understands the language of that country, which does not apply to the consular service of the United States. In addition to the legation in the city of Pekin, the British Parliment has recently apppropriated $85,000 for the erection of a summer residence for the use of its minister and his officials in the hills fifteen or twenty miles away. Twenty-six thousand dollars was also apppropriated for the erection of a consulate at Chung-King. Wherever the British establish an embassy or legation or consulate they always provide a suitable building, as in Washington. But the United States Government owns only one such building in all the world, and that is at Topyo, Japan, where the land was given by the Japanese Government, and the original residence was erected by Mr. Seward when he was our minister there. We have paid twenty times its value in rent during all these years, and finally purchased it from his heirs for $16,000.

THE WRITING ON THE BANK NOTE.

And How It Was the Means of Liberating a Man from Prison.

Some years ago the cashier of a Liverpool merchant received a small Bank of England note, which he held up to the light to make sure it was genuine. In doing so he noticed some indistinct brownish marks, as if words had been traced on the front of the note and on the margin. Out of curiosity he tried to decipher them. In a weak solution of acid the words came out much more legibly, and he was able to read the following sentence:

"If this note should fall into the hands of John Dean, of Longhillmar, he will learn thereby that his brother is languishing a prisoner in Algiers."

Mr. Dean, when the note was shown to him, lost no time in asking the Government for assistance, and finally secured the freedom of his brother, on payment of a ransome to the Dey. The unfortunate man had been a prisoner for eleven years, and had traced, with a piece of wood for pen and his own blood for ink, the message on the banknote, in the hope of its being seen, sooner or later.

Economic Uses of the Rattlesnake.

The mountain ranges of New Jersey and Pennsylvania abound in rattlesnakes, which are turned by the natives to various commercial uses, and, though the reptile does not pay very well, his residuary substances have some selling value For instance, his skin if a large one is worth $1 and if sold to the summer boarder brings on an average about $2.50. It is made into belts, pocketbooks, slippers, and other articles of like sort, and is of a delicat ornate texture, with curious interlacings and imbrications showing how finely the original serpent was jacketed. Its oil is very costly and has vairious uses, and its venom, still more costly, is a[illegible] in case of scarlet fever.—New York Tribune.

The Pittsburg Club will play no Sunday exhibition games in the East this season.

Tim Hurst claims that Watkins has the weakest team that has represented Pittsburg in some years.

Harry Blake, of the Clevelands, claims that cigarettes dimmed his batting eye. He has given them the shake.

Jack Stivetts indignantly denies that he drove a brewery wagon last winter. He was employed in a slaughter house.

Bill Joyce does not believe in gymnasium work. He thinks it only hardens the muscles and stiffens a ball player. He thinks well of bowling.

Herman Long considers Bobby Wallace, of Cleveland, the wonder of the League, because he jumped right from the pitcher's box and became a star third baseman in one short season.

The photograph that J. Hervey Doane took of the Crescents, their manager, umpires and scorer, has turned out very well. The likenesses are all good and everybody looks happy.

The Y. M. C. A. nine will not play Saturday. There may be one more game before the end of the season, but this is doubtful, and it is likely that Plainfield people have seen the last of baseball for this year.

There was a great game of baseball at Stirling Saturday afternoon when the Berkeley Heights nine defeated the Stirling team by a score of 22 to 7. Benj. A. Mumford, formerly manager of the Plainfield Crescents, had an old grudge against the Stirling team which he settled satisfactorily. He went to the game and took with him Cooney, Charley Mumford and Moran. Cooney played third, Moran short and Mumford first for the Berkeley Heights team and assisted in their defeat. After the game Mumford and his three players were handsomely entertained at the home of Henry Rogers, one of the staunchest supporters of the Berkeley Heights team.

The longest game of baseball played this season took place at Peoria, Ill., June 26th, betweeen the team of that town and the St. Joseph team, both of the Western Association. It lasted for twenty-one innings, and in the point of length breaks a record of many years standing. St. Joseph by scoring three runs in the third and fourth innings tied Peoria who scored three runs in the first inning, and then for fifteen consecutive innings neither side scored until the last inning, when the Peorias scored five and the St. Josephs one, making the score 8 to 4 in favor of the Peorias. The Peorias made eleven hits and five errors, and the St. Josephs twelve hits and eight errors.

Anybody would suppose that Manager Mumford would have had all the baseball he wanted since the disbandment of the Crescents. He hasn't, however. He is just as enthusiastic now as when he opened the season. Of course, he agrees that baseball, as far as the Crescents are concerned, is gone for this year. He has hopes of better luck next season, however. He now realizes that the Crescent Oval is too far out to draw the crowd that is necessary to give him good support. He hopes in another year that the trolley road will have a branch out that way that can carry his supporters out to the Oval in a short time. He then considers that baseball will thrive, and that he will then be able to give the people of Plainfield as rattling good a team as this season before it disbanded.

The Marions, of Perth Amboy, after winning eleven straight games, received their first defeat of the season last Saturday at the hands of the Volunteer A. A. team. The fact that the Marions have won the championship of Middlesex county by defeating the Woodbridge A. A. in three close and exciting games, 6 to 4, 5 to 4, and 7 to 4, has served to set that town "baseball crazy." The schedule includes the following games: V. A. A., at Perth Amboy, July 23d; N.J. A. C., at Perth Amboy, July 30th; V. A. A., at Perth Amboy, Aug. 6th. The players are: Brogan, catcher; Brownmiller, pitcher; Galvin, first base; Odell, second base; Nichols, third base; Kelly, shortstop; Moylan, left field; Cook, centre field; Lyons, right field, and William Quigley, manager.

CYCLING COMMENT

Mrs. Wm. Day, of Richmond street rode her wheel to New Brunswick yesterday and returned with her sister, Mrs. C. W. Bower, of Perth Amboy.

There is lots of rivalry among the New Brunswick hostelries in the contest for the wheelmen's trade. The L. A. W. selected the Mansion House as its official hotel, but several others have hung great signs across the street, pointing out their place as the L. A. W. headquarters and advertising to give special rates to wheelmen.

There is a movement on foot looking toward the formation of an organization by the local members of the L. A. W. Owing to the fact that many of them are now out of town, nothing will be done until fall when a meeting will probably be called. Local Consul Thomas A. Cuming is very enthusiastic in the work and is one of the leaders in the movement to organize.

The law students in the various offices here are about to get up a series of bicycle races, to be run during the third week in August. A five mile road race will be the chief attraction, which will be open to the law students and their friends. Prizes will be offered to make the races interesting. Charles Dunlap and Charles McCann are making the necessary arrangements.

Now that there are so many new candidates springing forward among the ranks of Plainfield wheelmen for honors on the road, one of the old champions in that kind of racing remarks that he is willing to show them how to race. S. Clinton Crane is one of the road riders that Plainfield has turned out. Crane is still in good condition and must be counted in the race for the local championship honors. Before anyone claims to be the fastest rider here, he will have to buck against Crane and several other of the older riders too.

The Bard Cycle Company are showing one of the best things in the way of a bicycle lantern that has ever been put on the market. The invention is new and somewhat crude, but in time it will be perfected and greatly improved. It is nothing less than a bicycle lantern that burns only while the front wheel is in motion. A small dynamo is placed over the front wheel which revolves with the wheel, creating a power that lights a small electric lamp and keeps it going until the wheel is motionless again. One defect in the lamp is the size of the dynamo, and the speed which is necessary to make the dynamo effective.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

J. M. Smalley, of the borough, has purchased another fast trotter from a party near Avon Park.

Lawyer Frances J. Blatz has purchased a team of fancy bay steppers from Adam Fritz. Mr. Blatz has sold his black trotter. One of the team can go better than 2:40.

The Dover Land and Driving Park Association will have a two days' race meet today and Friday. There will be three races each day for $150 and $200 purses. North Jersey has some good horses and they will all be there, and a grand time is expected.

AGENT SUED IN TORT.

Col. Hayes Wants S. B. Miller to Pay Him $100.

Col. William B. Hayes, of Dunellen, has fulfilled the threat he made in New Brunswick Monday, and has brought suit in Justice Charles W. Sedan's court, in New Brunswick, for $100, in tort, against Samuel B. Miller. Miller is a salesman, for R. G. Chase & Co., Philadelphia nurserymen.

In the spring Hayes purchased $15.75 worth of trees from Chase & Co., through Miller, the agent. Hayes was afterwards sued for the bill, and now in turn brings suit against Miller in tort. Harry Cook, of New Brunswick, is Hayes' lawyer, and W. S. Angleman, of this city, represents Miller. This is one of the cases that has grown out of the case that Justice Storms of New Market, is interested in, as told in Tuesday's Press. The case comes up Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

GIRL KNOCKED DOWN.

Was on Crosswalk When Struck by a Bicyclist.

A young woman from Dunellen, accompanied by her father, was run into this morning at the corner of Somerset street and Craig place by a young man named Kohler, employed by Rogers, the cycle dealer. Kohler was riding a wheel and leading another, and the woman was crossing the street at the time. Kohler was unable to stop quick enough and he struck the woman with considerable force. She was thrown flat on her face and her head struck the curb inflicting a slight wound. The cyclist was also thrown down and the wheels were piled one on top of the other. Friends assisted the woman to Powers' drug store where it was learned that her injuries were not serious. Kohler escaped uninjured. The woman's name could not be learned.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The following is what the Fall River Daily Globe says of the Glees, who will appear here next week with the Sullivan Troubadours at Music Hall:

"There is a little lady at The Casto Theatre that even the greatness of Pauline Hall cannot overshadow. Slight and dainty is Miss Glee, with a manner modest and retiring, but with a voice of remarkable range and power, tender and touching in expression and a plainness of articulation that is most agreeable. With the talented Mr. Glee a novel duett is introduced, which is one of the gems of the evening."

Miss Matie VanHorn, of Duer street, will go to Elizabeth Sunday for a visit.

LONG RUN WITHOUT A STOP.

The Cornwall Express Travels 194 Miles Without a Pause.

The longest regular daily run made without a stop by any railway train in the world has just been placed on the schedule of the Great Western Railway, of England.

It is made between Paddington station, in London and Exeter, a distance of 194 miles, in three hours and thirty-six minutes, by what is known as the Cornwall express. It is remarkable not so much owing to the time, as for the fact that not a stop is made from one end of the run to the other. There have been longer runs made without a stop, but they have been made by special and not regular trains. The average speed attained by the Cornwall Express when making this run is 51.7 miles an hour, although, owing to a peculiar construction of the road at Bristol, 118 miles from London, the train is obliged to slow down to a speed of ten miles an hour.

This express train is composed of six long coaches, a tender and engine. An American would call it a vestibule train, but the English prefer to call the cars "bogie clerestoried corridor coaches," bogie being a term applied to the trucks." They are fully as heavy as an ordinary drawing room car, each one weighing about forty-seven thousand pounds, while the train without the engine and tender weighs one hundred and forty tons. The weight of the engine and tender is eighty-one tons, making the total weight of the train as it rushes along on its long run two hundred and twenty-one tons.

During the run it is necessary to take water for the engine twice. This, however, does not necessitate any stop, as it is taken up from a trench beside the track as the train speeds along at nearly a mile a minute.

The engine which draws this essentially "through train" is a curious looking ponderous affair quite unlike any locomotive seen on American roads. It has on either side a single huge driving wheel seven feet eight inches in diameter, while what must by comparison be termed the small wheels of the engine, six in number, known as trailers, are four feet six inches in diameter.

The water tank of the engine holds thirty thousand gallons, and when running at full speed there is a steam pressure of 160 pounds to the square inch, while there is a heating surface of 1,561 square feet.

Each day the run is made, the train leaving Paddington Station at 10.25 o'clock in the morning, and it never fails to roll into St. David's Station, in Exeter, exactly on time. The time allowed by the schedule for this run makes no allowance for delays of any kind.

A SPECTRE WALKS BY WOODLAND ROAD.

Pluckamin Revels in the Appearance of a Ghost.

REPUTABLE FOLKS SAW IT.

LAST FRIDAY NIGHT IT WAS SEEN BY TWO PARTIES.

It Comes Forth From the Thicket, Robed in White, and Silently Passes the Frightened Traveler — Plainfield Young Women Saw It—Theories Regarding the Spectral Apparition

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 22—Now that the exploits of Ensign Powelson, the Pluckamin boy who so distinguished himself in the inquiry into the destruction of the battleship "Maine," have been thoroughly discussed, Pluckamin has something new to talk about. It's a ghost. Think of it, a ghost in this enlightened age. It has been seen on sundry occasions, however, and those who have witnessed the apparition of this spectre creature are reputable people.

Pluckamin's silent shadow made its first appearance a year ago. He has chosen as his camping grounds a thick piece of woodland on the road between Pluckamin and this city. The woods lay two miles from Pluckamin. It is a picnic country enough in the daylight but at night offers all the advantages that any well bred ghost would be glad to take advantage of.

Last Friday evening there was a gathering of young people from here at a Pluckamin homestead. It was probably nine o'clock in the evening, when a surrey containing four people drove through the woods where the ghost walks. According to their statement, Brother Ghost never made a sound but simply glided into sight, passed along the roadway and disappeared in the thicket again.

Later in the evening, four cyclists returned to Somerville from the little gathering. They saw a form, robed in white, that glided into view. There was a half-subdued glow that illuminated the folds of the ghostly robe. The white figure wandered about the edge of the trees for a time until the four young people were perfectly satisfied that it was a ghost and then it departed as noiselessly as it came.

Of the four, William Maxwell and William Nolan, are young men of this city whose veracity cannot be questioned. One of the young women was from Plainfield.

Of course the story of this spectral encounter soon became noised about Somerville. It is said that there is a man, a sort of hermit, who lives in a little shanty near Pluckamin, whose mind has become deranged. One of the theories is that he has been impersonating Brother Ghost as a wierd amusement.

There are other reported encounters with the spectral being that are said to have taken place earlier in the season but they do not bear the stamp of truthfulness.

LAWYER WILLIAMS SOLD OUT.

Other Legal Lights Had a Chance to Get Bargains.

Yesterday afternoon the office furniture and law books of W. Gordon Williams were sold under attachment proceedings and a landlord's distress warrant. The parties interested were Mr. Veghte, a law book seller, of Somerville, who got out the attachment, and Craig A. Marsh, who claimed $72 for rent of the office. Mr. Veghte's claim was for $130.

The furniture and books were worth about $450 and brought about $120. Most of the books were bought in by Mr. Veghte, who also took the safe, worth $140, and which only brought $30. George W. V. Moy, J. P. Runyon and Wm. G. DeMeza purchased some of the books. Counselor W. S. Angleman represented both Mr. Veghte and Mr. Marsh.

BOURGOGNE SURVIVOR IMPORTANT WITNESS.

Adrian C. LaCasse Tells of the Great Disaster.

WILL OF ONE OF VICTIMS.

HIS TESTIMONY WAS WANTED IN CHANCERY COURT.

The Point at Issue is to Tell Whether Capt. Clark or His Wife Died First—Decision Determines Who Will Receive the Property—Mr. LaCasse Did Not Know Either One of the Victims.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 22—There was intense interest exhibited in Chancery Chambers here yesterday when Adrain LaCasse, of Plainfield, told Chancellor McGill, who sat as Ordinary of the Prerogative Court, the story of the sinking of the Bourgogne, from which he escaped; and his wife was the only woman saved.

As told a few days ago, Captain W. V. Clark, of Hackensack, and his bride were among those who went down after the collision. His father, Joshua, two days ago filed a petition to have the will of his son admitted to probate and an administrator appointed for the estate, which amounts to about $30,000.

Before he sailed for France, Mr. Clark bequeathed all his property to his wife. The interesting legal question then arises: "Who survived?"

Should the husband have survived the bequest to his wife would be invalid, and the property would go to his heirs; but if she survived then the relatives of the wife would inherit the property.

"Adrian LaCasse," said Counsellor Roe, and a medium-sized, dark-haired, thin-faced young man stepped to the witness chair. He spoke excellent English, but with a strong French accent. His description of the collision and the scenes which followed affected even the Chancellor, who paid the greatest attention to the story. Mr. LaCasse said that out of fourteen boats on the ship only four were launched, and he (Mr. LaCasse) saw several of the sailors jump into one of the boats after the collision and pull off from the sinking vessel.

There was no attempt on the part of the crew or officers of the ship, he said, to give orders to the passengers what to do or provide any method of escape by life rafts or preservers. The passengers were not even assisted out of their cabins.

Mr. La Casse said that he was in his cabin on the morning of the accident, July 4, when he felt a crash and saw through the portholes a flash like something quickly passing by. He ran quickly to his wife and a friend from New Orleans. He took them up on deck, and the next minute the passengers were struggling to get to the boats, but the crew were struggling with them and there was a confused crowd at the davits. He saw some sailors get into a boat and row off and others make rafts.

Then he and his wife were struggling in the water. They swam to a raft and managed to get on it, and while they were there they saw two of the rafts drawn into the vortex made by the sinking ship. The Bourgogne suddenly righted and then her bow came out of the water and she plunged down stern first.

For two hours Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse remained on the raft and saw come swirling up hundreds of bodies. They were rescued by the Cromartyshire, which struck the Bourgogne.

"Did you know Mr. and Mrs. Clark?" asked the Chancellor.

"No, sir."

"I think I will admit this will," said the Chancellor.

"It is possible, of course, that they might have been picked up by some small vessel and carried to some distant point. It is a chance, of course, but I think there is a prima facie case of death here. I will appoint Mr. Austin administrator, but he must not disturb the estate excepting to preserve it. There will be no distribution, at least for a sufficient time for more conclusive information."

To Put in Steam Heat.

Edward White, the dry goods merchant, has awarded to D. J. Galbraith the contract for putting the steam-heating apparatus in his large stores on West Front street. Before Mr. White took possession of his new store he used hot air for heating. Now he is having his entire building fitted with pipes and radiators. All three floors will be heated this way.

NAVAL HERO IN NEW YORK.

Hobson Arrived This Morning On the St. Paul.

BRINGS SAMPSON REPORT

REPORT TELLS OF DESTRUCTION OF CERVERA'S FLEET.

Hobson's Identity Was Not Discovered Until He Started to Land—He Was Given Enthusiastic Reception by Officials and Others.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

New York, July 22, 12.10 p. m.—Naval Constructor Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac incident at Santiago, arrived here this morning, unannounced and unexpected, on the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul.

He brings with him the most important message to arrive here since the late stirring scenes at Santiago. It is Rear Admiral Sampson's official report of the sinking of Cervera's fleet and the capture of various ships by the American fleet.

He also brings with him several secret messages to Presideni McKinley from the naval commander at Santiago and some official correspondence for the navy department.

It was not until Hobson stepped on the deck of the St. Paul shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, preparatory to taking a boat to the shore, that his identity became known.

As he stepped ashore one of the most enthusiastic receptions ever given to a war hero, greeted him. The officers and crew of the Newport, lying at the dock, threw discipline to the winds and crowded about him.

The news of his arrival had spread rapidly and hundreds of citizens mingled with the men-of-war's men to press forward to shake his hand.

There was much cheering and many congratulations for the hero of one of the most daring episodes of the war. He left shortly after his arrival and took the train for Washington where he will deliver his official despatches.

Washington, July 22, 12:18 p. m—A despatch was given out this morning by Adjutant-General Corbin which has just been received from Manila.

The despatch is to the effect that Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, has declared his dictatorship and has proclaimed martial law throughout the island. The people are reported to expect independence.

ARRESTED FOR USING PROFANITY

Councilman Hetfield Makes a Complaint Against Adam Fritz.

Adam Fritz, of Somerset street, the well-known horse trader, was arrested this morning and arraigned before City Judge DeMeza charged by Councilman Walter L. Hetfield with using profane language on the street yesterday afternoon. Fritz pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set down for Saturday morning, July 30th.

Mr. Hetfield borrowed Fritz's horse and buggy yesterday afternoon to drive to Netherwood, and on his return, having been gone longer than Fritz thought necessary, Fritz, it is alleged, grew angry and made use of profane language. Mr. Hetfield then made the complaint, and this morning the arrest followed.

B. A. Hegeman, Jr., and family, of Washington Park, will leave next Thursday for Point Breeze Camp, Wolfboro, N. H., where they will stay for the rest of the summer.

WON HIS SUCCESS THRO' HARD WORK.

Sketch of Career of Lucius R. Finch, of Plainfield.

ENERGETIC AND UPRIGHT.

BORN A POOR BOY, BUT WON WEALTH AND POWER.

He Became a Power in the New York Exchanges and Won For Himself the Title of "The Grand Old Man"—Interesting Incidents in His Life Given in the Accompanying Sketch.

With the burial of Lucius R. Finch, of Park avenue, in New Haven this morning, the business world of New York city has lost an able representative. Like so many men prominent in the business world, as well as in the professions and the trades, Mr. Finch was born a poor boy, but by an energetic and upright life made his name a power in the New York exchanges, and won for himself the title of "The Grand Old Man."

Large and massive, with a physique of unusual vitality and strength, a childlike sympathy for all mankind, and a strong love for his God, his religion and everything good, he well deserved the title and wore his honors with as little display of vanity as could be expected from one of his popularity and extensive acquaintance.

Mr. Finch was born in Woolcott, Conn., March 19th, 1813, and at his death was in his eighty-sixth year. Woolcott was at that time a small country village, and remains in much the same condition today. When Mr. Finch was about sixteen or eighteen years of age he moved to New Haven, where he immediately set himself up in business as a contractor. One of his first contracts was the building of the railroad from Albany to Schenectady, in New York State This was the first railroad built between the two places, and nearly the first one built in New York State.

Mr. Finch was a hustler from boyhood, and to this quality is attributed much of his success in life. He was always the first to go to work and often the last to quit at night. He was a strict temperance man, and used to offer his men higher wages to tempt them to abstain from drinking whiskey while in his employ. His example was such a good one that his men were forced to follow it, and in this way employes were generally the best workmen to be had, which meant more business for Mr. Finch.

While still a young man, not having reached his majority, he joined the Methodist church in New Haven, and attended services faithfully in churches of that denomination until a short time before his death.

When about twenty-two Mr. Finch was married to a Miss Charlotte Turner, of Susquehanna county, Pennsylvania, who was considered the most handsome woman in that part of the State. The couple lived happily together up to sixteen years ago when she died.

While still a young man Mr. Finch organized the firm of Finch & Barnes, in New Haven, and did an immense business in the grocery trade. He also founded the Second National Bank there, and with the assistance of ex-Governor Morgan, of Connecticut, procured its charter. Mr. Finch succeeded in getting a law passed to permit banks to hold their surplus in money, instead of investing it in real estate, as was then the usual way.

Among Mr. Finch's business associates in New Haven were P. T. Barnum, the famous circus man, and ex-Governor English, of connecticut.

In 1855 Mr. Finch came to New York and founded another firm of commission merchants known as Finch & Hill, to do business in conjuntion with the New Haven firm. Both Messrs. Barnes and Hill are dead. He rapidly became a prominent figure on the exchanges, and could remember when a half a dozen men would gather together on the corner of Broad and South streets, instead of meeting in one of the costly exchanges.

Mr. Finch was a member of the Produce Exchange. He was intimately acquainted with many of New York's best known business men, all of whom are expressing sorrow at his death. Among his most intimate friends might be mentioned P. C. Clahoun, the first president of the Fourth National Bank in New York.

Upon the death of his wife, Mr. Finch came to this city and took up his residence with his son, Edward L. Finch, of Park avenue. He continued to commute regularly until within a year past, although he retired from SAN JUAN THE GOAL.

Gen. Miles Sailed Yesterday With Strong Convoy.

MAY LAND TOMORROW.

ALGER EXPECTS AN AMERICAN ATTACK BY SUNDAY.

Official Statement Made That the Porto Rican Expedition Has Started—Watson Will Probably Sail After All—Schley to Be Second in Command.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 22, 1:20 p. m—It was officially given out at the War Department this morning that Gen. Miles and his troops cleared yesterday afternoon and are now enroute for Porto Rico.

The official statement says that the transports left under a strong convoy but the ships composing the convoy have not been officially given out as yet.

Secretary Alger said this morning that he confidently expects that Miles will effect a landing tomorrow and that he will begin the attack, possibly by Sunday.

He adds that the people of the United States may expect big news by the first of next week when the results of the expedition are heard. He is confident that the Americans will be able to overcome all resistance without much trouble.

Meanwhile the department is rapidly pushing preparations for a second expedition. Troops are being hurried to the sea coast cities for transport to Porto Rico while the transports are hurriedly preparing.

No corroboration is to be found to the report that Commodore Watson's fleet is to be disbanded. No definite answer is to be had from the officials of the Navy Department.

It is now generally believed that Watson will have Schley as second in command and that the expedition will be started at the earliest possible moment.

WILL DISBAND CUBANS.

Such an Impression Seems Justified by Garcia's Actions.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, July 21, Port Antonio, Jamaica, (delayed in transmission) July 22, 12:27 p. m—The greater part of Garcia's army leaves at daybreak tomorrow.

Garcia has issued a decree authorizing all Cubans to return to work on the farms and plantations, assuring them of protection by his forces.

He has also added the permission to those in his ranks who were recruited from farm lands to return to their labors.

His actions would seem to justify the impression that he intends to disband the Cuban forces at once.

Keeps Too Many Ducks.

A West Front street resident has aroused the indignation of his neighbors by keeping a large number of ducks which run about his yard and keep up an incessant cackling. It is understood that a complaint has been made to the Board of Health about the nuisance and that some action will be taken soon. The same man also keeps goats and this is also claimed to be a nuisance. As the man lives near the centre of the city it is not to be wondered at that complaints have been made.

FIREMAN STRUCK BY OVERHEAD BRIDGE.

Probably Fatal Accident Near Belle Meade.

DID NOT SEE THE BRIDGE.

FRED KORNAU WAS DASHED FROM THE TENDER BY THE BLOW.

The Accident Was Witnessed By Foreman Higgins, of the Section Gang—The Injured Man Was Found Face Downward in a Pool of Water—The Victim Taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

It is a beautiful country, that part of New Jersey that the Bound Brook division of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad runs through. Although Fred Kornau, of Wayne Junction, has been a fireman on that line for nearly a year, he looked about him with admiration as he climbed upon the tank in the tender to engine No. 623 this morning. He straightened up and forgot for the moment where he was. It was a fatal moment. The next, one of the bottom beams to the overhead bridge east of Belle Meade, struck him in the back of the skull, and what a moment before was a type of physical manhood, now lay crushed and bleeding beside the tracks.

The accident occurred at 8:15 o'clock as near as the crew could tell, for nobody stopped to look at their watches. Engine No. 623, one of the camel-back type of the P. and R. engines, was drawing a train of six flat cars, loaded with ballast, and a combination smoker and baggage car, which was occupied by the Belle Meade section gang. John Higgins, of Belle Meade, is the foreman. They had taken the ballast cars at Hopewell and were bound for the Port Reading crossing where some work was to be done. The train was in charge of Conductor William Callahan, of Trenton. C. W. Meck, of Philadelphia, now boarding at Trenton, was the engineer.

Foreman Higgins was standing at the door of the car occupied by his gang. He saw Fireman Kornau climb over to the tender. Then the bridge came in sight but the fireman did not notice it. The string of rope "cat tails" that dangle to warn brakemen of the approaching bridge, passed over his head when he straightened up. Kornau is a tall powerful built man, standing over six feet in height.

Higgins saw the beam strike him. He tottered and then pitched headlong from the tender. When they stopped and came back, they found him unconscious, lying face downward in a pool of water beside the track. He was lifted into the baggage car and taken to Bound Brook. The back of his skull was cut open and it is feared that the skull was fractured.

At Bound Brook, Dr. Fisher was summoned and examined the injured man. He recommended that he be taken to Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield at once. He feared the injury was fatal. The ballast cars were left at Bound Brook and Kornau was hurried to this city. The ambulance was summoned and the man taken to the hospital. He was still unconscious.

Fred Kornau lives at Wayne Junction where his father is foreman of a section gang. He is unmarried. He will be twenty-two years old next month. He has been working on the Trenton section for nearly a year.

His condition is very critical, but he will probably live through the day.

MUSTANG'S WILD RUN.

Frightened Youngster Was Trailed Along in the Wagon.

B. C. Firstbrook's horse ran away yesterday morning from in front of a house on West Sixth street, just in the rear of the car house. Firstbrook is a baker and he lives on Liberty street. He was delivering bread, and left his horse, which is a nervous mustang, untied. His little brother, Clinton, six years old, sat in the wagon holding the horse.

Something startled the animal and in a moment he was running down Sixth street at full speed. He turned into Grant avenue, ran as far as Fourth, turned in that street, and was caught by D. F. Stewart, of John street, in front of Hope chapel.

Little Clinton was badly frightened and was screaming loudly when the horse was caught. No damage was done to the rig, and Firstbrook soon ran up and drove the horse away.

TORRENTS OF WATER FLOOD THE STREETS.

A Severe Storm of Wind and Rain Last Night.

LIGHTNING WAS INCESSANT

SOME STREETS WERE FLOODED FROM CURB TO CURB.

The Storm of Last Night Was of Unusual Severity—Some Damage Reported—Green Brook Rose to the Top of Its Banks—Business Section Saw Much Water—Danger to Bridges.

Some daring weather prognosticator remarked that it was going to be cool yesterday. He probably owes his life to the fact that he does not live in this section. It was not cool. It was hot. Late in the afternoon the clouds began to gather and a day of exceptional warmth promised to end with a violent storm.

During the heat and silence of the day the elements seemed to have gathered strength for a terrific display of their power in the storm that swept over this section just at sundown. There was plenty of notice of the arrival of the shower. For two hours the clouds rolled up from the northwest and marshalled their forces.

It opened softly but soon the big drops were followed by a heavy downpour. Then the rain came in sheets that the accompanying gale tore into shreds and dashed along. The wind became almost a tornado in violence. The electrical forces were unusally active. The lightning was incessant and blinding, while the thunder rolled and crashed in never ceasing accompaniment.

While the rain lasted the downpour was remarkably heavy. There might just as well have been no gutters or storm sewers. In the business section of the city the water filled the streets from curb to curb. Park avenue was a raging torrent, while Front street was not much better. Under the railroad bridges great lakes were formed that extended up the streets for many feet on either side.

Green brook rose to the top of its banks and threated to overflow. At Tier's dam there was a mighty volume of water rushing over it. Down on Elm place, the water flooded the street and ran into some of the yards. Pedestrians had to wade or go across lots.

Other streets were flooded during the worst of the rain. The dirt and sand was washed from the macadam surface and the stones were left bare.

During the heavy thunder storm of last night the handsome house recently purchased by W. G. Delameter on Kimball avenue, in Westfield, was struck by lightning and caught fire. The fire-alarm was sounded and, although the rain was coming down in torrents, the firemen responded promptly and the flames were soon extinguished. The loss is about $50 and is fully covered by insurance. When the fire bell rang the biggest part of the male population of the town turned out thinking that the firebug had paid another visit to the town, and that this time he might accomplish what he started out to do Monday morning and burn the whole town down.

The chimney of the house, 407 West Second street, blew off in the storm last night and frightened the people inside the house considerably. No further damage was done.

The high water in Stony brook, in the vicinity of Greenbrook road and Grove street, attracted a large number of people. The water completely covered the bridge and the current was very strong. At one time it looked as though the bridge would be carried away.

A NEW CITY DIRECTORY.

A Special Feature Will be Business Addresses of Commuters.

The Wand Company has decided to issue a city directory for Plainfield and North Plainfield, having acquired the rights and business of H. H. Baker, the veteran directory publisher. The Wand Company is one of the most enterprising directory publishers in the metropolitan district and are capable of getting up such a directory as Plainfield has long needed. J. R. Wand, a member of the firm, is in the city now and will supervise the work. Canvassers will be put to work immediately and the book will be issued in the fall. A special feature of the directory will be the New York business addresses of commuters.

TRANSPORTS ARRIVE

The Second Expedition Reached Manila Saturday and Sunday.

DEWEY WILL SOON BEGIN

Four Deaths Occurred During the Voyage from San Francisco. Gen. Merritt is Expected Soon. Spaniards in Despair as Famine Stares Them in the Face. The Philippines Shall Never Return to Spanish Rule.

Hong Kong, July 22.--The German steamer Wootan, at this port from Cavite, reports that the United States transport China, with American reinforcements for Admiral Dewey arrived at Cavite on Saturday last and that the other transports arrived on Sunday.

The Wootan also brought the news that no advance had been made by the American forces. They were awaiting the coming of General Merritt, who was expected to reach the place within ten days.

The insurgents are still investing Manila.

The news of the destruction of Admiral Cervera's fleet at Santiago de Cuba was received at Manila on July 7, and created consternation among the Spaniards.

Spanish Colony Said to Have Been Seized.

London, July 22.--A dispatch from Hong Kong says that a detachment of troops from the second expedition took possession of Wake islands, a small Spanish colony midway between Havaii and the Philippines.

San Francisco, July 22.--A cable special to the Examiner, dated Hong Kong July 20, says that the second fleet of transports from the United States has reached Manila. The China arrived on the afternoon of July 16 and the Zealandia, Colon and Senator on the morning of the 17th.

Four deaths occurred during the voyage, Lieutenant Lazalle and Private Maddox of the Eighteenth infantry; Sergeant Geddes of the First Nebraska and Private Wiesband of the First Colorado. Otherwise all are very well. Brigadier General Greene, formerly of the Seventy-first regiment of New York was in command of the expedition.

Dewey May Not Wait for Merritt.

Manila, July 17, via Hong Kong, July 22.--Rear Admiral Dewey may decide to capture Manila before Gen. Merritt arrives here.

In view of the possibility of an early peace and the news from Cuba, the insurgents are renewing their activity. There have been vigorous attacks and a light bombardment on the outskirts of the city, to which the Spaniards replied by extravagant shelling.

The Spaniards now say they do not believe the reinforcements promised them will reach here and they despair of success. But they condemn the proposal to retire to the citadel, which is utterly defenceless, as such a step would merely invite slaughter. They believe it would be better to surrender. But the Spaniards are afraid of public censure.

However, they will probably be compelled to surrender soon, as food is dangerously scarce. They may pretend to fight the Americans for the sake of appearances, but the result will not be long in doubt if Admiral Dewey resolves to capture Manila with the forces he has at his disposal.

A Spanish steamer, the Cosol, having on board a native crew from the Viscayes islands, is now in the hands of the insurgents. The crew revolted, killed the Spanish officers and reached Taayaboa, in the southern part of the island of Luzon. There they quarrelled with the Tagalon insurgents and returned to Iloilo which is looked upon as indicating that the Viscayas are unwilling to join the Tagalons. In any case it is considered certain that the Philippine islands will never be amalgamated and that they will never return to Spanish rule.

Washington, July 22.--Secretary Long announced at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon that he had received a dispatch from Admiral Dewey, announcing the arrival of another detachment of troops at Manila, constituting the second expedition from San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 22.--The gunboat Iroquois, formerly the tug Fearless, is about to make the longest tow ever undertaken. She is to haul the ship Tacoma from San Francisco to Manila by the way of Honolulu, a distance of about 6,600 miles. The Tacoma is to carry 120 mules and a coal supply. The Iroquois will steam to Honolulu, a distance of 2,100 miles, with her own coal. At Honolulu she will receive coal from the bunkers at that port and then proceed to the Ladrones, and there, getting into smooth waters, will take on sufficient coal from the Tacoma to carry her through to Manila.

The Irene Incident.

Berlin, July 22.--The semi-official North German Gazette yesterday afternoon, referring to the statement that Germany has assured Secretary Day that the action attributed to Admiral Von Diedrich is unauthorized, that the German government repudiated responsibility for it and that the admiral would be called to account, says:

"We are not aware that the government has any reason to make such or similar explanations. So far, nothing is known here officially of any unfriendly action upon the part of Admiral Von Diedrich or any ships of the German squadron towards the United States. Neither is anything known of any complaint having been made by the Americans. The German government, therefore, has never been placed in the position to explain anything."

Confederates Declare Allegiance.

Atlanta, Ga., July 22.--A resolution of undying support of President McKinley in the war against Spain, offered by General Stephen D. Lee, and eloquently urged by General John B. Gordon, was unanimously passed at the meeting of the Confederate veterans here yesterday.

FIGHTING THE DRINK EVIL.

Several Arrests at Camp Alger of Those Accused of Illegal Liquor Selling.

Camp Alger, Va., July 22.--When Gen. Graham assumed command of this army corps two months ago he issued an order prohibiting the sale of liquor within the camp. As this county prohibits the sale of intoxicants, the soldiers could only obtain their liquor by stealth.

Nearly one hundred arrests have been made of persons who brought liquor into the camp to sell to the soldiers. The number of violators of the law has greatly increased in the past two weeks and a general crusade by the provost marshal has been started.

Three arrests were made Wednesday night. A laundry agency was raided, and a general gambling outfit was captured, along with the proprietor. Plenty of liquor was in evidence, and the soldiers who were caught in the place confessed to having bought it there. The second arrest was that of a white man who peddled whiskey through the camp. The third was the proprietor of one of the largest lunch stands in the camp. He dispensed alcoholic beverages from a soda fountain to all who gave a secret sign.

Several more arrests are expected to occur, as the officers are out in privates' uniforms, mingling with the soldiers, and are constantly looking for a drink.

Cubans Are Poor Allies.

Washington, July 22.--Official information brought to the war department by men who have been strong Cuban sympathizers at heart, but who have recently had their first opportunity to enter the Cuban insurgent lines and to study the so-called republican army, at close range, is to the effect that Gomez, with all his pretended strength, has evidently not more than 2,000 men with him, and not even 1,000 within view. Even the 2,000 estimate is formed on the extreme representations of strong sympathizers with the insurgent cause actually living in the territory occupied by Gomez.

The case of Garcia is similar to that of Gomez, though circumstances have favored Garcia and enabled him to keep about him a larger force. What Garcia has been able to do has been amply demonstrated in the Santiago campaign, where the troops whom he brought to the putative assistance of the American army would have been almost better kept away. It is the testimony of the more experienced officers that they were a positive hindrance, owing to the gross disparity between their alleged effectiveness and their actual untrustworthiness.

To Abandon Signal Stations.

Boston, July 22.--The signal service stations on the New England coast have been ordered put in readiness for abandonment on August 1. No definite order or the abandonment of any station, however, has as yet been issued.

GERMAN EMPEROR KING OF ENGLAND

The Prince of Wales' Heirship to the Throne Disputable.

It is not pleasant for the loyal subjects and cronies of the genial Prince of Wales to remember that he is not exactly the heir to the throne, and that the German Emperor may rule over them some day. The conservative old lords of the realm shiver in their boots at the thought. A German on the British throne! A ruler who does not even honor the country by living in it. England tacked on the tail of Germany!

Horrible! But William of Germany is the eldest child of Queen Victoria's first born, and hence, by direct descent the heir apparent. Albert Edward is the second child of Her Majesty, and Princess Alice, now dead, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Princess Christian, the Marchioness of Lorne, the Duke of Connaught, the Duke of Albany, and the Princess of Battenberg follow. Under the Salic law women were excluded from succeeding to estates, on account of military duties. That existed under the feudal system. The law was rectified in 511.

The Lalic law is held in most European countries, except Spain. By this law Hanover was lost to England when Victoria came to the Throne. If Victoria reigns, why cannot the son of her eldest daughter, who should inherit the Throne.—New York Journal.

POSTMASTER AT $1.92 A WEEK.

That Is What a Pennsylvania Office Pays and Knorr Won't Have It.

The economy axe of the Postmaster-General has been wielded with telling effect in the charming little suburb of Bustleton, says the Philadelphia Times. Jacob S. Knorr, who has acted as postmaster at that place, has been receiving $300 per year for his services for the four years that he has held the office. Mr. Knorr is a good Democrat and believed that when the political head of the Philadelphia Postoffice changed it would be better for him to offer his resignation rather than be requested to resign.

Accordingly, on Oct. 4 of last year he tendered his resignation and said that he was prepared to turn over the office to his successor at any time. He has not been relieved as yet. The checks he received for October and November were satisfactory, but when he opened his official letter this week and took therefrom the official check for his official services he was struck dumb with indignation, for, instead of finding a check for $25.65, it read $8.42. Mr. Knorr dressed himself in his best suit of clothes and hied himself to the Philadelphia Postoffice, where he was informed for the first time that the salary of the Bistleton office had been reduced to $100 per annum. Mr. Knorr handed back the check and refused to sign the receipt acknowledging payment in full for services rendered during the month of December. Out of this salary of $1.92 per week the Postmaster has to pay his office rent. Mr. Knorr notified the postal authorities to remove the office from his premises within five days.

MILES SAILS AT LAST

A Hitch Between Army and Navy Caused the Delay.

NAVAL CONVOY PROVIDED

Telegraphs War Department That He Would Sail at 3 P.M. Yesterday. Peremtory Orders to Sampson to Send Convoy. Gen. Ernst's Brigade Sails from Charleston. Transports Sail from New York.

Washington, July 22.--Secretary Alger received this dispatch from Major General Miles yesterday afternoon:

"We have Massachusetts, Dixie, Gloucester, Cincinnati, Annapolis, Leyden and Wasp, with Yale and Columbia. We expect to sail at 3 o'clock."

The vessels mentioned compose the convoy for the troopships of the Porto Rican expedition.

Admiral Sampson informed the navy department that the transport fleet at Guantanamo would sail for Porto Rico as soon as the cruiser Columbia had finished coaling.

This message was in response to peremptory orders telegraphed to Admiral Sampson at 2 o'clock yesterday morning directing him to furnish a sufficient convoy for the troop ships immediately.

The orders were sent from the White House by President McKinley and were the result of impatience over the delay in getting the expedition off. It appears that there has been some spicy correspondence between Admiral Sampson and General Miles. Matters between them, however, have been amicably adjusted.

When General Miles first asked for an adequate convoy, Admiral Sampson said that all he could furnish at that time were the Columbia and the Yale, and later on the Cincinnati and the New Orleans. General Miles would not sail with such a small escort, and reported to the war department that he could not leave on account of the delay of the navy in furnishing convoys. The president took matters into his own hands and at 2 o'clock yesterday morning sent the most positive orders to Admiral Sampson to comply with General Miles's wishes so that the transport fleet could leave immediately.

A number of battleships and other cruisers will proceed to Porto Rico as soon as they can be made ready for service.

Sailing to Porto Rico.

Washington, July 22.--A telegram was received at the war department from General Wilson, commanding the First division of the First army corps, announcing the departure of himself and General Ernst's brigade from Charleston. The expedition is bound for Porto Rico, but it is believed that the ships will go by way of Guantanamo, Santiago province.

If this is not the plan, there is unquestionably an arrangement to have the expedition meet General Miles's detachment and the naval convoys somewhere in the neighborhood of Windward Passage.

General Wilson added that transport No. 21 would be delayed owing to the obstinacy of the mules. The Grand Duchess and transport No. 20 sailed Wednesday night.

General Ernst's brigade consists of the Second and Third Wisconsin and the Sixteenth Pennsylvania volunteers.

Michigan and Roumania Sail South.

New York, July 22.--In obedience to an order received from the war department the transports Michigan and Roumania sailed from here yesterday, presumably for Cuban waters. Accompanying them was the refrigerating ship Glacier, which goes to join Admiral Sampson's fleet off southern Cuba.

The work of transforming the two transports was finished last week. Until Wednesday night the two vessels were taking on stores and were under orders to sail this morning. They were assigned to General Miles for the Porto Rico expedition.

The vessels were unable to finish loading and went out of port with only a part of the original cargo. They will depend for the remainder upon other transports which will sail this week. The most important of these is the Massachusetts, which is loading at pier 17, East river, and is expected to clear this morning.

The three transports are companion vessels and formerly belonged to the Atlantic Transport line. On the Roumania, as a passenger, was Frank Blake Morse, a former Princeton football man, who is going to join the Rough Riders.

Ships for Spaniards.

New York, July 22.--Fifteen vessels will be employed in the transfer of the 24,000 soldiers and 1,000 officers from Santiago de Cuba to Cadiz, Spain. All belong or have been chartered by the Cia Transatlantica Espanola, which underbid the British, German and Italian lines that were anxious to secure the contract. Nearly all the Spanish steamers that are to carry their countrymen home were built in England, but fly the Spanish flag, and hail from either Barcelona or Bilboa.

Rifle Practice at Fort Slocum.

New Rochelle, July 22.--The men and officers of the three batteries of artillery in garrison at Fort Slocum to-day began target practice with the new Krag-Jorgensen rifles. The latest pattern of this rifle is said to be far superior to any other gun now in use. Its power of penetration has been greatly increased by the latest improvements.

Appointed to Succed Gen. McKibbin.

Santiago, July 22.--General Leonard Wood has succeeded General McKibbin as military governor of Santiago. General McKibbin resumes his command.

While General Wood is undoubtedly popular, the change may give rise to some trouble on account of jealousy.

Fire in the Atlatic White Lead Works

Brooklyn, July 22.--At 7.30 yesterday morning in the Atlantic White Lead Works on John street, in this city, after an hour's severe fighting, the firemen had the flames under control. The loss was about $95,000.

THE FIFTH ARMY CORPS.

It Will Probably Be Sent North to Recuperate.

Santiago de Cuba, July 21, via Kingston, July 22.--General Shafter has opened a cable office here and is in communication with Washington regarding the disposition of the Fifth army corps, which consists of those troops which came with him from Tampa, and the reinforcements from the four transports which have since been unloaded. Except the Thirty-third and part of the Thirty-fourth Michigan, none of the latter have been in action.

So far as health considerations go, General McKibben seems to hold the opinion that the Fifth corps could join the Porto Rico expedition under General Miles at once.

This was the evident intention when the invasion army left the United States, but the condition of the men now, according to the physicians and commanding officers, is such that the entire corps should return to the north at once. General Miles has cabled that he does not want and will not need a single man among them, and he believes that after the hard campaign to them should be given at least a rest of two or three weeks.

General Shafter's messages to the same effect have been most urgent, and the doctors say that the men should be sent into camp in the mountains of North Carolina or western Maine for a month.

The Washington authorities agree to this, and will do everything possible, so the cable dispatches to-day say, to carry the army away from here. But there is a lack of transports. In addition to the Porto Rico troops, which will need forty steamers for their conveyance, the authorities here are still counting upon having to convey 22,000 Spanish prisoners to Cadiz. The latter want to go as soon as possible, and it appears from here that our government cannot get sufficient vessels and this fact holds the Fifth corps here, doing nothing. The men are anxious to get away.

U. S POST OFFICE FOR HAWAII.

The Postmaster General Says They Will Be Established Soon.

Washington, July 22.--Postmaster General Emory Smith said yesterday the United States domestic postal service would be extended to the Hawaiian islands as soon as the flag was raised there. The details have not yet been worked out, but it has been determined to make as few changes as possible in the present Hawaiian system for the time being. The regular postal rates will apply to all points within the islands, but it is a question whether the ordinary rates will prevail for mail transported by vessels. It may be necessary on account of the long voyage to increase the rates slightly. As the Hawaiian stamps will be replaced, it is probable a large office will be established at Honolulu or some other city for the sale of stamps and money orders.

MARIA TERESA TO BE SAVED.

Sampson Wires She Will Probab'y Be Raised by Next Sunday.

Washington, July 22.--The following report has been received from Admiral Sampson:

The United States Flagship New York off Playa del Este, July 20.

Secretary of the navy, Washington:

Progress in wrecking the Maria Teresa very satisfactory. The company thinks the ships will probably be raised on Sunday next. No information regarding the other ships.

Board of officers examining the Reina Mercedes to-day. She will probably be raised.

Lieutenant Commander Pillsbury, commanding the Vesuvius, has been supervising the wrecking of these vessels on the part of the navy.

(Signed) SAMPSON.

Pay After Work is Done.

Washington, July 22.--The war department is taking every precaution to insure the carrying out to the letter of the contracts for the transportation of the Spanish prisoners back to Spain by the Spanish Transportation Company which has secured the contract. A duplicate of the contract signed by the company will be furnished to the Spanish officers on the vessels, and they will be invited by the war department to inform the Washington authorities in case of the slightest violation of the agreement.

The withholding of the contract money until the Spanish soldiers shall have been delivered is also regarded as a precautionary measure which will certainly result in an adherence to the terms of the agreement between the United States government and the transportation company.

Not to Take Santiago Troops.

Washington, July 22.--Secretary Alger said yesterday that the troops that were in the engagement at Santiago would not be sent to Porto Rico and there was no desire to send them there. They will remain in Cuba until the yellow fever has been entirely stamped out.

General Miles did not think it advisable to take any troops to Porto Rico that were liable to have contracted the fever, and in this conclusion the department concurred.

Wrecked on the Yukon.

Seattle, Wash., July 22.--The steamer Lakme, which has arrived here from St. Michael, brought news that the river steamers Alfred J. Beach and W. J. Evans, which were towed to the mouth of the Yukon river, have been wrecked. All on board both vessels have been saved. The former carried twenty-four passengers, the latter thirty-five.

Embarking at Tampa.

Tampa, July 22.--The heavy artillery under General Rodgers and the Fifth Eleventh and Nineteenth infantry, under General Schwann, are at Port Tampa, embarking as fast as possible.

Some delay is anticipated owing to the scarcity of transports, but as others are expected hourly no serious inconvenience will be experienced.

Gen. Duffield Ordered Home.

Washington, July 22.--Brigadier General Duffield, who was stricken at Santiago several days ago with a mild form of yellow fever, has been ordered home by the war department. The order is to take effect as soon as General Duffield is able to travel.

WEYLER FOR PREMIER

Sagasta Is Said to Be Ready to Resign His Office.

MORE WAR, THE KEY NOTE

Polavieja Hastily Summoned to Madrid. Catalonia Said to Be About to Ask France for Protection. Activity of the Carlists. Paris Talk About Friendly Intervention.

London, July 22.--According to a dispatch from Madrid, Senor Sagasta, the premier, has again offered to resign and has been counselled by the queen regent to advise with other political leaders relative to his future course.

It is also reported that Gen. Polavieja's return to Madrid is closely connected with a change in the ministry, and that General Weyler will form a cabinet, in which General Polaveija will be minister for war. This combination, it is further asserted, will support the dynasty, repeal the suspension of the constitutional rights and continue the war to the utmost limits.

Another Madrid dispatch announces that telegrams from Barcelona received at the Spanish capital report a growing movement in favor of the intervention of France, adding that steps are about to be taken formally to invite France to take Catalonia, of which Barcelona is the capital, and which has an area of more than 12,000 miles, under her protection.

Another dispatch asserts that the inhabitants of the Canary islands are panic stricken at the prospect of an American attack; that the wealthy people have gone into the interior; that great misery prevails, that trade is at a stand still and that there is considerable military activity everywhere, especially at Lanzaroto and Graciosa islands, which are expected to be the objectives of the American attack. Strong garrisons are reported to have been installed there, and powerful batteries are alleged to have been erected on Risco mountain and on Domination island.

Barclona, July 22.--Gen. Polaveija will start for Madrid this evening in response to a sudden summons, to the capital.

Bayonne, France, July 22.--A dispatch received here from Madrid dated yesterday, says that the police searched several Carlist houses during the previous evening and that he government is satisfied of the existence of a widespread Carlist plot. Consequently, the Carlist newspapers will probably be suppressed. The dispatch also says:

"In spite of the denials of the ministers, everything points to the imminence of a crisis. It is believed that General Polaveija will become minister for war in a national cabinet, which the condition of affairs seems to call for.

"There is an unconfirmed rumor that the government intends to arrest General Weyler. At the last audience which the general had with the queen regent he protested against th calumnies levelled at him and said: 'Above all I am a soldier, and I will valiantly defend the institutions of my country and the royal house.'

"As General Weyler has immense prestige among the Spanish officers, especially among those returning from Cuba, it is regarded as probable, if a national ministry is formed, that his assistance will be invited.

"The government has prohibited the publication of news of the movements of Spanish warships and, therefore, the whereabouts of Admiral Camara's fleet is not known. It was last reported at Port Mahon."

Paris, July 22.--The Figaro says: "It is time the powers took extreme measures to prevent Commodore Watson's dispatch to Europe and to end the war. Italy, Austria, Russia, and especially France, have the greatest interest in reminding the United States that they cannot allow America to acquire a footing in Europe. The friendly representation of these four powers at Washington will, it is to be hoped, enable the United States to perceive the dangerous course on which it is embarking."

Another British Steamer Taken.

Key West, July 22.--The British steamer Newfoundland, loaded with food supplies, was captured by the Mayflower on Tuesday off Cienfuegos, into which harbor she was heading. Two blank shots across her bows brought her to, and the Mayflower put a prize crew aboard of her and sent her into Charleston, S. C. The Newfoundland left Halifax, N. S., on the ninth of July.

The Mayflower had on board five Cubans who were picked up at various times by the ships of the blockading fleet. They had fled from Havana and other Cuban ports to escape starvation, as the condition of affairs ashore in Cuba grew worse daily.

Sampson's Report Coming.

Washington, July 22.--The anxiously awaited report of Admiral Sampson on the great sea fight with the Cervera squadron is now on the way here by the cruiser St. Paul, under Captain Sigsbee, which left Santiago Tuesday. The trip to New York is about three or our days, so that the report is likely to be in the hands of the department by next Saturday or Sunday.

The officials will make public liberal extracts of the details of the engagement.

The Buffalo Convoy to New York.

Washington, July 22.--The Buffalo sailed yesterday from Newport News in company with the Rainbow, for New York. There the Buffalo is to be turned into an efficient cruiser, while the Rainbow will be made a refrigerating ship. The two vessels are making the journey in charge of the New York naval militia.

A Despatch from Dewey.

Washington, July 22.--The navy department has posted the following:

Cavite, July 17, via Hong Kong, July 21.--Situation unchanged. Second army detachment arrived to-day. All well on board. The health of the squadron continues good. No sickness whatever. DEWEY.

WILL HOLD POPTO RICO.

Failure to Invite Him to Surrender Ceremonies He Thinks an Indignity

Santiago, July 20, via Playa del Este, July 22.--General Garcia has written a letter to General Shafter in which he declares that he is disgusted at his treatment at the hands of the Americans and will consequently withdraw his own forces to the hills, being no longer willing to submit to the indignities to which he says he has been subjected.

Among the things of which General Garcia complains is the failure of the American commander to notify him officially of the surrender of the Spanish forces under General Toral, and he is also incensed at the fact that he was not invited to be present at the ceremony attending the formal capitulation of Santiago.

Another of his grievances is the action of General Shafter in retaining the Spanish civil authorities in the administration of their functions in Santiago.

For these reasons he declares that he will no longer co-operate with the forces under General Shafter's command, but will act independently, as he did before the American troops landed in Cuba.

General Shafter will return a formal answer to the Cuban leader's letter.

WILL HOLD PORTO RICO.

Authoritative Declaration Made That We Will Hold the Island.

Washington, July 22.--The authoritative declaration has been made that the island of Porto Rico will be held as a permanent possession of this country as the price of the war. The subjoined practically official statement was made to the Associated Press yesterday:

"Porto Rico will be kept by the United States. That is settled and has been the plan from the first. Once taken, it will never be released. It will pass forever into the hands of the United States and there never has been any other thought. Its possession will go toward making up the heavy expense of war to the United States. Our flag once run up there, will float over the island permanently."

The same authority says the future of the Philippines is a matter of development, and that so far there is no certain policy finally adopted regarding these islands. They are subject to developments in the war situation in the Pacific. It was intimated, however, though not definitely asserted, that the Ladrone islands might follow the fate of Porto Rico and become our permanent possession, being valuable as a coaling and supply station for our ships when en route to eastern Asia.

WATSON'S DEPARTURE.

He Will Start After the Porto Rican Expedition Gets Off.

Washington, July 22.--Secretary Long had a long conference with the president yesterday, presumably relating to the departure of the Porto Rican expedition. The secretary said the time of departure of Commodore Watson's squadron had not been finally fixed. It would depend, he said, upon the movement upon Porto Rico. Watson would not start until after the Porto Rico expedition had gotten off.

Referring to Watson's visit to the Spanish coast, Mr. Long added in response to inquiries that there was no fear of its bringing about any protests from or complications with any foreign powers. He ridiculed as absurd certain reports that some of the powers might make trouble if Watson goes to the peninsula.

More Fighting Yet.

Washington, July 22.--According to a high authority at the war department there will be more fighting in the territory surrendered by General Toral, the garrison at Guantanamo and several smaller towns having declined to be included in the capitulation of Toral and will fight it out.

Colonel Hecker, in charge of the transportation of Spanish prisoners from Santiago to Spain, states that no prisoners will be removed until the entire number in the territory are either killed, captured or surrender.

This condition of affairs is believed to account for the failure of General Miles to make an immediate start for Porto Rico. He remained until he had satisfied himself that a sufficient number of men were to be left in the surrendered territory to force the recalcitrant garrisons to terms.

Peary's Ships Not Sighted.

St. Johns, N. F., July 22.--The Labrador mail steamer Leopard arrived to-day and reports that it did not sight Peary's steamers Hope and Windward along that coast, nor was any word of them heard. The coast being clear of ice as far north as Cape Harrison, the captain of the Leopard concludes that the steamers made the best use of their opportunity and steamed north as fast as possible. Peary did not call at Turnavick as in former years.

Need Not Pay the Tax.

Washington, July 22.--The commissioner of internal revenue has decided that although a social club selling wines and liquors to its members and their guests is required to pay a special tax as a retail liquor dealer, it is not required to pay special tax as a proprietor of a billiard room, as the new law specifically states that it relates only to bowling alleys and billiard rooms open to the public.

Recruits at Camp Black.

Camp Black, Hempstead Plains, July 22.--There are now nearly a thousand troops in camp, who will form part of the Two Hundred and First and Two Hundred and Second volunteer regiments. They are mostly from Buffalo, Syracuse and Utica. These men, after spending their first night in camp, reported in good condition yesterday, when they were supplied with their uniforms.

St. Louis Starts Away.

New York, July 22.--With bunkers full of coal and plenty of ammunition and other supplies on board, the auxiliary cruiser St. Louis left the American line pier shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday afternoon and steamed down the bay to Tompkinsville, there to await a favorable tide before starting on her way to Hampton Roads.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

Worst of Vandals.

Though there is no malicious act more detested in the public mind than vandalism in cemeteries—and especially the act of robbing graves of flowers—the practice is a common one in the cities of the dead in Plainfield.

If possible the offenders ought to be rounded up in court and taught a lesson that will forcibly impress upon their minds the sacredness of the grave. Complaints are frequent about the theft of flowers in cemeteries and the despoilation of work which bereaved relatives and friends have done in final tribute to departed ones.

In the majority of cases it is undoubtedly the work of children, who perhaps do not realize the enormity of their crime and whose parents are too void of moral respect to teach them different. In such instances it is the parents who ought to be made to feel the arm of the law necessary to convince that they owe a duty to the community not to countenance such things on the part of their children.

Special Anniversary Edition.

The Dunellen Call celebrated its sixth anniversary yesterday, and in honor of the event a special anniversary edition of that enterprising weekly was issued. Editor George Day, assisted by O. A. Douglass, deserve much credit for their efforts in giving the people of Dunellen such an able paper.

A complete history of that borough and New Market appears in the anniversary number from the pen of Mr. Douglass, and is of great local interest. A handsome cover in colors, with a picture of the Lincoln monument at Lincoln, is an admiring feature. The usual amount of local news appears and makes the issue one well worth preserving. The entire paper was printed in Dunellen.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The profitable practice of Justices of the Peace in acting as collection agents, bringing suits before themselves and entering judgment for their clients in their own courts, has recently received two severe shocks which will probably have a tendency to bring it into deserved desuetude. Within a few weeks one Justice at New Brunswick and another at New Market have been convicted of this offence, which is strictly prohibited by law, and have been mulcted in heavy fines. After a while it will, perhaps, begin to dawn upon the mind of the average Dogberry that he must obey the law as well as enforce it—Newark News.

* * * * *

The game laws now upon the statute books of New Jersey are working an injustice in many ways upon small offenders, and particularly upon farmers and fruit-growers. A strawberry-grower at Hackensack shot five robins that were eating his berries. He was fined $100, which is more than the profits of his whole crop. A farmer who has had trees injured by rabbits, cannot shoot them without being in danger of a severe penalty. Persons who have had birds caged as pets, ignorant that they were violating a law, have met with severe punishment. The offenses would often be overlooked, or the penalty mitigated, were it not for one of the worst features of the law which places a premium upon informers. The wardens are so anxious to get their share of the fines that they are often led to exaggerate crimes. In the case mentioned only $35.34 goes to the State and the rest to the informer.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

CAPTAIN CHARLES E. CLARK.

"I am persuaded that but for the officers and men of the Oregon the Cristobal Colon and perhaps the Vizcaya would have escaped." Those who read of the magnificent performances of the Oregon during the naval battle at Santiago will heartily agree with this opinion of Captain Clark, her gallant commander.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

It is comforting to know that this hot spell is not going to last forever. Alonzo T. Ayres says he heard katydids last night, which, according to the old saying, means frost in six weeks.

The Somerville Unionist Gazette has resurrected an old advertisement from the Somerset Whig in May 1840, which shows the primitive methods of railroading in New Jersey at that time and affords a radical contrast to the service of today. Imagine for a minute, if you can, the modern New York business man taking three hours to go from New York to Somerville, but that is what they would have had to submit to forty-eight years ago. And besides they would have but the choice of two trains—one leaving New York at 8 a. m. and another at 3:30 p. m. The route of the Elizabethtown and Somerville Railroad was from Pier No. 1, North River, by steamboat to Elizabethport and thence to Somerville, passing through Westfield, Scotch Plains, Plainfield, New Market, Bound Brook and Somerville.

Harry W. Marshall, the genial proprietor of the American Laundry on Front street, was the victim of a joke the other day that has just come to light. Last Saturday he stepped into J. A. Smith's grocery store on Front street and ordered $1 worth of cigars and told Mr. Smith to be sure and send them to the laundry as he expected several friends from Elizabeth to spend Sunday with him, and he did not want to disappoint them in the matter of smokers. Shortly afterwards Mr. Smith had the fragrant weeds wrapped up in a small package, and calling his office boy he gave him directions to deliver them to Mr. Marshall. When the boy told him that the package was from Mr. Smith, Mr. Marshall absent mindedly said: "All right, they'll be ready Tuesday."

He wrote Mr. Smith's name on the package and threw it in with the dirty clothes. In the evening Mr. Marshall sent up to Smith's and asked where the cigars were. The boy went back to the laundry and explained to Mr. Marshall that he delivered the package to him. Mr. Marshall immediately recognized the lad, and it flashed through his mind that he had mistaken the cigars for laundry. He dismissed the boy after giving him a quarter and cautioned him not to say anything about it. Mr. Marshall then made a dive for the dirty clothes. He went in way over his head and when he emerged in a few minutes a gleam of sunshine could be distinguished brightening up his handsome countenance. Calling an eyewitness Mr. Marshall gave him a cigar and then told a story which is characteristic of him. He didn't tell this story though—but they say walls have ears.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Edison's latest invention, the waragraph, will be seen at every performance all next week with the "Sullivan's Troubadours" at the Stillman Music Hall. No one should fail to witness these animated war pictures, all up-to-date and true to life. It takes seven people to present this latest wonder in order that true effects might be obtained.

Plainfield's population is generally estimated from 18,500 to 20,000 inhabitants. One-tenth of them no doubt will be in the grand rush at the Stillman Music Hall next Monday evening to witness the "Sullivan Troubadours." They are certainly different from any other repertoire company on the road, playing at peoples' popular prices. They will give an entertainment on the same style as is given at Keith's and Proctor's New York theatres (but not a continuous performance.) The entertainment will begin each evening at 8 o'clock and will close at 10:30. The matinees will begin at 2:15 and terminate at 4:45. Ed. P. Sullivan, supported by Miss Emily Lascelles and a first-class company, will be seen next Monday evening in Ed. P. Sullivan's new version of the immortal play of "Ingomar."

Central's Midsummer Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The public will have a third opportunity next Wednesday to visit Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback Railroad by the Central R. R. of New Jersey's midsummer low-rate, personally conducted excursion to those resorts. It makes no difference about the seashore or other places that offer attractions to the one day pleasure seeker, none of them can possibly supply more beautiful attractions than these three places combined in one trip and all so close together that the effort of seeing and enjoying all is so slight. The delightful ride is a joy in itself and carries you through a region of sublime scenery, combined in mountain, valley, river and stream. Several hours are allowed at the resorts and you will be returned home about 8 p. m. Special train, with lunch car attached, leaves Plainfield at 9:28 a. m. Adult round trip fare $1.75. Children $1.31. Tickets on sale at company's station.

At White's.

The prices that they are naming on seasonable goods at White's should throng the store with satisfied buyers. Not a stock in the store but what has felt the cut that they have made in summer goods, the wash goods, the suit and shirt waist department, the underwear department, all have goods to sell at lower prices than you ever bought before and in the new department, "The Bargain Centre."

Annoyed By Goats.

Some of the people in the vicinity of Hope chapel complain because of the goats which were left out in the fields near the chapel last night in the storm. Their bleating was very pitiful last night.

DOANE & EDSALL.

Some Remarkable Values for Friday and Saturday.

The Sale of Sailor Hats at 50c.

It's clearing time and we have repriced the entire stock of Ladies' and Misses' Sailor Hats. There are probably 200 in the assortment—no matter what the prices have been each hat will be 50c. The remaining stock of untrimmed straw shapes comes under the price reduction, and the price of each hat will be 50c.

The Shirt Waist Sale.

Friday and Saturday will undoubtedly be busy days in the Waist Section. The most remarkable values ever offered. Three great assortments, 50c, 65c, 75c, formerly $1, $1.25 and $1.50. All arranged for easy selection on the center tables.

A Sale of Ribbons at 16c a Yard.

Nearly a thousand yards of Moire Taffetta Ribbons in white, black and all leading shades will be placed on sale at 16c a yard. 25c is the price ordinarily, but 16c for Friday and Saturday only.

25c Hosiery---16c.

A quantity of Ladies' extra fine black hose, enough for two days' selling, 16c a pair—and that for the best 25c hosiery ever made.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 22—Mrs. Jennie Staples has gone to Washington, Warren county, to spend the summer.

The all-observing writer for the Plainfield News in the borough has a strong imagination, and often this trait is in evidence. Yesterday that paper announced that the trolley tracks in the borough were all laid and there is nothing left to do but to grade the street, erect poles, string wires and run the cars. In the first place the tracks are not all down, not within two hundred feet of the borough line. The street was graded when the tracks were laid, and that work is completed. The tracks were left day before yesterday in an unfinished state owing to the fact that it has not been definitely decided just what agreement will be made with the Plainfield company. In all probability the tracks will be connected, but the work has not yet been completed. If the News reporter depended more on his own efforts and less on those of others he probably could manage to get things straight.

Employes of the Brunswick Traction Company were busy yesterday filling in between the tracks with crushed stone. The whole street is to be macadamized from curb to curb and it is the intention of putting in a switch near the railroad station.

Superintendent Adlemann, of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, together with several directors of the company, were in the borough yesterday inspecting the work of the Brunswick Traction Company.

There was a re-union of the Dunham family in Piscataway township yesterday and all of the Dunhams in this vicinity were in attendance.

George Richardson and Miss Grace Vail, who have been attending an Epworth League convention at Saratoga, have returned home.

A party of young people from Plainfield spent yesterday at Washington Rock, and enjoyed the cool breezes to be found there.

The Misses Jamison, of Church street, will leave town next Monday to enjoy their annual summer outing.

Mrs. Clarence Oakley, of New Brunswick, spent yesterday with Mrs. Wilson Fredericks, of Church street.

The board of directors of the Building and Loan Association will hold a meeting tomorrow evening.

Mrs. W. E. Terry, of Washington avenue, is visiting Miss Ethel Gray, of Irvington, for a few days.

Next Saturday afternoon there will be bowling on the green at the home of Christian Schepflin.

A. A. Lake and family, who have been visiting at Providence, R. I., have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Vail and Miss Vail are spending a few days with Philadelphia friends.

The Misses Eder, of New York, are stopping with their aunt, Mrs. Maier, of North avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, of East Millstone, have been visiting in the borough.

The Misses Marienscheck, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with relatives in town.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 22—The New Market Building and Loan Association is no more. The members agreed to dissolve last Monday evening and the affairs of the association were wound up.

Work will soon be started on the new Lehigh Valley Railroad bridge. The men who will do the work have arrived in the village.

Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, held a regular meeting last evening and transacted routine business.

Joseph Kelly has secured a position with the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company at their New York office.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush, of Jersey City, are visiting friends in town.

The funeral of Mrs. Loftus Hollingsworth will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains will be interred in Hillside cemetery.

Rev. Frank Fletcher spent yesterday at Asbury Park.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 22—George Thomae, a Scotch Plains boy, and ensign in the navy, will go to Spain with Watson's fleet.

Mrs. John R. Marsh, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Darby, and Miss Flora Garlinghouse, are spending a few days at Asbury Park.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. hold an important meeting this evening in their rooms.

The Township Committee meet in the town rooms this evening.

Miss Lillian Gibbs rides a new Eldridge wheel.

Mrs. George Stillger is quite ill at her home.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 22—One of the heaviest showers this town has seen in many years came last night. North avenue, Broad and Prospect streets were flooded and a person could not cross without full-length rubber boots without getting wet. The streets were damaged a great deal, but Superintendent of Roads Chamberlain now has his men at work and they will soon be in good shape again.

At a meeting of the Township Committee of Cranford held last evening, the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company's petition for a franchise to run trolley cars through the township was taken up, and after a discussion of some length it was laid over until August 8th.

A YOUTHFUL SOLDIER.

CHRIS. SORENSEN, JR., SEVENTEEN YEARS OLD, ENLISTS.

Begged His Father to Give Him Permission and Finally Succeeded in Getting It—In Fourth Regiment Band.

Plainfield has furnished one of the youngest soldiers in the present war. He is seventeen years of age, but as valorous as any in the ranks. His youthfulness only serves to bring out bolder the patriotism which he has shown in a desire to serve his country. The name of this brave little American is Chris. Sorensen, Jr.

It was a dramatic scene a few days ago when this youngster, but a short time out of his knickerbockers, approached his father—a veteran of the civil war—and asked for his permission to enlist. The boy suspicioned that his father would be reluctant to give his consent, and it was as he expected. The son met with a reception for his cherished desire that boded it ill success if he had not been of a determined disposition.

Young Sorensen was engaged in the rather unsentimental employment of chopping wood when he decided that the opportune time had arrived for him to ask his father the important question. He dropped his axe, adjourned to the woodshed where his father was engaged, and broached the subject.

"No! no! You go back to chopping wood, young man. You're too young to go to war," said the senior Sorensen.

"Oh, father, why won't you let me go. You know you went to war when you were a boy, and why can't I go while I am a boy. I'll probably never have a chance again." It was said with tears welling in the eyes of the boy.

The father was on the point of reiterating his former statement when he hesitated in a half-perplexed and half-reminiscent manner, and then said:

"Well, all right, you can go."

And suiting action to the word, he took a lead pencil, got a piece of paper, and wrote:

"I hereby give permission for my son, Chris. Sorensen, Jr, aged seventeen years, to enlist in the army.

"Chris Sorensen."

The next day the young patriot was on his way to Sea Girt where in a short time he had undergone his examinations and been admitted as a member of the Fourth Regiment and assigned as a member of the band. For several years past young Sorensen has been musically inclined and has shown marked ability playing an alto horn. Since the organization of the Queen City Band he has been a member of it.

In a letter received from him yesterday he expressed a great delight with life at Camp Voorhees, and relates some of his experiences in camp. He is the youngest soldier now quartered there.

PARTICULAR MENTION

A slight improvement is noticed today in the condition of George W. F. Randolph, of West End Park, and he seems to be gradually gaining strength.

THIRD WILL SOON MOVE.

Soldiers Will Say Farewell to the Woods of Pompton.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Pompton Lake, N. J., July 22.—It is now almost assured that the First Battalion of the Third Regment will move in a short time. The rumor which was circulated through camp yesterday has been traced and found to be correct. While visiting Governor's Island last Saturday Major Schaler learned that Colonel Gillespie had received a message from Washington asking if he had another battalion ready to relieve the First, of the Third, at Pompton Lake. The Colonel answered in the affirmative, and it is now thought that as soon as one of the battalions of the Fourth is equipped and ready for service it will be hurried to Pompton, and the Third's boys will be sent probably to Porto Rico.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

GATHERED ALL ABOUT THE TOWN BY ALERT PRESS REPORTERS.

News in Short Paragraphs That are Interesting to Read During the Spare Moments of Many Busy Plainfielders.

—Frank Neal, of West Front street, is improving his property very much.

—In a few days the work of laying surface drainage pipes on Plainfield avenue will be started.

—Summer specialties in foot wear can be found in great variety at VanArsdale's, at popular prices.

—The rush of work still continues at the Pond Machine Tool Works and the night gang is still kept at work.

—People owning farms in the vicinity of the sewage beds find that this year they have an extra crop of hay. Most of it has been cut.

—Next week Thursday afternoon and evening the members of West End Hose Company will hold a picnic at Mountainside Grove.

—Flynn Brothers, 222 West Front street, carry a good line of medium high grade shoes. All shoes they sell are good and reliable and their prices are reasonable.

—Neuman Brothers, the Watchung avenue grocers, call attention to their stock of Georgia peaches, fancy Jenny Lind and Golden Gem melons, which will be on sale tomorrow.

—The subject for the Christian Endeavor meeting at the First Baptist church this evening will be "How to Have a Happy Home," and George H. Batchelor will be the leader.

—Get new collar-bands and wristbands on your shirts at the City Steam and Hand Laundry, 19 Somerset street, for a small charge when you are having your shirts "done up."

—In the United States District Court at Trenton, Tuesday, Judge Kirkpatrick sentenced Charles Atkinson, the Vineland counterfeiter, to eighteen months in jail and to pay a fine of $100.

—Special attention is called to the new advertisement of S. Scheuer & Co., the Front street grocers. They advertise a list of specials at prices that are within the reach of all, and the goods are all first-class.

—Although it is generally believed that when Baptists go on an excursion it will surely rain, a change has been provided for this year. The First Baptist church together with its missions will go to Asbury Park next week Thursday and good weather is assured.

—According to the report of the commission appointed to adjust the financial differences between Westfield and Mountainside borough, the township owes the borough $16. It is not likely that the borough officials will accept that balance, as they claim that the Westfield School Board has not conducted the school business according to law.

—The Township Committee of Union has directed the constables to enforce the ordinance forbidding riding bicycles on the sidewalk. It is of almost daily occurence for pedestrians to be knocked down by bicycles on the walks. It is not the resident riders who offend, but the hundreds of people riding through town. The fine for riding on the sidewalk is $5.

—"Too many trunks" is the heading of Doane & Edsall's new advertisement in another column. They say by mistake in their order, which is on sale today, several lines were duplicated thereby giving them too many trunks for this season of the year, and rather than return them to the factory they have marked them at special low prices to move them off quickly.

—Tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Plainfield Driving Club grounds on Park avenue there will be a sale of trotters and pacers, and no horse-loving person who wants a good horse should fail to attend. Fred Rose, owner, will be there to show what the horses can do under the watch and every horse is guaranteed to be as represented. Attention is called to the advertisement of the sale in another part of the paper.

Miss Laura J. Runyon, of East Fifth street, will leave the city next week Friday for Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, where she will remain for an indefinite period.

How is it possible? Because we buy Pianos for less money than any other concern (except two or three) in America, and below what the great majority of factories can make them for. Because we buy them in very large numbers and strictly FOR CASH. Because we sell as many as any dozen ordinary Piano concerns combined.

Finally, because we're enterprising enough to know that a small profit really pays better than a large one.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text:—Rest in the Lord, and Wait patiently for him. Ps. xxxvii: 7. July 24, 1898.

1. "And Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done and withal how he had slain all the prophets with the sword." That was a record that would stir all the devil that was in her. But she was fast filling up the measure of her iniquity, and her time would soon be over; then the outer darkness. It is good when husbands and wives tell each other everything. Let us as believers be sure that we tell Jesus everything, both what we do and what we teach (Mark vi, 30).

2. "So let the gods do to me and more also, if I make not thy life as the life of one of them by to-morrow about this time." Vain threat of a wicked woman! For did she not know that the God of Elijah had so securely hidden him for three years that he could not be found? But she was angry now and stopped to think of nothing but the vengeance that was in her heart against God and His servant.

3. "And when he saw that, he arose and went for his life and came to Beersheba, which belongeth to Judah, and left his servant there." Desperate people are sometimes permitted to do desperate things, and it might have been very unwise to have remained within reach of such a one. When they persecute you in one city it is sometimes right to flee to another. Yet in this case it looks as if Jezebel and her threat came for the time between Elijah and his God.

4. "It is enough. Now, O Lord, take away my life, for I am not better than my fathers." This was his prayer to God as, having gone a day's journey into the wilderness, he sat down under a juniper tree and wished he was dead. Yet this is the same man who stood before all Israel on Carmel in the name of the Lord. Then he stood with God and for God, and thought not of himself, but now he considers himself, and sees that he is no better than his fathers. His mind is not staid upon God. He is considering feelings and circumstances and God is not ruling in him.

5. "And as he lay and slept under a juniper tree, behold, then an angel touched him and said unto him, Arise and eat." He was weary and needed rest and God gave it to him. It is wonderful how differently things appear when we have been refreshed by sleep. We are often like fretful children who do not know what ails them, but mother knows it is time that they were asleep. He giveth to his beloved in sleep.

6. "And he looked, and, behold there was a cake baken on the coals and a cruse of water at his head. And he did eat and drink and laid him down again." God saw that his child was hungry as well as weary. A little sleep quieted and prepared the body to receive the food which an angel had prepared, and without seeming to count it at all strange to be thus provided for he eats and drinks and sleeps again.

7. "And the angel of the Lord came again the second time and touched him and said Arise and eat, because the journey is too great for thee." How wonderfully ministered unto is this poor weak child of God, who is so discouraged and wants to die, little thinking that he is never to die, but be gloriously received up when his work is done. Every child of God is just as well cared for. Father, Son and Holy Spirit and the angels are all ministering unto us.

8. "And he arose and did eat and drink and went in the strength of that meat 40 days and 40 nights unto Horeb, the mount of God." The Lord Jehovah is our strength and song. Jesus himself is the true bread from heaven. When it is our meat, as it was his, to do the Father's will, we can go in that strength of that meat to our journey's end. We do not live by bread alone but by every word of God.

9. "What dost thou here, Elijah?" This is the word of the Lord to him as he lodges in a cave in Horeb. It is a good word of the Lord to us at all times and happy is it for us if we are never found where he has not sent us. Better still if we can say truthfully "Lord, I am on Thy business, for Thou didst send me."

10. "And he said I have been very jealous for the Lord God of hosts." Then he tells what the Lord well knew about Israel's sins, but adds that he is the only prophet living and that his life is in danger. What God would do if he should be killed he does not dare to hint, but he evidently thinks the Lord's cause is in great peril.

11, 12. He is told to stand on the mount, before the Lord, and, behold, the Lord passed by. There was a mighty wind, then an earthquake, then a fire, but the Lord was not in either of them. Then there was a still, small voice. How slow we are to learn that God often works in the most unlikely ways and through most unlikely people—the still, small voice rather than the storm, or earthquake or fire.

13, 14. To the repeated question "What dost thou here, Elijah?" after all that great object lesson, he gives the same reply as before, indicating that he was so preoccupied with himself and his championship for God that the lesson was lost upon him. It is true that he did not know till God told him (verse 18) that there were 7,000 still, small voices for God who had not bowed to Baal, but he did not know, for Obadiah had told him (chapter xviii, 13), that there were 100 whom Obadiah himself had cared for.

15, 16. He is told to return and anoint a king over Syria and a king over Israel, and the Lord adds, "Elisha, the son of Shaphat, of Abel-Meholah, shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room." When any worker with God gets so exalted in his own estimation that he thinks himself the only one capable of doing the work, it is then time to appoint his successor in office. God will use any vessel that is willing to be used by Him and to His glory, but when the vessel begins to think itself important it is time to break it or set it aside. Although Paul wrought more than others, he said, "Not I, but the grace of God which was with me (I Cor. xv, 10). John the Baptist insisted that he was only a voice. Our Lord Jesus made Himself of no reputation but emptied himself even unto death. May we, like Elijah in chapter xvii, 1, remember that it is the living God before whom we stand, and that he is well able to maintain His cause without any help of ours.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning July 24

Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M.

Topic, The Discontent of Worldliness.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Luke xii, 16-21. "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

Possessions are needful. Nobody can live long without food, drink and sufficient covering. The appetites of hunger, thirst and chill give no rest to mind or spirit till the needs of the body are supplied. So urgent are the cravings and so comfortable the feeling when they are satisfied that much of our time is taken up with providing for bodily needs. These met, there arise æsthetic desires, the sense of the beautiful, the philanthropic impulses, the claims of companionship and the spiritual emotions. All claim attention and satisfaction. All indicate imperative needs of the nature. To neglect any is to injure oneself. All do not have the same grade of value, and no two have the same right to cultivation. The highest in grade is the spirit nature or the essential manhood. This is the fruitage of human nature, of which the physical and more purely intellectual powers are the root and stalk. Too exclusive attention to the body or mind is like cultivating plants for root and stalk while their root and stalk are worthless and only their fruit has real worth.

"Of goods or absolute ends there are but two, perfection and happiness," is the declaration of Sir William Hamilton, the great English philosopher. But perfection in men is never found in a mere animal existence. Physical beauty and strength, though perfect as a Greek statue, have never brought to their possessor perfect happiness and consciousness of worth. On the contrary, the most beautiful have often been the most abandoned morally, often cruel, selfish and most miserable. Envies, jealousies, enmities, have grown from this root of bodily beauty and embittered the whole life and poisoned the nature. Serpents and tigers are often beautiful, but not often lovable. So is it in human nature.

No amount of possessions can make the spirit pure and sweet. No amount of honor or praise or homage can bring peace and contentment. These all have their place and value. But that place is not to give peace and satisfaction to the spirit by themselves. The one who begins to get possessions and praises is often so pleased that the whole care is turned to getting all possible, with the mistaken idea of finding in them permanent peace and happiness. The soul becomes absorbed in getting things merely in order to repeat the pleasure it first felt when they met a real need. Either the real need is not there or becomes insatiable, so that the possessions and honors fail to satisfy. It is impossible to satisfy the spirit which gets hungry for worldly things. The body needs things, the mind needs ideas, the spirit needs God. Contentment can be found only in likeness, oneness with the divine nature. Thinking and eating cannot bring peace to a soul. He who is absorbed in accumulating stores of things or thoughts must ever be doomed to disappointment. Swine may feed on husks, but no son of God can so satisfy his hunger, even if he is a prodigal in a far land. We have an appetite for goodness, for Godlikeness as truly as for food and drink. This is the most imperative need. To its satisfaction all else must yield, rather all else must assist.

The world can never give
The bliss for which we sigh.
'Tis not the whole of life to live,
Nor all of death to die.

Faithful In Unfamiliar Places.

It is a severe test of one's habits of devotion and real piety to be placed among strangers and away from familiar surroundings. There are many people, old as well as young, who are accustomed to read the Bible before retiring to sleep at night, who are severely tempted when away from home and in strange company to omit all open devotions. Many excuses can be found for neglecting the usual custom. But real strength of character never thrives upon such excuses or feels comfortable under the omission of duty. The simple and easy way is to read and pray as one is in the habit of doing. Quite often such a course will bring unexpected blessing. A young man in a Connecticut regiment last May on his first night in camp found himself quartered with three other young men in the same tent. Before turning in for the night he took out his Bible to read and pray as usual. It took some courage to do it. But he was a Christian and a soldier, whose business it was to be brave. It did not take long to discover that the three others each had a Bible and knew how to use them. Wherever you go, be true to convictions of right. You cannot afford to break habits of devotion for any frivolous excuse.

The Celestial Country.

'Tis fury, ill and scandal;
'Tis peaceless strife below—
Peace, endless, strifeless, ageless,
The halls of Zion know.
There nothing can be feeble,
There none can ever mourn,
There nothing is divided,
There nothing can be torn.

That peace—but who may claim it?
The guileless in their way,
Who keep the ranks of battle,
Who mean the thing they say—
The peace that is for heaven
And shall be for the earth,
The palace that re-echoes
With festal song and mirth,
The garden breathing spices,
The paradise on high,
Grace beautified to glory,
Unceasing minstrelsy.

Oh, happy, holy portion,
Refection for the blest,
True vision of true beauty,
Sweet cure of all distress!
Strive, man, to win that glory!
Toil, man, to gain that light!
Send hope before to grasp it
Till hope be lost in sight,
Till Jesus gives the portion
Those blessed souls to fill—
The insatiate, yet satisfied,
The full, yet craving still.
—Bernard of Cluny (Neale's Translation).

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Das Endergebniß der Wahlen für das Königreich Sachsen ist das, daß die Freisinnigen ihre zwei letzten Wahlkreise verloren, die Sozialisten zwei gewonnen, die Antisemiten zwei verloren, die Nationalliberalen zwei gewonnen haben; die Konservativen sind gleich geblieben. Das Ergebniß verdient Beachtung wegen der vorgenommenen Aenderung des Landtagswahlrechts. — Der Rechtsausschuß der Dresdener Stadtverordneten hat sich gegen eine Besteuerung der Konsumvereine nach dem Umsatz, aber für eine nach dem Umsatz progressiv steigende Gewerbesteuer erklärt, die auf alle Lebensmittel verkaufenden Geschäfte gelegt werden soll, sobald der jährliche Umsatz mehr als 200,000 Mark beträgt.

Glauchau. Hier legten die Maurer die Arbeit wegen Verweigerung einer Lohnerhöhung nieder. Es werden weitere Arbeitseinstellungen in den Nachbarorten befürchtet.

Königstein. Im Thurm der Festungsruine erschoß sich ein gut gekleideter junger Mann, der nach vorgefundenen Notizen aus Kassel gebürtig ist. Man brachte die Leiche, die in eine Pferdedecke gewickelt war, auf einem zweiräderigen Holzkarren in das Todtenhaus des Friedhofs. Ueber diesen Transport gab sich vielfach Entrüstung kund.

Leipzig. Ein frecher Fahrraddieb wurde hier ermittelt in der Person eines 22 Jahre alten Schreibers, Karl Moritz Polter aus Plagwitz, der schon zweimal von der Polizei verhaftet und von der Staatsanwaltschaft in Untersuchung genommen, wegen mangelnder Beweise aber wieder entlassen worden war. Nunmehr hat sich aber der Verdacht derart verschärft, daß abermals zur Festnahme Polters geschritten werden konnte. Nach seinem Geständnisse hat er etwa 25 Fahrräder im Gesammtwerthe von etwa 5000 Mark gestohlen und zu Spottpreisen wieder verkauft.

Niederplanitz. Verhaftet wurde hier der amtliche Trichinenbeschauer, durch dessen Schuld Erkrankungen und ein Todesfall durch Trichinosis vorgekommen sind.

Pettau. Hier ist die Getreidemühle der Firma Scholz, eine der größten Sachsens, völlig niedergebrannt. Der Obermüller wurde vom Feuer im Schlafe überrascht und erlitt tödtliche Brandwunden.

Thüringische Staaten.

Eisenach. Die älteste höhere Mädchenschule in den thüringischen Landen, die Eisenacher Karolinenschule, mit der auch ein Lehrerinnenseminar verbunden ist, beging dieser Tage die Feier ihres 50jährigen Bestehens.

Rudolstadt. Als Wahlkuriosum wird aus dem Wahlkreise Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt mitgetheilt, der Kandidat der nationalliberalen Partei und des Bundes, Fabrikbesitzer Müller in Rudolstadt, der in der Stichwahl gewählt worden ist, konnte sein Wahlrecht nicht ausüben, da sein Name sich nicht in der Wählerliste befand.

Weimar. Der Großherzog hat sein lebhaftes Interesse an dem Ausfall der Stichwahl im ersten Wahlbezirke dadurch bekundet, daß er an dem betreffenden Tage alle Hofbeamten und Diener vom Schloß Wilhelmsthal, beziehungsweise von Eisenach nach Weimar und zurück mit Extrazug befördern ließ, damit sie—etwa 45 Personen—ihr Wahlrecht ausüben konnten.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Nach dem Vorbilde des belgischen Comite Maritime International, des französischen Institut du Droit International und der englischen Association of International Law, wurde kürzlich hier, ebenfalls mit dem Zweck der Herbeiführung international geltender Rechtsnormen, besonders auf dem Gebiete des Seerechts, seitens namhafter hiesiger und auswärtiger Kaufleute und Juristen der „Deutsche Verein für internationales Seerecht" als nationale Vereinigung gegründet.

Bremen. An dem Preiswettbewerb des 1,500,000 Mark kostenden Baues der Bremer Baumwollbörse waren 54 deutsche Architekten betheiligt. Den ersten Preis erhielt Poppe-Bremen, den zweiten Schädtler-Hannover, und den dritten Bollmann-Bremen. — Ein aus Budapest nach Unterschlagung von 86,000 Gulden geflüchteter Post- und Telegraphen-Offizial Namens Toth ist hier verhaftet worden. Er war noch im Besitze des größten Theils des Geldes.

Lübeck. Die Versammlung der Kaufmannschaft wählte mit großer Majorität den Konsul Hermann Fehling, Chef des Handlungshauses Piehl u. Fehling, zum Handelskammerpräsidenten.

Oldenburg.

Oldenburg. In einer kürzlich stattgehabten Sitzung des Aufsichtsraths der Oldenburger Bank ist beschlossen worden, das seit mehr als 20 Jahren bestehende Bankgeschäft von G. F. Fooken in Jever zu übernehmen und als eine Filiale der Oldenburger Bank weiter zu führen. Fooken zieht sich in's Privatleben zurück. Ferner wurde beschlossen, eine Filiale in Delmenhorst zu errichten.

Sec. 2. That the manner of placing said posts or poles shall be as follows:

They shall be firmly planted in the ground, adjacent to and within eighteen inches of the curb line on streets where curb lines have been established, and secured by cement or grouting wherever necessary to maintain the poles in an erect position, and said posts or poles shall not be less than one hundred feet apart.

Sec. 3. That said Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company be and is hereby authorized to construct and maintain for the uses of its business of generating and distributing electricity for the purposes of light, heat and power, a system of subways or underground conduits, including the necessary manholes and street openings and lateral connections to property lines beneath the surface of the streets and other highways in said City, and to drain same to storm sewers, and to place, maintain and operate in its system of subways or underground conduits the wires, cables or other electrical conductors necessary for its business, and to construct, maintain and use for such purposes a system of electrical conductors in connection with the necessary poles and appurtenances for the distribution of electricity from such conduits.

Sec. 4. That said system of subways herein authorized shall be constructed as follows: The same shall be at least three feet below the surface of the streets where located, with manholes where necessary, level with the surface of the street; the trenches shall be carefully backfilled and the material thoroughly rammed to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner; the work of rolling and repairing the pavement shall be done by the Street Commissioner and the cost of said work shall be paid by said Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company; and all the work of constructing shall be carried on under the supervision of the Street Commissioner. In case the said company shall fail to restore, relay or repair, or cause to be restored, relaid or repaired, any pavement or street surface within forty-eight hours after receiving notice from the Street Commissioner that such work is required, said Street Commissioner shall have the right to cause such work to be done and the cost thereof shall be paid by the said Company.

Sec. 5. That said Company shall indemnify the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield against, and assume all liability and damages which may at any time arise, come or occur to said City from any injury to persons or property from the doing of any work herein authorized, or any work done upon, under or along any of the streets of the said City by said Company, or from neglect of the Company or its employees to comply with the provisions of any ordinance of said City relative to the use of streets or highways or public places, particularly as to the erection and maintenance of lights and guards at or about excavations; and the acceptance by the Company of this ordinance shall be an agreement by it to pay to the Common Council of Plainfield any sum of money for which the City may become liable from or by reason of such injury or damage.

Sec. 6. That said Company shall construct such subways and appurtenances at the rate of at least sixteen hundred feet (1,600) each year from the date of the approval or final adoption of this ordinance until the following streets are clear of wires and poles of said Company, viz:

West Front street and East Front street from Central avenue to Watchung avenue;

Park avenue from Front street to Fourth street;

The Common Council shall have option to designate in what order subways in the streets specified in this section shall be laid; and the said Company shall be at liberty to construct subways in the other streets specified in the first section of this ordinance earlier than herein specified, upon said Company applying to the Common Council and obtaining special permission in the premises.

Sec. 7. That this ordinance shall be void unless said Company shall file with the Clerk of said City its acceptance hereof within twenty days from and after the passage hereof, which acceptance shall be taken and construed to be a consent to the terms and provisions hereof, and an agreement by said Company to perform whatever is hereby required within the time or times herein limited, and said Company shall also within said period of twenty days file with the Treasurer of said City a bond, with sureties to be approved by the Mayor, in the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of the terms and conditions of this ordinance.

Sec. 8. That said Company shall pay into the Treasury of said City all advertising and printing fees incurred by the City under this ordinance, and this ordinance shall take effect immediately.

Adopted by the Common Council July 5th, 1898.

Approved by the Mayor July 12th, 1898.

CHAS J. FISK, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

A supplement to an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to License, Regulate and Prohibit Shows and Exhibitions," approved December 8th, 1897.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That no person shall give or have a concert or other entertainment to which admission is obtained by payment of less than fifty cents for a single admission, without first obtaining a license therefore, which license shall be applied for as provided in section 3 of the ordinance to which this is a supplement, and the license fee to be charged shall not exceed the sum of Twenty-Five Dollars. Any person or persons who shall violate this supplement shall, on conviction, be subject to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days, or both.

Adopted by the Common Council July 5, 1898.

Approved by the Mayor July 12, 1898.

CHAS J. FISK, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to License Inns and Taverns and to Regulate and Prohibit the Sale of Spirituous and Fermented Liquors," approved February 10th, 1892, amended April 7th, 1894.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

That there be added to said ordinance the two following sections, to be numbered Sections 25 and 26 respectively:

"Sec. 25. That any license heretofore granted and now in force, or that may hereafter be granted, under the provisions of this ordinance, may, at the discretion of the Common Council, be renewed by the Common Council for the period of one year from date of the expiration thereof, upon application of the licensed person or persons respectively, and it shall not be requisite in order to such renewal that the application therefor shall have annexed thereto any certificate of citizens or freeholders or any affidavit or affidavits; provided that such applicant for renewal of license shall not have been theretofore convicted of violating any of the ordinances of the City of Plainfield, or any of the laws of this State; and provided further that before receiving any renewal of license as herein contemplated, the applicant shall enter into recognizance in the same manner as if said license was applied for or granted under the appropriate foregoing section of said ordinance.

"Sec. 26. That upon petition of any person duly licensed under this ordinance, or his legal representative, the Common Council may, pursuant to Chapter CLXXIX of the public laws of New Jersey for the year 1892, permit a transfer of the license held by such applicant to another person to be named in such application, to be designated in said application, upon the payment of a transfer fee hereby fixed at the sum of Twenty-Five Dollars in each case."

Adopted by the Common Council July 5th, 1898.

Approved by the Mayor July 12th, 1898.

CHAS. J. FISK, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

for the repairing and permanent improvement of East Ninth Street.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the roadbed of East Ninth Street, extending from the northeasterly crosswalk of Park Avenue to the southerly crosswalk of Watchung Avenue, be forthwith repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of eight feet on each side of the centre line of said street and for a depth of four inches, at the general expense of the City, to be paid for (after first applying the direct contribution of property owners) out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of streets, as provided by the Act of the Legislature entitled "An act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the roadbeds of streets at the general expense," approved May 13, 1884.

Sec. 2. That before any work shall be done under this ordinance, the property owners along the line of the proposed improvements shall deposit with the City Treasurer the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars ($650 00).

Adopted by the Common Council July 5th, 1898.

Approved by the Mayor July 12th, 1898.

CHAS. J. FISK, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

CYCLING COMMENT.

James Beekman, of West Eigth street, rode his wheel to Asbury Park yesterday, and met the excursionists there.

Thursday night the next Y. M. C. A. bicycle run takes place. The boys will go to Newark this time, and will make an early start so as to get there in season.

F. W. Melville, of Montreal, stopped at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday on his way to Philadelphia. Melville is on a wheeling trip, and left his home in Montreal early in the summer. His destination is Philadelphia. Melville has had a pleasant trip so far, with one exception. Near Poughkeepsie he struck a rut and was thrown into a barbed wire fence, cutting his face badly. Otherwise his trip was without incident.

ROD AND GUN.

F. A. Dunham and Ephraim Vail, of this city, went to Barnegat this morning to enjoy a few days fishing.

A party of fishermen consisting of Frank Allen, T. R. Collins, E. L. Hand, William Stanberry, together with chef "Henry," all of Scotch Plains, went to Boynton Beach yesterday and spent the day fishing. Residents of the Plains are suspicious as to whether any fish were caught, but a mess of weakfish was found this morning in Mr. Hand's refrigerator.

GOLF.

The Park Golf clubhouse is now completed and ready for occupancy.

WON HIS SUCCESS

active business several years ago. Recently his health had been failing slowly, but he had no real disease, and the physicians said that death was due to a general breakdown of the system consequent upon old age. His fine physique was what kept him up, and it was his superior bodily strength that enabled him to live beyond his three score years and ten and pass the four score mark.

Many anecdotes are related of Mr. Finch by his friends in New York. It is said that he was the first one to mix flour and water together to test the flour as to its soundness, a thing that now is done by every flour merchant all over the land. He was among the first ones to make the trip to New Orleans after sugar and molasses, and it is to Mr. Finch's keen foresight that Mr. Hartshorn, of Saratoga, proprietor of the famous spring there, owes his wealth. Mr. Finch suggested that he fence in his spring and charge each person drinking 5 cents Mr. Hartshorn did it and is today worth thousands. Mr. Finch was very fond of Lake George and Saratoga, and used to spend much of his time at one or the other. Mr. Finch was a Republican, but always voted for the best man.

Mr. Finch leaves two sons, Henry T., of Brooklyn, an insurance broker, and Edward L., of this city.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the house, Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First Methodist church, officiating, assisted by Rev. E. M. Rodman, of Grace Episcopal church. The services were very simple, in accordance with a request made by the deceased, and interment was in the plot at New Haven this morning.

Adventist Services.

The rain has interfered with the tent meetings, corner of Somerset street and Linden avenue. Weather permitting, the subject of the discourse tonight will be "The Lord's Day of the New Testament." Tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon a Sabbath service will be held in the tent at 3 o'clock, and at night the subject will be "Which day and why?" Sunday night, "Who changed the Sabbath?"

Now a Master.

William G. DeMeza went to Trenton yesterday and was sworn in by Chancellor McGill as a Master in Chancery.

Harry Milligan, of West Fourth street, has returned from Schooley's Mountains where he has been spending the past few days.

The Plainfielders who usually every summer camp out at Point Breeze Camp, Wolfboro, N. H., will leave the city next week Thursday for that place, where they will remain until fall.

EXCURSIONISTS HAD A GOOD TIME.

A Cool Breeze Lessened Excessive Heat at the Shore.

Those who went on the excursion yesterday to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove had a fine day along the shore. There was a cool ocean breeze which tempered the extreme heat and made the beach a comfortable place indeed.

When the train left here in the morning the fifteen cars were so crowded that another one was put on at Roselle. There were no accidents reported, and all had a good time. The terrific storm that came towards night overtook the excursionists near Elizabethport, and the entire run from the Port home was made in a heavy rain amid incessant flashes of lightning. At Plainfield the rain came down so hard that many of the people stayed in the cars or else made a run for the station, which was soon crowded. By 9 o'clock, however, the storm was over and they were able to get home.

Have to Begin Over Again.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Mount Holly, July 22—At a special meeting of the Board of Freeholders the question of granting a trolley franchise through this county was disposed of for a time, at least. Charles K. Chambers, solicitor of the Board, rendered an opinion that the present Board was not a continuous body; hence all the work on the trolley subject by the other Board was null and void. On this account the Monmouth Traction Company and the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company asked for the privilege of withdrawing all their maps, etc., from the clerk's office. The whole subject will now have to be opened up anew, and it is not thought that this will be done by either corporation.

Hit by an Express.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, July 22—George Everest, a farmer living at Tremley Point, had a narrow escape yesterday morning. He was driving a team attached to a loaded farm wagon, and attempted to cross the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at Linden, not seeing that a fast express was approaching. The engineer sounded the whistle and Everest whipped up his horses, but not in time to clear the track. The engine struck the wagon, throwing Everest ten feet into a ditch, where he was picked up unconscious, but soon recovered, his only injuries being several bad bruises. The wagon was wrecked. It was torn from the harness, leaving the horses free and uninjured.

Boycotted the Brewers.

[Special to The Daily Press.]

Elizabeth, July 22.—The Elizabeth Liquor-Dealers' Association last night declared a boycott against local and Newark brewers, because they refused to stand the $1 war tax on beer. The saloon-keepers decided to get their beer from New York brewers, who agreed to shoulder the tax, and a contract was signed for the delivery of 500 barrels of beer a week for three months between the saloon-keepers and representatives of New York brewers.

Death of an Infant.

The death of Raymond C. Benjamin, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Benjamin, of Manson place, occurred yesterday afternoon after a brief illness. The funeral services will be held from the house tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

Lieut. Ely All Right.

Mrs. Ely, of Washington Park, wife of Lieutenant Ely, of the regular army, has heard from her husband and he reports that he is all right and doing well. Thus far he has not met with any mishaps.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Warren Engine Company picnic was postponed last evening until this evening, weather permitting.

—Go to Neuman Brothers' grocery store tomorrow for fancy Georgia peaches, fancy Jenny Lind melons and Golden Gem melons.

—The lunch box sociable that was rained out last night at the First Church of Christ, will be held tonight, after the C. U. B. meeting.

—The box office at Music Hall will be open tonight and tomorrow night until 9 o'clock to accommodate those desirious of reserving seats for the performances next week.

—The members of the Sunday-school of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, Washingtonville, spent yesterday at Boynton Beach and everyone had a good time. They reached home in time to escape the heavy shower.

A Promenade Concert.

The promenade concert that was to have been given last evening at Fillmore Baptist church will be given next Wednesday evening. This evening at the church an old folks concert will be given. Next Sunday the members of the church will return their subscription cards toward the support of the church. It is to be hoped that a goodly sum will be realized.

Roesel May Escape Death.

Louis Roesel, the convicted murderer of Farmer Pitts, of Summit, will be re-sentenced Monday morning by Judge VanSickle, of Elizabeth. Roesel's counsel, Frank Bergen and Edw. Nugent, moved for a new trial, which was not granted, so Roesel will have to be arraigned in court and sentenced again. It is said Roesel's sentence will be imprisonment for life, instead of death.

To Build Better Than Ever.

Bernhard Myers, of Finderne, who lost his barns last week by fire, has decided to erect one large barn to take the place of the several he lost. It is also his intention to lay out a park on his property and make the place as attractive as possible. The work will be started very soon.

Who Has Lost a Wheel

Somebody has lost a wheel. They left it along the curb three evenings ago, and there the police found it soon after midnight. The wheel now reposes at the lockup, awaiting a call from its owner. The wheel is a Remington, diamond frame.

Heavy Express Charge.

The three boxes of reading matter and eatables which were sent to the Plainfield boys on board the Badger Tuesday, are nearing Key West, their destination. The express charges on the three boxes were $22.23.

Rain Knocked Out the Picnic.

It is needless to say that Warren Engine Company, No. 1, of the borough, did not hold its picnic last evening. Instead it was postponed until tonight, when it will be held as usual.

AN OCULIST'S DISCOVERY.

It Is Believed Certainty of Death Can be Shown by Eye Veins.

Whether a man be really dead or not may be read in the veins of the eye.

This important discovery has been made by Dr. Shalmers Prentice, an eminent Chicago oculist. He says that he can tell to a certainty by the appearance of veins and arteries in the human eye whether there be any spark of life left where death has been pronounced. Or, rather, his discovery is of such a nature that death will never be pronounced unless the examination of the eye veins show it is absolutely certain.

There has always been a widespread, haunting fear among people of being buried alive, and Dr. Prentice's discovery, if it be all he claims for it, will remove this fear.

His experiments along this line beban some twenty years ago. He had observed that in life the veins and arteries of the retina have distinct differences in color. The veins contain a dark, blackish blood, while the arteries contain bright crimson. At the back part of the eyeball these two shades of blood may be seen under the light of the ophthalmoscope dividing the retina. Even in the case of the blind this distinction in shade may be seen, unless, of course, an opaque film has formed over the injured eyes, or the eyes have been entirely destroyed.

In death, however, Dr. Prentice has found that the shade distinction entirely disappears. The blood in both arteries and veins is transformed into a pinkish color of uniform shade.

An exhaustive examination has been made and Dr. Prentice has never found his simple test to fail. In a case of suspended animation, where others had pronounced death, he observed the shade distinction and saved the man from being buried alive.—New York Journal.

The Cheerful Idiot.

"My grandfather," said the shoe clerk boarder, "once knew an old man who insisted that the ghosts came and milked his cows every night."

"Sort of milkin' spectres, eh?" commented the Cheerful Idiot.—Indianapolis Journal.

NEW FLOORING MATERIAL.

Has Qualities That Render It Desirable for Hospitals or Schools.

Under the name of "papyrolith," a new flooring material has been put on the market. Papyrolith, or paper stone, is a description of papier mache hardened and toughened for its special application. It is a chemical combination of vegetable fiber, paper pulp and minerals, from which are produced a very tough material, which has the advantages of the hardest wood and of stone, without the drawbacks of shrinkage of the one, and extreme coldness and inelasticity of the other It is a nonconductor, and impervious to water. It will not swell or dry up, and neither shrinks nor twists, as other substances of the same class will do. It is laid in a lanquid state, and is like a thick paste or cement, so that on a sloping floor it will take the incline required, and present a smooth face without joint or crack. For this reason it is well adapted for hospitals and school rooms, as it provides no room in which hurtful bacteria gtrms can find lodgment. It will take any color, or any combination of colors desired. It is claimed to be fire-proof, and from its elasticity has an agreeable feel to the tread, and deadens sound considerably. Being unaffected by vibration, it is suitable for factories or work rooms where engine power is used. It is manufactured as a powder, and after being brought into a semi-liquid state by the addition of water is laid, like cement, on a solid foundation of brick, concrete or wood. A coarse and a fine layer are used, the first being allowed to lie about twenty-four hours before the top dressing is spread and smoothed off with a trowel. The two applications are about half an inch thick when thoroughly beaten down.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Not Without Logic.

According to the New York Mail and Express, that famous Southern clergyman, Rev. Dr. Porter, recently told a good story illustrating the whimsical ingenuity of the Ethiopian mind. A Southern planter, who was puzzled by the disappearance of a great deal of rice, found out that it had been purloined by a favorite slave. He sent for the latter and said: "Sam, I am very sorry to discover that you are a thief and have been taking my rice." The slave smiled and answered: "I took your rice, masser; but I'm no thief."

"How do you make that out?" came the query.

"Well, masser, does I belong to you, or does I not?"

"Yes, you belong to me."

"An' don't that rice belong to you?"

"Certainly."

"Well, then, if I take the rice and eat that rice it belong to you still? It hasn't gone away from you, and no other man's got it, and I couldn't have stolen it, could I?"

WRECKED BY DRINK, BUT DREADED JAIL

Itinerant Umbrella Mender Before City Judge DeMeza.

HE TOLD A PITIFUL TALE.

FOUND IN A DRUNKEN STUPOR IN A BARN BY AN OFFICER.

Begged the Judge for Freedom and Promised to Leave at Once—He Was Once a Tanner and Lived in Newark—John McElvaney Was His Name—Gave His Age as Sixty-three Years.

He was only another example of broken-down manhood, wrecked by drink, but he was human. It was cold and drear in the white-washed cell over at the rookery where he spent the night, and his thin-worn garments offered little resistance to the chill that penetrated to his very bones.

"Judge," he said, as he hobbled into the dingy little courtroom at the rookery this morning, and his voice trembled with earnestness. "If you'll only let me go, I'll leave town at once."

"It was drink that did it all, your honor. I had the cramps so bad yesterday and I took a glass of rum. And Judge," he laughed a weak little laugh, "When that stuff gets inside me I don't know what I do. But I'll go way, Judge, and won't trouble you any more."

He wore an old pair of blue overalls, a ragged shirt and a blue vest that had buttons on it marked with the initials "D. L. & W." He carried and old cutaway coat, of the style of ten years ago, over his arm. His face was red and blotched and showed the traces of intemperance.

In response to the queries of Judge DeMeza, he told his little story. He had been a tanner and currier by trade and had managed to make a living at it. Then the "old woman" died, and his manner told that with her went all his hopes and ambitions, and since then he had been plying the trade of a wandering umbrella mender. He was sixty-three years of age. John McElvaney was his name. He and his wife had lived in Newark until her death. Since then he had no home.

Patrolman Vanderweg had found him in a drunken stupor, lying in a barn. It was a common occurance with him, seeking comfort in drink. His frame, weakened by old age and excesses, was giving way. He had nothing to live for. His manhood was not all dead, however, for it rebelled at the thought of going to the county jail, a common vagrant. He had a little money, not much, but it would suffice to take him away from here.

The Judge listened to the story. There was nothing to be gained by sending the man to jail. If he would leave town, the ends of justice would be accomplished.

"Sentence suspended," said the Judge.

"The blessings of God be on you," returned the prisoner, and he salaamed low before the local magistrate. Then court was declared over for the morning.

A Sacred Cantata.

The choir of the First Baptist church will give a special musical service tomorrow evening. They will render a new sacred cantata by C. Whitney Coombs, of New York, entitled "The Vision of St. John." It is strong work, highly religious, and being composed by one of the leading American composers, will be appreciated by musical people. The solos will be sung by Miss Harris, Mrs. Ward, Mr. Smith and Mr. Biglow, of the choir, with Howard Case, organist and conductor.

Preaches in Two Languages.

At Coontown, just back of Washingtonville, there is only one church, and that is of the Methodist denomination. The village is composed of German and English speaking people, about half of each, and to accommodate both classes the pastor of the church, Rev. George Bowers, preaches in the morning in the German tongue and in the evening in English. In this way all the people are enabled to hear the gospel in a language which they understand.

Dr. Snodgrass Goes to Europe.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of Central avenue, left Plainfield this morning for Philadelphia, where he will sail at 12:30 today noon on the steamship Belgianland, for Europe. He will meet Rev. C. B. Mitchell, formerly of Plainfield, in London, on August 24th.

A dance was given at "River Rest," Bound Brook, Wednesday evening, at which a number of Plainfielders were present.

HE WANTED THE EARTH.

PECULIAR CHARGE MADE AGAINST CHRISTOPHER MYERS.

Miss Schorb Claims That He Carts Off the Earth That is Dumped on to Her Building Lot to Level it Off.

Christopher Myers, who lives near Scott's Press Works, now knows that dirt and ashes are valuable ingredients, especially when dumped and spread on another's lot, for yesterday he was ordered by Justice Moffett to pay Miss Carrie L. Schorb, of Mt. Horeb, $2 damages as well as stand the costs of court. The suit was brought because Myers had been trespassing on Miss Scherb's land and carting away dirt as fast as it was dumped there.

Miss Schorb some time ago purchased twenty building lots on La-Grande avenue, between Berckman and Central streets. The land was low, and to fill it in Miss Schorb gave ash carters and graders permission to dump clean ashes and dirt into the lots. In fact they were urged to do so, for Miss Schorb knew that the sooner the land was brought up to the surrounding level, the sooner would she have a purchaser.

But one thing became very noticeable. As fast as the dirt and ashes were thrown in it would disappear, and be found scattered upon the lots of some of the neighbors in that vicinity. This grew so troublesome and expensive that Miss Schorb determined to put a stop to it, and make an example of some of the people who were taking away the dirt.

So Myers was made the victim. He couldn't very well be sued for stealing dirt, so Pope & Runyon, Miss Schorb's attorneys, brought suit for $25 damages for trespassing.

The case was tried yesterday morning and the sum of $2 awarded. In presenting the case to the court the plaintiff's lawyers said that the damages they really desired were only nominal, as it was to keep the lots clear of trespassers in the future that they brought the suit, rather than to collect exemplary damages.

TAKES COAL TO DEWEY.

CAPT. MORRISON TO SAIL A VESSEL TO MANILA.

Accompanied by His Eldest Daughter, Miss Agnes—It Will Take Five Months to Make the Voyage Over There.

Captain George D. Morrison, of Plainfield avenue, has secured a position to take a sailing vessel from Philadelphia, loaded with coal, to Manila for Admiral Dewey. He left Plainfield today to take charge of the vessel which will sail the first of the week. He is accompanied by his oldest daughter, Miss Agnes Morrison, who has always had a strong desire to take sailing trips. They expect to be absent about one year. Mr. Morrison secured his position through Boston parties who are dealing directly with the Government. It is estimated that it will take about five months to reach Manila, and a shorter time to come home.

Old Folks' Concert.

Last evening at the Fillmore Baptist church a very successful old folks' concert was given under the auspices of the church. The concert was arranged by and in charge of Mrs. Mary Thomas and Mrs. Ellen Randolph, while Miss Nora Williams presided at the piano. The young and old people of the church gave the concert which proved to be enjoyable to all present. Following the concert a short entertainment was given by those who gave the concert. There was a fair attendance and a goodly sum was realized for the benefit of the church.

Picniced in the Evening.

The members of Warren Engine Company held a successful picnic last evening at Mountainside Park Grove. There were about three hundred people present. The committee in charge did all in their power to make the event one of pleasure. The crowd was orderly and everything passed off quietly. Music for dancing was furnished by O'Reilly. A nice profit will be realized by the company after the bills are paid.

Want a Cheaper Fare.

Concerning the trolley fare between Somerville and Bound Brook The Somerset Democrat, this week, very aptly says: "10 cents is too much to pay for a trolley ride to Bound Brook. It should be 5 cents. The trolley company would carry more passengers and make more money if they would reduce the fare to 5 cents."

NIPE FELL TO OUR BOYS.

Four American Gunboats Attacked It.

NO AMERICANS HURT.

SPANISH GUNBOAT AND FORTS DESTROYED.

Valuable Cuban Seaport Falls Into the Hands of Americans—The Spanish Loss Was Heavy—The Topeka Brings Report.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Key West, July 23, 1:05 p. m.—The auxiliary cruiser Topeka arrived at this morning bringing an account of the attack on the harbar of Nipe, on the northern coast of the province of Santiago de Cuba, by the American forces.

Nipe is directly to the north of Santiago. The harbor is a magnificent anchorage with plenty of water to accommodate the vessels of the blockading fleet. It is thirty-two miles from Holguin.

The engagement took place Thursday, when the Topeka, Wasp, Annapolis and Leyden were ordered by Rear Admiral Sampson to enter the harbor of Nipe and prepare a landing place for the troops.

On steaming into the bay they found the place guarded by three forts and the Spanish gunboat, Jorge Juan. The American vessels opened fire at once, meeting with a lively response from the Spanish.

After a sharp engagement, the Spanish gunboat was demolished and her crew compelled to seek safety on shore. The guns in the forts were silenced and the gunners driven away.

The Spanish fought bravely but their gunnery was characteristically Spanish. Not one of the American vessels were hit, although shell and solid shot flew about them. There were consequently no casualties on the American side.

The losses on the Spanish side is not known but many were killed and wounded by the accurate firing of the American seamen. The harbor is now in possession of the American gunboats.

PARSONAGE DOOR BELL.

A WITTY LECTURE DELIVERED BY A DUNELLEN PASTOR.

At a Church Sociable Rev. E. S. Jamison Wove Around the Subject an Interesting Story of Ministerial Experiences

[Special to The Daily Press.]

Dunellen, N. J., July 24—The parsonage door bell is an ordinary looking object and apparently devoid of interest to any except those who use it as a means of obtaining access to the pastor's house, yet Rev. E. S. Jamison, of the Methodist Episcopal church, wove around it last night a story of ministerial experiences, replete with wit and humor, all hinging upon this insignificant object, the parsonage door bell.

The lecture was rich in incidents, many of them, perhaps, personal experiences, and kept the hearers laughing continually. Dr. Jamison did not hesitate to ridicule the members of his own profession occasionally, and whenever the point to the story was a parson's slip, the speaker gave the audience the full benefit of the joke without sparing the minister.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of that church and the programme also included music and a literary selection. Those who took part were the younger members of the church, and all did exceedingly well. Ice cream and cake were for sale at the close, and the ladies made quite a sum.

The programme opened with quartette singing by Miss Emma Apgar, Miss Mildred Gaskill, A. R. Apgar and W. W. Walters. There was a soprano solo by Miss Mabel Jamison, a recitation by Miss Lulu Gise, and a duet by Miss Mabel and Miss Ethel Jamison.

Part second began with a duet sung by Miss Jessie Haynes and J. E. Low. Another solo by Miss Mabel Jamison, and singing by a male quartette, composed of A. R. Apgar, W. W. Walters, J. C. Apgar and Raymond Apgar, closed the entertainment. Miss Estella Sofield was the accompanist.

All the selections were well rendered, and the audience enjoyed the programme as was attested by their hearty applause. Miss Haynes and Mr. Low were encored and so was Miss Jamison. The Misses Jamison have but recently connected themselves with the church and their voices, full of sweetness and power, are a valuable addition to the congregation. Miss Mabel Jamison is the leading soprano in one of the churches in Rahway, and sings there every Sunday. It is the intention of the ladies to give another and much more elaborate entertainment in the fall.

MACADAMIZING SANDFORD AVENUE.

The Residents Pay for the Material and City Furnishes The Labor.

In macadamizing Sandford avenue, Street Commissioner Gavett says that nearly all the property holders have arranged to have the macadamizing extended from curb to curb. This additional macadamizing is being done at a cost of 10 cents a running foot which only pays for the stone, the city furnishing the labor gratis.

Nealry all the lots on Sandford avenue are 60-foot fronts, so that the cost to each property holder is $6. When this street is finished it will make one of the finest streets in the city, with its nice houses, fine shade trees and smooth, level roadbed.

Westervelt avenue will be taken next. It is hoped that the property holders on this street will undertake the same work, and many of them have signified their intention of doing so.

Delinquents in the Borough.

Delinquent taxpayers in the borough will have until next Monday evening at 6 o'clock to square their accounts with Delinquent Tax Collector W. W. Rowley. After that time the names will be published in the Plainfield papers, that is the names of those who have not paid. There are a large number of people in the borough who would rather settle than have their names appear in the local papers, and now is the opportunity to settle.

Clinton Avenue Washout.

By tonight Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett's men will have finished repairing the washouts on Clinton avenue, near Coriell's old hat shop. The washout was caused by the rain Thursday night, and left the road in a dangerous condition. It happened just where the culvert runs into the brook, and this time more stone will be used in filling in the slope.

One of the Finest.

It will be news to many Plainfielders to learn that Sydney Gilligan, formerly a resident of this city, is a member of the New York police force doing patrol duty. He is located in the vicinity of 69th street, and is making a record for himself.

GARCIA DID NOT WRITE.

Correspondent Was Author of the Trouble.

THAT IS WHAT IS CLAIMED

UNDERSTOOD THAT GARCIA NEVER SAW THE LETTER.

It Is Now Reported to Have Been Written By Correspondent on Castillo's Staff—Change of Opinions the Result.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, July 22, via Playa del Este, July 23, 12:43 p. m—There has been a change of feeling regarding the stand made by Gen. Garcia, the Cuban commander, which has been in his favor.

The letter, alleged to have been written by Garcia to Gen. Shafter, complaining of the treatment accorded the Cubans by the American forces and advising Shafter of the resignation of Garcia, turns out to be the work of someone else.

It is now pretty conclusively proved that the letter was not written by the Cuban general at all but by a newspaper correspondent connected with the staff of Gen. Castillo.

It is not clear that Garcia ever saw the letter, and it is very probable that the contents do not express his sentiments.

SITUATION AT SANTIAGO.

Food Scarce, But Prospects Are Good—Spaniards Soon to Leave for Spain.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Santiago de Cuba, July 22, via despatch boat to Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 23d, 1:43 p. m.—Gen. Toral has notified his troops that on July 24th, in accordance with the terms of surrender, the first division of the Spanish army leaves for Spain.

The Spanish transatlantic line, which has secured the contract for the transporting of the Spanish troops, has notified Gen. Toral that the ships in West Indian waters will be sent to Santiago promptly.

Orders have been issued directing a thorough cleaning of the city. No provisions have yet been brought to this port, so there is a great scarcity and prices are high.

The Red Cross Society has been doing much good among the suffering classes. In accordance with the instructions from Washington only the minimum tariff will be imposed.

SANTIAGO OPENED.

Steamship Philadelphia Started This Morning to Open Trade With Cuba.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

New York, July 23, 1:15 p. m—The actual opening of commerce to Santiago as an open American port started this morning on the departure of the steamship Philadelphia of the Ward Line.

The preparations for sailing were attended with great demonstrations on the part of the shipping and commercial circles.

The ship carries a full complement of passsengers and a large amount of freight. She is expected to reach Santiago on Monday.

David Krymer, of West Second street, has returned from New York State, where he has been spending his vacation.

Miss Hattie Brown, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Joseph, of East Sixth street, has returned to her home in Scranton.

TABOO CAPS AND BADGES

CITY EXPRESSMEN MUST HAVE NO DISTINCTIVE MARKS.

New Orders Issued by the Central Railroad of New Jersey Against the Baggage Handlers at the Depot.

The local expressmen who have headquarters at the North Avenue station are incensed over a recent order which they received from the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The new order is that the expressmen must remove their caps and badges and wear ordinary hats. One of the expressmen is responsible for the issuance of the order, and, of course, the others feel indignant that they should suffer on his account.

A few days ago a woman arrived at the station from out of town. She looked about for the baggagemaster to have a trunk re-checked to Fanwood. It happened that neither he or his assistant were in sight, as they were busy with baggage. In the doorway near the baggage office stood one of the local expressmen. He had on a cap and badge and the woman thought he worked for the company. She asked him to check her trunk to Fanwood, and at the same time handed him her check. The expressman took the trunk to the office of the United States Express Company, and from there it was sent to Fanwood. The expressman received 25 cents for his work, it is said, and the express company charged 15 cents for sending the trunk to Fanwood.

Everything went smoothly until the woman's husband learned that it cost 45 cents to have that trunk sent so short a distance. He thereupon made a vigorous kick to the railroad company, which resulted in the order being issued which compels the local expressmen to take off their caps and badges. It is said that the railroad company is thinking seriously of establishing a branch of the New York Transfer Company in this city, and in case that is done the local expressmen will suffer to a great extent, for they will not be allowed the privileges they now enjoy in earning a living.

ATTACKED BY FLIES.

MISS VAN NEST WAS COMPELLED TO RETURN TO ESCAPE THEM.

A Swarm of Large Horse Flies Caused Trouble Near Martinville—They Voraciously Attacked a Horse—Horses Suffer.

Those who have been driving in the mountains back of Bound Brook this summer have reported an unusual preponderance of horse flies. These large flies attack the horses with great voracity and nervous animals are nearly driven wild by them.

Yesterday Miss Van Nest, of Craig place, had an encounter with a swarm of them and was compelled to turn back. She was bound for Martinville to visit relatives when a large number of these flies, some of which were fully an inch in length, appeared and attacked her horse.

The animal refused to go forward and became frantic with the stings of the insects. They gathered in a great swarm on the horses back and head. The horse tried to turn about but Miss Van Nest attempted to go on. The attacks of the flies were so fierce, however, that she was at length compelled to turn about and return. After she left that neighborhood, the flies disappeared.

Already several runaways have been caused in that section through the irritation of the horses by the attacks of the horse flies. The horses of the natives seem to suffer as badly as those who visit there.

Kornau May Recover.

The chances for the recovery of Fred Kornau, the P. & R. fireman who was struck by an overhead bridge near Belle Meade yesterday morning, seem to be good. Today he is much better and seems to be quite bright. He has regained consciousness and his mind appears to be strong.

Mr. Honeyman's Tourists.

Mr. Honeyman's English party has been heard from in North Devon, England, where they had coached to Clonelly in perfect weather. They describe that spot as the most romantic in England. They were then proceeding to the English Lakes and all were well.

For the Brave Boys.

The Royal Santiago Circle, Mothers of American Protectors, will hold a prayer and praise service Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. J. Ford, 222 East Fourth street. Subject: "Consolation"—Heb. 6: 18.

Will Get a Legacy.

Miss Annie Reeves, a niece of Mr. Thorp, of West Front street, sailed on the steamship Noordland last Wednesday for England, to receive a legacy, and spend the remainder of the summer.

THE PURE FOOD LAW WILL BE ENFORCED.

State Authorities Find Many Preparations Adulterated.

ARRESTS WILL BE MADE.

ARRANGEMENT TO TEST THE FOODS TAKEN AS SAMPLES.

Food Law of the State Covers All Sorts of Food Adulterations, and Offenders Will be Looked After Now—General Crusade Will be Inaugurated by Dairy Commissioner Maguire.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 23.—For many years complaints have been heard in New Jersey of the immense amount of adulterated foods that have been in use, and from the findings of the State Dairy Commissioner during the past two months it is evident the complaints were well founded. Out of 103 samples of cream of tartar collected in the State, 48 were found to be adulterated; 14 out of 18 samples of catsup were found to be impure; 28 out of 17 samples of honey were adultered; 6 out of 19 samples of molasses were adulterated. This is only the result of a quiet little investigation that was being carried on by Dairy Commissioner Maguire preparatory to beginning a general crusade against the dealers who are foisting impure goods on the New Jersey public.

The food laws of New Jersey have been so formed as to cover all sorts of food adulterations. Experts conceded that the laws are very good ones. But they have so far been inoperative because of a lack of facilities to carry them out. The State Board of Health has determined to make it a part of the State Dairy Commissioners duty to look after the adulterers of food as well as the adulterers of milk and butter, and from now on Commissioner Maguire will be on the lookout for violators of the food laws.

At the State House a permanent laboratory is now being fitted up, and when it is completed Shippen Wallace, the State chemist, will make his headquarters there and devote his entire time to his duties as a State officer. In the past all chemical analyses were made by Dr. Wallace at his home in Burlington, or by Dr. Drisher in Newark. Once in a great while an analysis was made by Prof Cornwell, of Princeton.

It has been found that the establishing of a Daily Inspection in the State has almost entirely rid the State of adulterated milk and butter. Of course there is some of the nefarious work still going on of giving to the public impure articles in the dairy line, but during the months of May and June last past, 214 samples of milk were tested and but two were found below the required standard. During the same period, out of 41 samples of butter tested 38 were found pure and all the samples of oleomargarine, cheese and lard tested were found pure.

As soon as the laboratory is established in the State House, the department will not only go into the examination of food in a whosesale way, but will also take up the examination of drugs.

A GREAT TOWN FOR WOMEN.

Mayor Drake, of Lincoln, Invites Jersey Club Women to Visit His Town.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Lincoln, July 23—Mayor Silas D. Drake and members of the town council are now making arrangements to go to Detroit a week from Monday to attend the convention of Mayors and Aldermen to be held in that city. They will go on the Black Diamond Express of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. Already they have received a number of special invitations from leading people in Detroit who want to entertain them.

Another big affair to be held at Lincoln in September will be a convention of members of the Town Improvement Societies of New Jersey. Mayor Drake has the matter in charge and he expects to make the convention one of the biggest in the State. Mr. Drake has already had the promise of the hearty support of prominent members of the society from various parts of the State.

PORTO RICO CAMPAIGN

Permanent Annexation of the Island Is Assured.

THE EXPEDITION MOVING

A Despatch Received from Gen. Miles. He Should Reach His Destination by Sunday. Gen. Grant Assigned to the Third Brigade. Plans Discussed at Yesterday.s Cabinet Meeting.

Washington, July 23.--General Miles reported his arrival at 1.15 o'clock yesterday at Mole St. Nicholas, the boats moving along well.

This indicates that his fleet has taken a northern course around San Domingo. It is a little shorter than the route by the southern coast. It does not indicate, however, at what point he will land.

The following is the text of the dispatch:

Am disappointed in non-arrival of Colonel Hecker with construction corps. Colonel Black arrived without snag boats or lighters. Please send at least four strong sea going steam lighters and tugs.

Also General Stone's boats at Jacksonville, if not already sent, as soon as possible. Moving along well.

MILES.

The war department has also received the following telegram from General Miles:

Playa del Este, July 21, 7.30 p. m.
Secretary of War, Wasaington:

The following troops are with me on board troops in Guantanamo harbor, en route to Porto Rico: Four light batteries of the Third and Fourth artillery, Lomia's Battery B, Fifth artillery, Sixth Illinois, Sixth Massachusetts, 275 recruits for Fifth corps, 60 men for signal corps and Seventh hospital corps, 3,415 men all told.

MILES.

The four light batteries which General Miles referred to in his dispatch are C and F of the Third artillery and B and F of the Fourth. The Sixth Massachusetts and the Sixth Illinois regiments are a portion of General Garretson's brigade. The Eighth Ohio regiment, also belonging to General Garretson's brigade, was landed in Cuba, and in accordance with a decision of the department not to send to Porto Rico any of the troops which took part in the operations connected with the Santiago campaign, that organization was left behind.

The time, 7.23 p. m., noted in the bulletin issued by the adjutant general's office, is that at which the dispatch was received from General Miles in Washington, and does not indicate the time at which it was sent by him.

The question of convoys settled itself, but the naval officials are still of the opinion that the convoy sent is entirely disproportionate in strength to the needs of the case, and the demands laid upon the North Atlantic fleet to supply it have interfered considerably, it is stated at the department, with the plans of the naval war board. This is supposed to relate to the departure of Commodore Watson's expedition, but on that point the naval officials decline to say anything further, simply pointing to the statement given out last night by Secretary Long as expressive of their views.

Brigadier General Fred D. Grant has been assigned by the secretary of war to the command of the Third brigade of General Wilson's division of the First army corps. Two brigades of this division are already assigned for duty with the Porto Rico invasion, General Ernst having left Charleston, and General Hains having left Chickamauga yesterday for Newport News. General Grant's command, according to the present assignment, will include the First and Third Kentucky and the Fifth Illinois regiments.

The cabinet session yesterday occupied an hour and a half, and was devoted exclusively to the Porto Rico expedition and incident aggressive steps in the campaign. An immense chart of the island was sent for during the session, and its lines were carefully studied. After the session it was specifically and positively stated that there had been no discussion whatever as to the peace outlook, as to the new phase created by the Cuban insurgents' independent attitude, nor as to the action of Aguinaldo in the Philippines. General Miles's departure, however, was made a matter of congratulation, and the steps to follow were thoroughly revieved.

It was announced that the troops and convoys under General Miles probably would arrive there some time next Sunday, but further details were withheld. There seems to be no longer any doubt as to the purpose of the government with respect to the island when occupied. It will be permanently annexed to the United States.

In Fear of Watson.

Madrid, July 23.--The maritime authorities of the province of Asturias have ordered all the guiding and harbor lights to be discontinued and the whole coast, therefore, will be dark at night until further orders.

All the lights at or near St. Sebastian, which is a fortified city on a small peninsula in the bay of Biscay, have been extinguished, in view of the possibility of an American attack.

Camara's Squadron.

Gibraltar, July 23.--It is reported here that Admiral Camara's squadron of Spanish warships, which passed through the Suez canal and then turned back and started homeward, the admiral giving a pledge that his ships were bound for Spain, is expected at the Spanish penal settlement of Ceuta, opposite Gibraltar, shortly, where the ships will "await events."

Santiago Prisoners.

Madrid, July 23.--It is asserted here that the Spanish prisoners comprised in the capitulation of Santiago de Cuba do not exceed ten thousand men, and it is added that the ammunition captured there is almost all useless.

Commissioner to Exposition.

Washington, July 23.--The president has appointed Ferdinand W. Peck of Chicago commissioner general of the Paris Exposition.

Spanish Minister Declares Peace is Near

Madrid, July 23.--The minister of public instruction, Senor Gamazo, is authority for the statement that peace, honorable to the Spanish army, will shortly be concluded.

A private dispatch from Havana says that an American force landed near Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba, on Tuesday evening. The Spanish trops guarding the approaches to the bay, the dispatch adds, opened fire on the invaders, to which the Americans replied. An attack on the town, both by sea and land, was expected at the time the message was sent. The crews of the Spanish gunboats which were sunk reached the land, and, according to the Havana message, saved most of their kits.

The maritime authorities of the province of Asturias have ordered all the guiding and harbor lights to be discontinued and the whole coast, therefore, will be dark at night until further orders.

The newspapers again express the opinion that the difficulties in negotiating peace "will be increased by the exacting demands of the Americans.

All the lights at or near St. Sebastian, which is a fortified city situated on a small peninsula in the bay of Biscay, have been extinguished, in view of the possibility of an American attack.

A Garrison for Honolulu.

Washington, July 23.--Arrangements are being perfected at the war department for the establishment of a military garrison at Honolulu, Hawaii. Orders have been issued for a battalion of the Second regiment of volunteer engineers to proceed to Honolulu in company with th First regiment New York volunteer infantry, Colonel Barber, commanding, which is to constitute the first garrison of United States troops stationed on this newly annexed territory of the United States.

The Second regiment of volunteer engineers was largely recruited on the Pacific coast and is now quartered at San Francisco. It is in command of Colonel Willard Young, upon whom will devolve the selection of the battalion to be transferred to Honolulu. It is expected that the troops will sail for that port in a few days.

Wanted to See for Themselves.

Washington, July 23.--Adjutant General Corbin has received the following dispatch from General Shafter:

Santiago de Cuba, July 22.

I sent two troops of cavalry with Spanish officers and Lieutenant Miley to receive the surrender of the Spanish trops at San Luis and Palmas. They had not heard of the loss of Cervera's fleet nor of General Toral's surrender. They declined to surrender unless they could come and see for themselves.

A detachment of officers and men came in last night and returned this morning apparently satisfied.

A Record sale of Wool.

St. Louis, July 23.--One of the largest sales of wool ever made in the West has been effected by a St. Louis firm. The amount was 750,000 pounds of "territory wool" from western and southwestern states.

It will require thirty-five cars to transport it to its eastern consignee.

A Bequest to Harvard.

Boston, July 23.--The will of James Stevenson, late of Brookline, was filed at Dedham yesterday for probate. In his will he leaves $10,000 to Harvard university to establish two free scholarships in its medical school, which are to be known as the James Stevenson scholarships.

A Girl Mayor.

The town of Kendrick, Idaho, has a girl Mayor. She is Miss Jessie Parker, and is not yet twenty-three years old. Miss Parker was elected as an independent after a hot campaign. She not only got most of the votes cast by women, but those cast by men. Indeed, the men were particularly enthusiastic, and she was kept awake far into the night for days previous to her election by crowds assembling outside of her window and yelling, "What's the matter with Parker?" "Hurrah for Parker!" "Parker's all right!" and the like. Miss Parker says she intends to take Theodore Roosevelt as her model, and that she is determined to enforce all the laws, and if possible will drive out of town the element that has given it a bad reputation.—New York Sun.

A Tempting Prospect.

"You must admit that your argument was rather thin."

"My dear sir," remarked the man who was filibustering, "in a case like this it is not the thickness of an argument that counts. It's the length."—Washington Star.

SITUATION IN SANTIAGO

Sanitary Condition of the City Is Being Rapidly Improved.

GARCIA'S QUEER CONDUCT

A Large Exodus of Native's Expected. They Will Return to the Cultivation of the Fields. Garcias Protest Does Not at All Move Gen. Shafter. It is Thought Garcia is Ready to Disband His Army.

Santiago de Cuba, July 23.--General Wood of the Rough Riders has been appointed military governor of Santiago de Cuba, succeeding General McKibbin, who returns to his old duty, and who is now on the sick list.

Squads of natives were sent yesterday to clean the streets and bury the dogs and horses whose remains have been lying in the streets for days and weeks. Other steps to improve the sanitary condition of the city are being taken.

The French cruiser Rigault de Genouilly has arrived here with supplies for the relief of the French citizens of Santiago.

A large exodus of Cubans is expected during the next few days, as they are returning to the cultivation of the country, that work being the chief source of the wealth of the island. The greater part of Garcia's army will leave here at daybreak to-day.

Notwithstanding General Garcia's bitter complaint to General Shafter that he had been ignored and that the restoration of the Spanish civil authority in the city of Santiago was most offensive to him, and that in consequence of all this he had been forced to tender his resignation as general in the Cuban army, General Shafter is going on with his preparations for a contest with the Spanish forces of Holguin and Manzanillo quite as though nothing had happened.

To-day General Garcia issued a decree authorizing all Cubans who have been driven from their plantations and country homes by the Spaniards, and who have taken refuge for safety in the cities and towns, to return to the country and go to work on their farms and plantations, assuring them of protection by his forces. He has added like permission to those in his ranks who were recruited from the farm lands or were employed in the fields at the outbreak of the war.

Altogether it must be confessed that General Garcia's attitude is inexplicable. His permission to the men in his ranks to go back to work on the farms is construed to mean an effort to disband his forces. But this may not be altogether justified. It is certain that a great many of them will continue to fight.

The Danish steamer Bratton, the first vessel, outside of the government and Red Cross ships, to enter this port with provisions, arrived here at nine o'clock yesterday morning, having on board A. P. Azovodo, the owner of her cargo, who went to General Shafter's headquarters in order to inquire about the customs duties. He was told he must pay full duty on foreign produce under a foreign flag, at the rates in force under the Spanish regime. This brings the duty on the Bratten's flour to $4 plus ten per cent. per barrel, and the duty on the other goods in proportion. It is not known whether a bounty will be allowed on American bottoms. General Shafter, for the present, limiting himself to the statement that the duties will be assessed on the same basis as the Spanish tariff

TO PAY SHAFTER'S TROOPS.

Over $1,000,000 to be Sent to Santiago for Distribution Among Them.

Washington, D. C., July 23.--The war department has decided to pay the troops at Santiago, notwithstanding the recommendation of General Shafter that no money be given to them for the present.

Over a million dollars will be sent to Santiago at once, where it will be distributed by a corps of assistant paymasters. The money will be taken by a ship that will sail from New York on Monday. The soldiers are to be paid in full to date.

General Flagler, chief of the bureau of ordnance of the war department, said yesterday that he has ordered that samples of the captured rifles given up by the Spaniards at Santiago be sent to this country at once. They will be taken to the armory at Springfield, where they will be examined and a report made upon the general condition of the arms.

The Next Manila Transports.

San Francisco, July 23.--The transport Rio de Janeiro will receive her complement of 1,000 troops to-day and will be in readiness to sail for Manila. Another 1,000 will depart on the steamer St. Paul on next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The big ships Arizona and Scandia can each take 1,000 men. If they are sent to Manila with troops the number of men sent will amount to nineteen thousand. General Merritt's friends say that he will be satisfied with that number, in spite of the fact that three thousand troops belonging to the Philippine expeditionary force will be left behind.

Colonel Barber of the New York volunteers is in poor health and will go to the country to recuperate.

Philippines Not for Us.

London, July 23.--A despatch to the Daily News from Berlin says that the powers, with the exception of Great Britain, have arrived at an agreement, though only in negative terms, regarding the future of the Philippines. They concur that they will not allow the island to be annexed by the United States, and will not consent to an Anglo-American protectorate, which is believed to be cherished in influential quarters in Washington.

Cannot Talk to Blanco.

Madrid, July 23.--It is said in official circles that no dispatches have recently been received here from Captain General Blanco, and it is added that the means of restoring communication with Spanish government is "considering the Cuba, as before the surrender of Santiago."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.
JAS. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., July 9, 1898.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Dogs," approved July 6th, 1887.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Sections 2 and 3 of the ordinance to which this is an amendment, shall be as follows:

Section 2. That there shall be established for the purpose of impounding dogs not muzzled as provided in Section 1st hereof, found running at large, a dog pound, to be in charge of a pound-master to be specially appointed. One suitable person shall also be specially appointed whose duty it shall be to seize and impound all dogs not muzzled as required by section 1st, which shall be found running at large in the streets of said City. Said person so appointed shall wear a shield as a badge of office, said shield to be provided by the City Clerk, and shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services the sum of twenty-five cents for each dog delivered by him to the pound-master. Should any person appointed as aforesaid seize or impound any dog other than such as are not muzzled as required in section 1st, he shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding Five Dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding five days, either or both.

Section 3. That all dogs delivered to the pound-master shall be subject to a charge of Twenty-Five Cents per day or fraction of a day for their keep while in charge of the pound-master, and a penalty of One Dollar to be paid by the owner of the dog to the pound-master for its redemption in addition to the charge for keep. The poundmaster shall receive as compensation for his services, one half the penalties paid him, and shall be entitled further to the charges for keep before mentioned. All dogs unclaimed or unredeemed at the expiration of four days after their being impounded shall be put to death by said pound-master in the most merciful and humane manner possible.

Section 4. That the pound-master and dog catcher shall be under the supervision and control of the Board of Police.

AGUINALDO'S INSUBORDINATION

Also Said to Be Much Dissension Among the Insurgents.

Hong Kong, July 23.--Letters received here from Cavite, dated July 15, differ from the advices received direct from Manila.

The former say the insurgents have been repulsed near Malate, and that they are now making less progress.

There is also said to be much dissension among them, owing to alleged bribery upon the part of priests.

Aguinaldo, it is further said, refuses to be subordinated to the United States. He does not seem to realize his position, as evidenced by his appointment of a cabinet, his declaration of independence and the formal hoisting of the insurgent flag.

About fifteen hundred Americans, it also appears from the letters from Cavite, have been landed half way between Manila and Cavite, and the United States cruiser Boston has gone to support them in case of an emergency.

TROOPS LEAVE CHICKAMAUGA

Three Regiments Off for Newport News to Take Transports.

Chickamauga National Park, July 23.--Three regiments, the Fourth Ohio, Third Illinois and Fourth Pennsylvania, composing the Second brigade, First division, First corps, commanded by Brigadier General Hains, left Camp Thomas yesterday for Newport News. The Third Illinois broke camp at five o'clock and marched to Rossville, and the other two regiments followed an hour apart. At Rossville the three regiments were loaded on Cincinnati Southern trains. At Newport News the transports are expected to be in waiting and it is probable that the command will get to Porto Rico in a very short time.

Time for Bids Extended.

Washington, July 23.--In order to allow shipbuilders more time for the consideration of the subject, the navy department has extended the time for the submission of proposals for the construction of sixteen torpedo boat destroyers and twelve torpedo boats, from August ninth next, the date originally set, until August 16, a week later.

The extension of time was made for the special benefit of prospective bidders on the Pacific coast and the indications are that there will be considerable competition among the ship yards on the Pacific coast for this work.

Another Job by Sampson.

Washington, July 23.--This dispatch has just been received by the navy department:

"The expedition to Nipe has been entirely successful, although the mines have not been entirely removed. The Spanish cruiser Jorge Juan, defending the place, was destroyed without loss to our side.

"The Annapolis and the Wasp afterward proceeded to assist in the landing of the commanding general of the armyand trops on arrival at Porto Rico.

SAMPSON.

Nipe is a harbor on the north coast of Cuba, in Santiago, our newly acquiredpossession, and is near Holguin.

Strength of the Army.

Washington, D. C., July 23.--A consolidated statement prepared by Major John A. Johnston, assistant adjutant general, shows that of the 277,500 authorized by Congress to be enlisted in the regular and volunteer armies, 254,479 up to this time have been mustered into the service.

Of the 23,021 yet required to complete the authorized quota of the army, 13,303 are regulars, 8,000 ar volunters under the second call, 862 are immunes and 851 are engineers.

The Columbia River Wheat Crop.

Portland, Ore., July 23.--The conservative figures put the season's surplus of the wheat crop in the Columbia river basin and the Willahiette valley at 1,050,000 tons. These are based on last year's surplus on the known increased acreage this year over last, and the first rate condition of crops now under harvest. It is estimated that at least 25,000,000 tons of grain will seek export through Portland this year.

Express Train Held Up.

Fort Worth, Tex., July 23.--The south bound Santa Fe passenger train, due here at 10.20 Thursday night, was held up near Saginaw, eight miles north, by six masked men.

Engineer Joe Williams was probably fatally wounded.

The fireman could not be found and was thought to be also wounded.

The robbers all escaped without obtaining any booty.

Millionaires in Immune Ranks.

Galveston, July 23.--The Galveston regiment of immunes has left here for New Orleans, where it will embark for Cuba. The regiment will form part of the permanent garrison of Santiago. In the regiment are two millionaires, a secretary of a railroad nd a half dozen men of considerable prominence. The immunes should reach Santiago within ten days.

Thorn Has Ten Days More.

Sing Sing, N. Y., July 23.--Martin Thorn, the condemned man, has but ten days left to spend in his solitary confinement cell in Sing Sing prison before he is summoned by Warden Sage to march to the electric chair and there pay the penalty for the butchering of William Guldensuppe. Thorn will die on Monday, August 1.

Bankers Meet.

Niagara Falls, July 23.--The fifth annual convention of the New York State Bankers' Association, representing $150,000,000 capital, is convened at the International hotel. Every room in the house is taken and the financiers with their wives and daughters throng the lobby, corridors and parlors.

Typhoid at Camp Alger.

Washington, D. C., July 23.--Two new cases of typhoid developed yesterday at Camp Alger. Lieutenant Jennings of the Third New York and Private R. F. Johnson of the Sixth New York are the latest victims.

ST. PAUL LANDS HOBSON

Hero of the Merimac Meets With a Warm Reception.

STARTED FOR WASHINGTON

It Was Not Known That Hobson Was a Passenger on the St. Paul Until She Dropped Anchor at Tompkinsville. The Hero Was at Once Recognized and Cheered.

New York, July 23.--The United States auxiliary cruiser St. Paul arrived in port and anchored off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, yesterday morning, after a run of four days from Guantanamo bay, Cuba. Among her passengers were Naval Constructor Richmond Pierson Hobson and Congressman James W. Wadsworth, Republican member of Congress from the Thirtieth New York district.

As soon as the St. Paul dropped anchor Lieutenant Hobson and Mr. Wadsworth hastened ashore and made preparations for a trip to Washington, their immediate destination. They boarded a Staten Island ferry boat and at 9.45 landed.

The news of the arrival of the young hero of Santiago harbor had already been spread broadcast throughout the city and a large crowd was gathered at the ferry entrance to greet him. The cheers which greeted Lieutenant Hobson were modestly acknowledged and he and Congressman Wadsworth were anxious to catch the 10.24 train on the Pennsylvania road and could waste but little time in greetings.

The pair had a race from the Battery to the Cortland street ferry house, but with the aid of a cab they managed to catch the ferry boat connecting with the train.

The few minutes that Congressman Wadsworth was looking after the baggage and engaging the cab Lieutenant Hobson stood in the center of the cheering crowd, seeming much pleased at the reception, and said that he was sorry that urgent matters necessitated his leaving for Washington on the first train.

During the trip across the Hudson river the lieutenant said that he had inspected the wrecked Spanish warships lying along the coast beyond Santiago and he is certain that if prompt action is taken two of them, the Colon and Theresa can be saved. The Oquendo is a total wreck, the Vizcaya is not quite as badly damaged and some of her guns may be secured.

How the Hero Looked.

Hobson was not in uniform, but wore a dark suit of clothes, a much worn derby hat and a neglige shirt that looked as if it had seen a great deal of hot weather. He carried a grip in one hand and a bundle of canes and umbrellas in the other. Hobson among naval officers has never been known to be without an umbrella, except when he went into the harbor of Santiago with his seven brave companions that famous night. In height Hobson is five feet ten inches tall; he is slight of frame, his eyes are brown, a shade darker than his hair.

Speaking of his care while a prisoner, Hobson said:

"I was given exceptionally good treatment while in the custody of Admiral Cervera. He could not have done more for his own brother. I found him to be an excellent gentleman, affable and highly intelligent. I understand that he is at Annapolis. I hope to be able to run down there to see him. Things have changed since I was in prison down there and I want to assure the Spanish admiral that I appreciate his kindness to me. I do not suppose I can make it more comfortable for him at Annapolis, because I understand that he is being made as comfortable as possible."

Germany Is Friendly.

Washington, July 23.--Baron von Holleben, the German ambassador, had a personal interview with President McKinley yesterday and the administration is now more than ever certain that Germany will observe strict neutrality and will not interfere in any way with the prosecution of the war in the Philippines.

The attitude of Aguinaldo, the Philippine insurgent leader, is causing much more apprehension, as all the information from Manila indicates that he is not showing a disposition to act in harmony with the American forces.

The United States will not recognize Aguinaldo's government in any way pending the prosecution of military operations against the Spanish forces, and if the insurgent leader undertakes to control or limit the operations of the American forces in any way a clash may be brought about.

It is the policy of this government first to destroy Spain's power in the Philippines and then the question of the status of the insurgents and of the inhabitants of the islands can be taken up and settled with regard to the best interests of the islands.

Congressman Grosvenor Going Abroad.

Columbus, July 23.--Congressman Charles H. Grosvenor and daughter Grace will sail from New York next Tuesday on the North German Lloyd steamer Trave. Mr. Grosvenor will spend one week in London, returning home August 20.

For the Red Cross Societies.

Berlin, July 23.--In addition to Emperor William's gift of 10,000 marks to the American and Spanish Red Cross societies, the empress of Germany has sent 1,000 marks and the ex-Empress Frederick has contributed five hundred marks.

To the Thousand Islands.

New York, July 23.--Vice President Garret A. Hobart and Attorney General Griggs, who came from Washington to this city, left the Waldorf-Astoria hotel yesterday to take a train for the Thousand islands.

There is a law against using the American flag for advertising purposes, but it makes no difference to the show window artists.—Trenton N. J.) Gazette.

DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT

Nearly All Lines of Trade [illegible] ble ume of Business Greater [illegible]

New York, July 23.--A [illegible] does not disturb business [illegible] tion after a phenomenal movement of grain causes relative loss, which many mistake for decrease in the volume of trade. So much grain has been required and shipped during the past twelve months that a decrease was inevitable, and Granger and Pacific roads show a loss in earnings, even compared with 1892, though not much yet compared with last year. Owing to this the aggregate of railroad earnings during the first half of July hs been 3.2 per cent. larger than last year, and 6.2 per cent. smaller than in 1892. Yet the volume of business has not decreased. Payments through clearing houses for the past week show increase over last year of 4.5 per cent. and 10.9 per cent. over 1892. Last year the week was exceedingly busy, but for the month thus far payments have been 9.1 per cent. greater than last year, and 9.0 per cent. larger than in 1892. In spite of the great decline in prices, the business done is in volume greater than ever, and in quantities greater than in value.

In the stagnant midsummer season, with business larger than ever before, the great manufacturers nearly all share the gain. Once before, in 1896, with an extraordinary small movement prior to July, the shipments of boots and shoes was larger than this year, but in no other year have shipments in three weeks of July been as large.

There is an increased demand for woolen goods, although in some lines slow and disappointing, but the number of establishments at work increases though the mills are not yet assured of satisfactory prices. Only 5,233,200 lbs. wool were sold last week, and in three weeks only 12,879,900 at the three chief markets, of which 8,629,700 were domestic, against 34,124,700 last year, and 23,347,550 in the same weeks of 1892, 18,509,000 being domestic.

The iron manufacture seems to be at the verge of another revolution, since Bessemer big is held by curtailment of production in the Shenango and Mahoning valleys, at $10.25 at Pittsburg, and yet some steel works have made enormous sales of billets, 100,000 tons to the great wire association at prices unknown, 20,000 tons to various parties at Chicago at $15.75, and 20,000 tons at Pittsburg at $14.75. The demand for structural forms keeps all the works busy, and includes for the week 3,500 tons at Chicago in three contracts, and 7,800 at Pittsburg in four others, while the plate mills are everywhere crowded, sheets and bars are both in better demand than heretofore, and the prolonged weakness in cast pipe, which usually requires nearly 700,000 tons of pig in a year, may presently be cured. Heavy sales of Lake copper have fixed the price at 11 1-2 cents, and the output for the last half year has been 120,487 tons American, against 40,880 tons foreign, although three years ago the foreign output considerably exceeded half the American. Tin at 15.55 cents, lead at 3.92 1-2 cents, are both a shade weaker.

With abatement of foreign needs and prospect of excellent crops in many foreign countries, wheat has declined during the week three cents in price, notwithstanding the exports from Atlantic ports amounting to 1,937,092 bushels, flour included, against 1,516,997 last year, and from Pacific ports 577,755 bushels, against 89,523 last year. Total exports for three weeks have been 7,399,259 bushels, flour included, against 5,194,488 last year. Corn still goes abroad in astonishing quantity, all the circumstances considered, exports having been in three weeks 5,077,847 bushels, against 6,635,395 last year. The price has not changed in spite of the decline in wheat.

Foreign trade has not corresponded with the startling exhibit for the past year, imports falling but 27 per cent. behind last year's for July, while exports have increased only 24 per cent. But in the long run it will not pay to ignore the course of general business, which is steadily advancing. Failures in two weeks of July have been $3,405,833 in amount, against $2,815,842 last year, $3,214,281 in 1896, $6,599,751 in 1895, and $6,317,696 in 1894. Manufacturing have been $1,635,365, against $1,189,010 last year, and $4,187,733 in 1896, and trading have been $1,537,768, against $1,605,233 last year, and $3,399,847 in 1896. Failures for the week have been 207 in the United States, against 227 last year, and 17 in Canada against 28 last year.

THE CHICAGO AFLOAT.

Repairs Made on the Cruiser, Which Has Been Considerably Strengthened.

Brooklyn, July 23.--Another cruiser will be added to the navy within a few days. She is the Chicago which has undergone extensive alterations and repairs at the navy yard for the past few months. In the new Chicago, which was floated from dry dock No. 2 yesterday morning, the old Chicago could not be recognized. Her old engines were removed and replaced by modern engines of high power, two manganese bronze propellers have been put in place of the old screw, there is a complete electric plant and boiler tube system on the vessel and it is expected that to-day the new rapid fire guns will be in place.

Probably no cruiser in the United States navy has undergone such extensive repairs. The Chicago will be manned by a crew picked from the receiving ship Vermont, and will in all probability be placed in commission this week.

Cervera May Stay With Us.

Annapolis, July 23.--There is a well defined rumor, which cannot, however, be traced to an authoritative source, to the effect that Admiral Cervera had expressed a determination not to return to his native country at the close of hostilities between the United States and Spain.

It is said that the admiral has decided to take up his residence in Boston, whither he will repair with his son, Lieutenant Cervera, who is also a prisoner here, as soon as peace is declared.

Liliuokalani Going Home.

San Francisco, July 23.--Ex-Queen Lilioukalani, attended by her physician, Dr. English of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Heleiuke, has arrived from Washington en route to Honolulu. The party will leave on the Gaelic next Tuesday for the Hawaiian islands.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

The City Election Prospects.

City election is a long ways off, but already matters are shaping themselves towards making the lines upon which the municipal battle will be fought.

The political barometer indicates that the present Republican regime are going to run up against a stronger movement than even the Citizens' candidates formed themselves into a year ago. The result of last year's city election showed that the voters were with the movement seeking to overthrow the Republican political machine. It was a stunning blow to the G. O. P., when one considers that their opponents were unorganized and unprepared in every particular except that it had a dissatisfied populace arrayed in its interests. Of course, that was the strongest factor in the election, but if the Citizens' movement had been prosecuted with a better organization, the results would undoubtedly have been more disastrous than they were to the regular Republicans.

There is prospect this year of Mayor Fisk and his followers confronting an organized movement that will be composed of not only those who have for several years been their antagonists, but as well many who have heretofore trained in their political school. The opposition will be organized thoroughly and will therefore be able to make a much stronger fight than last year.

Sea Girt for a National Camp.

As one of the developments of the war, it is likely that New Jersey will soon be permanently honored by Camp Voorhees at Sea Girt being designated as a military post by the government. The camp is admirably adapted for the purposes of Uncle Sam in quartering his soldiers there.

The present State reservation contains 120 acres. Ten thousand soldiers could be camped on this tract, providing the parade ground was abandoned, or half that number if the parade field was left intact. Just north of the State camp. 20 acres of level land can be had, and west of the railroad 100 acres are available. Just south of the Manasquan river, 60 acres of ideal camping land can be secured. The Governor thus far has secured options on 250 acres outside of the State camp. Much of this property can be leased for about $10 an acre a year.

Steady Enterprise of The Press.

Since the war has progressed to the point where the public does not regard its developments with that intense interest characteristic of its beginning, many papers in the same class as The Daily Press have curtailed expenses and modified their enterprise to a noticeable extent in the treatment of war news.

This has not been the practice of The Daily Press, however, as all of its readers have plenty of opportunity to observe. From day to day this paper has presented the latest and most reliable war news, and it will continue to do so. The enterprise of The Daily Press is not of the spasmodic brand.

New Paper in Westfield.

We do not profess to be thoroughly posted on the newspaper field in Westfield, but it seems as though another paper in that town means an enterprise that will have a struggling time to exist. But W. H. Morse, late editor of the Leader, is about to launch the Republican, and he ought to know whether or not there is field enough for three papers in the town. We have received no prospectus of the new journal but its title is presumed to denote its political principles.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Now we know what has made the young men of the Plainfield Daily Press so truly good. The Salvation Army has taken quarters immediately opposite The Press office, and there they sing and pray and beat their drums by night and by day. We sincerely trust that the good work will go on until it reaches the editorial rooms. —Westfield Standard.

The article in yesterday's Times intimating that there was friction between the Plainfield Street Railway Company and the Brunswick Traction Company, over the rates of fare to be charged from Plainfield to Dunellen and in the other direction, the trip being made partly on the lines of each company, was copied from the Plainfield Courier-News, and was thought to be reliable. It is most emphatically denied, however, by the officials of both companies, who, it is understood, are in perfect accord, as harmony is certain to result to their mutual advantage. — New Brunswick Times.

One of the powerful Republican leaders who is opposing the nomination of Governor Voorhees, is ex-Senator Thompson, of Somerset, now Clerk of the Court of Chancery. Mr. Thompson is believed to favor Mahlon Pitney as a first choice and Franklin Murphy next. Those who know politics in Somerset assert that Mr. Thompson was with the Governor until last spring, when, in appointing a member of the State Board of Arbitration, the Governor turned down the man favored by the ex-Senator and appointed the one suggested by Senator Reed, on the ground that this courtesy was due Senator Reed because he helped make Senator Voorhees the president of the Senate and practically the Governor.

Mr. Thompson holds that in order to satisfy Senator Reed the old incumbent was dropped from his position in the State Board of Arbitration by the Governor and a new man taken up, although the old member had given general satisfaction, and was a useful Republican at that. Additional interest is involved in this appointment and in Clerk Thompson's present frame of mind from the fact that Senator Reed has not supped from Clerk Thompson's loving cup in many months.—New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

There is an item going the rounds of the press to the effect that the proper method to keep apples in winter is to wrap them in old newspapers so as to exclude the air. The newspaper, however, must be one on which the subscription has been paid, otherwise dampness resulting from what is "dew" may cause the fruit to spoil.

Former Councilman Leonard Spangenberg is told by his friends that he looks very much like Admiral Dewey. When the attention is called to that fact it is very apparent. Mr. Spangenberg does not feel hurt at the comparison, for like the patriotic American that he is he feels honored to think that he is privileged to bear the likeness of the gallant old sea dog who is on the other side of the world.

Piscataway has the honor of having the first session of the Middlesex County Court held within its borders on June 19, 1683, and the courts were held alternately at Piscataway and Woodbridge until June 28, 1688, and from that time until 1699 Amboy was added as a place of meeting. From 1699 to 1708 the record is defective, but from that date Amboy assumed a prominence, and for a long time the courts were held there. From July 21, 1788 the courts have been held at New Brunswick.

One of the most successful of the summer charities through which the better favored of fortune share their benefits with the less fortunate is the camp of the Union Fresh Air Mission, at Westfield. It is located in a beautiful grove of about five acres in extent, on Westfield avenue, a mile from the village. The surroundings make it peculiarly fitted for summer camping, and here during the hot months the mission entertains an average of 150 women and children, giving each a ten-day holiday, where they can enjoy themselves in the woods and fields each in their own way, unhampered by restrait or restiction.

One young man, well-known in this city, had a rather unpleasant experience while going to Asbury Park on an excursion train from this city. Just as the train was crossing Raritan bay from Perth Amboy, the young man stuck his head out of the window. Now he had not counted on the breeze that was blowing. The next moment he was minus a straw hat and that article of headgear could be discerned in the far distance floating on the water. He was laughed at by all his friends and had to wander about hatless until he reached a hat store at the Park where a cap could be purchased.

One of the indignities that the police of this city, and others too for that matter, are called upon to suffer, are the gibes of passing wheelmen. A cyclist will pass without a light and the officer will command him to stop. Now, unless the officer is directly in the path, the wheelman merely spurts away and lets forth some uncomplimentary remark to the officer who, being on foot, is unable to catch him. Now that some of the police are riding wheels, these wheelmen are learning to be more careful in their speech. It was the thought of past indignities that gave Roundsman Flynn renewed strength the other evening in his brush with an offending wheelman and enabled him to catch up so quickly. It did the Roundsman no end of good to, at last, capture one of that class.

Lizzie E., a trotting mare owned by Isaac F. Randolph, of Elizabeth, tried her speed Thursday evening against that of an east-bound Chesapeake and Ohio express train on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Randolph had been speeding the mare along Westfield avenue, which is close to the Jersey Central's tracks, and the trotter has been in the habit of racing with accommodation trains. Thursday evening Lizzie E. escaped from the stable and trotted along DeHart place toward the Pennsylvania Railroad. As she approached a train sped past, and, kicking up her heels, the mare started after it, going right on the tracks. Just then the Chesapeake and Ohio express came up behind the mare, and the engineer tooted the whistle vigorously. Lizzie E. looked back disdainfully, and instead of getting out of the way stretched out her neck and made a dash forward in an apparent attempt to distance the train. After going a block without accident the mare stumbled, fell and rolled down a slight embankment, escaping with a few scratches. The express had slowed down meanwhile, and the locomotive pilot was only a few feet from the mare when she fell.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plain fielders Can Witness.

Edison's latest invention, the waragraph, will be seen at every performance all next week with the "Sullivan Troubadours" at Stillman Music Hall. No one should fail to witness these animated war pictures, all up-to-date and true to life. It requires seven people to present this latest wonder in order that true effects might be obtained.

Monday evening, July 25th, will be seen at Stillman Music Hall E. P. Sullivan's beautiful version of "Ingomar." Only a few years ago Mr. Sullivan and "Maud Banks" starred in "Ingomar" at high prices. He is considered to be one of the best "Ingomars" on the stage of today. He will be supported by Miss Emily Lascelles as "Parthinia," and a competent company.

The California comedy couple, "Charles B. Nelson" and "Mamie Milledge," who appear in Plainfield next Monday evening with "Sullivan's Troubadours," have been meeting with great success throughout the west. These clever artists have just finished playing the New York theatres. They played ten weeks during last season in New York city which aught to speak for their ability to entertain. They are certainly very clever artists and will make their first appearance in Plainfield with the Sullivan Troubadours all next week.

Loafing Around the Y. M. C. A.

Notices have been posted in the Y. M. C. A. warning certain young men who have been in the habit of sitting on the steps of the building in front and smoking, that such conduct is not conducive to the well being of the association and that it must stop. It is hoped that they will take the hint.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 23.—George Hoffman has returned from High Bridge, where he has been visiting his aunt.

The Brunswick Traction Company has had iron for switches laid near Jefferson avenue, and it looks as though they intend to locate a switch at that place in conjunction with the Plainfield tracks.

W. J. Winges has returned from Calicoon, N. Y., where he was called to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Henry Ratz, who was killed on a railroad track early in the week.

Dr. D. C. Adams, of North Plainfield, was in town yesterday after his wheel which he left here Friday evening when the heavy shower prevented him from riding home.

Miss Mamie Flammer, of Plainfield, who has been visiting Mrs. Charles Jennings, has gone to Martinville to stay four weeks.

The directors of the Building and Loan Association will meet this evening and transact some important business.

Mrs. A. N. Randolph, of Washington avenue, has been visiting Manning Randolph, of Piscataway township.

A tally-ho on its way to New Brunswick passed through the borough yesterday. A jolly party was aboard.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowlsby left town yesterday to spend their annual vacation in the mountains.

Mrs. W. H. Terry, of Washington avenue, has retured from visiting Miss Ethel Gray, of Irvington.

Mrs. Walter Apgar, of North Plainfield, has been visiting relatives in the borough.

Miss Mabel Lewis is visiting her cousin, Miss Lizzie Strouble, of High Bridge.

Fred Ross, of North Plainfield, was a guest of friends in town yesterday.

Miss Emma Jones, of Finderne, has been visiting borough relatives.

Miss Paulina Williams is entertaining her sister from Warrenville.

William Craig has returned from a short trip to Asbury Park.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 23—Mrs. Henry Meyers spent Thursday with relatives in New York.

The funeral of Mrs. Edward Terry, who died at her home in Netherwood Wednesday, was held from her late residence yesterday afternoon. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery of this place.

Mrs. Juergenson and son, of New York, are visiting Matthias Schmidt and family.

Irving Quereau is enjoying a short furlough, and is visiting Geo. W. Randolph.

Moses Parse, of Springfield, spent Thursday with his brother, Stites M. Parse.

Miss Minnie Meyers is spending two weeks with her cousin in New York.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 23—The board of deacons of the Baptist church have granted a month's vacation to the pastor, Rev. George A. Francis, to begin August 1st, but Mr. Francis has decided not to leave until after the first Sunday, as he wishes to be in his pulpit communion Sunday. He with Mrs. Francis will spend the month in a trip through the wilds of Maine.

Four peddlers were doing a rushing business in the town yesterday, notwithstanding the recently-passed ordinance which says that all peddlers shall procure a license or be fined $10. The Township Committee are much better at passing ordinances than at enforcing them.

Frank L. C. Martin, of Plainfield, paced a number of Westfielders to Lake Hopatcong Thursday. The party expected to return on the same day, but the rain compelled them to remain until yesterday morning, when they came down in record time.

The union excursion of the Presbyterian and Baptist church Sunday-schools go to Asbury Park Tuesday, August 2d.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 23.—The baseball nine of this town would like to arrange games with any team in neighboring cities or boroughs. The Clinton Avenue team, of Plainfield, is preferred.

Our citizens are anxiously awaiting the advent of the trolley line owing to the few trains which stop here in the evening. Business trips are not very convenient at present.

The Kenyon foundry having been completed, we are informed that help will be engaged and work commence Monday next.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

Exchange It!

If you have a Square Piano you almost surely want to get rid of it. You should exchange it for a new Upright. The old-fashioned Square Piano was all right in the old-fashioned home, where a few square yards more or less were not considered in the size of a room, but it is quite out of place in a modern house where every foot of space has a purpose. The present-day architect ignores Square Pianos.

Let us take the old Piano away NOW. Tell us where it can be seen, and we'll tell you what we'll allow for it.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

It is in the trimming and the mode of application that the only touch of originality is seen, and here there is a wide field to choose from. The garnitures this year are exceptionally lovely and when properly employed serve to give a chic appearance to the simlest frock. Embroideries on muslin and net, and applications of all kinds are all the rage, and some of the latter are distinctly novel. Large flowers or sprays put on with artistic boldness, sometimes forming the sole trimming across the front of a skirt is an exquisite mode of ornamentation for a thin dress.

Another fashion which the swell couturieric is endeavoring to make popular this season is the elbow sleeve. Although this year's style is not as pretty as the puffed elbow sleeve of former years, which unfortunately has been relegated to the background, the models which have been on exhibition are certainly very attractive and will undoubtedly prove popular. This model is tight fitting, with generally a small epaulet or tiny puff at the shoulder and a full ruffle at the elbow to relieve the severity. They are employed on visiting and street gowns as well as on gowns intended exclusively for indoor wear.

A lovely toilet designed for a matron is composed of black net mounted over green silk. The skirt made in two parts, has the upper part trimmed with black spangles and chenille work and is cut at the base in deep points from which depends the flounce, the latter finished top and bottom with full ruches of the net. The corsage of silk is made with a bolero of embroidered net, edged with a full ruffle of filmy lace and ribbons. A beautiful dancing frock designed for a young belle is composed of white crepe de chine mounted on a yellow satin slip. The bodice cut low in the neck is filled in with exquisitely fine lace. This same dainty garniture also falls gracefully over the sleeves and the rich yellow satin gleaming through it is very effective. The skirt is a plain five gored model, the crepe de chine simply mounted on the satin foundation, while the waist is encircled with a handsome sash of heavy yellow satin which ties gracefully at the center of the back.

In evening gowns the latest styles have skirt and corsage of the same material and these are considered the smartest, although many very handsome separate waists and skirts are worn. A striking costume worn by a lovely brunette at a summer fete was decidedly novel. The material was a delicate shade of mauve crepe de chine embroidered in white. The skirt made with a short train had a deep fitted flounce headed with two bands of fine insertion. A second flounce superimposed over the first on the sides and back had the insertion trimming all around the edge. A taffeta underslip of yellow worn beneath this skirt lent a pretty changeable effect to the gown which was very attractive. Narrow ruffles of yellow taffeta formed the trimming on the blouse waist, which fitted snugly in the sides and back, while the full ruffle down the front was of softest black chiffon. The epaulets over the shoulders were composed of four tiny taffeta ruffles to which were attached the sleeves of spangled chiffon.

White, which is the predominant color in summer frocks comes in every imaginable material, every one of which is fashionable, including mousselaine de soie, crepe de chine, India silk, grenadines, poplins, veilings, serges and in thinner goods muslins, lawns, batistes and the popular pique. For the young debutante these snowy gowns are usually made up with sweet simplicity. Oftentimes the trimming on the frocks consists solely of plaitings or ruches of chiffon or gauze, with a sash of softest silk or satin encircling the waist.

A very girlish gown worn by a recent graduate is worthy of note. The material, white India mull was made over white taffeta. Tiny frills, edged with narrow satin ribbon trimmed the base of the skirt, which form of ornamentation served to keep the skirt in better shape as it gave some weight to the hem. The round corsage, made quite full was cut out at the neck and a guimp of soft net was substituted. The sleeves were elbow length and the gloves worn on this occasion were fine white silk. A girdle of mull encircled the waist and with black silk stocking and patent leather slippers this dainty graduate formed a decidedly pretty picture and one worthy of imitation.

Serviceable Linen Suits.

The Donegal linens of [illegible] wear are made into sty[illegible] costumes, plain, braid-[illegible]d, finished with ruffl[illegible]h linen, lace insertions, [illegible]or vest and revers of w[illegible]he

Miss Mary Ellen [illegible] second daughter of Captain Charles D. Sigsbee, formerly of the Maine, but now of the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, is winning golden encomiums for her excellent work in the field of art. Last season Miss Sigsbee came to New York and entered the Art League in competition for the life class scholarship, which she won with a sketch in skirt completed by many bias rows of the linen piped with the duck. Vestings of lighter linen than that used for whole suits come in basket weaves in red, green, ecru, cream, etc., with dots or lines of black, blue, or dark brown. The Galatea trills are again made into cycling, boating, and sea-beach morning suits for women as well as children.

Living Without a Stomach.

At Zurich there lives a woman who was deprived of her stomach five months ago by Professor Schlatter, of that city. It was a daring operation, but her only chance of life. The mystery is how she contrives to exist, but she is well, eats well, and has gained flesh since she lost her stomach. The secret is that the Professor, after removing the stomach, joined the intestine to the digestive tube. It was known that digestion is not completed in the stomach, but goes on in the intestine, by means of the pancreatic juice, and the intestine now does duty for a stomach. The woman lives chiefly on milk, bouillon, and meat cut small.

Frames for Fans.

Fan-shaped frames or standards for the mounting of rare fans, to be used as a bit of bric-a-brac, are, of course, to be had, and are useful when one's collection is not too large. A woman who had a number of beautiful fans contrived for their display by mounting them against a banner of maroon velveteen. The fans were opened and stitched fast to the velvet at convenient points where the stitches would not show and no injury could be done to the fan. The whole banner was then mounted on a brass rod and hung sometimes on a door against a portiere, and, on occasion, with the rod slipped out, and made fast to a screen panel.

Increased Consumption of Coffee.

The consumption of coffee is steadily increasing, as witness the following figures in tons:—

	Europe.	United States.	Total.
1893	271,498	248,117	519,615
1894	272,191	258,822	531,013
1895	277,100	260,880	537,980
1896	291,150	267,880	559,030
1897	305,150	318,170	623,320

The United States now take more coffee than the whole of Europe, where Germany leads with 136,290 tons. France coming next with 77,310, while tea-drinking England is satisfied with 12,420 tons.

Latest in Wash Fabrics.

New wash fabrics called "bengaline fancies" are shown in a pretty range of colors and designs. Creped zephyrs come from Scotch looms in delicate tints of green, cream, cell blue, and mauve. Smoothly woven French ginghams have a glossy twill stripe that looks like satin, and cotton crepalines are as lustrous of surface as silk. Watteau designs are printed on chiffon and sheer India and Swiss muslins. The colorings are exquisite, and the floral patterns extremely beautiful.

A Use for Old Challie Frocks.

Fine all-wool challie dresses which have fallen a prey to moths and are no longer wearable cut into the prettiest soft pillow covers. It is usually easy to dodge the moth-holes sufficiently for cushion covers, and, made with a ruffle, they are, particularly if in light designs, extremely effective. They are more durable than silk ones because of their laundering qualities, and soil less easily than those made of linen or dimity.

Etamines Easily Frayed.

The new etamines have a very open mesh and a silky surface. They are beautiful to look at and come in lovely colors and designs, but the dressmakers say they are a most difficult material to handle. The best of them are given to fraying, at any snug fitting, and grenadine or even organdie muslin has better staying powers than these attractive fabrics.

The Densest Population.

The greatest density of the population in the world is claimed for Bombay, and is only disputed by Agra. The population of Bombay amounts to 760 persons per acre in certain areas, and in these sections the street area only occupies one-fourth of the whole. If the entire population massed in the streets for any purpose, the density would equal 3,040 persons per acre.

The Deepest Lake.

The deepest lake in the world is Lake Baikal, in Siberia. In some parts it is 5,261ft. deep; its length is 397 miles, with an area of 15,000 square miles. It is the largest lake in Asia, and the sixth largest in the world.

The Longest Year.

The year 47 B.C. was the longest year on record. By order of Julius Caesar, it contained 445 days. The additional days were put in to make the seasons conform as nearly as possible with the solar year.

Over Trimming.

Over-trimming is the satorial vice of the time. It is apparent everywhere, and that prince of precepts, save one, "Let your moderation be known unto all," is totally disregarded.

A Competition of Noses.

Milan has recently been the scene of one of the most remarkable competitions on record. The "Societa dei Buontemponi," or the "Society of Jolly Boys," offered tempting prizes to the owners of the most striking noses in Italy; and scores of competitors who were nasally gifted above their fellows entered the lists.

The prizes were awarded at the Della Asse restaurant, in the presence of an enthusiastic crowd. A long poem, extolling the nose as a feature of great importance, was read by the secretary, Signor Brivio; and the vice-president followed with a learned review of the influence of noses on human history. The prizes were then awarded.

The first prize fell to the lot of Fortunato Micheluti, a vendor of "wax lights," whose nose, of remarkable length and thinness, was an object of envy and despair. It belongs to the pre-Grecian type, and is without a rival for inserting into "other people's business." The second prize was awarded to a Roman nose of such bold curve and proportions as to make a Wellington die of despair.

To Mount Pictures.

The best thing to use to mount pictures is boiled flour paste. It should be entirely free from lumps and made about as thick as boiled starch. In applying it, use a flat brush and also rub the paste smooth in case of any possible lumps. If mucilage or gum-arabic and water are used, it should be remembered that the picture should be moistened on the back before the mucilage is applied; otherwise they will dry in blisters. So many good pictures are in circulation it is a pity not to attempt the mounting of them in inexpensive fashion. Passe-partout mountings are within the reach of every one, and are a perfect protection to the picture as well as an effective method of displaying them.

Dainty Gray Gown.

The gray gowns this year are extremely dainty and handsome, and they appear in every sort of material, from linen, pique, batiste, nun's veiling, and cashmere, on through the array of attractive dress fabrics to crisp stand-alone taffeta, satin foulard, crepe de chine, moire, faille, and summer brocade.

Watered Silk.

The most elegant black gowns just now shown at the importing houses are of very lustrous watered silk, made in princesse style, and trimmed very elaborately on the bodice portion and front of the gown with black lace, with girdle and yoke, bretelle or vest-piece of the finest cut jet.

Parasols This Season.

There are no surprising novelties in parasols this year. Chiffon is almost omnipresent, and when this is absent lace is found. There are far more fancy models exhibited than those for utility uses, the only serviceable styles displayed being those of pongee or of silk in plain or fancy patterns.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Mecklenburg.

Schwerin. Ein Grenadier der 4. Kompagnie des Regiments Nr. 89 schoß sich auf der Pulverwache eine Kugel in den Leib. Dem Vernehmen nach ist gekränktes Ehrgefühl das Motiv der unseligen That.

Braunschweig. Anhalt.

Braunschweig. Die hiesige Handelskammer hat in Verbindung mit den Kammern zu Halberstadt und Aachen dem Reichskanzler eine Eingabe übermittelt, worin um Einführung des Deklarationszwanges für amerikanische Fleisch- und Wurstwaaren gebeten wird.

Dessau. Das hiesige Schwurgericht verurtheilte den Postassistent Scola aus Köthen wegen Unterschlagung amtlicher Gelder zu einem Jahr drei Monaten Gefängniß.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Das erste hessische Lehrerinnen-Heim, dessen Sache ein dafür gegründeter Verein seit 15 Jahren betrieb, ist kürzlich in sehr günstiger Außenstadtlage in Gegenwart der Großherzogin, der Protektorin des Vereins ist, und der Spitzen der staatlichen und städtischen Behörden eingeweiht worden. Vorläufig können in dem 2stetagigen Gebäude etwa 24 Lehrerinnen ständig untergebracht und verpflegt werden.

Gießen. In dem Nachmittag 5 Uhr hier einlaufenden Schnellzuge wurde kürzlich ein russischer Pope, der auf der Durchreise nach der Schweiz begriffen war, todt aufgefunden. Die Leiche wurde in die Leichenhalle des Friedhofs verbracht. Der Verlebte trug etwa 100,000 Mark bei sich.

Nieder-Ingelheim. Dieser Tage starb der hiesige Pfarrer und Dekan des evangelischen Dekanats Mainz, Geheimer Kirchenrath Dr. Ludwig Walther, im 76. Lebensjahre. Der Verstorbene war Mitglied des erweiterten Ober-Konsistoriums und seit einer Reihe von Jahren erster Präsident der Landessynode.

Bayern.

München. Der Zugang zum Justiz- und Verwaltungsdienst nimmt ab. Während sich 1893 303, 1894 350, 1895 330, 1896 346, 1897 287 Rechtspraktikanten dem Staatskonkurs unterzogen, ist die Zahl heuer nur 270. Ein fühlbarer Mangel entsteht durch diese Abnahme freilich nicht.—Der Prinzregent genehmigte die Verlegung der in der Stadt befindlichen, vor einigen Jahren ohne vorherige Landtagsgenehmigung umgebauten Kaserne der Schweren Reiterei.—Zur Vollendung des Künstlerhauses auf dem Maximiliansplatz vor dem Hotel Leinefelder hat die hiesige Künstlergenossenschaft aus eigenem Vermögen neuerdings 500,000 Mark bewilligt. Für zwei Fünftel dieser Summe haben hervorragende Künstler, wie Lenbach und Andere, die Zinsgarantie übernommen.

Bayreuth. Vom Schwurgericht wurde Katharina Wunderlich, 24 Jahre alt, Landwirthin in Korbersdorf, die ihren 25jährigen Ehemann mit Beilschlägen im Schlafe überfiel, bewußtlos machte und in einer Jauchengrube ertränkte, um das Anwesen allein zu erhalten, wegen Todtschlags zu 14 Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilt.

Eichendorf. Auf dem Heuboden eines hiesigen Bräuers spielten einige Buben. Den einen davon, den elfjährigen Sohn Wolfgang des Siebmachers Niedermayer, gelüstete es, in den Taubenschlag zu klettern. Als der Bursche merkte, daß er beobachtet wurde, sprang er etwa zwei Meter tief ab, jedoch so unglücklich, daß er direkt mit einem Fuß in das an der Wand angelehnte Futtermesser gerieth, wodurch der Vorfuß fast ganz durchschnitten wurde. Nur rasche, ärztliche Hilfe rettete den unvorsichtigen Jungen vor dem Tode durch Verblutung.

Fürth. Aus Liebeskummer hat die 20jährige Dienstmagd des Restaurateurs Wegerle in Muggenhof ihr Bett mit Petroleum begossen und dann angezündet. Als auf ihr Hilfegeschrei Leute herbeieilten, fand man die Unglückliche lichterloh brennend. Mit schweren Brandwunden wurde das Mädchen in's hiesige Krankenhaus übergeführt.
